Supplemental Report

On 01-31-08 at 1140 I was asked to perform a DNA kit, and process fingerprints on ELEANOR RIPPY

I met with Rippy in an investigations interview room. I was introduced to Rippy, and I asked her if she had been advised about the DNA swab. Rippy stated that she had been advised about the DNA swab.

I brought with me to the interview room a pair of latex gloves, two DNA Swab sticks (enclosed in a pristine plastic cover), and a 10' envelope.

I placed the latex gloves on my hands, picked up both DNA swab sticks, and inspected the plastic cover for any sign of tampering. The plastic cover was completely sealed, and I saw no signs of tampering.

I opened the plastic covers, and removed the DNA swab sticks from the packaging. The DNA swab sticks had plastic caps enclosing the cotton tip. I opened the plastic cover, and slid the cover down the swab stick, taking care not to touch the cotton tip.

I asked Rippy to open her mouth so I could swab the inside of her cheeks. Rippy advised that she had just had dental work done on the left side of her mouth, making it very tender, and she asked not to be swabbed on the left side. I advised Rippy that I would only swab the right side of her mouth.

I placed both DNA swab sticks into the right cheek of Rippy's mouth, and vigorously rubbed the inside of her cheek, for approximately thirty seconds. I removed the swab sticks, and pushed the plastic caps up the swab stick and closed the caps around the cotton tip. The cotton tip was never touched by my hand, nor were the swabs ever placed on any surface. Sgt Quimby was present during the entire swabbing process.

After securing the plastic caps on the swab sticks, I placed both the swab sticks into the 10' envelope. I wrote Rippy's name, date of birth, date and time processed on the outside of the envelope. I sealed the envelope with plastic tape, I initialed the seal, and dated the seal. I kept the envelope in my possession, and escorted Rippy to the Livescan room to take her fingerprints.

I fingerprinted Rippy on the LiveScan machine. I printed three copies of the fingerprint cards and delivered them to the investigations section. I also contacted the Colorado Bureau of Investigations (303-239-5892), and advised them that I had submitted prints for identification purposes only.

I then escorted Rippy out of the Police Department. I booked the envelope containing the DNA swab sticks, which had never been out of my possession, into evidence.

Date: January 29, 2008

Ref: Fingerprint cards

Upon interviewing and I had learned that a photograph of a patent-print was found on the left thigh of Linda Benson. The print had been placed there by a bloody finger. The print appeared to be a whorl pattern. I searched the GJPD 10-print card file for the following people whose names have appeared in reports.

The above cards that contained whorls will be reviewed as the investigation continues.

I cannot find workable elimination prints for Linda Benson. There is a copied 10-print card for Linda in the case files. It is not satisfactory for elimination prints. I will be contacting LARRY HALL to ascertain if the above print had been compared to Linda when the case was active.

Reference: Evidence review

I met with Sgt. D. Oswalt (Lab Supervisor), R. Faussone (GJPD Detective), and Les Guttmann (Fruita PD detective) to review the evidence in this case.

We reviewed existing police reports and CBI laboratory reports to evaluate the evidence and plan what should be submitted to CBI for further analysis. We did not physically review any of the property in the evidence room.

After review we selected numerous items containing blood for DNA analysis. This included suspected victim and offender blood. A latent fingerprint was also selected for submission for AFIS entry.

All other physical evidence will be retained for investigation as needed.

A cover letter and CBI request will be prepared based on this recommendation.

Tour of GJPD duty: 1971-12/77

Lt. Greg Assenmacher was present for part of the interviews. Sgt. Paul Quimby was present for the entire interview.

Fromm and Rushing were detectives at the time of the Benson homicides. Both took active roles in the investigation from the first night. They worked directly for Sgt. Albrecht and Lt. R. Smith. Both worked from memory during this interview.

Fromm was called to the scene on the night of July 25, 1975 to assist Detective Gary Richardson and Larry Hall with the crime scene investigation. Fromm acted as the recorder of evidence that was being identified and collected by the other detectives. All had made a collective effort to preserve the integrity of the crime scene.

Rushing was called to the scene on the night of July 25, 1975. Rushing was escorted into the crime scene for a walk through. He was not involved in the crime scene investigation. Both noted that they thought Linda had been killed first and then the killer was cleaning him/her self up (hereafter referred to in the male gender although sex is unknown) in the kitchen when Kelley came out and saw him. Kelley may have tried to hide in the bathroom before she was killed.

There was a sign of struggle in the bedroom and the lights were probably turned off. Linda was probably asleep at the time of the attack.
Fromm stated his opinion that the killer may have known her, may have talked to her or had some casual contact with her. This person did not have a relationship with her. She slept in nude and didn't close the drapes. There were lots of peepers in those days. Not much for street lights in those days. Due to prior rejection the man entered her apartment from the balcony. He probably knew the apartment. He may have been in the apartment for 10 minutes before the killing observing her. She was attacked in bed. He probably cut himself with a knife and possibly on the leg while he was straddling Linda. There were obvious signs that the killer had cut himself due to blood drops and smears on the floors and walls. Also that the killer had cleaned himself up in the kitchen sink. There was probably two knifes used in the killings as two were found in the kitchen, one with a broken blade. Kelley probably saw him at this time and hid in the bathroom. He took a second knife and killed her. Fromm seemed to remember that the bathroom door lock had been broken.

Rushing offered his opinion of the events. Linda was finished off and the offender was cleaning up. Kelley emerges from bedroom and is frightened by the sight of her mother or the offender. Kelley locks herself behind the shower door. The offender hits the door and the child won't come out. The offender acts as if he is gone. Kelley comes out and he kills her. He may have grabbed her from behind. The offender cleans up again and then exits the same way he came into the apartment.

I asked both Fromm and Rushing if they had observed any narcotics or paraphernalia in the home. Neither saw any paraphernalia, marijuana butts, drugs, scales, envelopes, or other items in the home. It did not appear that the house had been ransacked as if someone was looking for something. During their investigation they never discovered that Linda or were dealing drugs. They learned that both and Linda were casual users of marijuana on a social basis. (Later Rushing did a walkthrough with and nothing appeared to have been stolen from the residence according to).

After the initial night of the crime both Fromm and Rushing worked together as partners in the investigation. They got their daily assignments from Sgt. Albrecht. Although they were partners they may go separate directions conducing assignments given to them. They talked frequently between themselves. However they never participated in daily or weekly briefings with their supervisors to learn the direction the investigation was going. This was a high profile case for the GJPD and the supervisors were directing the investigation. Therefore neither could tell me which suspects were developed and for what reasons. Neither could they describe why suspects were eliminated. They did not know what lab work had been requested.

I asked why there were many reports on backgrounds for young males with bad grades in PE. Both said the investigation had stalled when they got a profile from the FBI. Neither could recall how this profile had been developed. However once they got it they spent a lot of effort on it because the investigation had slowed.

Rushing related he remembered the profile as: White male 15-17, lives alone or with mother, no father in home, probably is a window peeper, lives within six blocks of the scene, is a loner, doesn't get along with women or is afraid of them, goes to movies alone, may have single hobbies (alone), possibly works as a dishwasher or in janitorial services, very quite person, avoids gym classes at school, organ inferiority complex, may have killed or tortured animals. (Rushing referred to personal notes he had retained from the investigation that he had brought with him. These notes were copied and the copies returned to Rushing by me. His original notes were retained as evidence property with his permission).

I also asked about their knowledge of the composite sketch that was released. They did not know how that sketch was developed or by who. They assumed it came from their supervisors' investigations.

Both felt that the suspect had probably been interviewed at some point. They were confident that the person knew Linda, had some knowledge of the apartment, and was probably known to Kelley, was targeting Linda for some reason and that burglary and rape didn't appear to be the motive.

I asked them if they still had a suspect that came to mind. Both said they liked a juvenile that had been in the laundry room but Lt. Smith interviewed him and they didn't recall what occurred with this suspect. They did not recall his name. I also asked them of they had eliminated in this case. They had not. Neither Fromm or Rushing could remember any other suspects. Rushing had information in his personal files about a man named but he didn't recall why he had the name.

Both Fromm and Rushing stated they would like to help with this investigation and that they would like to read the files again to refresh their memory and possibly recall some additional facts about the course of this investigation.

I met with Bill Gaskill during a meeting of an ATV club that both of us are members of.

Bill remembered the incident under investigation. He was one of the first officers responding to the call. He could not remember any of the details of that evening. I asked if he looked at the bodies and could remember any details about them. I asked him if he remembered how fresh the bodies appeared, if the blood was coagulated, or if he noticed any thing about the details of the apartment. He did not remember any of these details.

Gaskill remembered entering the apartment with , looking at the bodies and then exiting and securing the apartment. He did remember writing a detailed report and that he would have to rely on the report he prepared as he doesn't have any particular recall about this event at this time. He hadn't thought about this incident in many years.

came into the GJPD after contacting Lt. Greg Assenmacher. She learned from her , who had been told of the new investigation effort.

Present at the interview were myself, Sgt. Quimby and Lt. Assenmacher. The interview was video taped on DVD.

began the interview with an immediate tirade on the Botham case claiming the wrong person had been convicted. She told us her daughter had communicated by mail with Kenneth BOTHAM after his conviction. She alleges Botham told that she needed to be careful of the people still out there. On the first night of the Botham murders came to house very excited. He was driving an El Camino with a camper. A camper had been seen at the Botham's. was a brutal person and was dealing drugs or guns. He killed his family dog with a gun before Linda was killed. It appeared was trying to implicate in the Botham homicides. I found this very interesting since she was here to talk about the death of her own family members.

She rambled around several topics until we began asking her direct questions. From the interview we obtained her recollection of events related to this investigation.

On the Thursday before the homicides Linda and Kelley came to her home during lunch hour. Kelley wanted to stay but told her she had to go back to work. She didn't talk to them again. On Friday, went to Linda's house to see her. She doesn't remember why she went there. The door was locked, the paper was between the door jamb and the door handle, and the curtains were open a little bit. No one answered the door. This was in the afternoon. She couldn't remember if she was working that Friday or remember where she was working.

came to her house on Friday night to tell her that Linda and Kelley were dead. was home by herself. showed no emotion. was there about five minutes and they were outside with preparing to leave when showed up. When he was told about the deaths he told that-God is punishing you. It was not unusual for to come to the house. She has gone back to him 3 times over the years.

thought Linda -knew too much- about what was doing. She knew and Linda were having problems. ex-girlfriend lived across the street.

had abused Linda when she was little. felt a lot of guilt after Linda's death. Also, talked to her right after death and told her that he had seen at a gas station before her death. He said that had told him that she forgave him. said that never would have done that. was always involved in a little cult. The only person she remembered from this group was a man named .

When came to the house the girls would always avoid him and go to their bedrooms. was also an alcoholic. He is now living in Nebraska. brother in law also lives in Nebraska and he thinks killed Linda. His name is .

got a lot of her information from . He befriended her after the death of Linda and Kelley. He told her there was cat blood in the apartment and a hand print on the wall that had a scar on it. She thought worked for the Police Department.

Linda had a friend named who may have some information. and went on a camping trip to Utah with two unknown people in March. She also has the funeral visitation log for us to look at. She also has a bunch of notes that she keeps in her safe about the deaths, but she forgot to bring them with her.

had never been around and Kelley when they were together. She didn't know what kind of relationship had with Kelley. was also very vague on when she last went to Linda's apartment. She didn't think it was very often. She also told us that she was never around and Linda when they were together.

also gave us information on where her children were now living so we could contact them.

then told us that she did not remember bringing in a photograph of one of employees and reporting that he resembled the composite photo during that time. She said had no employees.

finished the interview with some information she said she hadn't shared with the investigators until now. Some 3-4 months before Linda was killed she told she had met a very intelligent man at Lincoln Park. This may have been Ted BUNDY.

was asked for a DNA swab and an updated fingerprint card for use in this investigation. She consented.

Purpose: Initial briefing

On this date I attended a briefing concerning the Linda and Kelley (Ketchum) Benson homicides that occurred on or about 7/24/1975 at 1300 N. 21st Street, Grand Junction.

Present were Lt. Greg Assenmacher, Sgt. Paul Quimby, Darci Sanborn of records, Chris Wilson of Crime Analysis, Lane Jochums of evidence and Kim Gallik of investigations.

Lt. Assenmacher summarized the case, records available and evidence found for this 1975 case. He told me that Darci was entering the found records into the existing file system, Kim was copying reports and making a working file, Lane had cataloged the existing evidence into the new bar code system and Chris was doing a link analysis on friends of the Bensons. A FBI profile may have been developed but Sgt. Quimby could not obtain that file as the FBI had no record of it. Lt. Assenmacher also has the hand written arrest logs for that period of time.

I would be working as civilian volunteer cold case investigator under the direction of Lt. Assenmacher and Sgt. Quimby. I signed a GJPD confidentiality form and obtained a civilian volunteer identification. I would be provided with an office and any support the department could offer. I would have computer access for writing reports. The Department had no pre-planned investigative strategy for me to follow.

I was to review and evaluate the reports and evidence with the hope that I could reconstruct the 1975 investigation and use new technology to identify an offender and/or I could develop new investigative leads.

I received a working copy of the file and began cataloging the contents as I reviewed the reports.

DOUG RUSHING contacted me with information regarding who was a close associate of Linda's in 1975. He provided me with the following information had known Linda Benson for several years. She was a very good friend of Linda's. However Linda had a different set of personal morals in that Linda was sexually active and was involved with personal use of marijuana. Neither of which approved of. Linda probably did not confide a lot of her personal information and activity to because of that. However did know Linda very well.

Since the murder the topic of Linda's death has come up often. At times of school reunions, meeting old acquaintances for lunch, and other social events her death becomes a topic. has never had or heard of a common suspect. There was always some suspicion about but nothing that was specific. I asked if she knew whereabouts and she did not. said that lived with for several months after and divorced. has fallen off the face of the earth. She has heard from several people that just doesn't want to be found. His brother may still be around and would try and learn where he may be contacted.

ex-wife is and lives in Collbran. Linda, and were friends before married . believes is the one who introduced to Linda. After divorced he was going with . He had pregnant and was giving him a lot of problems. Linda was the one who broke up the relationship. whereabouts are unknown to . She thinks her mother worked in airport security but that is all she knows about her.

parents are thought to be deceased now. was talking to some years ago at a school reunion function and he acted as if he knew quite a lot about and where he is at. would not talk when pressed for specifics and changed the subject.

I asked if she could recall anything about Linda's former boyfriends. She said Linda had spent some time with a . has quite a criminal past with drugs. had been arrested when she received some marijuana from him. was a former boyfriend who was seriously injured in a car accident. This was a head trauma and he never fully recovered. He had no animosity toward Linda. He came into town maybe a couple of years before Linda's death. had lunch with him. is of the opinion that has never recovered enough physically to have been able to commit the murder. He left town as soon as he heard about Linda's pregnancy. He never made any attempt to contact Linda again. Linda never tried to contact him or pressure him after he left. has never been back in town to the best of knowledge. was a good friend more than a boyfriend. He supported her when Linda was involved in a terrible accident. While she was recuperating he was giving her some marijuana derivative to help with her pain.

wanted me to know that was at the Readmor bookstore one day when who she knew from school approached her and said he was a photographer and he wanted to photograph . This was before Linda's death. She denied and felt it was a very strange encounter as they had never been friends. She never ruled out as a suspect because of this encounter and his later conviction for murder.

told me that was a terrible mother. She had the girls move out when they were 16. had no contact with Linda. He would not go to the apartment and he wouldn't have been welcomed if he had. and Linda were thought to be the reason the were divorced.

AUTHOR: BULLARD, LARRY

Date: 01/28/2008

Time: 1000 Hrs

Location: GJPD Investigations

Ref: Interview with Ron Smith

Ron Smith (DOB)

Tour of Duty: 1961-1979

Lt. Assenmacher, Sgt. Quimby and I interviewed Ron SMITH. Ron Smith was the Lieutenant in charge of the original investigation into the Benson homicides. He was also the Lieutenant of a task force that was formed in early 1976 to investigate homicides.

Smith was interviewed about the events of the investigation in 1975. He provided the following information. The scene was secured tightly upon his arrival. The dispatched patrol officers, and Captain VANDERTOOK had been in the apartment prior to his arrival. Gary RICHARDSON was assigned the crime scene investigation. Jim FROMM was cataloging the evidence. Larry HALL was the photographer and evidence collector. These three worked as a team.

Smith stated he suspects that the killer entered thru the unlocked balcony door. It was very easy to climb onto the balcony by using a ground level air conditioner as a step to access the balcony. Linda was killed in bed. Then the child apparently went into the restroom and used the toilet. The child was grabbed by the arm as she left the restroom and was killed. At some point the offender had cut himself as there was blood in places that the two victims could not have accesses like the switch plate, walls, kitchen and bathroom. A knife with a broken blade was found in the kitchen drain pipe and another knife was in the dishwasher. It looked like the offender had tried to clean himself up in the kitchen sink due to his injury. There was no sign of sexual assault noticed. Linda had a bad vaginal yeast infection that was discharging and had an odor. This may have discouraged a sexual assault.

Lt. Smith, Sgt. ALBRECHT, Doug RUSHING, and Captain Vandertook began interviews and directed the initial investigative course of action.

A neighborhood canvass and interviews led the GJPD to look at several people as possible suspects.

CBI lab results were obtained showing that there was a type O blood found in the house that confirmed their suspicions that the blood came from the offender. The victim's were confirmed as type A blood. The GJPD made a public request for information on person's who may have a hand laceration. Many leads were developed from this press release and were pursued with no tangible results.

Smith then took the case back to the FBI in Quantico, VA. Smith provided Sgt. Quimby with the names of the behavioral science people he met with. (Sgt. Quimby had previously attempted to find this FBI report. With the names provided by Smith he will again pursue obtaining reports from the FBI). The Agents he met with reviewed the case and developed a profile.

Smith remembers the profile as saying: A white male age 14-17, living with his mother and no father figure in the home, has little supervision, low income, probably lived within 8 blocks, may have done some work in the neighborhood, familiar with the apartments, may have watched Linda, may be a window peeper, is a poor student, not bright, may have mutilated animals, maybe a fire starter, does not relate well to women.

The GJPD had not developed any solid leads and they worked this profile for additional information.

A suspect composite was also created. Smith never had much confidence in this composite. Smith questioned creditability. It was reported that who lived in the Chateau Apartments had seen someone on the north side of the complex with a bandage on their arm. had been placed under hypnosis by Ricke Claussen from the SO and a sketch artist created the composite. When asked why the composite was released if the creditability was in question Smith said that was a sore topic of discussion but management wanted it released.

Any leads developed from the profile were pursued but no solid leads were developed.

The investigation went to the back burner due to a lack of leads.

After Chief Meyers left in 1976, a Task force was created to work strictly on homicides. This consisted of Larry THOMPSON, Sgt. Gary RICHARDSON, Clay HANLON, OLIVIAS, Bob PERKINS (CBI), and himself. Joe HICKS maintained the files. They worked on several homicides and in cooperation with a Sheriff's investigation team. They worked on the Botham/Miracle, Benson, and Oliverson homicides.

There were five to six thousand reports generated by the task force. What I had in my possession was the initial investigation of the Benson Homicides. He did not know where the task force files may have gone. The last he knew of them they were in storage near the vault in the basement.

When we inquired about some of the names we obtained from reports and suspects Smith remembered during the investigation he provided the following.

Their first suspect was [redacted] due to his relation to Linda and Kelley... He had a good alibi that was checked out. He was last accounted for at 2200 hours on Thursday, July 24, 1975, fishing with co-workers. He was at work on time the next morning and rode back to Grand Junction with another co-worker on Friday, July 25, 1975, and discovered the bodies shortly after his arrival. They could not verify his whereabouts from 2200 hours to 0600 hours. [redacted] he had no visible injuries, and he was cooperative. [redacted] could not recall if his blood type was ever determined.

Another suspect was [redacted] who was [redacted] boyfriend. However they confirmed his alibi as being in Snowmass at the time of the homicides and he was eliminated.

They initially also looked at [redacted]. They never totally eliminated him as a suspect. [redacted] alibi didn't completely check out. He did not meet with the man he claimed to in Glenwood Springs. He did check into the Denver Hotel at about 1900 hours. They never could confirm that he stayed in the Hotel through the housekeepers or verify he actually spent the night there. He had a window of opportunity from 1900 hours Thursday until 1000 hours on Friday when his alibi could not be confirmed. He had a lot of animosity toward Linda. He was helpful with the investigation; he consented to a search of his residence and business. He had been religious before Linda's death but he got real "churchy" after the fact as if he was trying to use the church as a shield. He supposedly had visited Linda's apartment a few times before her death but that could not be confirmed. Smith did not know if [redacted] blood type was known or if it had been tested.

Another suspect was [redacted] who lived nearby and had extensive contacts with the police. He met the profile they had obtained. His mother [redacted] had protected him by saying he was home the night of the homicides. However they determined she was working the night of the homicides. To this day Smith believes he is a possible suspect as he had never been eliminated.

Ted BUNDY was a suspect due to his travel between Colorado and Utah. He was known to be in Grand Junction and he was suspected in the Oliverson homicide. Smith seemed to recall he was in custody or under police surveillance at the time of the Benson homicides. His M/O didn't match the Benson case either.

[redacted] who lived in Whitewater and [redacted] who lived on North Ave. They were never eliminated or linked to the crime. [redacted] always interested him as a suspect except for the age indicated on the profile. [redacted] and [redacted] may be related and [redacted] may have live in the Chateau apartments before the homicides.

[redacted] who was also known as [redacted] was a bad actor. He may have been wanted when he first showed up in Grand Junction. He was a gang-banger and lived in the complex. Nothing else tied him to the Homicides.

[redacted] met the profile but was never linked to the crime.

[redacted] was a possible suspect but they could never link him to the Bensons in any way.

[redacted] was never linked to the case either.

[redacted] was nasty and hostile.

[redacted], and [redacted] he didn't have any real memory of them and never connected them to the crime.

[redacted] and [redacted] he doesn't have any recollection of.

Ron Smith said he would like to assist in the investigation of this case.

Time: 1410 Hours

I spoke telephonically with Bill Baldridge on January 31, 2008, at approximately 1410 hours, concerning the death of Linda Ketchum's Sister, Judy Ketchum. Judy Ketchum passed away, in early August of 1974, near a lake in Pitkin County, Colorado.

At the time of Judy Ketchum's death Bill Baldridge was employed as the Chief Investigator for the Pitkin County Sheriff's Office. Baldridge recalled the death and says it was ruled a death by natural causes, after a post-mortem examination by a forensic pathologist from the Denver City and County Coroner's Office. Baldridge did not recall the pathologist's name but said he was engaged to perform the autopsy by Pitkin County. Baldridge said the autopsy was conducted at a Denver area mortuary because the City and County of Denver did not allow pathologists to perform post-mortem examinations, in their facility, that occurred outside the City and County of Denver. I asked Baldridge if he recalled if the examination was conducted before, or after, embalming and Baldridge replied that it was absolutely prior to embalming. Baldridge felt the Family's confusion about the post-mortem might have been created by the fact the examination was conducted at a mortuary, rather than in a forensic laboratory theater.

Baldridge says if further information is needed he is available and would provide whatever assistance he could. He says the investigative reports were filed with the Pitkin County Sheriff's Office and would be very useful, to refresh his memory, should he be needed to furnish further information.

SUBJECT: INFO ON OLD REPORTS FROM JOE HICKS

AUTHOR:

Offense # 75-3545

Time: 1330 Hours

I talked with Joe Hicks on January 30, 2008, at approximately 1330 hours, concerning the reports on the 1975 investigation of the Linda Ketchum and Kelley Benson homicides. At the time the reports were generated, Hicks was a Captain with the Mesa County Sheriff's Office and was assigned to assist with the homicide investigations. Hicks' specific assignment was to review and catalog all reports, furnishing any investigative insight he could offer.

Hicks says he placed the reports in three-ring binders and created a 3"x5" index card, for each report, with a brief description of the reports content. Hicks says he made an exact duplicate of the reports he was furnished, together with identical index cards, and placed them in separate three-ring binders. The index cards were maintained with a numerical system, correlating to numbers he placed on each report. The index cards were kept in boxes specifically designed to hold the 3"x5" cards and were approximately 12" in length. Hicks says one set of three-ring binders and index cards was maintained for the Grand Junction Police Department and the identical set was maintained for the Mesa County Sheriff's Department. Hicks left the Sheriff's Department set of reports and index cards in his Office, in a bookcase, when he terminated his employment with the Mesa County Sheriff's Office. Hicks recalls that one set of reports were kept in blue binders and the other set in white binders.

Date of occurrence: 07/24/1975 / 07/25/975

Victim(s): Linda Ketchum (Benson) and Kelley Benson

I spoke with Robert Allen Evers at 2005 hours, February 10, 2008, regarding the above captioned case. At the time this case occurred, Evers was a Lieutenant with the Grand Junction, Colorado Police Department, assigned to the Services Division. Evers subsequently rose to the rank of Chief of Police and retired from that position, with the Grand Junction Police Department.

Chief Evers recalls the incident and remembers he was on the scene and participated in the investigation, from the outset. Chief Evers says he recalls the crime scene and would be happy to assist, in any way possible, but would like to review any reports he generated, to refresh his memory. Chief Evers says he recalls blood, fingerprint and other trace evidence being collected at the scene, but would prefer reviewing his reports before giving further information. I told Chief Evers that I would make arrangements for him to review his case reports, then talk with him about his involvement. Chief Evers and I agreed to spend time discussing the case, after he was able to refresh his memory.

I had contacted Mara JAUCH of the CBI laboratory in Denver, CO by telephone. (303-239-4303). I had requested information on all CBI reports related to GJPD case number 7503545 and the CBI lab file 75-0169M and 75-2480. These numbers were taken from reports I had in our records. I also asked her to check for any CBI files under the name of Linda or Kelley (Ketchum) Benson.

Mara faxed me a summary of reports that she has available to her. No reports were found from 1975. Several reports from 1984 and 1985 were cross referenced to the 1975 case. These involved comparison requests for Suspect . was the suspect in a sexual assault investigation 85-88173. No matches were noted to the Benson homicides.

On this date Grand Junction Police Evidence Technician Lane Jochums found additional records for this case. The records were found in the Quonset Hut evidence area. There were five blue colored binders containing the apparent working files for this investigation in 1975-1976. This was made apparent by the highlighting and notes on the pages. These will be reviewed to find any missing pages we have not previously identified and copied to records.

A photograph log that appears to be from Larry HALL was also discovered and made part of this case file.

Several slide film photos were also discovered that were filed under another file number due to a number reversal on the case number. These included crime scene photos and autopsy photos. These were retained in evidence under the proper case number and will be scanned into the case file.

Sgt. Oswalt and I found the twelve (12) latent fingerprint cards collected by Larry Hall in 1975. These are the original cards from the Benson scene investigation. They were misfiled in a drawer within the basement and have been placed in their proper location within the GJPD fingerprint files under homicides.

These MAY be the cards that were sent to CBI in 1985 for comparison to CBI Lab# 75-2480.

They do not appear to be the latent prints that are found within the case photo file.

Larry HALL returned my telephone call. Larry said he remembered the Benson homicides very well. In fact he remembers that 1975 was a terrible year for death investigations. Larry was the lab technician for the GJPD.

Larry was adamant that he was meticulous in preserving and identifying evidence. That was his job. All his crime scene investigations were documented well with reports.

I asked him about latent cards from the scene. He recalled lifting about 12 cards. Each card was well documented about time, place, and location. He processed the entire house for latent prints. No one else did any latent processing.

I asked him if he took any photographs of any latents and/or patent blood prints. He told me that if he did he would have written a report, documented the chain of custody and all his photographs would have had scales and ID within them as to date, time, and location. He did attend the autopsy but doesn't remember taking photos of latent prints. He doesn't recall any good workable prints being recovered not does he remember any requests for comparisons being made.

Larry stressed that he is working strictly from memory on this and that he would like to see the reports and copies of any photographs before he could be more definitive on this.

He had removed blood marks from the wall by removing the sheetrock containing them. These photos may be from the sheetrock but he needs to review reports before. He believes he took 3-4 rolls of film at the crime scene. I failed to ask if they were 24 or 36 rolls.

On March 7, 2008, at 1420 hours MST voluntarily came into the Grand Junction Police

This report does not reflect every part or nuance of the conversation and is intended as a general overview of the entire contact. As such, this report may also not be chronological in order. For a more detailed exact version of the contact, one should review the recording. The audio recording was downloaded to a DVD and booked into evidence, PQ#5.

was told the purpose of the investigation. asked what my position was with the Police Department.

said he was working on the Timbers paving job at the time of Linda's killing. He now is working some of these same jobs and he will talk to the people and associates to see if they remembered anything. He works two weeks in town and two weeks in Nebraska.

told us immediately that there were some irregularities in the investigation. People deserve a chance to correct these. There were obscene or weird phone calls being made to young ladies and the police never put voice identifiers on the lines. was asked if any of the people connected to this case, including Linda or her family, had received any of these strange calls. He said some of his personal friends were. said (deceased) had told him this. said the and were friends of his receiving these calls. When asked how this connected to Linda he said if they were friends of his they were probably friends of Linda. said he and had talked about this. He was asked if he knew who was making these calls and he said no and that he didn't have a phone at that time.

was asked about his suspicions concerning the killing. He said that life style had some connection. He was running with some bad people. was running drugs and guns.

I showed a picture of a man working that was supposedly working for him in Glenwood Springs in 1975. He recognized the picture as possibly a man running a sweeper and line stripper for him. He contracted with them. The man is a college student running power sweep for him. He could not recall his name.

We talked about suspects and recognized that he was a suspect in 1975. He heard from Bob Evers that Linda had said if anything ever happened to her to look at him. He never heard this from Linda. We then discussed again that was a "person of interest". made it clear he was a suspect at the time. I asked him what his blood type was and he said he had given it to Bob Evers. It is type A positive. talked about talking with Larry Walsh (Private Investigator). He thought Larry Walsh was hired by someone. He said Larry Walsh talked about the same thing we were talking about. He (Walsh) knew Linda and I didn't have a good relationship. Linda hated him. (after the car accident. That crystallized it between and Linda.

When asked about and Linda's relationship he said it was a four star mess. always thought he could have been a better influence on could not tell me anything about Linda in several years. had told that she had always thought he was responsible for the bad relationship. But had gone to a party with Linda and it was obscene. She said the bad relationship was not his fault.

I asked about his relationship with . He couldn't answer that. He said she asked him to rake leaves last fall. He said he had no animosity toward said he did not think she had suspected him. But the afternoon that was there telling her about Linda's death, looked at him and said "you better have a good alibi". He could not explain why she said this and told us to ask her why she said it.

disappeared shortly after the death. wrote a letter to the Sentinel. thought the killer would strike again.

said the death was very hard on the kids.

I asked about when the last time was that he had seen Linda. He said she was picking apricots at his apartment. He went and talked to her. This was about June1975 when the apricots ripen. I asked him why Linda would come to his apartment when they disliked each other so much. He said probably told her about the apricots being good. Their conversation was short and polite on that day.

I told that he had never been eliminated as a suspect. I told him I could not verify his alibi. I asked for him to provide DNA. He said he was concerned about the competency of the police back then. He wanted a letter from me requesting the DNA. He was concerned about competency. He wanted to know how we could compare DNA when it wasn't discovered until the 1980's. He was told that we would compare his DNA to evidence gathered at the scene. I told him the DNA was always there, we just couldn't extract it until later. He questioned the chain of custody. He gave a story about when he was a police officer and he suspected evidence was planted. I asked him if he thought the police planted DNA evidence in 1975 hoping that DNA technology would later be discovered. He questioned mistakes being made. I again asked him for DNA and he declined and questioned my motives for working this case. He again requested a letter requesting he provide DNA. He said he had no animosity against anyone working the case.

According to this timeline Ted Bundy was in school, UU, Salt Lake City, Utah on July 24, 1975 and July 25, 1975.

I also noted from the timeline that Ted Bundy would travel long distances in short times.
As an example March 15, 1975, at 2100 hours Bundy abducted victim Julie Cunningham from Vail, Colorado and transported her body 100 miles away from Vail before dumping her body. Bundy was on the phone in Salt Lake City on March 16, 1975 at 1447 hours.

Case number 75-003545

Benson Homicide

Date of this report: March 17, 2008

Reference: Information from Larry Hall

I talked with Larry Hall via telephone on this date at 1110 hrs MDT.

Mr. Hall had reviewed the items I had sent to him on February 24, 2008. Mr. Hall reported that he could not identify or document the source of the fingerprints he had received from me as "Proof sheet of 15 photos of fingerprints".

Mr. Hall reported that the photographed prints were of good quality and he would have documented these prints in his files. He does not remember ever having prints of this quality associated with the Benson Case. As a latent examiner he would have taken special interest in this quality of print.

Mr. Hall could not find a record of these prints in the documentation I sent him. He did attend the autopsy and he does not think these prints originated at the autopsy. He believes CBI would have sent documentation on the photos if they had originated from the CBI or processed them.

It is Mr. Hall's opinion from the documentation and his memory that these prints are not from the Linda and Kelley (Ketchum) Benson case.

I contacted Sgt. D. Oswalt at the GJPD evidence room shortly after the above conversation with Mr. Hall. Sgt. Oswalt confirmed that the negatives to the above 15 photos were in the Benson evidence. However they were mixed with all the case negatives. The sequential numbering on the above 15 negatives could not be matched up with the other negatives associated with Benson. The envelopes that the film was returned from processing with had been emptied of the negatives and all had been placed together. Therefore the envelopes gave no verification of where these 15 fingerprint photos originated from.

At this time the 15 photos of fingerprints on file with this case cannot be documented to the Benson case.

On February 16, 2008 at approximately 1530 hours voluntarily came into the GJPD for an interview. Present for the interview were Commander G. Assenmacher, Sgt. P. Quimby, and Special Investigator L. Bullard.

The following information was obtained from .

was 14 years old when the homicides occurred.
virtually has no memory of the events after the homicides. He remembers everything prior to that time but his memory is not clear about events afterwards. He thinks he remembers that two detectives came to tell them about the deaths. His mother said it was but he thinks she is right. Linda was a and was several years older than He was still close with them. Linda and had houses rented in two locations that were close enough for him to bike to. He went to their home frequently.

was a Green Beret and was a hero type to . had a very explosive temper. He was a gruff guy. was very athletic. didn't recall being interested in hunting and fishing. also had a lot of assault type weapons. He was very intelligent about guns. went shooting with him several times. was a gun safety freak. remembered one time Linda was with them and had been shooting a gun. Linda became excited about something and she turned around with the gun and just went off. His temper was explosive.

always had a dog named Sam which was a very large German shepherd. recalls that came by to say goodbye several months after Linda died and that Sam was with him then.

e hated his brother like . was out of town a lot and would come and fix things like cars for Linda when was gone. was trying to fix Linda's car one day and came home and an argument ensued. There was some animosity between the brothers.

was sometimes uneasy around because it was easy to set him off. When came by to say goodbye he was driving a Ford with a lift on it. thinks he was going to Wyoming. hasn't seen him since. He hasn't seen said Linda and argued a lot. Linda sobbed a lot which bothered would be yelling at her. Like on the desert when they were shooting he wouldn't let it go after she said she was sorry. She went to the car and sobbed.

found some guns in a closet at their home and went off on Linda for letting find them. had about a hundred guns. was sure he had at least a hundred guns that were not sporting type weapons. They were more like assault weapons.

(Investigators asked if knew about any drug involvement that may have been a motive for the murders.)
knew and Linda were drinking and using drugs back then. knew the crime scene was very ugly from his father. This was a very angry person who did this. But never saw them doing any drugs. In their house in Hayden, he once saw a lot of marijuana. thinks they may have been users and dealers. He was only 12 when he saw the marijuana and he didn't put it together then.

doesn't remember going to their apartment unless it was a couple of times with his mother. Kelley was bright and animated. doesn't have any memory of real problems between Linda and . mother said there was some. just set rules and he had expectations. never remembers in his mind anything with that he thought was out of line or unreasonable with both and Linda.

The deaths made get stoned or drunk for about 10 years. attributed this to "you were known by what you were and not who you were". This affected .

was the main suspect according to the buzz (talk) in 1975. People thought the may be connected.

believes the investigation is pretty much a ghost chase at this point after all these years. If it could have been solved they would have done it back then.

Although knows his mother thinks was involved it doesn't make sense. reasoned that if you thought someone killed your daughter and grandchild would you invite him over every Saturday for dinner and ask him to rake leaves. His mother literally lost it after the deaths. She has been married about 7 times but he did not remember anyone around the times of the death. is sure was not involved. said he was not being protective he just knew was not involved and DNA would clear him.

These tissue samples were obtained by Dr. Thomas Canfield during his autopsy of each victim in 1975.

I was able to contact [redacted] through his mother [redacted] who still lives in Grand Junction, CO. She provided me with his cell phone number.

I contacted [redacted] via his Cell phone in Denver. He provided me with the following information:

[redacted] and [redacted] were living together at the Chateau Apartments. These were very nice apartments in 1975. [redacted] knew who Linda Benson was and that she had a young daughter. [redacted] did not know who her husband or boy friend was. He didn't know her other than knowing she was a resident of the same apartment complex.

On the night of the murders he and [redacted] came home late and parked in the far part of the east parking lot near the trash cans. They parked there to protect a Corvette he had. This was late in the night. Probably after two a.m. As they were walking toward the doors of the apartment a man came from around the north end of the building. There were no doors on that side and [redacted] focused on him. The man was walking around the apartment toward where they were. [redacted] was behind [redacted] and [redacted] locked onto him because he was transecting his movement and walked very close to him, within striking distance. [redacted] wasn't sure if the guy was going to "rumble" (fight). [redacted] just had a real strange feeling about him. [redacted] looked right at him and really noted his cold black eyes. The guy was guarding his ribs like he was somewhat hurt. [redacted] couldn't remember which side he was protecting. [redacted] had about 15 seconds near contact with him.

The next day after work [redacted] saw all the crime scene tape around the apartment. Some time after that [redacted] and [redacted] were talking about the murder and he wondered if the man he saw was connected some how. He went to the Police Department and told them about what he saw. They arranged to hypnotize him and he made a composite drawing.

About a year or two after that [redacted] came home and flipped on the TV and there was a story about Ted Bundy being arrested and he recognized him immediately. He remembered his eyes. He would never forget his eyes. He wished he had done something different that night to have more information on him.

[redacted] was the lead investigator for CBI and was [redacted] neighbor. He came to [redacted] one day at work, before this guy was ever caught, and put a picture down on his work bench for him to look at and asked if that was his guy. [redacted] said that was his boy. [redacted] said forget all about what you know. [redacted] said it was the same picture of Ted Bundy.

[redacted] never paid any attention to the guy and [redacted] said [redacted] never remembered seeing him.

August 28, 2008
I telephoned Mike Fisher at in San Diego, California. Mr. Fisher was a former Pitkin County DA investigator who was very familiar with Ted Bundy. Mr. Fisher interviewed Bundy before his execution in Florida. Mr. Fisher was able to clear some unsolved homicides including the Denise Oliverson case in Grand Junction. Mr. Fisher had investigated homicides in Colorado involving Ted Bundy. Mr. Fisher was not available and I left a message for him to contact me about the Benson investigation.
On or about September 15, 2008
Mr. Fisher contacted me at my residence by phone. I explained my investigation and asked him information on Ted Bundy and his possible involvement in the Benson homicides. Mr. Fisher explained to me that he did not think it was possible for Ted Bundy to have been in Colorado during that time. Fisher had tracked Bundy's movements using credit card receipts and telephone calls during 1975. Although he could place Bundy in Grand Junction at the time of the Oliverson disappearance he could not place him here in July of 1975. He explained that Bundy had committed several crimes in Colorado prior to July. Bundy was avoiding the state of Colorado because he felt authorities were looking for him there. Mr. Fisher also said Bundy made no mention of the Benson homicide in his closing interviews with him just prior to his execution. Fisher was confident Bundy would have given information on that homicide as an attempt to stall his execution. Fisher did acknowledge to me that he was unaware of the Benson homicides until our conversation. The Benson homicides had never been a focus of the Bundy investigation.
I explained my reports related to the Benson case including the circumstances, crow bar, injuries, blood type and composite photo given by a witness Mr. Fisher was not impressed with the composite photo as he explained Bundy looked like everybody. He explained that was part of his success in being able to be able to change or blend in with people. Mr. Fisher thought the MO I had given him was not Bundy's. Mr. Fisher also asked for detailed information on the victim injuries. When he found out that there was no sexual molestation or penetration on either victim he was convinced it was not Bundy. None of Bundy's sexual MO was present.
Based on the interview with Mr. Fisher and an FBI Bundy time line showing Bundy was in attendance at college in Utah at the time of the homicides; no additional investigation on Bundy will be pursued at this time.

I received a Pueblo, CO report from GJPD Crime Analyst Chris Wilson. The report (RA-316) was dated May 2, 1968. In this report Nemnich was arrested for aggravated sexual assault. Nemnich entered a home at 3pm in the afternoon through an unlocked front door. He sexually assaulted the victim while armed with a butcher knife. Nemnich was a parole violator at the time of arrest. He was transient at the time and listed Longmont, Co as his original home. Investigation showed Nemnich walking the neighborhood and apparently casing it before the rape occurred.

SUBJECT: INTERNET FOLLOW-UP

On 02/17/2009 and 02/18/2009, I conducted internet searches for any internet footprint left by Jerry Nemnich, [redacted]. I included the searches of the aliases of Bill Atter and Bill Keller for Jerry Nemnich. I conducted the search through the following websites:

Google.com, for general internet search.
Pipl.com, a website designed to search for people generally on the internet, social networking websites, or data bases containing information on people.
Spy.appspot.com, a search engine for conversations over social networking sites.
Serph.com, a search engine for social networking media.
Boardtracker.com, a search engine for online discussion forums.
Socialmention.com, a search engine user generated content like blogs, comments, bookmarks, etc.
Myspace.com, a common social networking site.
Facebook.com, a common social networking site.

In my search, I found Jerry Nemnich has a very small internet footprint. I was unable to locate a social networking page for him, and most of the search results centered around his DOC record. In searching the names of Bill Atter and Bill Keller, I found numerous results, but none that I could link back to Jerry, either through location, photo, or association information.

The hits generated through these searches that are a higher likelihood of being this Jerry Nemnich was an employment listing for JLN Consulting in Edmonds, WA. I was advised Edmonds, WA, was a former place Jerry lived. In my research on this company, JLN (which are Jerry's initials, unknown if coincidence) Consulting is a company based in the Chicago area, and does IT consulting for businesses. I also located a restaurant review listing for Jerry showing his full name and an e-mail address of [redacted] The review was of a Seattle area restaurant and was posted in 1997.

I did not find any likely hits for [redacted].

In searching for [redacted], most of the results centered around his Colorado DOC listings. I did find a myspace.com page showing the name of [redacted] and an age of 35, but the page was set to private. The last login was on 12/06/2006, and there was only one friend listing, which is the listing for the creator of myspace.com (Tom), and appears on every new myspace page. The URL for this page was [redacted]. I also searched AKA's for [redacted], including [redacted] and [redacted]. I did not find any other social networking sites for [redacted], or any other likely hits for an internet footprint.

In my search for [redacted], I found this was a very common name and difficult to pinpoint to the proper person, as the only location I had for her was in Kansas. I did locate a listing showing the name of [redacted] as a student of Longmont Sr. High School, class of 1971. I did not find any other likely hit for this [redacted]

I also conducted demographic searches of myspace and facebook looking for people that match the demographic information for these individuals in case they were not using their names. I did not find any likely hits for any of these people.

SUBJECT: GARY RICHARDSON INTERVIEW

AUTHOR: BULLARD, LARRY

Victim: Linda and Kelley Ketchum (Benson)
Date of occurrence: July 25, 1975
Date of Report: February 11, 2009
Reference: Interview with Gary Richardson-retired GJPD

On February 9, 2009 at 1040 hours I interviewed Gary Richardson at the CBI office, Grand Junction.

Mr. Richardson was an officer of the Grand Junction Police Department from December 1968 to May 1994. He was part of the crime scene investigation team during the Benson Homicide investigation in 1975. He was assigned to Detectives in 1975.
Richardson was allowed to read his reports related to the crime scene, review the photos available, and look at the diagram before we began the interview. He said he remembered doing this crime scene but he may not recall specifics. He summarized this recollection of this scene as follows:

The diagram was drawn by a Jack or John Nisley who was a realtor. Nisley had the tools and expertise to do the diagram. Richardson set with him while he drew the diagram based on Richardson's notes and Richardson's supervision. The diagram was drawn on poster board material that was about 18" x 24" in size.

Richardson followed Investigator Hall as he photographed the crime scene. Hall photographed and Richardson did the photo log. Richardson could not correlate the photo log to the photos available for his review while with me. He did sort the photos into relationship to the kitchen, bedroom, etc. as best he could remember.
I specifically referred him to the photographs (approximately 15) that were of fingerprints. He did not recall logging these photos or anything about them. I asked him about his photo log showing #37 "Fingerprint on left upper leg-inside". (Report C-2 original case file) He said he remembered the possible thumb print on her leg which he pointed out on a photo of Linda he was reviewing. He didn't remember any details about the fingerprint or if it was photographed as a close up photo or an overall as seen in the photo he was now looking at. He also remembered that Linda had an evident vaginal discharge.
He remembered the crowbar being seen in the bedroom and it seemed out of place. Linda was not a great housekeeper but this just looked too out of place in the bedroom. There did not seem to be a much of a struggle in the bedroom. The bed was a little crooked in the room but the items on the dresser didn't seem to be disturbed from a struggle or fight. Richardson thinks Linda was attacked in bed and killed. Then the offender worked (incised) her when she was dead and on the floor. He thought maybe the offender broke a knife and then went and got another knife based on the knives found in the kitchen. He thought Kelley was killed where she was found also. There were no signs of drag marks that he recalled. The person also made bloody swipe marks near the bedroom light switch when the offender was either turning the light switch on or off. This portion of the wallboard was cut out for evidence as he recalled.
Richardson assisted with the crime scene collection of evidence as noted in the reports. The knife blade in the kitchen sink was removed from the "S" trap below the sink as he dismantled the trap himself. He thought the offender washed himself or something in the sink because of blood there. They collected blood from the carpet by removing a piece of the carpet and drying it for evidence purposes. On the other blood collected he believed they used a wet Q-tip. The chalk was placed around the victims before they were removed.

He remembered they did not find any signs of forced entry to the apartment. There did not appear to be a burglary as guns were not taken. There did not appear to be expensive items in the house and nothing appeared to be taken. They found no evidence of drugs or drug paraphernalia in the house.
Richardson was not very involved in the continuing Benson investigation. He was assigned to other duties.

Victim: Linda and Kelley Ketchum (Benson)
Date of occurrence: July 25, 1975
Date of Report: February 13, 2009
Reference: Collection of buccal swabs from former officers.

On February 12, 2009, I contacted the following former officers from the Grand Junction Police Department who were crime scene investigators on the 1975 Benson homicide scene:

James Fromm
Gary Richardson
Doug Rushing

The swabs were collected in the following manner. While wearing rubber gloves I opened sealed paper and plastic swab containers (2) and allowed the person to take the swabs from the open container. The person was instructed to open the sealed caps, slide the cap seals down the swab stick and then use the exposed cotton swabs to rub their inner cheeks and gums with the swabs. I asked them to use sufficient movement to place cells on the swab and not just to provide saliva. The person then was directed to slide the caps back up and seal them. I then opened a pristine unopened envelope and had them drop the swabs into the envelope. I initialed the envelope and placed them in another pristine plastic container and sealed the container. I marked the container with the date, time and person swabbed.

I obtained swabs from Fromm at this office, from Richardson at this home and from Rushing at his business.

After obtaining these swabs I delivered them to Detective Sean Crocker at approx 1640 hours on 2/12/2009, and he accepted custody of the items.

January 28, 2009: Sgt. Tony Clayton and I met with CBI employee Cynthia Kramer. Ms. Kramer is a Laboratory Agent/Criminalist who performed DNA analysis on items I had submitted to the CBI lab. Through her analysis she conducted a CODIS search which resulted in the identification of Jerry Louis Nemnich (11/01/44) as the source of blood found at the (Ketchum) Benson homicide scene. AUTHOR: WILSON, CHRIS

On 3/31/09, I was asked by Det. Sean Crocker to find information regarding Jerry Nemnich or working with or for Western Staffing, West Staff, or Western Girl in Grand Junction in 1975.

At approximately 9:30 hours on this date, I contacted the local Grand Junction office of Westaff at 1133 Patterson Suite 6B - phone number 243-6505. I advised the receptionist that I was looking for information on an employee who might have worked there in 1975. She stated that all personnel records were kept by their corporate office in Walnut Creek, CA and that she was not sure records were kept back that far. She gave me a phone number of 1-800-588-9783 and stated I should ask for their legal department.

I left two different messages between 10:30 and 11:00 - one for Debbie Plummer of their Legal Department and one for an unknown employee in their Payroll Department. At approximately 14:30 hours, Debbie Plummer called me back. I advised her we were working a cold case homicide and looking for employee records of an employee who worked through their Grand Junction office in 1975. She advised me that she had been with the company for 22 years and they did not keep records back that far, adding that their corporate policy years ago was 10 years for personnel records and was now 5-7 years. She also stated that they did not keep records back that far of which companies they were providing staffing for and that no microfilm or microfiche records were kept either.

She advised that Western Staffing went by several different names over the years - Western Girl, Westaff and Western Staffing Services. She also stated that they had been bought out/acquired by a competitor, The Select Family of Staffing Companies on March 1, 2009 and would cease to exist as a company on May 22, 2009. Their corporate offices are at 298 N Wiget Ln, Walnut Creek CA 94598 and their corporate phone number is 1-800-588-9783 or 925-930-5300. Ms Plummer's direct line is 925-944-6671.

Detective Stogsdill and I were assigned to assist D.A Investigator Dave Martinez. Nemnich was placed into custody at approx. 1400 hours on an outstanding warrant.

Nemnich's truck was searched incident to arrest as he was in custody standing near the driver's side door.

I was advised that the truck was going to be released to a driver arranged by the company that owns the vehicle. I photographed the exterior and the interior of the vehicle. The photos were later burned onto a CD and booked into evidence as CA-1.

Inside the cab I located a Gateway laptop computer that appeared to be Nemnich's personal computer. The computer was taken for safe keeping and later booked into GJPD evidence as CA-2.

An LG brand cell phone was taken off of Nemnich at the time of arrest. The phone was also taken for safe keeping and later booked into GJPD evidence as CA-3.

SUBJECT: CHECKS

AUTHOR: SPEER, MARY

On 04-21-09, Sgt. Clayton requested I attempt to locate bank records for a check written in 1975. Sgt. Clayton advised it was believed First National Bank - North, the bank of account on the check, at one time had been located in the building which is now Western Rockies Federal Credit Union (WRFCU), 2302 North Ave, Grand Junction, CO. Sgt. Clayton provided a photocopy of the check, front and back.

The First National Bank -North check was drawn on account # , in the account name of Jerry or Nemnich. The check, #218, was dated 07-29-75, paid to the order of Paul's Liquors, and in the amount of $25. The check is signed in the name of Jerry Nemnich.

The check was stamped twice by the bank: "Returned for: Insufficient Funds" and "Returned Twice Present for Collection Only".

The address printed on the check was 1430 North Ave, No. 17, Grand Junction, CO, 81501. The North Ave address was crossed out and a second address, "2850 Texas", was handwritten on the check.

There are two sets of initials written in the upper right corner near the check number.

The back of the check was endorsed "Paul's Liquor For Deposit Only". The bank endorsements on the back of the check was stamped "Cancelled" on "Aug 7 - '75" and again on "Aug 19 - '75". The check was stamped multiple times indicating it was routed through Mountain States Bank and United Bank of Denver.

On 04-21-09, I contacted Colorado Department of Regulatory Agencies, Bank Division. I was advised the First National Bank - North, was listed as active with an address at 422 White Ave, Grand Junction, CO, and is part of US Bank.

On 04-21-09, I contacted Western Rockies Federal Credit Union, 2302 North Ave, Grand Junction, CO, and spoke with Gail Webb.

Webb confirmed First National Bank - North had been located in their building until approximately 1985. Webb stated the building sat vacant 4 four years prior to WRFCU's move into this location in May 1989. Webb stated no bank records from previous banks were in this building when WRFCU took possession and it would be a gross violation of banking laws and regulations for records to have been left behind.

Webb stated she does not know where First National Bank - North moved to from the North Ave location.

On 04-21-09, I contacted US Bank and spoke with Richard. Richard confirmed First National Bank - North had been located in the Dalby Wendland Building on Main St (646 Main St, Grand Junction, CO) and is now part of US Bank. Richard stated his knowledge regarding specifics dates is limited and he referred me to Dorie Clutter for more information.

Clutter confirmed First National Bank - North, is now part of US Bank. Clutter stated First National Bank - North ceased to exist on 04-11-86 when it merged with First National Bank, located in Grand Junction.

Clutter stated banks are required to keep records for seven years, after which time the records are destroyed. Clutter stated rarely are records held past the seven years and not purged. Clutter stated she would not expect the bank to have any records from 1975. Clutter stated she would attempt to confirm whether any 1975 records exist, to aid in determining whether a search warrant would need to be executed at the bank.

On 04-22-09, Clutter contacted me to advise the bank did not have any records from 1975. Clutter was asked to check the bank's account list for the names Jerry Nemnich and Nemnich. Clutter confirmed the names were not in the bank's system.

Clutter stated when account names are inactive for an extended period of time, they drop off or are purged from the system.

Clutter was asked to keep this conversation and all information discussed in this conversation confidential. Clutter agreed to do so.

The following e-mail was sent to me on 04/24/2009 by The documents attached to the e-mail have been scanned into SIRE.

Detective Clayton,

I've been going through old papers and stuff I've kept to pinpoint the location of the apartment and I lived in when Jerry was there. You may already have this info, but I'll send it anyway. The map shows some of the places where I lived during that time frame. I have a gas bill for York St April 1975..that's where I was living when we met and there should be a police report on record of a break-in there. While we were together was starting school for LPN nursing. I bought her a watch and a tape recorder for school. The included receipts show the 1156 Gaylord St. address. I'm sure that's where we were when Jerry stayed. We lived at 721 Logan after Gaylord, I remember we got two German Shepard puppies who tore the place up. I marked 1428 Gaylord and 1361 Humboldt only because I found notes I had written with those addresses. I believe they were apartments I had looked at before moving to 1156 Gaylord.

Also....just because I guess every small detail may be important...a fellow art school student lived in the basement apartment of the house next to 1156 Gaylord to the North. His name is of Chigago.

Hope this helps. If there is any further assistance I can give don't hesitate to call.
Youre Truly,

SUBJECT: SIR SPEEDY PRINTING

On 04/13/2009, I was requested to follow up on information that the suspect, Jerry Nemnich, had been employed for Sir Speeding printing, located at 912 North Ave., in 1975. I was provided with information that Sir Speedy was owned by and who were now deceased. The business is not in existence, and it appeared it has not been there since 1992. I was also provided with information that according to Lexis/Nexus, the possibly had two children, (in Bayfield, CO), and (in Grand Junction, CO).

Searching through CCIC/NCIC, public records, internet records and local records, I was unable to find contact information for and . I requested the La Plata County Sheriff's Office contact at his most recent address I could locate, in Bayfield. Later that day, I received a call from stated he is not related to and and has nothing to do with Sir Speedy printing in Grand Junction.

The address for in the public records showed as in Grand Junction, but I was not able to contact anyone there, and her name did not appear on the postal delivery card on the side of the house. I contacted the Grand Junction Post Office Inspector to check on a forwarding address, but was advised she had forwarded her mail to general delivery in Costa Mesa, CA. I found another possible name for under . I was able to locate a possible address for Garden Grove, CA, but no phone number. I requested the Garden Grove Police contact and have her call me. A few hours later, I received a call from , who advised me she used to live in Grand Junction, but has no relation to and or to Sir Speedy printing.

I also contacted the city clerk's office looking for any records the city may have for Sir Speedy printing. I was advised the city keeps few, if none, records for businesses that old. I showed the picture of Jerry from his December 1975 arrest in Jefferson County, but John said he does not recognize that man. added that did not like to hire men with long hair and beards, as Jerry had in that photo.

SUBJECT: CASE NOTES

AUTHOR: CROCKER, SEAN

On February 5, 2009 I was assigned as lead detective for the double homicide cold case investigation of Linda Ketchum (Benson) and Kelley Ketchum. Several agencies combined to form a task force to investigate these murders.

On March 26, 2009, members of the Benson Homicide Task Force traveled to Longmont, Colorado to discuss our case with them and future arrest plans for Jerry Nemnich. During this briefing, Longmont Police Department agreed to start surveillance on Jerry and [redacted] home address of 219 Terry Street in Longmont and his current place of employment, WestCo Express located in Commerce City. Longmont also agreed to start surveillance at [redacted] residence located at [redacted]. [redacted] is Jerry's stepsister.

Also during this trip, Agent Bennett and I interviewed [redacted] Long. Long is currently the day reporting supervisor for the Boulder County Jail and also was the lead detective in a past sexual assault case that Jerry was a suspect in. Please see Agent Bennett's report for full interview details.

On March 30, 2009, I received an email from Sgt. Darren Bloom of the Longmont Police Department. This email contained a surveillance report, several photographs of Jerry Nemnich, [redacted], and Jerry's over the road truck. Jerry's truck is a white 2006, Peterbilt tractor. The registered owner of this truck is Westco Express in Commerce City, Colorado. At the time of this photograph Jerry's truck was connected to a box style cargo trailer. These photos were taken at a truck stop located at I-25 and Highway 52. Other photos included a picture of [redacted] taken in front of her house at 345 Hover Street in Longmont and the front of Jerry and [redacted] house at 219 Terry Street. The surveillance report was printed off and later placed into the original case jacket and the photos were later burned to a CD and booked into evidence at the Grand Junction Police Department.

On March 31, 2009, Detective Sergeant Tony Clayton, CBI Agent Brooks Bennett, CBI Cold Case and VICAP Coordinator Audrey Simkins, and I attended a meeting with the Denver Police Department Cold Case Unit at their office in Denver. During this meeting we discussed the details of our case and provided them with background information we had already collected on Jerry Nemnich. Denver Police Department then told us Jerry Nemnich was also involved in a 1973 unsolved rape homicide that occurred in their city.

On April 4, 2009, I hand carried an arrest warrant for Jerry Louis Nemnich DOB: 11-1-44 to the Honorable Judge Brian Flynn who signed them. These warrants were also sealed due to the sensitive nature of this case and due to the amount of follow up that will be done after Jerry's arrest.

Later this same day members of the homicide task force traveled to the Longmont area in preparation for an arrest. Before arriving in Longmont I placed a call to Sgt. Darren Bloom and he told me his surveillance team has not seen Jerry in the last few days. I asked Sgt. Bloom to call me if and when they saw Jerry.

On April 4, 2009 at 1700 hours, a briefing was held at Longmont PD to discuss the operational plan. During this briefing it was decided we would use a ruse with officers from Longmont PD to knock on door to see if we could find out where Jerry was and if he would be returning in the near future. told officers she has not seen Jerry in two weeks and she does not know when he will return home. then voluntarily provided a cell phone number for Jerry and told the officers they could call him anytime if they had questions for him. This cell phone number was 303-653-6112 and we later discovered Verizon Wireless was the cell phone carrier.

After the briefing, I prepared a court order for production of records to Verizon Wireless so we could begin tracking Jerry through his cell phone usage. This court order was signed by the Honorable Judge Mallard from the Boulder County Judicial District. After receiving the signed court order I faxed the order to Verizon and received a last know location for Jerry in the area of Salt Lake City, Utah from Verizon.

On April 5, 2009, we received another location from Verizon showing Jerry was going westbound towards Las Vegas and was not coming back towards Colorado. It was then decided by the task force that we would reach out to Jerry's employer in an attempt to find out his route and when he was due to return to the Longmont area.

On April 6, 2009, Agent Bennett and I went to Westco Express in Commerce City in an attempt to contact the owners and gather information on Jerry. Westco Express cooperated with law enforcement and arranged a load to bring Jerry to Colorado via I-70. Please see Agent Bennett's report for interview details. During this trip an arrest was not made of Jerry.

SUBJECT: INTERVIEW

AUTHOR: CROCKER, SEAN

On April 9, 2009, I interviewed on the front porch of her home located at in Watseka, Illinois. Agent Brooks Bennett with the Colorado Bureau of Investigation was also present for this interview. Lt. Josh King of the Watseka Police Department was assisting us in locating and was standing about 20 feet from us in the grass during the interview. Agent Bennett recorded this interview on his pocket digital recorder. I later transferred this recording to a CD and booked into evidence at the Grand Junction Police Department.

Agent Bennett and I approached house and knocked on what appeared to be the front door of the residence. After knocking repeatedly on the door and windows I could hear the sound of a woman's voice coming from inside the house. We identified ourselves as police officers and she began talking to us through the front window. I told her we were from Colorado and I asked if she knew Jerry Nemnich. She said yes she knew Jerry and I told her we would like to talk to her about something has happened on the western slope in 1975. then said, "It is Grand Junction?" I told her yes and she said she would come to the front door and talk to us. At this point Agent Bennett started his digital recorder. The front door opened; however, the glass exterior door remained closed. told us the last time she saw Jerry was when he was in jail for the sex assault. said after she visited him in jail she basically lost interest in him. then told us we need to get in touch with because she and Jerry dated after he broke up with told us was from Camden, New Jersey but she has not talked to in a very long time and she does not know where she was at now. told us was a couple of years younger than her and used to work with Jerry in an office building in Denver. told us was supposed to move in with , but he got arrested for the 1977 sex assault in Denver and ended up moving in with . said she and became good friends after Jerry went to prison.

After a few minutes of conversing through the glass door, said she felt comfortable talking to us, so she going to change her clothes and she would talk to us on the front porch.

The interview then moved to the front porch and I took the following statement from I began by repeating several things had told us through the front door. I told her that she said she Jerry Nemnich's girlfriend around 1974 and she and Jerry lived in Grand Junction. She said yes that is correct.

told us she was involved with Jerry for about two to three years as boyfriend and girlfriend. said during that time Jerry was never violent towards her and she knew about Jerry's time in prison. said the only time she has been arrested was the time in December 1975 when she got caught stealing a carton of cigarettes with Jerry.

said she knew Jerry was adopted and she met his parents and his sister . told us they all lived in the Longmont area. said they were very poor for a period of time when they were together but she could not remember where they were living at that time.

she distinctly remembers a time in the summertime when Jerry was working at a printing company in Grand Junction and he was accused of stealing petty cash from the company. thought Jerry was working at Sir Speedy Printing Company or something like that. was not 100% sure of the company name. said it was a place where people would drop documents off and pick them up later. said they did a background check on Jerry they discovered he was an ex con and had done time in prison. After finding this out they accused him of stealing the money and Jerry was very anxious to leave Grand Junction and go to the area of Campbell, California. said they packed up his car with their stuff and drove to California. said they drove to California taking the route that took them through Reno, Nevada. said they left Grand Junction in a hurry and it was about one week after he was accused of stealing the petty cash. went on to say Jerry was not nervous at the time but he said let's get out of here and go west.

told us the only time she saw Jerry nervous was when he was talking about the possibility of being questioned about what Ted Bundy was doing in the Grand Junction area. Jerry went on to tell that he hopes the cops would not question him in these recent rapes because of his background of raping women. said at the time Jerry was telling her this she did not know who Ted Bundy was and she did not know what he was doing to women. thought this conversation took place shortly after they left Grand Junction.

told us Jerry usually worked days and they would go out sometimes to a bar together, get drunk and go home. remembers them going to a country western bar but could not remember the name of the bar or the location. said they were usually homebodies and they did not have any friends over there.

told us she and Jerry lived in a white, single wide trailer on a corner lot and not in a normal trailer park. said she did not know an exact address but she lived near a gas station because she used to walk to work. said she has never had a driver's license. told us Jerry used to drive a red, Ford convertible and she thought it might have been a Galaxy 500. said it was Jerry's car and she has never had a driver's license.

told us she met Jerry at the Campus Bar in Denver where she worked and she said she was 21 years of age when she met Jerry. told us she was born in 1953 so the approximate year she would have been 1974 when she moved to Denver and she met Jerry about a year after that.

said they moved from Denver to Grand Junction sometime in the next year and they lived in Grand Junction for six months to a year. told us they lived in a trailer on a corner lot and they also lived in a motel with a kitchenette for a little while. said she worked a short distance at a gas station so she would walk to and from work. said she would wear shorts and t-shirts to work and remembered it being hot outside. said she could not remember the name of the service station but she worked from three in the afternoon until she closed it at nighttime.

told us she was very surprised that Jerry was out of jail because of his high rate of recidivism. told us they did not do drugs but they drank alcohol. said their relationship was just boyfriend and girlfriend.

told us she met Jerry in a bar when she lived in Denver with a girlfriend. said her girlfriend's name was and she worked as a barmaid in the bar she met Jerry in.

told us that no one visited them while they lived in Grand Junction and again she told us they lived there for about six months to a year.

said she could not remember the exact reason they moved from Denver to Grand Junction. said it was nothing for people back then to throw your stuff in the car and just move somewhere different.

told us we needed to find because he was Jerry's best friend when they were together and she thinks they might have met in prison but she was not totally sure of that. told us Jerry and worked on the oil rigs together when they lived in Roosevelt, Utah. said just before Jerry broke up with her, she moved from an unknown location to Roosevelt, Utah. said while living in Utah, Jerry and unexpectedly up and moved back to Denver leaving her stranded in Utah. thought her brother wired her some money and she flew from Salt Lake City back to Denver.

After moving back to Denver from Utah, thought it was about a month later when Jerry was arrested for the rape that he did at gunpoint. thought this was uncommon because she had never seen Jerry with a gun before. said she went and saw Jerry during the time he was in jail but after he went to prison she did not visit him. thought she left the Denver area about 1985.

I asked to try and give us a timeline when she and Jerry were together. said she would do the best she could. said they first lived in Denver in stepmother's house and the bar she worked at was on University Boulevard. said the apartment they rented was about a block away from the Campus Lounge. said they did not know at the time that this apartment was owned by stepmother. said she cannot remember if they moved from Grand Junction to California then to Utah or if it was Grand Junction to Utah then to California. said she would call us if she found anything in her house that could help her remember her time with Jerry, along with dates and locations. said when they lived in Grand Junction they made several trips from Grand Junction to Denver to visit with friends and party. thought they lived in Roosevelt, Utah for a short period of time and they lived in California for about one to two years.

told us when Jerry would get mad he would yell just like anyone else and she never saw him be violent to anyone during the time they were together.

I read a list of names to and she did not recognize the names of Linda and Kelley Benson or Linda or Kelley Ketchum. also did not recognize the names of or .

said they spent time their free in the mountains hiking and four-wheeling. remembers having a four wheel drive Toyota. said they would only go four-wheeling or camping when they visited Denver.

told us before they lived in the single wide trailer they lived in motel with a kitchenette. thought there was an open space across from the motel; however, she could not remember the exact address of the motel.

said she would be willing to come back to Grand Junction and walk around to see if she could remember where they lived and where she worked.

told us she does not remember Jerry having to go to the emergency room for cutting himself or for any other reason.

Agent Bennett and I thanked for her time, we ended the interview and we left her house.

AUTHOR: CROCKER, SEAN

On April 19, 2009, Agent Brooks Bennett of the Colorado Bureau of Investigation and I interviewed at her residence in Cascade, Iowa. This interview was digitally recorded on a pocket recorder and later transferred to a compact disc and booked into evidence at the Grand Junction Police Department.

I briefly explained our cold case to her and then asked her to explain her past with and Jerry. I took the following statement from said she lived in Denver on south Corona Street and was married to in the early 70's. said she met through a friend and then had an affair with got divorced and she moved into a house on South Emerson Street with (unknown last name spelling). told us and was selling drugs during the times they were delivering pizza. told us later was the same age as the rest of the group and she does not know where he is at now; however, he was a student at CU and he possibly could be from the Aurora area. said we need to find because he was very good friends with and Jerry and he will know what was going on with the three of them.

said she became friends with and later married him against her wishes. told us parole officer was giving him a hard time so she married him to ease the tension. said Jerry was still in prison when she and got married and lived on Emerson Street.

told us was very intelligent and very persuasive when they were married. told us was borrowing money against their house unbeknownst to her. said still owes her about two thousand dollars.

said she was married to for less than two years. said would not tell her things on purpose so if anyone ever asked her she would be able to say she does know the answer to the question and she would be telling the truth.

said she used to write letters to Jerry Nemnich while he was in prison and she still has the letters she received from him. voluntarily gave those letters to me and I told her I would make copies of the letters and return them to her. said that would be fine. Later in the interview she retrieved these letters from her file cabinet and I brought them back to Grand Junction. These letters were with me during the entire trip. said a lot of these letters were Jerry complaining about being in prison. As was looking through the letters it appeared she quit writing to him in about 1984 while he was still in prison for the sexual assault that occurred in Denver in 1977.

said her relationship with Jerry was "kind of like friends" and she gave him sexual advice to help him with other women. felt like a couple of times Jerry was coming on to her but she was married to and nothing happened between them.

told us she knew about the time she split up with there was a gruesome murder that was committed in Denver and someone told her that Jerry was responsible for that murder. said she could not remember who told her this information.

said she was involved in a rape encounter group that Jerry was a part of while he was in prison. said this group was a one day class held at the penitentiary, which consisted of convicted rapists and rape victims talking about things together. said the psychologist that started the group warned that he thought Jerry would not make it on parole. thought this was odd because she thought Jerry was a nice, intelligent, caring guy.

said she met Jerry while he was still in prison on a rape charge and she used to go and visit him in Canon City. said and Jerry were in prison together and she felt sorry for Jerry because he had no family to come and visit him. said it was a favor to that she went and visited Jerry. told us was in prison for robberies. did not know if Jerry and were cell mates or just met in prison. told us Jerry and used to work on the Interpreter together which was a jail publication. She thought their connection was through other means other than cell mate. said Jerry was released from prison during the time she and were married. thought they got divorced sometime in 1975. said after the divorce she lost touch with and Jerry except for the correspondence while Jerry was in jail.

told us she never had sex with Jerry and she said she did not have any sexual feelings for him.

told us she moved to Denver with her first husband in 1970 from Los Angeles. said the affair with and meeting Jerry occurred very close together in time and she thought it was in 1973.

told us the sexual advice she gave Jerry was very general in nature and was directed more to help him keep his focus in a relationship. said it was like Jerry had lost his focus and he needed direction with women.

said she did see Jerry with one girlfriend during the time she knew him and during the rape encounter group Jerry seemed very kind towards the victims and she said he took responsibility for the crime he committed. said she does not the name of Jerry's girlfriend and does not remember what she looked like.

said thought of Jerry as a good, good friend but told Jerry was going to have a hard time coping with everyday life and adapting with world in general like making car payments and all of the other stuff people outside jail have to deal with.

said she never remembered going to the western slope of Colorado with or Jerry. also told us that Jerry did have a car but she could not remember what type of car it was color it was.

We told that Jerry once listed her on his visitor log as a girlfriend. Agent Bennett then asked her if that was correct or did Jerry possibly view her as a girlfriend. said she was never his girlfriend and that must have been the way Jerry viewed their relationship. said there was lots of flirting between them, but they never had sex. said Jerry would have definitely had sex with her if it would have been ok with said as I read the letters it will be very apparent that and Jerry were talking about all three of them getting together for a sexual encounter.

AUTHOR: CROCKER, SEAN

April 21, 2009, Agent Brooks Bennett of the Colorado Bureau of Investigation and I interviewed at the Kennebunk Police Department in Kennebunk, Maine. The first portion of this interview was not recorded due to the fact did not want it recorded and she did not understand why we wanted to talk to her about something that happened in 1975. Agent Bennett and I explained to her that we needed background information on Jerry Nemnich and she spent time with him in 1973. then agreed for us to record this interview. I started the digital recording and we began talking with her. I later transferred this interview to a compact disc and booked into evidence at the Grand Junction Police Department.

I started the interview again and asked if her last name was said it was both and then got very quiet for several seconds. then asked if we could turn the recorded off for a minute. I then turned off the digital recorder and we talked to

With the digital recorder off told us when I mentioned her last name of it brings up a lot of uneasy feelings from her past and she is very scared that if she talks to us Jerry would come after her and hurt her. We explained to her that Jerry was in jail on a three million dollar bond and he would not be getting out of jail anytime soon. went on to tell us Jerry is a very scary guy and she is still very worried about her safety. I asked to explain why she is so scared of Jerry, said there was no particular reason she could explain to us she was just very afraid of him. We explained to her that Jerry does not know where she lives and we will tell him where she lives. then said we could start the recorder again.

I started again by recapping what had told us prior to the recorder being started. told us she was working at Scotty's Restaurant in Denver and Jerry and were playing chess near the cash register. said on that particular day she was working the cash register. said she did not have a conversation with Jerry that day except for the brief moment that introduced Jerry to said she knew prior to this day because he was employed at the same restaurant. said the owner of the business was going to start a pizza delivery service that was going to be part of. also said Jerry was possibly employed there as a driver because she remembers delivering pizzas with him. said she also remembers giving away free pizzas as advertisement at a park near the University of Denver. She also told us about delivering a pizza to a house and when they got there the people were very surprised at how fast they got their pizza. thought this was possibly in the summer or fall of 1973.

thought she lived on Pennsylvania Avenue at the time but she could not remember the house number. told us Jerry would come over to her house and visit because it was very quiet. told us she already knew about and Jerry both being in prison, Jerry for rape and for robbing someone. said she did not feel uncomfortable around either one of them because she thought they had changed their ways.

said later that same year she left Colorado and moved back to her parent's house in Norwalk, Connecticut. said after she left, Jerry took over the rent on the house on Pennsylvania Avenue. said in October of 1973, she received a phone call from Jerry in Denver and he told her he was coming to see her in Connecticut. then told us Jerry called her from somewhere in Pennsylvania and told her he would see her in a couple days. said when he got to Connecticut he was arrested immediately after getting out of his car.

said after Jerry had called from Pennsylvania she got a call from and everything started to get traumatic. told her Jerry had stolen his car and he reported it to the police. thought the car was a small red car but she was not for sure. said told her to leave the house immediately and to call the police. said she called the police and they set up at her parent's house to arrest Jerry. said Jerry did not call her again after he called from Pennsylvania and was immediately arrested after he got out of his car. said she did not see Jerry get arrested because there was a large fence between the house and the street.

said after Jerry was arrested, he called her from the jail in Bridgeport, Connecticut and told her, "Well I almost got there and some cigarettes would be nice." said after that phone call she has never seen or talked to him since.

said she never had an intimate relationship with Jerry and they were just friends. said Jerry seemed very calm and laid back and that could be the result of being in prison. said she knew Jerry for about a month or two at the most.

said she remembers one night when she and Jerry were sitting on her stoop in Denver and Jerry kissed her. Jerry then asked her if she wanted to go inside, she said no and she just wanted to be friends. said Jerry accepted that and he left because his parole requirements did not allow him to stay overnight somewhere other than the halfway house.

said she found out Jerry had been in prison when was talking about Jerry being prison for raping a woman. said she did not feel uncomfortable around Jerry or and she did not feel any sense of fear when she was with Jerry.

said she did not see Jerry with any girlfriends and Jerry never pushed himself onto her. The one and only time she touched Jerry was the one time Jerry kissed her on the front stoop at her house.

I told that Jerry listed her as a girlfriend and fiancée on some of his jail paperwork. said she never dated Jerry and she did not want to.

I ended the interview with and she left the police department.

I explained to and the reason we needed to talk to them was to get background on how they knew Jerry Nemnich. I read off several names to and to see if they recognized them. said they would do their best but a picture of these people might help them remember. These names were: , (and . said both know and sounded familiar but none of the other ones sound familiar. We later showed them a picture of and they did not recognize her. said sounded familiar but she could not remember why.

I told that I had gotten his name from an interview with said he and said moved into a house that and lived in. told us the address of the house was 731 South Emerson. said they lived with them for about 5 to 6 months. remembered she and moved in together in November of 1972 because that was the time that Nixon got re-elected. told us they moved several times after that to different locations in Denver.

I asked how well he knew Jerry and he said, "I think I know Jerry reasonably well because I was locked up with him for about three years on a conspiracy to possess marijuana conviction." said he met Jerry the first night he was in jail in the "fishbowl" or the intake area. said after they left the fishbowl he and Jerry cells were two apart in the main housing area. said Jerry taught him a lot about guitar music and worked with Jerry on the prison newspaper.

said he also met in September of 1968 while he was in prison. said he, Jerry and became friends and talked a lot in prison until was released in August of 1971. said she met during the time they attended Metro State together after had gotten out of prison. said after he was released from prison he met back up with when he was working at Scotty's Restaurant. said the restaurant then branched off into the All American Pizza Peddler and and stated hired them both as delivery drivers. They thought they worked at Scotty's for about six to nine months. also said Jerry would frequent Scotty's Restaurant but they do not remember him working there.

said their relationship with Jerry ended sometime in 1974, before they moved to Washington DC in October 1976. said they have not seen or talked to Jerry since that time. said she did not like Jerry and thought he was a psychopath. said there was one instance she can remember when it was getting late when Jerry, and others were still playing music. said she went to bad at about 1am and came upstairs at about 3am to ask if Jerry could spend the night. said, "No way! Jerry was not going to be in the same house while I am sleeping." said somewhere around that timeframe was the end of their relationship with Jerry. said they would keep in touch with from time to time and they would hear about Jerry from told us about an incident that happened at Scotty's Restaurant. She said there was one time when she, Jerry, and maybe one other person were sitting at a table at Scotty's. said for some reason all of them got up except for her and Jerry. That left and Jerry sitting together at the same table. said Jerry liked to take on the persona of other people due to his writing background. said Jerry looked across the table at her and said, "Have you ever thought how it would feel to rape somebody or have you ever thought about how much fun it would be to be raped." knew it was something like those two things but could not remember Jerry's exact words to her. said she looked right back across the table at him and said, "Jerry we do not have a relationship. I have a relationship with and but I do not have a relationship with you." said her statement took Jerry by surprise and he did not expect her to say that to him. said most of the women she knew all pulled away from Jerry and they did not care for him at all.

I asked to tell me more about how she felt about Jerry. She told me she always had a bad feeling about Jerry and thought he was manipulative and thought he was smarter than everyone else in the room. When she heard about these murders it did not surprise her one bit.

told us he was concerned that we had the right guy due to the fact Jerry was a trusting person and could be the target of wrongdoing. We briefly talked about evidence in this case and how it had been analyzed.

and told us they do not remember Jerry owning any car or truck during the time they knew him. told us that Jerry owning a motorcycle did ring a bell with him. Agent Bennett asked if they remembered an Irish setter dog during the time they knew Jerry. Both of them said yes but they thought owned Irish setter dogs but they were not sure if Jerry owned any Irish Setters.

I thanked them for their time and ended the interview.

This interview was digitally recorded on my pocket recorder, later transferred to a CD and booked into evidence at the police department. The following is a summary of that interview and not intended to be a verbatim account. Please see DVD for full interview details. I took the following statement from .

I told I wanted to talk with him about the murders that occurred back in July 1975 and show him a few pictures. told me he heard that Nemnich had lived in Nebraska sometime. told me he has never seen a picture of Jerry Nemnich. told me he used to use temporary services quite a bit when he did paving services back in the 1970's. told me sometimes he would just pull up in front of the unemployment office and grab one to three guys to help him for the day. does not remember seeing Jerry during any of those times he grabbed guys to help him.

told me the name of Jerry Nemnich does not ring any bells with him. I also showed a variety of photos of Jerry Nemnich ranging from 1962 to 2005. looked at the photos and thought the 1999 photo looked vaguely familiar but he did not know where he might have known him from. This photo array was later booked into evidence at the police department.

told me Linda was and they did not get along at all. said he was separated from at the time the murders happened. said "Substitute" Chief Bob Evers told him, Linda said if anyone ever got her to look at first. This statement from Linda troubled very deeply.

I asked if he had anything to do with the murders that happened in 1975. replied, "Not a thing." said he has thought over the years under what circumstances would anyone take someone else's life. replied if someone harmed a child over and over would be the only reason he could think of. told me later he has never killed a soul in his lifetime.

told me he was a police officer in North Platte for about six months. said every night he strapped that gun on he always thought what he would do if he had to shoot someone.

said he never went near Linda's apartment because he knew they were bad news if they were near each other. said he never introduced anyone to Linda during the time he knew Linda. told me Linda was a very headstrong person and if she wanted something she did everything to get it.

told me Linda wanted him to cosign for an automobile for her and told her he was not going to sign for it. said Linda went over his head and had her grandfather cosign for her. said a short time later she crashed the car on Patterson Road and was very badly injured. said after the crash Linda hated him for some unknown reason. thought this car was a Chevrolet Corvette and he said the crash disfigured her face.

told me he thought reaction to the murders of Linda and Kelley was not consistent with losing two family members. also told me he does not suspect of any wrong doing, just that his initial reaction was not right in eyes.

I thanked for his time, ended the interview and we left the restaurant.

SUBJECT: INTERVIEW

AUTHOR: CLAYTON, TONY

On 03/08/2010, Rich Tuttle of the Mesa County DA's Office and I interviewed at her home about her sexual assault victimization on May 2, 1968 in Pueblo, Colorado. The interview was digitally recorded. The following is a summary of that interview. It is not intended to be a verbatim account of the conversation. An audio copy of the interview was burned to a CD and the CD booked into Evidence (TC5).

(The week before this interview I had sent a copy of the Pueblo Police report (RA-316) that was generated in May 1968. This report included 1968 statement to the police of the sexual assault. told me that she had a chance to review those reports before this interview and they do reference her victimization.)

indicated that reading the report had help fill in some, but not all, of her recollection of the assault. I suggested to that she just tell us what happened that day. I asked her to confirm where she was living in Pueblo in May 1968 and she indicated . She reported that she was living with and at that time her married last name was She said that they had been living there for 1-2 years before the assault and they did not have children. said she worked at Fort Carson as a shift supervisor in the Data Processing Department. She reported that her husband worked for American Brake Company. She reported that in May 1968 she would have been working a graveyard shift. She reported that she would have worked from about 10-11pm until about 8am. She said her husband was working a regular dayshift. I asked her what her typical activities would involve when she would come from work. She said she would have dinner, and in the summer turn on the air conditioner to suppress the outside noise, and then go to bed until about 4-5pm. I asked her what days of the week she would work and she couldn't remember for sure, she thought she started her work week on a Sunday. I asked her what vehicle she owned in May 1968. She said she had a light blue VW beetle. She said her husband had a green corvette. I asked her where she would typically park the car. She reported that they didn't have a garage so she would park her car in the driveway of her home.

I asked her about May 2, 1968 and her recall of what happened. She reported that she recalled some of what happened that day. I asked her if she had gone to work that day. She said she had not because she hadn't been feeling well. I asked if she recalled what day of the week it was and she didn't recall. I asked if her husband had gone to work that day and she said that he had at his normal time.

I asked if she remembered anything about that morning (May 2, 1968). She said she hadn't until she read the report. She said that she had gone to the hospital that day to visit a friend, . I asked if she remembers leaving her house. She said she didn't. I asked her if she had gone anyplace else. She said the report indicated that she had gone to get a coke before going to the hospital.

I then asked about the report and if the details of the report are more accurate of what happened that day than her recall today of that event. She felt that the report would be a lot more accurate. I asked if there was anything in that report that appears to be inaccurate in regards to the events or information of May 2, 1968. She felt like the address reference in the report about her address previous to the location might be wrong. She said that was the only thing that looks inaccurate.

I asked where she went after leaving the hospital visit with . She said she went home. I asked if she ever saw or spoke to Jerry Nemnich before he entered her home on May 2, 1968. She said she did not. I asked about her return home. She said that she was alone in her VW and she parked in the driveway of her home. She unlocked her front door. She would lock her door when she left but would leave it unlocked when she was home. I asked what happened next. She said she laid down on the couch and then saw something out of the corner of her eye and then Jerry Nemnich entered her house with a knife. She said the door would have also had a screen door. She thought the main door would have been open and the screen door closed. I asked if Jerry Nemnich was invited into her house. She said he wasn't. I asked if he rang the door bell or knocked before entering and she said he didn't. She said her first impression was that he had walked into the wrong house. She said she had never seen him before. She said he walked over to her on the couch and she thought he put the knife to her throat. I asked her what her thought/reaction was to seeing Jerry Nemnich with the knife. She said fear. I asked if she said anything to him or if he said anything to her. She couldn't recall.

I asked what happened next. She said she would have to strictly go by the report that I sent to her to read because she doesn't remember. I asked if they stayed in the living room. She said they ended up in the bedroom but she doesn't recall how they got there. I asked if he still had the knife in the bedroom. She said he did and he laid it down beside her. I asked her she where she was laying and she said on the bed. I asked her if something happened on the bed. She said yes but she really doesn't remember. I asked her if the information in the report would have described what happened on the bed. She said it was accurate. I asked her if he ever cut/poked her with the knife. She said no. I asked her if she wanted Jerry Nemnich in her house or bedroom. She said no.
I asked if she remembers Jerry Nemnich ever taking anything from her house. She said she didn't recall anything but she knows the report indicates he did. Again, she said her recall at the time of the report would be a lot better than today. I asked her how long she thought he was in her house. She didn't think it was more than 30 minutes. I asked her what door he left through. She said the same one he entered, the front door. I asked her if she remembers him making any threats to her. She said she doesn't remember him saying anything.

I asked her what she did after Jerry Nemnich left her house. She said she got out a handgun and called the police. I asked where the gun was kept. She said it was kept in the living room desk. I asked why she got the gun out. She said in case he came back to hurt her again. It was for protection. She indicated that she wasn't going to let that happen again and she was going to use the gun for self protection. I asked her if she had an opportunity to get to the gun before the attack and she said no. I asked if she called the police right away and she said she did. She didn't call anyone else before calling the police. I asked if she went to a medical facility to be examined and she said she did.
was asked about the description of Jerry Nemnich she gave in the police report. She felt that matched the general description of the man that entered her home and attacked her. She was asked if Jerry Nemnich made any threats to her before leaving. She said she can't remember him saying anything. She was asked about her emotional state from the time he entered her house until the time he left the house. She said she was an emotional wreck. She was terrified and thought she was going to die. She was asked if she saw Jerry Nemnich again after he left her house. She did not recall seeing him again.

She was asked about reading Jerry Nemnich's version of what happened that day. She said they are not accurate and he's lying. I asked her if she had a conversation with Jerry Nemnich at the Milers store. She said she's sure she didn't talk to anyone. I asked her if she invited Jerry Nemnich into her house. She said no. I asked if the sexual assault that occurred in her house was consensual or did she agree to it in any way. She said no, not in any way.

I asked if Jerry Nemnich had the knife when he entered her house or did he retrieve it from inside her house. She said he had it when he entered her house.
She was asked about a comment a friend made regarding her being quiet in May 1968 and the type of person that would not approach strangers. She agreed. She felt he word conservative was a nice word for it.

We had some general conversation about me locating her and some initial conversation regarding confirming her identity. I asked if my call to her was the first time this had been brought up to her since 1968. She said it was. She said she has talked about the attack with mental health professionals over the years. I asked if there is something she has tried to do with the memory of this over the years. She said she has tried to block it out, but it does affect her. She said she locks her doors all the time. I asked her about my contact call to her. She agreed that she was blindsided and very much a surprise that this would come up again after all these years. I asked her if it was fair to say that since our initial conversation she has thought more about this than in the last 42 years. She agreed. She said she thought he was locked up and she wanted to forget the whole thing.

I asked if she ever tried to find out what happened to Jerry Nemnich. She said she didn't and no one ever contacted her about him until I did. She said there has been no contact between herself and Jerry Nemnich since the assault.

was asked after if after all these years there is any doubt in her mind that she was raped in the bedroom of her home in the manner she described. She said no doubt. She said after I called her she had her first dream again of someone walking to her house.
I asked if bring this back up has caused any reaction to her. She said she is afraid this is going to come out in the open after all these years.

In a report by CBI Crime Analyst, Audrey Simkins, dated 02-23-2009, discovery page 1866, where Simkins references a packet request to the Denver DA's Office from the Mesa County DA's Office, I requested an information packet by telephone request.

Denver DA Investigator Dan Chun was able to retrieve documents from microfiche which he mailed to me.

These documents were entered into discovery in this case and are numbered 1189-1198. The documents I received were from the 1977 sex assault case and not from any homicide investigation.

These are the only documents I requested and received (and referenced by Audrey Simkins) from the Denver DA's office.

AUTHOR: CROCKER, SEAN

On October 4, 2010, a phone call was placed to and he was interviewed about this case. This interview took place in the office of the Assistant District Attorney Rich Tuttle. Present for this interview was Tricia Watson, Rich Tuttle and me. provided the following statement.

told us he and his friend arrived in the parking lot of the Chateau Apartments in Grand Junction sometime after 1:00 am on Thursday morning. said it could have been as late as 3:00 am, but he is not positive about the exact time. said they had come from a racing event in Salt Lake City on Pioneer Day. Later investigation showed Pioneer Day always falls on July 24th. In 1975, July 24th fell on a Thursday which would have meant they arrived in Grand Junction on Friday morning.

said as he exited Corvette, he saw a man coming from the shadows on the north side of the building and their paths were going to cross as walked towards the entrance to the apartment complex. said he watched the man get closer to him and described him as a dark complected, white male with greasy hair, about 6' tall with no facial hair and no glasses. said he really remembers his eyes as being cold and steely looking. said he did not recognize this man, but it was not uncommon to see people walking around at all hours of the night in the 70's. told us he could see the man holding his arm up to his ribcage area like he was hurt. said he could not see any visible blood on this guy or if he was injured in anyway. also told us he could not see this guy carrying any weapons. said he was a bartender/ bouncer at Shakey's pizza parlor and could "take care of himself if this guy wanted to rumble".

said about a year or two after the murders, he saw Ted Bundy's face on the news and he told the people he was with, "that's my boy!" referring to the man he saw in the parking lot the night of the murders. When asked how sure he was it was the same person he saw that night he replied, "I can't be for sure it was Ted Bundy, but it sure makes a good conversation starter with the ladies."

During this interview told us about a time he was playing golf and he witnessed an airplane crash. He told his golfing buddies the plane that crashed was a twin engine plane and it had right engine problems and that is why it crashed. Later that night on the news it was reported the plane that crashed was a single engine plane. said all of his friends called him and gave him a hard time because he did not know the difference between a single engine plane and a twin engine plane. said he told us that story because sometimes things look different than they really are.

told us "Sometimes you think you see something and sometimes you are wrong." said he was referring to the plane crash and he could be wrong about Ted Bundy being the man he saw in the parking lot.

We thanked for his time and the ended the phone call.

INVESTIGATION:

I responded to [redacted], and met with [redacted] turned over 9 additional marbles he had found around his home over the weekend.

Narrative

Ofc Nickolls and I then went to [redacted] After repeatedly knocking on the door an adult female answered the door. I asked if we could come in and speak with her. She said we could come in and then allowed us in. She identified herself as [redacted]

I explained the nature of the incident we were investigating. I asked if she had a teenage son who lived in the back bedroom. She said she did. I asked if her son had marbles or a slingshot. She said her son used to have a slingshot, but they had gotten rid of it long ago.

I asked [redacted] if we could speak with her son and search his room. She stated we could. At this point [redacted] took us to the back bedroom and woke her son up. [redacted] was very cooperative.

We turned the lights on and asked [redacted] if there were any marbles, slingshots or paint ball guns in the room. We were assured there were none. [redacted] when I pressed him further, asking if he was sure there were no marbles, stated we may find a couple from a long time ago. The room was searched by Ofc Nickolls and me in the presence of [redacted] We found none of the items we were searching for. There was no explanation about the screen imprint in the snow. The window that [redacted] stated he saw close the previous week looks directly at his door. It would be an easy shot with a slingshot, as I looked out the window.

[redacted] stated that [redacted] is in the BEST program. I asked [redacted] what for, he stated it was for a sex offense.

I asked [redacted] if [redacted] had friends over. He does not because he has to get permission from the BEST program. Additionally [redacted] was at his grandmother's house in Boulder on the night of the incident. I provided a business card to [redacted] so she could provide it to [redacted] BEST officer. I thanked [redacted] for her cooperation and cleared the apartment.

Upon walking back to [redacted] Ofc Nickolls and I found several more marbles around an old car parked at the back of the apartment complex. I logged the additional marbles into evidence. It didn't appear there was any damage to the car as it was covered with snow the previous week, when we walked by it. This car is also an easy shot from the window in question. On 02/21/07 at approximately 2030 hours, I spoke with Victim [redacted] the owner of the car. She told me she had discovered some damage to the car. She said the front plastic grill insert was cracked and chipped in a couple spots. She also said the windshield was broken but admitted that it had already been cracked prior to this incident. I informed her that charges had already been filed and gave her the case number.

I returned and spoke with [redacted], telling him we made contact, but don't have sufficient evidence to charge anyone with the crime.

The marbles collected from [redacted] and the additional marbles found by the car were logged into evidence. There were a total of 20 marbles logged in.

On 022007, at approximately 2030 hours. I checked my voice mail messages. There was a message from [redacted] who is the manager of [redacted] I informed him I was waiting for an estimate for the damage. [redacted] told me [redacted] was working on getting that. I also told [redacted] and [redacted] about the following message, I had received from A[redacted] and that I would be charging the [redacted] for the vandalism.

I had a second message that was from [redacted] left me a genuine message of apology admitting she knew of the damage and was covering for her son. She would not continue to lie for him and wanted me to come by and charge her son. She had already informed [redacted] BEST officer of the Vandalism and told the BEST officer of the lies.

At approximately 2150 hours I responded to [redacted] and was met by [redacted] She let me in and apologized for lying to me. She was protecting her son. She stated her son had come to her the previous week and told her what he had done. I told her I applauded her for coming forward with the truth.

We then went to [redacted] bedroom. I asked [redacted] to tell me what happened. He said he was shooting marbles with a wrist rocket (sling shot). He estimated he shot about 20 marbles over about a 45 minute time frame. He told his mother the next day about the vandalism, because he knew we were looking for him on the night of the Vandalism, which was on 021407. [redacted] corroborated what [redacted] told me, that when [redacted] looked out his door [redacted] saw [redacted] looking out the door and closed the window.

[redacted] provided me with the names and phone numbers for [redacted] and [redacted] at [redacted] s [redacted] BEST officer while Liebig is his probation officer.

[redacted] as previously stated had already informed them of [redacted] actions. I did not feel an in custody arrest would have served this situation. The parent and juvenile were accepting responsibility. [redacted] said [redacted] was likely going to get some time in custody for this action. I looked at [redacted] and bluntly said he bought this one. He agreed. We had a lengthy discussion about growing up, becoming an adult and accepting responsibility for actions. I also told him a man would go over and apologize for his actions and pay for the damages. There was also conversation about him making the right decisions so he never had to get in these situations and it was very unfair of him to put his mother in the position he put her in. [redacted] agreed.

[redacted] stated she had already turned the slingshot over to [redacted] BEST officer. The slingshot was in the home during the search Ofc Nickolls and I conducted the previous evening, just not in the bedroom.

[redacted] said she even called, her mother to tell her mother not to lie, if in fact I called her to verify the story [redacted] gave me about [redacted] being there on 021407. [redacted] felt very bad about almost putting her mother in a situation to cover for their lies. I told [redacted] I did not call her mother to verify the story because I believed her.

I completed a municipal summons and served it to [redacted] explaining the charges and court date.

I cleared the apartment thanking them for their cooperation.

At 2325 hours I called [redacted] and left a message reference the contact.

INITIAL INFORMATION:

On Tuesday, March 24, 2009, I, Commander Lewis, was contacted by Chief Butler. He was asking that I be part of an outside agency assist.

INVESTIGATION:

I met with Chief Butler in his office and the Chief of Police from Grand Junction Police called and briefed us on a homicide investigation they were working. I spoke with his Detective Commander, Mike Nordine.

The suspect, Jerry Nemnich lives in Longmont at 219 Terry St. They had found DNA evidence that linked him to a 1975 double homicide of a mother and her 5 year old daughter.

I reviewed the history we had for Nemnich and there were no significant contacts. I requested our records section and crime analyst begin researching unsolved sex assaults. I wanted to review them for possible links to Nemnich.

I later briefed Sgt Joel Post, Sgt Darren Bloom and Sgt Bruce Wittich on this investigation. Grand Junction and CBI investigators came to LPD twice and briefed us on the investigation. SEU set up extensive surveillance operations. On April 3rd, 2009 Sgt Bloom notified me they had located Nemnich and conducted surveillance on him for the entire weekend. No arrest warrants were active at this time.

On April 4, 2009, Grand Junction Detectives returned to Longmont and reviewed the case and the possibility of setting up an arrest operation. Sgt Clayton was the lead for their team. SEU surveillance had no seen the suspect at home this weekend.

Grand Junction developed an alternative plan. Officer Deal and Officer Cromley were assigned to assist and obtained a cell phone number from [redacted] This number was provided to Grand Junction Detectives. Detective Sean Crocker completed a search warrant for the telephone records. Chief Deputy Ken Kupfner reviewed and approved the warrant with was presented to the on call judge.

I maintained contact with Sgt Clayton through the week and found that Jerry Nemnich was arrested on Wednesday, April 8, 2009 in Grand Junction.

I am still reviewing unsolved sex assault cases and have not found any associated with Nemnich.

KELLEY A. BENSON (AKA KELLEY KETCHUM), W/F

SUSPECT: JERRY LOUIS NEMNICH, W/M, DOB 11/1/44, 6'00", 205 lbs, Brown hair, Hazel eyes, CO DL , SSN #

LOCATION OF INCIDENT: 1300 North 21st Street # 211, Grand Junction, Colorado

ACTION TAKEN:

During the course of this investigation, Grand Junction Police Department Detective SEAN CROCKER and I interviewed JERRY NEMNICH. During that interview, we learned NEMNICH worked for a printing business during the time NEMNICH and lived in Grand Junction. During an interview with we were told good friend, owned and operated a printing business at the time of the murders.

On May 7, 2009, Detective CROCKER and I interviewed at the Colorado Bureau of Investigation Grand Junction office. and worked together on the power plant in Hayden, Colorado in 1974. At one time, moved LINDA and KELLEY up to a ranch that and were living in. would stay at the ranch during the work week, and then drive home to Grand Junction on the weekends to be with his wife, The lived at the ranch full time for a while before returning to Grand Junction. After the job in Hayden was finished and everyone was back in Grand Junction, and remained friends. He agrees that he was probably in the apartment on 21st Street on occasion but only has one memory of standing in the hallway outside the door to the apartment.

In 1975, and his friend, opened the printing business known as Lightning Quick Print north of North Avenue on 25th Street (just a few blocks east of the apartment). He and employed a few women who took care of some clerical duties but he does not remember having any other male employees. At some point, they sub leased some of their space to Temporary Services, but he believes that was after the murders took place. He and who he also believed worked at Sir Speedy Printing at some point, sold the business in 1980 and he does not have any records remaining from the business. believes that Lightning Quick Print, Sir Speedy Printing and Colorado Printing were the only printing companies in Grand Junction in 1975.

Prior to this interview. I learned lived in the 2800 block of Texas Street in 1975. does not know who lived on the north east corner of 28 ½ Road and Texas Street (2850 Texas; the address listed by NEMNICH) during that time but told us , an ex-Grand Junction Police Officer who now owns "A Pawn Shop" on Pitkin Avenue, lived on the south east corner of the intersection.

I showed the photographs of JERRY NEMNICH (included in a previous report as exhibit BB-11) but he didn't recognize any of the photographs as anyone he knew in 1975. He also did not recognize the names of JERRY NEMNICH or

One of the police reports from the initial investigation indicated and LINDA BENSON might have been intimately involved. During our interview, denied having any type of relationship with LINDA and did not believe she had relationships with anyone other than signed a consent form and provided buccal swabs during the interview. I collected the swabs and gave them to Detective CROCKER after the interview.

On May 12, 2009, Detective CROCKER and I contacted at his business on Pitkin Avenue. confirmed he lived on the south east corner of 28 ½ Road and Texas Street in 1975, stating he remembered the year because his son was 14 and was about to start driving. remembered that a man and woman, (both in their mid to late twenties) lived in the house with their Irish setter dog. The man, who drove a single cab red Ford Pickup truck worked out of the area but he doesn't remember the woman having a job. He also remembered the male having a motorcycle. remembers hearing some arguments between the couple and he thinks they eventually left the area, leaving the woman there alone. I showed the same photographs of NEMNICH (exhibit BB-11) but he did not recognize him as someone he knew, stating that it is a possibility the man in the photographs was his neighbor, but that he just doesn't remember what he looked like. He did remember that both the man and the woman were "hippies" and described the woman as 5'8" to 5'10", 125 to 130 lbs., with shoulder length light brown hair.

stated he would try to remember the name of the person who lived just east of the trailer in question. According to that neighbor seemed to take care of and check on the woman after the man had left. thinks owned the trailer in question in 1975.

After the interview, called and told us was the neighbor who checked on the woman in the trailer. A database search indicates is deceased but shows he was married to . A database search indicates is living in Battle Ground, Washington and I left a phone message with the Battle Ground Police Department.

On May 13, 2009, Detective CROCKER and I interviewed at Lightning Quick Print. Although and sold the business in 1980, he has returned to the business to work part time for a new owner. had already been interviewed by a Grand Junction Police Detective and provided the same information to us as he did in the earlier interview. In the first interview, he stated the name JERRY NEMNICH did not mean anything to him until it was associated with Sir Speedy printing but he was not able to remember why it was familiar to him.

We talked about where he lived in 1975(corner of Texas and Normandy streets), which was just down the block from the address listed by NEMNICH on the checks written at the liquor store. When we asked if he remembered who lived on the north east corner of 28 ½ Road and Texas Street, he surmised that is where NEMNICH must have lived. He then indicated that the name NEMNICH might be familiar to him since he lived close to him and not because of the connection to Sir Speedy Printing.

looked at the photographs of NEMNICH (exhibit BB-11) and stated the photograph showing NEMNICH as clean cut (1968 photograph) seems to resemble someone he remembers from that time. He is not sure if the face is familiar to him because of the possible Sir Speedy connection with NEMNICH or because the person in the photograph might have lived near in 1975.

provided the same information did regarding the start up of Lightning Quick print and also stated they did not employ any other male employees.

Working with Detective KIM ARMSTRONG of the Battle Ground Washington Police Department, I was able to locate and speak with (last name of in 1975). confirmed that in 1974 and 1975, she lived in the second trailer in on Texas Street (trailer just east of 2850 Texas) and also confirmed her husband at the time, is deceased. remembered that a couple who owned an Irish setter dog lived in the trailer in question during the summer months. She told me the couple kept to themselves and she can't remember what they drove. She described the female as having long hair and being 5'5" to 5'7" tall. She described the male as having clean cut short hair. did not remember the couple's names and the names JERRY NEMNICH and were not familiar to her.

I sent an e-mail (exhibit BB-16) with NEMNICH's 1968 and 1975 and 1975 photographs (all three photographs attached as exhibits BB 17 A, B and C) to her but she was unable to open the digital format of the photographs. I forwarded the same photographs to Detective ARMSTRONG who took paper copies of the photographs to

On May 15, 2009, I showed the 1975 photograph of told me that the female in the photograph was "probably" the female who lived across the street from him in 1975 but he could not be positive.

During the afternoon of May 15, 2009, replied to my e-mail, telling me she recognized the female in the photograph as the female who lived in the trailer next to hers on Texas Street. She also stated the photograph of the male with long hair resembled the male who lived in the trailer but he had shorter hair when she knew him. I spoke with by phone on May 18, 2009. recognized the female as her neighbor in 1975 immediately upon seeing the photograph. She recognized the facial features of the male (NEMNICH) but said his hair was shorter than the 1975 photograph but longer than the 1968 photograph. She also said that he would were sunglasses while outside but she never saw him wear glasses like the ones he is wearing in the 1968 photograph. She does not remember him having any facial hair during the time she lived next to him.

She relates that she met Jerry about a year ago when they worked in the same building. Claims they are just friends. During this time, he worked in Wyoming and Utah in the oil fields and would return to town periodically. He returned to the Denver area about a month ago and moved in with her at the 637 South Sherman #3 apartment. He was given his own key to use. About two weeks ago, they went and rented the new house at 515 Perry. Phone not installed yet. Still in the process of moving and last night, 10-23-77, was the first night spent in the new residence on Perry. States that he had planned to leave Monday morning for Montana to a new job.

Related that he does own clothes matching the description given on the offense report. Has never seen a gun does not believe that he has one at all. Is very incredulous concerning the facts of the rape, adding that he has always been a gentlement and good friend to her, can't believe he would be involved in anything like this. Told her he had been a musician for 10 years, and travelled a great deal. Had his hassles with the police but mostly when he was a juvenile, never mentioned being sent to prison at all.

Felony advisement and letter to advise judge requesting high bond due to career criminal status of suspect, prepared and forwarded to the city jail.

Deputy D. A. Allison advised of case and recommended securing a search warrant for premises where the victim stated he left the gun.

Telephoned the victim and learned that he (suspect) had placed the revolver in a drawer near the bed of the apartment where the assault took place. In the car, after the assault, the suspect began looking for the weapon and could not find it. Victim stated she never saw the weapon again after it was placed in the drawer.

Additional information from [redacted] Her blood type is A. She believes the suspect did not ejaculate, the suspect also told her he did not ejaculate. Doctor examining the victim at Colorado General Hospital stated that there was a tiny fissure of the rectum and that there was also redness of the interior.

3:15p.m. Arrangements made for police car to respond to her home and take her on South Serhman Street to see if she can identify the apartment she was taken to.

3:30p.m. Officer Art Conrad, 68-29, telephoned back that the victim [redacted] had positively identified the residence at [redacted] and the residence apartment [redacted] with the name [redacted] on it as the apartment she was taken to and assaulted in.

3:45p.m. Received a call from [redacted] at the new residence at [redacted] She found a box of shells for a revolver. States they are not hers. When she returns from work tonight whe was advised to call a district car, turn the ammunition over to them, to have placed into evidence on this case. Stated she would do that.

10-25-77 Received notice that bail has been set at $50,000.00 on suspect Nemnich. New photo secured to be used in the photo lineup for victim at her appointment this p.m.

Received additional letter from the arresting officers: J. Ruetz 74-35 and J. Wyche 75-6.
Prepared search warrant for weapon and other evidence of sexual assault for the residence at [redacted] where the offense occurred.

Search warrant run on residence. Unable to find the gun on the premises but a mattress cover with blood; possible semen stains recovered Place din Custodians office by Detective Garrison. Note: Detective T. Lohr accompanied Garrison on warrant.

ANSWER BRIEF

INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT

The People will supplement the defendant's statement of the case as necessary in argument.

SUMMARY OF THE ARGUMENT

1. The trial court properly exercised its discretion in sentencing the defendant to not less than 25 years nor more than 35 years for first degree sexual assault.

2. The amendment to H.B. 1559 delaying its effective date is constitutional. The governor's action in asking the legislature to delay the bill's effective date did not invade the province of the legislature.

3. H.B. 1559 does not unconstitutionally invade the court's rulemaking power.

ARGUMENT

I.

THE TRIAL COURT PROPERLY EXERCISED ITS DISCRETION IN SENTENCING THE DEFENDANT TO NOT LESS THAN 25 YEARS NOR MORE THAN 35 YEARS FOR FIRST DEGREE SEXUAL ASSAULT.

The defendant contends his sentence of not less than 25 years nor more than 35 years for first degree sexual assault is unduly excessive as a matter of law and that it prevents opportunities for his rehabilitation. The defendant's contention is devoid of merit.

C.R.S. 1973, 18-1-409 states in pertinent part:

> (1) When sentence is imposed upon any person following a conviction of any felony, ... the person convicted shall have the right to one appellate review of the propriety of the sentence, having regard to the nature of the offense, the character of the offender, and the public interest, and the manner in which the sentence was imposed, including the sufficiency and accuracy of the information on which it was based....

In reviewing sentences, Colorado courts have also considered factors of the development of respect for the law and deterrence of crime. People v. Brubaker, 189 Colo. 219, 221, 539 P.2d 1277 (1975); People v. Duran, 188 Colo. 207, 213, 533 P.2d 1116 (1975). Sentences ought be tailored to the individual defendant, and the court keeps in mind other crimes committed by the defendant, his potential for rehabilitation, and protection of the public. People v. Duran, supra, 188 Colo. at 214; People v. Alvarez, 187 Colo. 290, 293, 530 P.2d 506 (1975). The People will comment on each factor as it relates to the instant case.

A. Nature of the offense.

The defendant pled guilty to the charge of first degree sexual assault in exchange for the People's motion to dismiss the first degree kidnapping charge and three habitual criminal counts (31, 36). The only information concerning the offense involved herein is contained in the complaint, one sentence of the diagnostic summary, and one remark by the trial court made at the sentencing hearing. The defendant was armed with a gun and on the night of October 23 and early morning of October 24, 1977, he forced himself sexually on the victim in various ways including sexual intercourse, anal intercourse, and fellatio (1-6, 150). He subjected the victim to, in the words of the trial court, "a night of terror" (150). The defendant's version of the incident to the caseworker who prepared the diagnostic summary was quite different. The defendant did not consider his actions reprehensible; he said he was merely "rather pushy about balling her" (57).

B. Character of the offender -- potential for rehabilitation -- other crimes -- development of respect for the law.

The defendant is 35 years old (50). Prior to this offense, he had been convicted of two other felony sex offenses (11-14, 55-59). Information regarding the first conviction indicates it was a vicious and violent attack wherein the defendant not only raped the young lady but also assaulted her with a hammer (57). The defendant's history is one of continued violent sex offenses against women (55). He has poor impulse control (57) and served his entire prior sentences in maximum security (55). The trial court found the defendant's motion for reconsideration of sentence was made only 120 days after initial sentencing and that no evidence of rehabilitation was presented to the trial court at the reconsideration hearing (144).

C. Public interest -- deterring crime
-- protecting the public.

As noted above, defendant has a history of continuing violent sexual offenses. Moreover, he has poor impulse control and does not view his conduct in the instant case to be reprehensible. There was no evidence nor any arguments concerning rehabilitation presented to the trial court. Under the circumstances, the need to protect society and prevent future vicious assaults is paramount in this case. The trial court's order denying a reduction of sentence and its reasoning is quite sound:

> It (the sentence) was imposed simply to keep you away from the rest of society because of your inability to control your activities and conform to the rules of society.
> You subjected the victim in this case to a night of terror and at the point of a weapon. You have in your record prior -- at least one prior rape conviction -- and four prior felony convictions.
> You are one of the few individuals I have seen about whom I felt it could truly be said that there is no purpose to your incarceration other than to protect society.... there is very little in the penitentiary or in any of our facilities at the present time which offer you any hope of rehabilitation. And that makes the sentence that I have imposed particularly harsh because the State of Colorado has not chosen to fund sex offender programs and has not chosen to offer any means of rehabilitation to sex offenders....
> It is against all of my biases, if there are biases with respect to due process for offenders -- the cruelty of incarceration for offenders -- the circumstances at the penitentiary are not as humane as they ought to be --that I'm denying your motion.
> I find here that it is necessary for the protection of society that you be removed from the streets for as long as possible. I also know that there are other avenues which you have to ... be released, but because of your dangerousness to society I feel that > as a judge of the district court that > I have but one obligation, and that (150-153). Judge Barnes' order is not unduly excessive.

II.

THE AMENDMENT TO H.B. 1589 DELAYING ITS EFFECTIVE DATE IS CONSTITUTIONAL. THE GOVERNOR'S ACTION IN ASKING THE LEGISLATURE TO DELAY THE BILL'S EFFECTIVE DATE DID NOT INVADE THE PROVINCE OF THE LEGISLATURE.

A. The genesis of the present bill.

In 1977, the Colorado legislature passed H.B. 1589 which, among other things, completely revised the sentencing structure to be employed in criminal cases in this state. 1977 Colo. Sess. Laws ch. 216 at 861. An object of the bill was to provide for determinate sentences so that the sentence imposed by the trial judge would accurately reflect the actual amount of time the defendant would serve. Another object of the bill was to restructure the parole system. Under H.B. 1589, a prisoner would be eligible for parole at a given time (the length of his sentence minus his "earned time" and "good time"). In every case, once the defendant served his sentence, he would be placed on parole for one year and then released completely.1/ In its original form, H.B. 1589 would have applied not only to those defendants sentenced after July 1, 1978 (its original effective date) but to all cases which had not become final 120 days prior to that date. See C.R.S. 1973, 18-1-410(1)(f); Colo. R. Crim. P. 35(a); People v. Smith, 189 Colo. 520, 534 P.2d 825 (1975). Since H.B. 1589 would have had the effect in many cases of greatly reducing sentences for people who had already been sentenced, it would have resulted in returning some criminals to the street long before either the sentencing judge or the legislature intended for them to do so.

In response, on July 15, 1977, Governor Lamm vetoed the bill. Nevertheless, because he failed to file his veto with the secretary of state within thirty days as required by the Colorado Constitution, his veto was declared void by this court. In re Interrogatories of the Governor, 578 P.2d 200 (Colo. 1978). After the court issued its decision but before H.B. 1589 came into effect, Governor Lamm called a special session of the Colorado General Assembly pursuant to article 4, section 9 of the Colorado Constitution. In his proclamation, the governor stated that the purpose of the special session was, "Solely for the business of changing the effective date of House Bill 1589, Chapter 216, Session Laws of 1977, by amending Section 79 thereof." 1978 Colo. Sess. L. (First Extraordinary Session) at 1. At the special session the legislature passed a bill postponing the effective date of H.B. 1589 from July 1, 1978, until April 1, 1979. Id. at 2. In March of 1979, the legislature amended H.B. 1589 again making the sentencing provisions prospective only by stating in section 25:

> This act shall take effect July 1, 1979, shall apply to offenses committed on or after said date, and, notwithstanding any other provision of law or court rule, shall not apply to offenses committed prior to said date.

This bill, a copy of which is attached to the defendant's opening brief, was signed into law on March 29, 1979.

In the instant case, the defendant challenges the constitutionality of the amendments to H.B. 1589 in order to have his original sentence modified under the terms of C.R.S. 1973, 18-1-410(1)(f) (repl. vol. 1978) and Colo. R. Crim. P. 35(b) despite the clear legislative intent that he not receive the benefits of this legislation.

B. The defendant lacks standing to assert that the governor invaded the province of the legislature.

It is the People's threshold response to the defendant's claim of error that he does not have standing to challenge the constitutionality of H.B. 1589 on the grounds that the governor's call was too specific. In Colorado, as in other jurisdictions, numerous statutes have been challenged on the ground that the bill passed by the legislature at a special session exceeded the limits of the governor's call. See, e.g., Denver & S.L.R. Co. v. Moss, 50 Colo. [illegible], 115 P. 696 (1911); People ex rel. National Conservation Exposition Co. v. Miller, 128 Tenn. 456, 161 S.W. [illegible] (1913). These challenges, however, were substantially different from the one presented in the instant case; here there is no question that the legislation passed falls within the subject of the governor's call. The question is whether the call was itself so narrowly defined as to render it unconstitutional. The People maintain that it was not.

When the governor calls a special session of the legislature, he must state the purpose for which the session is being called. Colo. Const. art. 4 section 9, Denver & S.L.R. Co. v. Moss, supra. Moreover, in stating what the purposes are to be, the governor can properly be extremely detailed. Nevertheless, the legislature is free to pass any bill which falls within the subject of the governor's call. Two cases illustrate these propositions well.

In In re Governor's Proclamation, 19 Colo. 333, 35 P. 530 (1894), the governor called a special session of the legislature to pass certain amendments to the judicial code. The governor stated exactly what amendments he wanted passed. The legislature, feeling that the governor was infringing on its prerogative to pass legislation in the form it deemed best, sent interrogatories to the Colorado Supreme Court to determine what limitations the governor had placed on it. The court found that the governor's action was improper and held:

> The Governor having specifically named the amendments of the attachment laws as part of the business to be transacted at the special session, his authority by proclamation in respect to that matter was exhausted. Whatever he has further said upon that subject must be considered as advisory only. The manner in which, and the extent to which the causes of attachment or any of them, shall be amended, if at all, are matters for the legislature to determine in the first instance according to its own judgment.

Id. at [illegible]. (Emphasis the court's). The court then went on to say, "Nevertheless, we are of the opinion that it (the bill as amended by the legislature) may be legally passed in that form notwithstanding the restriction attempted by the proclamation." Id.

The second important case in this area is In re Amendments of Legislative Bills, 19 Colo. 356, 35 P. 917 (1894). In that case, the governor called a special session "(t)o provide to reduce the penalties and interest on delinquent taxes to one-half the present rates." The court held that the "general subject" of the governor's call was to reduce the penalties and interest on delinquent taxes and stated that the other language of the proclamation was merely advisory. The court stated: "The subject having been particularly designated in the call, the extent to which the legislation shall extend is primarily for legislative and not for executive determination." Id. at 358. Consequently, the court upheld amendments made by the legislature which differed in specifics from those specified by the governor in his proclamation.

Two rules can be gleaned from the above-cited cases. First, when calling a special session, the governor can only limit the legislature's freedom to pass legislation to the extent that he may state the purpose of the legislation to be enacted. Second, to the extent that the terms of the governor's call attempt to limit the legislature's ability to deal with the entire subject matter of his proclamation, those terms will be treated as advisory only. Thus, the legislature is fully able to protect itself from any overreaching on the part of the governor by ignoring his advisory language.

FIL

The legislature's ability to protect itself indicates that the defendant has no standing to attack the wording of the governor's call. In Wimberly v. Ettenberg, 570 P.2d 535 (Colo. 1977), the court set down a two-prong test for standing. The person attacking the constitutionality of a statute must show that he has "suffered injury in fact to a legally protected interest as contemplated by statutory or constitutional provisions." Id. at 539. Here, the defendant alleges that the governor invaded the province of the legislature. Thus, any possible injury was done to the legislature which, as noted above, is fully able to protect itself. It is of course basic that a person cannot assert the constitutional rights of another. Warth v. Seldin, 422 U.S. 490, 499 (1975); Moose Lodge No. 107 v. Irvis, 407 U.S. 163, 167 (1972); [illegible] v. [illegible], 233 U.S. 5[illegible], 597 (1914); [illegible], Inc. v. [illegible], 138 Colo. 116, 532 P.2d 951 (1975). Consequently, the defendant has no standing to attack any intrusion by the governor on the rights of the legislature.

This may be viewed from another perspective. Even if the governor had phrased his call more broadly, the legislature would have been free to pass the narrow bill it did. This would have been entirely logical, for it would have given the legislature time to give careful attention to any amendment to H.B. 1589 at the next regular legislative session. It is, therefore, proper to conclude that the governor's narrow drafting of the call had no effect on the legislature (or the defendant) at all. This argument is particularly persuasive in view of the legislature's ability to ignore any advisory limitations contained in the governor's call. In re Amendments of Legislative Bills, supra.

Additionally, the defendant has failed to meet the standing requirement laid down in Wimberly that the injury be to a legally-protected right. The defendant has no right to restrict the way in which the governor phrases his calls; it is exclusively within the governor's province to call a special session of the legislature and to state purposes for which he calls the session. See Denver & R.G.R. Co. v. [illegible], [illegible] Colo. 642, 21 P. 477 (1886). Further, if the legislature did not wish to pass any legislation at the special session it was perfectly free to refuse to do so. The defendant simply has no rights at all which can be said to have been infringed upon by the passage of a bill which was within the scope of the governor's call. Cf. State v. Shores, 31 W.Va. 491, 7 S.E. 413 (1888) (so long as the legislation is within the governor's proclamation it will be upheld).

C. The legislature's passage of the amendment to H.B. 1589 at the first special session of 1974 was proper in all respects.

While the previous argument was phrased in terms of standing, it also disposes of the merits of the defendant's argument. As noted, the governor has the exclusive authority to set the purposes for which a special session may be called. Colorado Constitution article 4 section 9, Denver & R.G.R. Co. v. Moss, supra. Here the governor did just that: he issued a proclamation which contained a general subject for the legislature to consider. His proclamation, however, unlike the proclamations in People_ex_rel._McGaffey_v._Johnson, 23 Colo. 150, 46 P. 581 (1896); and In_re_Amendments of_Legislative_Bills, supra, did not purport to tell the legislature how to modify the subject matter. This the governor, quite properly, left to the legislature. The legislature then met only long enough to postpone the effective date of the bill until April 1, 1979, thus giving itself time to carefully make such amendments as it deemed necessary in the following legislative session. Under these circumstances, it cannot be said that the governor invaded the province of the legislature.

III.

H.B. 1589 DOES NOT UNCONSTITUTIONALLY INVADE THE COURT'S RULEMAKING POWER.

The defendant finally argues that H.B. 1589 constitutes an unconstitutional infringement on the supreme court's rulemaking powers since Colo. R. Crim. P. 35(b)(1)(VI) sets up a procedure by which a defendant can have a sentence reduced where, subsequent to July 1, 1972, there has been a significant change in the law requiring the retroactive application of a changed legal standard. This argument ignores the basic distinction between the rights of the legislature and the rights of the court.

The Colorado Supreme Court's rule-making authority is contained in article 6 section 21 of the Colorado Constitution which states:

> The supreme court shall make and promulgate rules governing the administration of all courts and shall make and promulgate rules governing practice and procedure in civil and criminal cases, except that the general assembly shall have the power to provide simpli> fied procedures in county courts for > claims not exceeding five hundred > dollars and for the trial of misdemeanors.

This constitutional provision only gives the courts the power to make rules which are procedural or administrative in character; substantive law must still be made by the legislature. People v. McKenna, 585 P.2d 275 (Colo. 1978); Ft. Collins-Loveland Water District v. Ft. Collins, 174 Colo. 79, 482 P.2d 986 (1971). In People v. McKenna, supra, the Colorado Supreme Court held that so long as an act of the legislature (in that case the so-called rape-shield statute) is at least partially based in public policy rather than an attempt "to regulate the day-to-day procedural operation of the courts" it will be upheld and will not be deemed to be a legislative usurpation of the court's prerogatives.

[illegible] is obviously a matter of public policy; it represents a legislative determination that the previous system of indeterminate sentences and parole was not adequately [illegible] needs of the criminal justice system. As such, it has absolutely nothing to do with the day-to-day administration of the courts and does not invade the exclusive domain of this court.

In the present case, the substantive right to have ameliorative legislation apply retroactively to all those defendants whose conviction does not yet become final was created by the legislature when it passed C.R.S. 1973, 18-1-410(1)(f). Rule 35(c) merely provides a procedural method by which a defendant can bring his claim to the attention of the court. However, since the legislature is the source of the right which the defendant claims to have, it is within the province of the legislature to set the parameters of that right. In setting these parameters, the legislature has clearly acted within the proper scope of its authority.

A Yes. I had just driven up and parked my car in front of the house. I was getting ready to get out, saw car lights approaching so I waited until the car would pass. BY MR. ORR:

Q What happened when you arrived at Perry Street?

A He drove into a driveway in front of a house, stopped the car, turned off the motor, he got out of the car, instructed me to sit there and not to move, which I did, and he went up to the front door and I believe he locked the front door on the house.

Q Where was the gun during this time?

A Still in his hand.

Q What happened then?

A He got back into the car, turned on the motor again and backed out of the driveway and proceeded south on Perry Street to Alameda, which you turned left on Alameda and went east again, and to Sherman Street, where he made a right turn going south on Sherman, went down a few blocks, stopped in front of a house and he parked the car.

Q Do you know the address of that house?

A No.

Q Could it be 325 South Sherman Street?

A I--

Q 637 South Sherman Street?

A I couldn't say the exact number on the house.

Q Have you been back to that particular house since?

A I identified that house, yes, with an officer.

Q Police officer?

Q Why did you accompany the defendant from 470 Madison to Perry Street and then to the Sherman Street house?

A Because he had a gun.

Q Did you voluntarily go with him?

A No.

Q During the time from when you were first contacted by him at 470 Madison until you arrived at the Sherman Street house, did the defendant say anything to you regarding why he had taken you?

A No. He stated, at one time, when he first stopped, when I was in front of [redacted] that I was his for the night, that's--he didn't explain why he was taking me.

Q You were his for the night?

A Yes.

Q When you arrived at the Sherman Street house, what occurred then?

A He told me to get out of the car, which I did. He told me to go around the south side of the house and wait, which I did, and he unlocked the door there, went upon to the porch and unlocked the door.

Q And where was the gun, if you know, during this time?

A It was still in his hand.

Q What did you do after the door was unlocked?

A He told me to go up the stairs.

Q And did you?

A Yes.

Q And where did you go?

A I don't understand the question.

Q Well, what--what happened afteryou reached the top of the stairs.

A Oh, he told me to go to my right and directed me into the bedroom, which was to the front of the house.

Q Could you describe--well, was that an apartment up--

A Yeah, it was an upstairs apartment.

Q Did the defendant have a key to that apartment?

A Yes, he did.

Q Did you go to the bedroom to which you were directed?

A Yes, I did.

Q And where did he go?

A He followed right behind me.

Q And what happened then?

A He told me to put down my purse and take off my coat.

Q Did you do that?

A Yes.

Q Where was the gun during that time?

A Still in his hand.

Q What happened next?

A He told me to take off my boots.

A I stopped. Took it out of my mouth.

Q Did he make any further requests of you?

A He told me to stand up and he took my dress off.

Q He took your dress off?

A Yes.

Q What happened after that?

A Told me to sit back on the bed and touched his hand on my breasts and rubbed it on my stomach, he stuck his finger into my vagina. He then undressed and put his penis into my vagina, he then put his penis into my rectum.

Q How long did this whole episode take?

A When we were in the apartment?

A I would say, 10 to 15 minutes.

Q Do you remember him asking you anything else, or you telling him anything else, during this time?

Q When you said you told him you lived there, you're referring to [redacted]

A Yes.

Q Did you tell him that was your boyfriends--

A No.

Q Where your boyfriend lived? Did you tell him you lived there alone?

A Yes.

Q Okay, you then, you testified you then got into another car and you went, and you described the route. And you stopped at a palce, I think on Perry Street, you said, is that accurate?

A Yes, 5th and Perry.

Q Okay, dureing that period of time from when you left the area of [redacted] and you got to 5th and Perry Street address, could you tell me, to the best of your ability, what your conversation was during that time?

A After I got in the car I asked him if I could put my keys in my purse, he said he didn't know, and I didn't say anything else to him.

Q In other words, you had your purse with you?

A Yes.

Q And there was no conversation during this time?

A No, he had taken my left hand and placed it across his leg on his lap and his right hand, which had the gun in it, on top of my hand.

Q And he was driving with the left hand?

A Yes.

Q Now, you stopped at a residental area on 5th an d Perry, is that--

A Yes.

Q Okay, and you saw him get out of the car and walk up to a house, is that--tell me a little bit about that. I'm not clear on that.

A He stopped the car, got out--well, he turned the ignition off, got out of the car, went up to the door, he'd taken the keys with him out of the car, and he appeared to lock the front door of the house, came back and got back in the car.

Q Now did you ever see him go inside the house?

A No.

Q And you say he appeared to lock the door, you saw him doing something with the front door?

A Yeah, with the key.

Q All right, and how far would you say he was from you at this time, approximately?

A I'd say at least as far as you are from me.

Q Okay, you agree that maybe is 20 feet?

A Yes.

Q When you parked there, there were other cars on the street, weren't there?

A Other cars parked on the street?

Q Yeah, it was a residential area, isn't it?

A Across the street, I believe there were cars parked there.

Q Okay, and houses, there are houses in that vicinity, isn't that true?

A Yes.

Q Now, you then indicated in your testimony that you drove from that address or that location to another area of Denver on Sherman Street. And you say that you've been back, another time and identified this house?

A Yes.

Q When did you go back and look at that house, if you remember? How long after this incident?

A I believe it was the Tuesday following the incident, about the 25th.

Q Now from the period of time that you left the Perry street address and you went to the Sherman Street house=, can you tell us what conversation you heard, if any, during that time?

A None.

Q It was clear to you then--I shouldn't say it was clear to you--from the point in time until you got to the Sherman Street house and the point of time you met this individual, the only reference to any kind of sexual connotation or--was "you're mine for the night," is that accurate?

A Yes.

Q And at that point in time, at the Sherman Street address, you--that was an ambigous statement, as far as you were concerned, wasn't it? You didn't know what he was going to do, did you?

A No.

Q So then you'd agree with me, it was an ambigous statement?

A Sort of a yes or no, I can't say yes or no.

Q Well, what did you think it meant, if you can't say yes or no?

A Yes, it was ambigous.

Q Okay. Now as I understand it, from the period of time that you went from the address of [redacted] until you reached the Sherman Street Address, there were no words spoken in terms of threatening, for any particular purpose, other than the gun being pointed at you, right?

A No words were spoken.

Q Okay, so there were no threats directed at any particular thing, were there?

A No.

Q Okay. And, aslo, as I understand it from your testimony, the only time the gun was pointed directly at you was at the very beginning when this individual stopped you at [redacted] and you testified about a gun being pointed at you through an opened window when you were in your car, is that accurate?

A No.

Q When else was the gun pointed at you?

A I believe it was also pointed at me when I was directed around the car. Also when I was directed into the house on Sherman Street.

Q Okay, at any other time was the gun pointed at you. Well, you say you "believe" now I want to know exactly if the gun was pointed at you, and when.

A When I was around the car, the gun was pointed at me.

Q Okay, that's at the very beginning of this incident?

A Yes.

Q Okay, now, what about when you got to Sherman Street. Are we agreed then, it was not pointed at you again until we're at the Sherman Street Address?

A Right, it wasn't.

Q All right, and what, in relation to the gun, when it was--how was it pointed at you. Tell me the circumstances when you got to the Sherman Street address.

A How was the gun--I don't understand.

Q He had the gun in his hand--

A Yes.

Q ...and it was pointed at you?

A I believe it was pointed at me.

Q Okay, you said, "I believe," and I want to know what your best memory is?

A Yes, it was pointed at me.

Q And you're sure of that? Are you sure of that?

A Yes.

Q [redacted] you then testified you went up into this apartment, top apartment at this address and you went to the bedroom. Were there any words spoken during this period of time from when you left the car until you got up into the bedroom?

A Yes.

Q Okay, tell me what was said.

A From the time I left the car?

Q Yeah.

A When he directed me to go up the stairs. He told me to watch my step because they're very steep stairs. He then told me to go to my right, into the bedroom.

Q Anything else?

A No.

Q Now--and then you went into the bedroom, as you testified, is that accurate?

A Yes.

Q All right, now you've related an incident you said occurred, approximately 10 to 15 minutes, that occurred in the bedroom. I'd like you to tell us what words were spoken between you and him during that period of time, as best you can remember.

Q Can I just ask you whether before any of the sex acts that you testified to occurred, not counting the oral sex act, was there any other conversation that you had with him about other subjects?

Q Did you have this conversation after the acts you've testified to or before you had this conversation with him?

A Pardon?

Q After the acts performed--sexual acts were performed, as you testified, you had this conversation with him about--

A That he was in a real predicament and he didn't know what he was going to do, and then that he told me to get dressed.

Q Okay, were there any other words spoken between you and him during this period of time?

A He expressed that he had enjoyed doing that type of thing to women. He sort of indicated that he enjoyed, you know, forcing women to do what he wanted them to do and he'd done it before several times, even when he was younger.

Q I'm sorry, I just didn't hear your very last part of your answer.

A I said that he said that he had done it before several times.

Q Um-hum.

A And he did it when he was, you know, younger, in adolescence sometimes.

Q Anything else that he said or you said during this conversation?

A I don't recall anything else.

Q Okay, you then got dressed and you w nt down into his car, is that right?

A Yes.

Q And then you drove back to [redacted]

A Yes, he drove back to [redacted]

Q And at this time you didn't know where the--you didn't see a gun, is that right?

A No. I didn't know if he had it, but I don't remember seeing it.

Q In the car, going back to [redacted] what was the conversation?

A I don't recall a conversation.

Q You don't recall-

A I don't--I don't feel that--no, there was no conversation.

Q Then what exactly physically happened when you got to [redacted] How did you get out of the car?

A I opened the door and let myself out of the car.

Q And there's no conversation between you and this individual at that time?

A He asked to borrow a dollar to buy some cigarettes. I asked him his name. He said it was Earl.

Q Anything else you remember? All right, about what period of time did this transaction--how long did it take?

A About an hour and 20.

Q Did this individual ever explain to you why he went to the Perry Street address?

A No.

Q Did he ever tell you who lived at the Sherman Street address or--

A No.

Q Or how, whether it was his place or not or anything like that?

A No.

		Request Number:	2009000241	13

Request Instructions:

I attended 2 meetings in Grand Junction. The first began at 1:00 p.m. and the second began at 3:00 p.m. The first was to review the to do lists for each member of the task force and ensure all the items had been completed. There were a couple items still on the to do list but nothing that would prevent the task force from making the arrest. We ran out of time but the second item for the first meeting was to review and create the POST arrest to do list. I will email my thoughts regarding this to Sean.

During this meeting I provided updated link charts and was asked to email those to Sean and Chris as well. This was complete on 032509. In addition, I brought with me copies of the work completed the prior week for Grand Junction PD.

It was also mentioned that a meeting had been scheduled with Longmont PD for Thursday March 26, 2009 at 1 p.m. It was also decided that surveillance would be done by CBI Denver and Longmont PD.

Action Taken :

The command staff meeting began at 3:00 p.m. An overview was provided to the attendees. The DA wanted more information regarding the IRS records, victims of previous crimes, and other agency contact.

There was also some discussion regarding whether or not a press conference should be done immediately or if they could wait. They determined to wait would be the best option. It was also decided that once the arrest was made Nemnich would go directly to Mesa County and not reside in the Boulder County Jail.

I was tasked with following up on the IRS records and providing more victim information. Work on this began on 032509. Agent Brooks and Detective Crocker will travel to Denver on March 25, 2009.

Request Instructions:

I attended 2 meetings in Grand Junction. The first began at 1:00 p.m. and the second began at 3:00 p.m. The first was to review the to do lists for each member of the task force and ensure all the items had been completed. There were a couple items still on the to do list but nothing that would prevent the task force from making the arrest. We ran out of time but the second item for the first meeting was to review and create the POST arrest to do list. I will email my thoughts regarding this to Sean.

During this meeting I provided updated link charts and was asked to email those to Sean and Chris as well. This was complete on 032509. In addition, I brought with me copies of the work completed the prior week for Grand Junction PD.

It was also mentioned that a meeting had been scheduled with Longmont PD for Thursday March 26, 2009 at 1 p.m. It was also decided that surveillance would be done by CBI Denver and Longmont PD.

Action Taken :

The command staff meeting began at 3:00 p.m. An overview was provided to the attendees. The DA wanted more information regarding the IRS records, victims of previous crimes, and other agency contact.

There was also some discussion regarding whether or not a press conference should be done immediately or if they could wait. They determined to wait would be the best option. It was also decided that once the arrest was made Nemnich would go directly to Mesa County and not reside in the Boulder County Jail.

I was tasked with following up on the IRS records and providing more victim information. Work on this began on 032509. Agent Brooks and Detective Crocker will travel to Denver on March 25, 2009.

Request Instructions:

Conference call was held this date at 10:00 a.m. - 11:30 a.m. During the meeting we discussed a big briefing they held the week prior with the Chief Gardner and the DA's office. There were some items that came out of that meeting that change things a bit. The final briefing with command staff will be March 24, 2009 at 3 p.m. in Grand Junction. It might be a good idea for the Denver folks to attend. Once the arrest happens they will interview Nemnich in Longmont at the PD and will have the PD do the search warrants on both properties [redacted] Grand Junction PD may need assistance with the interviews once the arrest is made. It was mentioned that FLAG could also be used for the surveillance the week of April 6. Agent Andrist will forward the FLAG contacts to both Tony and Sean. Conduct a ViCAP search as well as a search with vital records.

Action Taken :

I have contacted [redacted] There is only a birth certificate on file for Nemnich. They will be sending me a copy. There are no records regarding [redacted] at all. I am trying to identify [redacted] I think she is the birth mother and have reached out to the orphanage and discussed a record request. That will have to be done via subpoena and that information has been provided. The email with the DOC tabs has been sent and I am finishing up the backgrounds as well as the to do lists, both current and post arrest. The next conference call will happen at 9 a.m. on March 19, 2009.

Request Instructions:

I left Denver at 9:00 a.m. and traveled to Grand Junction to sit in on a 1:00 p.m. meeting with the task force. This meeting was scheduled to review the task list and determine what items were still pending. Once that was determined we could decide if any of those items would prohibit Grand Junction PD from making the arrest. During the meeting the plan was also to lay out the to do list post arrest. We ran out of time so never made it to the post arrest to do list.

Another meeting was held at 3:00 p.m. This was a briefing with the command staff from Grand Junction PD as well as Pete Hautsinger from the DA's office and Curt Williams from the CBI Grand Junction Office. This meeting lasted until 5:30. During the meeting the various strategies were discussed from when to make the arrest to where to hold him, should he be booked into the Boulder County Jail or not. They also discussed ways to approach the media. The DA was still concerned that the outlying agencies had not been contacted in reference to their cases.

Action Taken :

This was discussed later by the task force.

On March 25, 2009 I did a little more research in regards to IRS records and determined there was no way at this time to obtain those records. I contacted Becky Forristal with the IRS as well as Bev Walz of HIDTA and Kenny Valdez of IRS. It was determined corporate IRS records are maintained for 75 years. However, individual records are only maintained for 7 years. Since that information would not shed light into where Jerry working in 1975 these efforts were ceased.

A couple of new names came to light based on a recent arrest of [redacted] in KS. The names were [redacted] and [redacted] Both subjects were worked and the information was provided to Grand Junction PD.

A conference call was held this date at 10:15 a.m. During this meeting the surveillance was discussed. This was being handled by the Longmont PD Sgt. Darren Bloom. A wire tap was discussed despite the missing phone number. Several discussions have taken place with DPD Sgt. Tony Parisi. The sex assault from 1977 is no longer available. However, they may be able to pull the file from the DA's office. They are also going to check the ledger to see if that provides any better information. I was asked to check with social security to see if any records could be obtained this way. After talking with some of the other anlayst and Bev at Hidta it was determined no information would be available. Copies of the files contained at CBI are in the process of being photocopied so they can be provided to DPD at the meeting scheduled for tomorrow March 31, 2009 at 1 p.m.

The link charts have been updated and modified based on suggestions from Junction analyst Chris Wilson.

Interview of:

Investigator: Dave Martinez

On this date, Thursday, May 21, 2009, I returned a telephone message from who had left a message stating that she seems to recall the name "Jerry Nemnich" .

I told I was returning her call and told her that I understood that she may know the name "Jerry Nemnich".

told me that the name sounds very familiar to her but she cannot recall where she heard the name. added that during the time period of the murder of Linda Benson, was employed as a nurse for a Doctor in the Palisade, Colorado area and also worked part time at St. Mary's hospital.

again told me that she cannot recall why the name "Jerry Nemnich" sounds familiar to her. said that perhaps it was the name of a person she met at a bar, or perhaps someone who was associated with the health care field, that she just cannot recall.

said that she is willing to help if she can remember where she heard the name.

I told that I was going to read some names to her that may or may not be associated with this case, and if recognizes the person, I would like for her to tell me how she knows the person.

I then read the names:

Grand Junction Police Department Incident Report

GJPD Case #: 75-003545

Offense: Homicide

Offense Date: 07-25-1975

Report Date: 06-05-2009

Criminalist: Trent L. Rundquist #1063

Narrative:

On 05-21-2009, at approximately 1400 hours, I was asked by Detective Sean Crocker to photograph any scars/ markings found on the body and to obtain a set of known major case friction ridge prints of Jerry Louis Nemnich (DOB 11-01-1944). The photographs and known inked prints were obtained in the Mesa County Jail, 215 Rice Street, Grand Junction, CO, 81501.

Under the direction of Detective Crocker, and with Christine M. Feller (State of Colorado Public Defenders Office) present, I photographed the front and back of Mr. Nemnich. I also photographed any scars/markings that were found, with and without a scale. These photographs were burned onto a CD and submitted in this case as Item TLR14.

With Detective Crocker, Christine M. Feller, Sergeant Kim Petek, and Deputy Jonathan Chambers (both from Mesa County Sherriff's Office) as witnesses, I was able to record the friction ridge skin of the palms and fingers of Mr. Nemnich. I recorded each finger onto a separate sheet of white cardstock and labeled with the appropriate finger (TLR1-TLR10). I recorded each finger to include the friction ridges found on the tip, full finger (pattern area and joints), and roll-up of each finger. I also recorded (4) inked major case prints of Mr. Nemnich's entire Right Palm (TLR11), (4) inked major case prints of Mr. Nemnich's entire Left Palm (TLR12), and a FBI 10-print Card with each pattern area of the finger recorded as a rolled and plain impression (TLR13). During the process of recording, I noticed that some friction ridges were not recording properly. Each time I noticed this, I instructed Mr. Nemnich to thoroughly wash the entire surface of each hand. After he had washed his hands, I would reapply ink and rerecord the friction ridges. Mr. Nemnich and I signed each card/paper of friction ridge prints. I finished the recording of Mr. Nemnich's friction ridges at approximately 1600. I returned to the GJPD and secured the recorded friction ridge standards into a temporary storage cabinet in the Evidence Section. I retrieved and submitted Items TLR1-TLR14 to GJPD Evidence on 05-27-2009.

I submitted TLR1-TLR13 under GJPD Lab # 06-30-09 to be taken to the Colorado Bureau of Investigation, located at 2797 Justice Drive, Grand Junction, CO, for comparison with latent prints that were previously submitted (see GJPD Lab # 02-93-08, and CBI Case #M08-130). The items were booked in on 06-04-2009 at approximately1045 hours, by Evidence Technician Mona Leonard. They were added as addition evidence to the CBI Case #M08-130.

Results/Opinions and Interpretations:

Please refer to the report dated January 29, 2009 by this analyst. DNA profiles were developed from Items DNA5, DNA6, DNA14, DNA17, and DNA21 at that time.

Presumptive serological examinations on Item 28 indicated the presence of blood.

No blood was found on Item 29.

Presumptive serological examinations on Items 30 and 34 were inconclusive for the presence of blood.

No semen was found on Item 30.

Item 31 was visually examined with no further analysis at this time.

DNA packets DNA 2 and DNA 3 containing collections from Items 28, 30, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 64, 65, and 66 have been forwarded for analysis.

CBI Forensic Laboratory Report:

CBI Lab Case #: M08-130
Reporting Section: Biological Sciences
Date of Report: July 13, 2009
Date Report Released: July 14, 2009

Not analyzed (SER): Items 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, and 62.

After determining there was an insufficient quantity of DNA in Items 34-1 and 36-1, no further DNA analysis was done on these samples.

DNA analysis was conducted on Items 28-1, 32-1, and 35-1 at the Profiler Plus loci.

DNA analysis was conducted on Items 30-1, 33-1, 37-1, 38-1, 39-1, 40-1, 64-1, 65-1, and 66-1 at the Profiler Plus/COfiler loci.

DNA profiles were developed from (Item 65-1), and Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1).

DNA profiles could not be developed from Items 28-1 (blood sample - "East bedroom door") and 35-1 (blood sample - 3rd drawer down kitchen cabinet).

The partial DNA profile developed from Item DNA5 (swab - ashtray) matched the DNA profile developed from Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1) at the loci Amelogenin, D3S1358, D8S1179, and D5S818. The probability of selecting an unrelated individual at random from the population having a matching profile at these loci is approximately 1 in in 5,600 Caucasians, 1 in 2,800 African Americans, and 1 in 3,800 Southwestern Hispanics.

The partial DNA profile developed from Item DNA6 (swab - dried blood from chest) revealed the presence of a mixture. The major component of this mixture matched the DNA profile developed from Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1) at the loci Amelogenin, D3S1358, vWA, FGA, D8S1179, D13S317, TH01, TPOX, and CSF1PO. To a reasonable degree of scientific certainty and in the absence of an identical sibling, Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1) is the source of the major component of the DNA profile from Item DNA6.

The DNA profile developed from Item DNA17 (swab - blood from cereal box) matched the DNA profile developed from Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1). To a reasonable degree of scientific certainty and in the absence of an identical sibling, Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1) is the source of the DNA profile from Item DNA17.

The partial DNA profile from Item DNA14 (swab - blood from north of kitchen sink) revealed the presence of a mixture. The major component of this mixture was from an apparent male and did not match the DNA profiles developed from (Item 65-1), and Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1).

The partial profile developed from Item 30-1 (towel - stain 1) matched the DNA profile developed from Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1) at the loci Amelogenin, D3S1358, and D8S1179. The probability of selecting an unrelated individual at random from the population having a profile matching at these loci is approximately 1 in 680 Caucasians, 1 in 360 African Americans, and 1 in 310 Southwestern Hispanics. The partial profile developed from Item 30-1 (towel - stain 1) did not match the DNA profiles developed from (Item DNA21),

The partial profile developed from Item 32-1 (swab from sunglasses) matched the DNA profile developed from (Item 64-1) at the loci Amelogenin, D3S1358, D8S1179, and D5S818. The probability of selecting an unrelated individual at random from the population having a profile matching at these loci is approximately 1 in 1,000 Caucasians, 1 in 5,500 African Americans, and 1 in 790 Southwestern Hispanics.

The partial DNA profile developed from Item 33-1 (blood sample - left corner kitchen cabinet) did not match the DNA profiles developed from (Item DNA21), There is insufficient genetic information to either include or exclude (Item 64-1), and Jerry Nemnich as contributors to this partial profile

DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid) analysis utilizes polymerase chain reaction technology (PCR) to analyze short tandem repeats (STRs). It may also be used to analyze STRs on the Y chromosome (YSTRs).

For partial profiles, only the loci used in the statistical calculation are listed. The remaining loci were either inconclusive or provided no results. Statistically inconclusive loci may still be used for interpretation purposes. Amelogenin is not utilized in statistical calculations.

Results/Opinions and Interpretations:

Presumptive serological examinations on Item 4 were inconclusive for the presence of blood..

Presumptive serological examinations on Items 5 and 14 indicated the presence of blood.

DNA packet DNA1 containing collections from Items 2, 4, 5, 6, 14, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, and 23 has been forwarded for analysis.

DNA analysis was conducted on Items DNA6, DNA14, DNA17, DNA18, DNA19-11, DNA20-7, DNA21, DNA22, and DNA23 at the Profiler Plus/Cofiler loci.

Interpretable DNA profiles were not obtained from Items DNA19-11, DNA20-7, and DNA4.

A DNA profile could not be developed from Item DNA2.

The partial DNA profile developed from Item DNA5 was from an apparent male and did not match the DNA profile developed from (Item DNA21). No further interpretations could be made due to limited genetic information.

Results/Opinions and Interpretations:

Please refer to the report dated January 29, 2009 by this analyst. DNA profiles were developed from Items DNA5, DNA6, DNA14, DNA17, and DNA21 at that time.

Presumptive serological examinations on Item 28 indicated the presence of blood.

No blood was found on Item 29.

Presumptive serological examinations on Items 30 and 34 were inconclusive for the presence of blood.

No semen was found on Item 30.

Item 31 was visually examined with no further analysis at this time.

DNA packets DNA 2 and DNA 3 containing collections from Items 28, 30, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 64, 65, and 66 have been forwarded for analysis.

Not analyzed (SER): Items 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, and 62.

After determining there was an insufficient quantity of DNA in Items 34-1 and 36-1, no further DNA analysis was done on these samples.

DNA analysis was conducted on Items 28-1, 32-1, and 35-1 at the Profiler Plus loci.

DNA analysis was conducted on Items 30-1, 33-1, 37-1, 38-1, 39-1, 40-1, 64-1, 65-1, and 66-1 at the Profiler Plus/COfiler loci.

DNA profiles were developed from James Fromm (Item 37-1), Gary Richardson (Item 38-1), Doug Rushing (Item 39-1), Larry Hall (Item 40-1), Item 64-1), (Item 65-1), and Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1).

DNA profiles could not be developed from Items 28-1 (blood sample - "East bedroom door") and 35-1 (blood sample - 3rd drawer down kitchen cabinet).

The partial DNA profile developed from Item DNA5 (swab - ashtray) matched the DNA profile developed from Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1) at the loci Amelogenin, D3S1358, D8S1179, and D5S818. The probability of selecting an unrelated individual at random from the population having a matching profile at these loci is approximately 1 in in 5,600 Caucasians, 1 in 2,800 African Americans, and 1 in 3,800 Southwestern Hispanics.

The partial DNA profile developed from Item DNA6 (swab - dried blood from chest) revealed the presence of a mixture. The major component of this mixture matched the DNA profile developed from Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1) at the loci Amelogenin, D3S1358, vWA, FGA, D8S1179, D13S317, TH01, TPOX, and CSF1PO. To a reasonable degree of scientific certainty and in the absence of an identical sibling, Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1) is the source of the major component of the DNA profile from Item DNA6.

The DNA profile developed from Item DNA17 (swab - blood from cereal box) matched the DNA profile developed from Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1). To a reasonable degree of scientific certainty and in the absence of an identical sibling, Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1) is the source of the DNA profile from Item DNA17.

The partial DNA profile from Item DNA14 (swab - blood from north of kitchen sink) revealed the presence of a mixture. The major component of this mixture was from an apparent male and did not match the DNA profiles developed from James Fromm (Item 37-1), Gary Richardson (Item 38-1), Doug Rushing (Item 39-1), Larry Hall (Item 40-1), Item 64-1), Item 65-1), and Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1).

The partial profile developed from Item 30-1 (towel - stain 1) matched the DNA profile developed from Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1) at the loci Amelogenin, D3S1358, and D8S1179. The probability of selecting an unrelated individual at random from the population having a profile matching at these loci is approximately 1 in 680 Caucasians, 1 in 360 African Americans, and 1 in 310 Southwestern Hispanics. The partial profile developed from Item 30-1 (towel - stain 1) did not match the DNA profiles developed from (Item DNA21), James Fromm (Item 37-1), Gary Richardson (Item 38-1), Doug Rushing (Item 39-1), Larry Hall (Item 40-1), (Item 64-1), and (Item 65-1).

The partial profile developed from Item 32-1 (swab from sunglasses) matched the DNA profile developed from (Item 64-1) at the loci Amelogenin, D3S1358, D8S1179, and D5S818. The probability of selecting an unrelated individual at random from the population having a profile matching at these loci is approximately 1 in 1,000 Caucasians, 1 in 5,500 African Americans, and 1 in 790 Southwestern Hispanics.

The partial DNA profile developed from Item 33-1 (blood sample - left corner kitchen cabinet) did not match the DNA profiles developed from James Fromm (Item 37-1), Gary Richardson (Item 38-1), Doug Rushing (Item 39-1), Larry Hall (Item 40-1), and Item 65-1). There is insufficient genetic information to either include or exclude Item DNA21), Item 64-1), and Jerry Nemnich as contributors to this partial profile

Evidence Disposition:

The DNA packets will be kept frozen and may be stored at the CBI for up to one year from the original date of submission. All other items will be returned to the submitting agency.

Remarks:

DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid) analysis utilizes polymerase chain reaction technology (PCR) to analyze short tandem repeats (STRs). It may also be used to analyze STRs on the Y chromosome (YSTRs).

Lab Case #: M08-130
Reporting Section: Biological Sciences
Date of Report: January 29, 2009
Date of Release: January 29, 2009

Results/Opinions and Interpretations:

Presumptive serological examinations on Item 4 were inconclusive for the presence of blood.

Presumptive serological examinations on Items 5 and 14 indicated the presence of blood.

DNA packet DNA1 containing collections from Items 2, 4, 5, 6, 14, 17/18, 19, 20, 21, 22, and 23 has been forwarded for analysis.

DNA analysis was conducted on Items DNA6, DNA14, DNA17, DNA18, DNA19-11, DNA20-7, DNA21, DNA22, and DNA23 at the Profiler Plus/Cofiler loci.

Interpretable DNA profiles were not obtained from Items DNA19-11, DNA20-7, and DNA4.

A DNA profile could not be developed from Item DNA2.

The partial DNA profile developed from Item DNA5 was from an apparent male and did not match the DNA profile developed from [redacted] (Item DNA21). No further interpretations could be made due to limited genetic information.

The partial DNA profile developed from Item DNA6 revealed the presence of a mixture. The major component of this mixture was from an apparent male and did not match the DNA profile developed from [redacted] (Item DNA21). The minor component was inconclusive.

The partial DNA profile developed from Item DNA14 revealed the presence of a mixture. The major component of this mixture was from an apparent male and did not match the DNA profile developed from [redacted] (Item DNA21). The minor component was inconclusive.

The DNA profile developed from Item DNA17 was from an apparent male and did not match the DNA profile developed from [redacted] (Item DNA21). Additionally, it matched the major component of the DNA profile developed from Item DNA6 at the interpretable loci.

DNA profiles were developed from Item DNA22 and partial DNA profiles were developed from Items DNA23 and

DNA14 (major component). The individual who contributed to the major component of the DNA profile from Item DNA14 is excluded as a potential biological parent of Lozen Benson (Item DNA22).

DNA profiles were developed from Items DNA17 and DNA22 and a partial DNA profile was developed from Item DNA23. The individual who contributed to the DNA profile from Item DNA17 is excluded as a potential biological parent of Lozen Benson (Item DNA22).

The DNA profiles obtained from Items DNA14 (major component) and DNA17 qualify for entry into the state and national DNA databases. These profiles will be entered and searched on a regular basis. The investigating officer will be notified of any future matches.

Not analyzed (SER): Items 1, 3, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 15, and 16.

Evidence Disposition:

The DNA packet will be kept frozen and may be stored at the CBI for up to one year from the original date of submission. All other items will be returned to the submitting agency.

Remarks:

DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid) analysis utilizes polymerase chain reaction technology (PCR) to analyze short tandem repeats (STRs). It may also be used to analyze STRs on the Y chromosome (YSTRs).

For partial profiles, only the loci used in the statistical calculation are listed. The remaining loci were either inconclusive or provided no results. Statistically inconclusive loci may still be used for interpretation purposes. Amelogenin is not utilized in statistical calculations.

Date of Occurrence: 07/25/1975

Date of Report: January 29, 2009

Reference: CODIS match on possible suspect Nemnich

January 28, 2009: Sgt. Tony Clayton and I met with CBI employee Cynthia Kramer. Ms. Kramer is a Laboratory Agent/Criminalist who performed DNA analysis on items I had submitted to the CBI lab. Through her analysis she conducted a CODIS search which resulted in the identification of Jerry Louis Nemnich (11/01/44) as the source of blood found at the (Ketchum) Benson homicide scene. Additionally Ms. Kramer found a second male DNA from the evidence submitted that is not that of Nemnich. [redacted] and [redacted] were eliminated as being the source of these blood evidence items analyzed.

January 29, 2008: A background investigation into Nemnich was initiated. I requested Colorado Department of Corrections photographs from DOC records [redacted]. I asked for any older photographs from the 1975 era they may have. They began to research their records.

I contacted Lt. Richard Dillon of the Mesa County Sheriff's Office and requested that he do a search of old records relating to Nemnich's arrest in 1964 for fraudulent checks.

I searched the GJPD 10-print files and located a 10-print card for Nemnich from the 1964 Sheriff's arrest. The 10-prints were of excellent quality and will be retained in the files.

Sgt. Clayton and I met with Chief Deputy District Attorney Rich Tuttle and briefed him on the CODIS hit from CBI and the beginning investigation on Nemnich.

February 3, 2009

I contacted the Colfax County Sheriff's Office in Schuyler, Nebraska again. Julie Tucker stated she talked to the Sheriff who had no knowledge of this name or his arrest there. The SO had no records either. She transferred me to the District Court.

Mary at the Colfax District Court told me they did have records dating back to 1964. She will research those records for Nemnich. She returned my call within minutes and said she had no record of Nemnich.

Investigator Mary Speer of the GJPD requested that Postal Inspector Gerald Kavanaugh verify that Nemnich is receiving mail at 219 Terry St, Longmont, CO. He confirmed that Nemnich is receiving mail in apartment "A".

At approximately 6PM this date, 5-2-68, I was sent to [redacted] to take photo's of the bedroom of the principal where the reported rape took place. I took three photo's of the bedroom which are on file with the ID Bureau of the Police Department.

After returning to the station, I found that the arrested party, Jerry Louis NEMNICH, had a record with our bureau received from the Colorado State Pen. I photostated the latest record from the pen and gave same to the Captain on duty Prado to attach to the original reports. At approximately, 9PM, Officer Robinson brought a knife to me which could have been used for the above offense. I attempted to find prints on the knife but was un-successful in doing so. The knife was turned over to Captain Prado for evidence.

He would not give a local address other than he was staying with friends that he did not wish to involve. I showed him the advisement form which he read and to my question if he understood his rights he replied that he did. I asked him if he would sign the advisement form and he did so. This was witnessed by myself and SgT. Coates. After advising Mr. Nemnich of his rights I informed him that he waw a suspect in a rape case wherein he had been identified by the vistim as the perpetrator of this act. He denied raping anyone at this time. I then asked him where he slept last night to which he replied that he was staying with these ftiends and eating his meals with them. To the question of what side of town these friends lived he replied the east side. He stated he was in town looking for a job and to my recollection he said he had been here three days, prior to which he had been in Denver. His original home is Longmount, Colo. He states his parents live at 345 Hoover St. in that city. I asked him what kind of work he did and he replied that he was looking for construction work or bar tender. He said he was downtown yesterday asking for work at the bars on Main ans Santa Fe. Today he was on the east side and checked at the Ramada Inn to see if they nedded a bartender. They did not. He walked out Bonforte Blvd. to the site of the college and asked otuthere for a job with the people building the college but there was no job available. He then volunteered that he was an ex-con and that he was on parole to Scott Heggie ~~the~~ but that he had not reported to him as he was supposed and that he was a PV at this time. After these young people were taken back to their homes Sgt. Coates and myself talked to the suspect again. He was confronted with this information that we had witnesses that saw him in the area of the victim's house. To this he replied that he was in the area allright and that he had walked thry that area on the way back from the SCSC campus site.

With this info of him being in the area he admitted that he had sexual relations with the victim but that it was not RAPE. His story was this: He had been in the area of the Belmont Shopping Cemter and saw the victim at Millers Super Market. He was standing outside when she went by and he stated she had on slacks or pants and that she was really swinging her hipps. When she went by him he said, "Things like that can cause accidents". She allegedly replied, "I like accidents". He saw her go over to her car which was a light gray Volkswagen and get into the car. He went over and started a converstaion. She told him her name was [redacted] He said she gave him her address as [redacted] He told her he would like to go see her. She drove away and headed toward the freeway. After she left he stayed around the Shopping Center for a short time. It was either before he talked to her or after she drove away that he went into the liquor store in the shopping center to get a package of cigarettes and there he was given a 100 pipers shot glass by a girl wearing a kilt. Sometime after she drove away he heaed over toward her house. He said he went by the park there and saw a girl laying on the grass reading and he made a remark like, "Don't study too hard". or something like that. He went on to [redacted] and knocked on the door. The victim appeared at the door and was carrying a thermometer. She told him she was sick and not feeling well. She went over and laid on the couch. He stated that there was a cover or blanket on the couch and that it appeared she had been laying there as the cover was (cont.

He said there was a few more embraces and she said, "Let's go to the bedroom". She got up and the two of them went into the bedroom.. She began to disrobe after sitting on the edge of the bed. He helped her disrobe and she laid back. He dropped his shorts and pants and they had sex relations. he statee he did not take off any of his clothes and was careful not to get his shoes up on the bed so as not to soil it. He said the bed had not been made and that some of the cover was on the floor. He agian said that it was not rape that it was a mutual thing. She did not,resist him in any way. After they were thru he said she put on the robe. The only remarks made when he was leaving was something like how can a guy be so lucky. He said he looked at the clock when he was leaving and it was sometime after 3'0'clock.

He then went back toward Hudson and said he saw a police car and he waved. He wanted the policeman to stop so he could ask him where he could catch a bus. The police man subsequently came back and he was brought to the station.

As to the dollar in his pocket, Nemnich said that it was all he had left from ten dollars his friends gave him yesterday. He denied taking it from the victim and said she did not give it to him.

Officer M$_a$gan checked this man's record and this is attached with his report. To Officer (Sgt.) Coates report can be added that the doctor stated that there were no bruises on the victim and that there were no bruises around the area of her vagina.

I and Coates checked Nemnich's body for bruises and found a small bruise at the crook of the elbow on the right arm and lines which appeared to be light scratches on the upper part of his chest near his neck. He said these are old scars.

The scratch at the elbow he said came from playing with the kids of the people he is staying with. His person was checked for these scratches even though the victim stated she did not fight him or resist him in any way.

After getting Nemnich's new story or statement I felt it would not be wise at this time to contact the victim again. She was too upset when she left the station and sad she was not going back home but was staying with relatives. I failed to get the name of the people she was planning to stay with tonight.

Also the victim is employed at [redacted] as a supervisor to computer operators. Her shift is from 11:30PM until 8:00AM in the morning. She stated that due to her cold she has not worked for the last two nights. Her last shift was Monday night.

I called Tom Davis of the Parole Depertment to see if he knew the suspect or knew of him. Davis stated he was going to Denver tomorrow and would have the full information on this man's status when he comes back. He will call me tomorrow afternoon.

All the evidence in this case is tagged and in the ppoperty room. This includes the victim's clothing and the shorts of the suspect. Also the knife found in the Belmont Park and the shot glass and one dollar bill and the paper with the two phone numbers.

We asked him if he would participate in a line up and if he understood what a linepp was. At this time he stated that he had said all he was going to say in connection with this case and did not care to participate in any lineup or say any more until he consulted an attorney. He was asked if he had called an attorney and he replied that one would have to be appointed for him.

In view of his attitude toward the lineup and any further action or statements, he was not asked if he would submit a sample of his pubic hairs for analysis. The shorts that he was wearing at the time he was arrested are in the property room. Perhaps these will reveal the necessary evidence.

REPORTED BY (COMPLAINANT) Linda Turner

OFFENSE Assault, Deviate Sexual Intercourse Rape, Kidnap and Possession of Weapon by Previous Offender

NATURE OF REPORT: Officer was dispatched at approximately 1930 hours, 12/5/74, to meet with the victim of a rape at Boulder Community Hospital.

DETAILS: Officer responded to Boulder Community Hospital and there met with Det. Shomaker and Officer Nielsen. Victim was taken in for a thorough examination and at that time this officer confiscated all of the victim's clothing. Officer observed black and blue marks on a portion of the victim's neck as well as red markings over all of the victim's neck area. Officer took custody of a saliva swab and pubic hair combing conducted by Dr. Halverson, Boulder Community Hospital emergency room. The victim was then transported to the Boulder County Sheriff's Department, Detective Division by Det. Shomaker and this Officer. The victim then assembled composite drawings of the suspect and the driver of the vehicle. (see attached composite drawing) The victim was then transported to her residence by Officer Nielsen.

Shortly thereafter this officer compared the composite drawing submitted by the victim of the suspect and a photograph of one Jerry Louis Nemnich. It was felt by all officers observing the comparison that the likeness of the composite drawing and the mug shot warranted a photographic line-up. At approximately 0245 hours of 12/6/74 Det. Epp and Officer Nielsen proceeded to the victim's residence and did present the photo line-up to the victim. The victim filled out the Boulder County Sheriff's Department line-up form and indicated that the individual bearing number 6 was identified by her as being the party who was responsible for the rape. Det. George Epp then composed an affidavit for arrest warrant which was signed by the honorable Richard Dana on December 6, 1974. Officers then went to suspect's relatives residences in Longmont, Colorado in an attempt to locate the suspect with negative results.

On 12/6/74 this Officer and Det. D. Goetz proceeded to Denver, Colorado in an attempt to locate the suspect at acquaintance's residences. At approximately 1145 p.m. 12/6/74 this Officer and Det. D. Goetz did locate and arrest subject Jerry Louis Nemnich, dob 11/1/44, at 1301 W. Ada Place in Denver. The subject was advised of the charges against him and advised of his rights per Miranda at which time he did not wish to make any statements. Subject was subsequently transported back to Boulder where he was booked into the Boulder County Jail. Det. D. Goetz in preliminary search of suspect Nemnich did locate and take into custody one 4" blade knife found in the subject's [redacted] hand coat pocket. An affidavit for a search warrant was then composed by this Officer and was subsequently signed by the Honorable Judge Richard Dana. The search warrant was served on the residence known as 1301 W. Ada Place, Denver, Colorado on 12/7/74.

On 12/6/74 this officer met with the victim who had composed a rough draft of her written statement of the accounting of the rape. The victim was given the proper forms and stated she would transfer her written statement on to these forms and would resubmit them to this Officer on 12/9/74. This officer and Det. Shomaker and the victim then proceeded to attempt to locate the direction of travel of the victim during the course of the evening. On December 9, 1974 the victim made contact with this officer and submitted her written statement. (see attached statement).

At 6:30 PM 12/5/74 I left an anatomy practicle exam. I stopped and called home in hope of agetting a ride. I then proceeded to walk alone from Ramaley Biology building to Broadway and University. During the walk, I took off my glasses, [illegible] because it is relaxing. I saw about 75-100 yards away a bus pass by the corner. I was not sure if it was a Boulder-Denver or a city bus. Having reached the south-east corner, I started hitch-hiking home. After about two changes of the light a car stopped. The car was a Thunderbird, silver in color, maybe a black vinyl roof, white wall tires, black interior, [illegible] with bucket seats and a center consol, two doors, and ~~a~~ blinker lights that sequentially ie. $\overrightarrow{\boxed{1|2|3}}$. It was approximately the year 1965. The two men in the front seats were clean-cut looking. The driver was about 25 years, and fair in complexion. The person in passenger's seat was about 23 years, dark hair and a ruddy complexion. This I was able to see by the light of a near by street lamp, and from the light within the car as the door was opened. The man in the back seat moved ~~our~~ over and I got in. We were driving north on Broadway. During the ride I smoked a cigarette and extinguished it in the ash tray at the back of the consol. I had to ask the man in the back to move his feet in order to do so. The man in the back was approx 5'11", very stocky build (huge ~~arms~~ upperarms), also about 30 years, possibly older. His hair was missing on the top of his head, ~~on~~ but long + straggly on the sides. He also had a beard that was un-kempt, and not very thick. A "Beachboys" tape was playing "Little Surfer Girl" during part of the ride. The driver asked me, "How far are you going." To this I replied, "Out north, so where you turn right or left, I'll get out." Then there was a period of silence until I asked the driver where they were going. He replied vaguely to a place where he had been before. I asked if it was a bar. Thinking they were from out of town and might be going to~~o~~ Art's Bar + Grill, which is no longer open and I could tell them so. The driver replied "No". The man in the ~~p~~ passenger's seat said turn here ~~at~~ this was at Broadway and Iris. As they were turning east, I said, "I'll get out here if that's OK." ✓ At this point the man in the back forcefully pushed my head to his lap. I started crying, "Please don't hurt me" over and over. During this time the car made a few turns and swerves, then stopped and one of the cardoors opened and closed. The car then started moving again. The man holding my head down told me to relax, he repeated this a few times. During one interim I told him I couldn't because I was scared. I started trying to relax and reason. I asked if they were going to rape me, ~~To~~ To this there was no reply. Then I said look I'm 23, I have had a man before. As I said this the man started to ease his grip on me. I answered ~~No~~, no, it doesn't mean that at all. I asked the man in the back why he raped women, and weren't there plenty of women who would make love to him. His response was that he wanted a woman when and how wanted them and that was it. This implied to me that he had raped women before and that this was his normal way of seeking sexual satisfaction. By this time I could see out the windows. Skaggs drug store was passing on the left and K-Mart to the right. We were going south on 28th street. The man in the back laid down (sort of), next to me. I asked if they would let me go afterwards. To this there was no reply. I talked a little more ~~but~~ but can't recall what I said. The man in the back grabbed me by the throat and threw me down facing upwards on the seat. His grip on my throat was so strong and tight that I was gasping for air. I thought I was going to die, but then he eased up enough to let me breath. He then turned towards ~~for~~ the front and may have said some-thing to the driver. Then he said something to me about what I had done but i'm not sure what it was. In response to one part of what he said, I replied that I panicked because he said he wouldn't let me out afterwards. I answered that I was scared and I "freaked out" - I was hoping he would understand that Terminology. He said that was a lie (refers to him not letting me out), and I should not have done what I did. I told him I had a calculus test the next day and i wanted to go home to study. I also said I had been going with a young man for 3 years and had never made-love to anyone else in that time. He seemed a bit sympathetic to that (the idea of my being loyal to some-one). Then he told the driver to get off this road (B.D. turnpike). And the car turned off at the Table mesa Road exit. This I knew later because I could see the lights of Boulder in the distance. He let me sit up a little ways and then started making sexual advances. i would turn frigid and try to look out the window and at one point I saw the lights of ~~Denver~~ Arvada. PRESS RELEASE PRESS RELEASE

At approximately 11:30 P.M. of 12-6-74 Detectives Sandra Long and Dale Goetz along with agents of the State of Colorado Parole Board arrested Jerry Louis Nemnich for the Brutal rape committed in Boulder County on 12-5-74. The suspect was arrested at 1301 West ADa Place, Denver, Colo. Mr. Nemnich has been charged via a Boulder District Court Warrant with First Degree Assault, First Degree Kidnapping, Rape and Deviate Sexual Intercourse by Force.

The arrest was the culmination of an intensive twentyfour hour investigation By SHERIFF'S DETECTIVES which led investigators thru many leads and locations until its culmination. The investigators had identified the suspect during the early morning hours of 12-5-74 but did not release the name of the suspect to the media for fear that the suspect would conceal himself or flee the state. Local sex offense investigators are familiar with the suspect due to a previous history of similar crimes and the fact that the State Parole Board advised area law enforcment agencies that the suspect was released from the state penitentiary in early November of 1974 after completing a maximum sentance.

The investigation was facilitated by an alert cooperative victim who was of exceptional aid to investigators thru composites and being able to provide accurate and correct descriptions of all parties involved. The Sheriff's Office requests that the other parties involved contact the Boulder County Sheriff's Office as at this time they are material wittnesses to this offense.

AFFIDAVIT FOR ARREST WARRANT

The affiant is Det. George Epp a commissioned officer of the Boulder County Sheriff's Department, assigned to the Detective Bureau. The affiant, being duly sworn, deposes and says:

On December 5, 1974 at 7:35 p.m. [redacted] reported to the Boulder County Sheriff's Department that she had been raped. [redacted] stated to Sheriff's officers that she was hitchhiking at the corner of Broadway & University in Boulder County Colorado at approximately 7:00 p.m. on December 5, 1974 and that she was picked up by three male parties in a silver colored Ford Thunderbird. She stated that she told the parties in the vehicle that she was going North and that if they were going to turn to stop and let her out. She stated that at the intersection of Broadway & Iris the person sitting in the front passenger seat indicated to the driver to turn right. She stated that after the right turn the person sitting next to her in the back seat pushed her head down and told her that if she resisted she would be hurt. She stated that they then drove south on 28th St. She stated that at the intersection of 28th St. and Canyon Blvd. she kicked the driver in the head nearly causing him to strike another car. She stated that the person in the back seat grabbed her by the throat and choked her until she could not breath.

She stated they continued south out of the City of Boulder on U.S. 36. She stated that they turned off U.S. 36 at Superior and that from there they drove on secondary roads. She stated that approximately ten minutes after they left U.S. 36 the person in the back seat forced her to commit penal-vaginal intercourse and oral-penal intercourse with him. She stated that she was let out of the car at the intersection of Colo. 119 and Niwot Rd. and that from there she flagged a ride and was taken to a telephone booth in Niwot, Colorado where she called the Sheriff's Department.

[redacted] described the person who was in the back seat who assaulted her as a white male, 29 to 34 years old, 5-11, 220 lbs, brown hair, and balding with a shaggy beard and a ruddy complexion.

With the assistance of Det. Sandra Long of the Sheriff's Department [redacted] made a composite of the person who had raped her. The affiant was then advised by Det. Long that the person in the composite drawing bore a striking resemblance to a person whose mug shot she had received from Van Whisman, Parole Agent for the State of Colorado. The affiant observed the mug shot and the composite and also observed that there was a very close resemblance between the two. Det. Long advised the affiant that the subject in the mug shot was Jerry Louis Nemnich, dob 11-1-44.

The mug shot showed Denver Police Dept. booking number 218459. Ofc. Jerel Nielsen of the Sheriff's Department contacted Denver P.D. and was advised that Nemnich was 6-0, weighed 200 lbs, and had brown hair and hazel eyes.

The affiant then composed a photographic lineup using a mug shot of Jerry Louis Nemnich and six other persons with similar physical appearance. The affiant presented the lineup to [redacted] at her residence at 2:45 a.m. on December 6, 1974. [redacted] [redacted] picked from the lineup the picture of Jerry Louis Nemnich and identified him as the person who had raped her.

The affiant believes sufficient probable cause has been presented to believe that Jerry Louis Nemnich did commit the crimes of rape, 40-3-401, Deviate Sexual Intercourse by Force, 40-3-403, First Degree Kidnapping, 40-3-301, and First Degree Assault, 40-3-202d, CRS 1963 as amended, against the peace and dignity of the People of the State of Colorado, and requests that the court issue a warrant for his arrest.

AFFIDAVIT FOR SEARCH WARRANT

The Affiant, Detective Sandra Long of the Boulder County Sheriff's Department, County of Boulder, State of Colorado, being duly sworn deposes and states that;

On December 5, 1974 at approximately 7:35 P.M., [redacted] reported to the Boulder County Sheriff's Department that she was hitchhiking at Broadway and University, County of Boulder, State of Colorado, when she was contacted by 3 male parties in a silver colored Ford Thunderbird and was offered and did accept a ride from these parties.

The vehicle proceeded north on Broadway, turned east onto Iris at which time the victim requested she be let out of the vehicle. The party sitting with the victim in the rear of the vehicle pulled the victim down onto the seat and would not allow her to exit the vehicle. Shortly thereafter the victim was forced to submit to penal-vaginal intercourse and forced to commit oral-penal intercourse.

On December 6, 1974 at approximately 2:45 A.M., the victim was shown a photo lineup which contained 7 photos of parties with similar physical characteristics. The victim positively identified photo #6 as that of her assailant. Photo #6 was identified as Jerry Louis Nemnich, DOB 11/1/44.

On December 6, 1974 at approximately 11:45 P.M. Jerry Louis Nemnich was placed under arrest by affiant and Det. D. Goetz, both commissioned officers of the Boulder County Sheriff's Department, County of Boulder, State of Colorado; as per warrant issued by the Honorable Judge Richard Dana, warrant issued on December 6, 1974, warrant #7145. Jerry Nemnich was arrested at a residence in Denver known as 1301 West Ada Place, County of Denver-, State of Colorado, a red brick structure facing south with a hedge on the west side of the house and a four foot fence surrounding the back yard and a red brick garage facing an alley which was directly north of the residence. Nemnich stated to affiant he had resided at 1301 W. Ada Place, County of Denver, State of Colorado, for approximately 30 days.

The victim described the suspect's clothing as follows: One pair of boots, tan in color with rounded toes, possible brand name of "Frye"; brown twill pants; a patterned t-shirt and a watch described as being gold in color with a square face, off white in color. The victim further advised affiant that she also lost her Colorado driver's license in the back seat of the vehicle which contained her name, residence address of 1300 Sumac Avenue, Boulder, Colorado.

The affiant feels she has presented sufficient probable cause for the issuance of a search warrant for the above described residence known as 1301 W. Ada Place, County of Denver, State of Colorado; in order to obtain any of the above described evidence, namely the boots, pants, t-shirt and watch.

The fact that he only had to free one leg from my clothing suggested to me that he had previous knowledge of this type of situation i.e. he had raped before. He had trouble becoming sexually aroused. At this point I was forced to preform the act of Falatio. He had told me also not to play naive. I kept fighting my own frigidity because I didn't want to die, & which I knew from demonstration to be the only other alternative. He enjoyed his power over me, that I was submissive and that I had to trust him. He finally became partially aroused at which time I was forced to have sexual intercourse. He achieved penetration, but I am not sure if he ejaculated or not. Sometime around this point the driver said he had to be in Portland tomorrow. Afterwards, he wiped his genitles off with a white handkerchief which he then passed to me. I asked him what it was for. He thought I was stupid and said something to that affect and I'm not sure if I used the handkerchief for the intended purpose or not. Then I was allowed to get dressed and the car was stopped. The driver got out and the man in the back started to get out when I asked what he was doing. He replied he was going to pull up his pants. The drivers door was shut I touched the passengers shoulder and asked him to please make sure I could get out and wouldn't be hurt. He said he didn't know anything like this was going to happen. I'm not sure if he said he was sorry or not. But I told him if ~~had~~ he ~~to~~ made sure I could get out that I wouldn't tell the police. He didn't reply. The only time the man in the back spoke to the passenger was when he handed him my books, which was sometime before 28th + Arapahoe. Then the driver and the back seat man got back in the car (in their appropriate positions) Since I had been allowed to dress, for the first time I thought that I might get out of this alive and no further harm would come to me. We drove on down the road and down a hill past a house with Christmas lights The man in the back took out his wallet and looked in the bill-fold. He had no money. He told me not to get scared and whispered something to the driver. I asked him please not to whisper because it made me paranoid. He replied that was why he had told me not to be scared. He ~~It~~ then asked the driver for a "fin". He tried to give me five dollars for a cab but I refused. He said he wasn't going to let me off where he picked me up. He also said he understood why I wouldn't take the money. I started picking up the contents of my pockets from the floor. I lit a cigarette and asked the man in the back if he wanted one anyway (being nice to make sure I could get out). As I put the cigarette pack back in my pocket I felt my pen. I then wrote [redacted] on the back seat. I also tucked the pack of matches "Trade-A-Tape" between the seat and the side of the car. We drove by what looked like a bar, a low whitish te building, with lots of cars.

At some point probably before this we passed a 79th street sign. I told him to please let me out there and I could call my boyfriend to pick me up. He said no and that my boyfriend would be "hotter than hell". The passenger said "turn right here". This was a street that approached the diagonal from the south. The car stopped about 100'-200' from the intersection, where we waited for the light to turn to green. I asked for my books which were handed to me ~~I~~ by the passenger. As the light changed I was allowed out and told to walk away from the road. ~~turning,~~ In getting out of the car I noted the inspection sticker did not have a ~~w~~hole punched on the left side. When out of the car I stood and looked at it. I couldn't see the license plate very well because the light over it was out. After they were 10' from me all the lights on the car were turned out until they reached the intersection. They drove off east on the Longmont diagonal.

Date of Report: February 2, 2009

Reference: Continued background check on suspect Nemnich

February 2, 2009

I contacted Mary Lawrence of the Department of Corrections (DOC) who is the contact person for the Colorado Department of Corrections on CODIS matches. She will pull the hard copy of the DOC files and attempt to recover any information not computerized from the 60's and 70's. This may take a couple of days.

I also received a mailed copy of Nemnich's September 22, 1978, DOC photo from Thomas Kolle.

I contacted Delta County Sheriff's record technician Teresa Garcia. I inquired if she had any contact information on Nemnich (based on a 10-print card where he listed his home as Paonia, CO). She researched all her files including old 3x5 cards and indicated there was no record of him in Delta County.

I received a Pueblo, CO report from GJPD Crime Analyst Chris Wilson. The report (RA-316) was dated May 2, 1968. In this report Nemnich was arrested for aggravated sexual assault. Nemnich entered a home at 3pm in the afternoon through an unlocked front door. He sexually assaulted the victim while armed with a butcher knife. Nemnich was a parole violator at the time of arrest. He was transient at the time and listed Longmont, Co as his original home. Investigation showed Nemnich walking the neighborhood and apparently casing it before the rape occurred.

Date of Report: February, 3, 2009

Reference: Re-interview of [redacted]

Commander Greg Assenmacher and I met with [redacted] at the Grand Junction Police Department at 1000 hours. The purpose of the interview was to try to obtain additional information.

We inquired about a letter sent to the District Attorney (DA) in 1976. (Report file NFG-21.)

[redacted] said she received this information from [redacted] was identified by [redacted] as [redacted] She lived in Grand Junction at the time of the murders. [redacted] has no knowledge of where she might be at this time. [redacted] mailed it anonymously to the District Attorney in hopes it would aid the investigation. [redacted] re-read the letter with us and could not provide any clarification or knowledge to the events listed in the letter.

We asked her to clarify her family tree for us. [redacted] said her parents were life-long residents of North Platte, Nebraska. They were [redacted] and [redacted] said she never had any visitors in Grand Junction from friends or neighbors of North Platte. She did not believe Linda Benson knew any friends from there. She has a former brother –in-law named [redacted] who stills lives in the North Platte area.

I asked her to look at the names [redacted] Jerry Nemnich, [redacted] he did not recognize any of these names. We also reviewed the Linda Benson association chart and she had no additional information to offer on any of the persons listed.

[redacted] received most of her information about the investigation of this case from [redacted] He told her a lot about the investigation.

[redacted] has been receiving calls from [redacted] who contacted her through a member of the [redacted] family. [redacted] has an interest in the Benson homicide and others from 1975. Commander Assenmacher is working with her to contact [redacted] will not continue to call [redacted] Commander Assenmacher will pursue any creditable information the [redacted] may offer. [redacted] has been distressed by his calls and speculations. She thinks he is fishing for information for personal gain like a book or news story.

[redacted] also provided Commander Assenmacher with a book written about the Botham murders and also had a short piece in it about the Benson murders. I am familiar with a web page maintained by the [redacted] family concerning the conviction of Kenneth Botham. The web page and web page contacts may be a source of a lot of the information in the book. (End of Report- Larry Bullard)

Results/Opinions and Interpretations:

Presumptive serological examinations on Items 1, 8A, 9, 10, 15, 42, 44, 54, and 60 indicated the presence of blood.

Presumptive serological examinations on Items 3 and 7A indicated the presence of blood; additional serological examinations were inconclusive for the presence of human blood.

Nothing of apparent evidentiary value was found in Item 16.

DNA packets DNA 4 and DNA 5 containing Items 1-2, 1-4, 1-6, 3-1, 7A-1, 8A-1, 9-1, 10-1, 11-1, 12-1, 13-1, 15-1, 41-1, 42-1, 43-1, 44-1, 52-1, 53-1, 54-1, and 60-1 have been forwarded for analysis.

Items 11-1 and 12-1 were combined into the same tube for DNA extraction.

Items 46, 58, 59, 61, and 62 were visually examined with no further analysis at this time.

Not analyzed (SER): Items 7B and 8B.

After determining there was an insufficient quantity of DNA in Items 1-2, 52-1, 53-1 and 60-1, no further DNA analysis was done on these samples.

CBI Forensic Laboratory Report:

CBI Lab Case #: M08-130
Reporting Section: Biological Sciences
Date of Report: February 23, 2010
Date Report Released: February 26, 2010

Autosomal DNA analysis was conducted on Items 3-1, 7A-1, 8A-1, 9-1, 10-1, 11-1/12-1, 13-1, 15-1, 41-1, 42-1, 44-1, and 54-1 at the Profiler Plus/COfiler loci.

YSTR DNA analysis was conducted on Items 11-1, DNA21, 37-1, 38-1, 39-1, 40-1, 41-1, 64-1, 65-1, and 66-1 at the YFiler loci.

An autosomal DNA profile was developed from [redacted] (Item 41-1).

YSTR DNA profiles were developed from [redacted] (DNA21) [redacted] and Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1).

Please refer to the reports dated January 29, 2009 and July 13, 2009 by this analyst. Autosomal DNA profiles were developed from Items DNA14 and 33-1 at that time. Additionally, autosomal DNA profiles were developed from [redacted] (DNA18), [redacted] (DNA21), [redacted] and Jerry [redacted]

The partial autosomal DNA profile previously developed from Item DNA14 (swab - blood from north of kitchen sink) revealed the presence of a mixture. The major component of this mixture was from an apparent male and did not match the DNA profile developed from [redacted] (Item 41-1).

The partial autosomal DNA profile previously developed from Item 33-1 (blood sample - left corner kitchen cabinet) did not match the DNA profile developed from [redacted] (Item 41-1).

An interpretable autosomal DNA profile was not obtained from Item 3-1 (dishrag kitchen sink) other than to note that it is apparently male in origin.

The autosomal DNA profile developed from Item 7A-1 (carpet - bathroom floor) revealed the presence of a mixture. The major component of this mixture was apparently from a female contributor and did not match the DNA profile developed from [redacted] (Item DNA18). Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1) [redacted] (Item DNA21), [redacted] are excluded as potential contributors to the minor component of this mixture. [redacted] Item 64-1) cannot be excluded as a minor contributor to this mixture.

The autosomal DNA profile developed from Item 8A-1 (carpet - bedroom near victim) was apparently from a female contributor and did not match the DNA profile developed from [redacted] (Item DNA18).

The partial autosomal profile developed from Item 9-1 (blood sample - bathroom wall) matched the DNA profile developed from Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1) at the loci Amelogenin, D3S1358, vWA, FGA, D8S1179, D21S11, D5S818, D13S317, D16S539, TH01, TPOX, and CSF1PO. To a reasonable degree of scientific certainty and in the absence of an identical sibling, Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1) is the source of the DNA profile developed from Item 9-1.

The partial autosomal DNA profile developed from Item 10-1 (gauze - left hand Linda Benson) was apparently from a female contributor and did not match the DNA profile developed from Barbara Rippy (Item DNA18).

The autosomal DNA profile developed from Item 11-1/12-1 (right hand and left hand Linda Benson) revealed the presence of a mixture. The major component of this mixture was apparently from a female contributor and did not match the DNA profile developed from [redacted] (Item DNA18). [redacted] (Item DNA21), [redacted] are excluded as potential contributors to the minor component of this mixture. Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1) cannot be excluded as a minor contributor to this mixture at the loci Amelogenin, D3S1358, vWA, FGA, D8S1179, D21S11, and D5S818. The percentage of the population that could be excluded from contributing to this mixture at these loci is approximately 99.992 percent.

DECEASED VICTIMS: LINDA J. BENSON (AKA LINDA KETCHUM), W/F, , 1300 North 21st Street, # 211, Grand Junction, Colorado

KELLEY A. BENSON (AKA KELLEY KETCHUM), W/F , 1300 North 21st Street, # 211, Grand Junction, Colorado

SUSPECT: JERRY LOUIS NEMNICH, W/M, DOB 11/1/44, 6'00", 205 lbs, Brown hair, Hazel eyes, CO DL , SSN # , FBI # 584877D, CO State ID # 113908

LOCATION OF INCIDENT: 1300 North 21st Street # 211, Grand Junction, Colorado

ACTION TAKEN: On February 17, 2009, Grand Junction Police Department Special Investigator LARRY BULLARD collected some of the crime scene reports, sketches and photographs from this case and sent them to FRED ALBRECHT. ALBRECHT was a Sergeant for the Grand Junction Police Department at the time of the BENSON murders and had an active role in the initial investigation. The information sent by Special Investigator BULLARD, provided to ALBRECHT to refresh his memory about the incident before an interview with members of the task force, is documented in a letter included in this case file.

On February 23, 2009, I spoke with ALBRECHT by phone. He had started to review the information but requested reports from the officers that initially responded to the scene. I faxed ALBRECHT reports from Officers GASKILL and RICHARDSON (marked B-5 and B-7 respectively) so he could read them prior to the phone interview that we set for Wednesday, February 25, 2009.

At 11:30 a.m., on February 25, 2009, Detective CROCKER and I spoke with ALBRECHT by phone (the recording of the interview is attached as exhibit BB-3). At the time of the Benson homicides, ALBRECHT was the sergeant of the Grand Junction Police Department Detective Division. He was at home during the evening on July 25, 1975 when he was called to the homicide scene.

When he arrived, he met with Captain VANDERTOOK, who was standing at the door to the apartment. Cpt. VANDERTOOK first told ALBRECHT that the two victims had been shot. ALBRECHT entered the apartment and saw a young girl lying on her back in the hallway covered in blood. He lifted the girls arm to inspect the wounds and noticed several wounds on the girl. He walked to the bedroom and saw several knife wounds to the body of the nude female later identified as LINDA BENSON. He returned to the girl and noticed similar "puncture" wounds and advised Cpt. VANDERTOOK that the victims had been stabbed and not shot as previously thought. Cpt. VANDERTOOK then told ALBRECHT that before ALBRECHT arrived, he (VANDERTOOK) and had walked through the apartment to determine if items were missing.

ALBRECHT never saw and believes Cpt. VANDERTOOK had released him before ALBRECHT arrived.

After doing his initial walkthrough of the scene, ALBRECHT called Crime Scene Technician LARRY HALL and Detective GARY RICHARDSON to the scene. HALL took photographs and processed the crime scene with the direction and assistance of ALBRECHT. HALL was responsible for the collection of all evidence at the scene. I specifically asked ALBRECHT about the drywall around the light switch in LINDA BENSON's bedroom since ALBRECHT had mentioned it in the phone call to arrange the interview. ALBRECHT believes he is the one who removed the 8 inch by 8 inch square piece of drywall from around the light switch in the bedroom (he still would have turned it over to HALL before leaving the apartment). He told us the drywall appeared to have a smeared bloody palm print on it.

He also remembers a portion of carpet (believed to be stained with blood) near the kitchen was cut out and collected but he is not sure which one of them actually cut the carpet (it also would have been turned over to HALL).

ALBRECHT told us photographs and measurements were taken of any potential evidence before the item was collected. The evidecne was marked in some way and then be bagged by HALL and placed in evidence. He does not believe there were any photographs taken of evidence after it was tagged and knows for sure the scene was not videotaped.

Once the coroner and Dr. THOMAS CANFIELD arrived, they examined the bodies. Dr. CANFIELD confirmed that a sharp instrument had been used but they did not know at the time if the attack was a sexual motivated attack and did not know until the autopsy was done (the autopsy did not indicate a sexual motivated attack).

We then discussed a possible thumbprint on LINDA BENSON's body. ALBRECHT remembered there appeared to be bloody fingerprint in the middle of her chest and he asked Dr. CANFIELD if there was someway to "take" the print. Dr. CANFIELD told ALBRECHT that the skin was "elastic" and would not retain its shape if removed from LINDA's body. ALBRECHT believes he had HALL take a photograph of the print before the body was removed.

I asked ALBRECHT if he was comfortable with the profile of the suspect that had been developed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He told us a member of the police department took all of the information to FBI headquarters and briefed FBI members on the crime. The profile they "came up with" was a white male, mid teens to early 20's, living within two blocks of the area who probably started with looking at pornography before becoming a "peeping Tom". The suspect then probably began entering residences before committing this crime. ALBRECHT din not have much faith in the profile and believes it sidetracked the investigation for a while. Based on the profile developed, his investigators began focusing on people living close to the apartments. ALBRECHT believed the investigation needed to focus on someone who knew LINDA and KELLEY, possibly a relative, to include ALBRECHT told us he did not like the way acted when he learned were dead. Even though took a polygraph, ALBRECHT wasn't satisfied and tried to have a second one done by a polygrapher that he knew from his previous law enforcement experience in California, but his command staff refused.

ALBRECHT agreed to provide a DNA sample to use as an elimination sample. Special Investigator BULLARD will make arrangements to obtain the sample.

Grand Junction Police Department Special Investigator LARRY BULLARD had also collected some of the crime scene reports, sketches and autopsy paperwork from this case and sent them to Dr. THOMAS CANFIELD. Dr. CANFIELD was the forensic pathologist was called to the scene and who later conducted the autopsies of LINDA and KELLY BENSON. The information sent by Special Investigator BULLARD, provided to CANFIELD to refresh his memory about the incident prior to the interview, is documented in a letter included in this case file. It does need to be noted that the official autopsy report were inadvertently destroyed and are not available (documented with a letter already in the case file).

On February 25, 2009 (shortly after the ALBRECHT interview), Investigator BULLARD and I traveled to Montrose, Colorado and met with Dr. THOMAS CANFIELD, the coroner of Montrose County.

At the time of the murders, DR. CANFIELD was the Chief Medical Examiner for Montrose County and conducted forensic examinations as needed. He was also an employee of the Colorado Bureau of Investigation but made sure we understood he was working on a consultant basis for the Mesa County Coroner and not as a CBI employee during this investigation. Agent NELSON JENNETT was the only other CBI employee of the Western Slope at that time.

He remembers being called to the scene to provide advice to Mesa County Coroner, W.E. DOELL. DOELL escorted Dr. CANFIELD into the bodies and Dr. CANFIELD remembered thinking that the crime seemed to be "overkill" due to the number of wounds on both bodies. He told us he saw a blood drop on LINDA BENSON's torso that he believed came from the suspect since the drop seemed to be a straight gravitational drop rather than a smear. Under normal circumstances, the body would not be disturbed until autopsy but he did not want to lose the blood drop as evidence during transport so he advised the officers on scene to take a sample. He is not sure if a sample was taken at the scene or not.

The bodies were transported to Montrose Memorial Hospital for the autopsy which was conducted on July 26, 2009. We discussed the laboratory report indicating he collected a sample of blood from the chest of LINDA BENSON and he told us that the sample would have come from the same drop he observed at the scene.

Dr. CANFIELD stated it would have been common practice at that time for him to have prepared the sample and then turn it over to Agent JENNETT during the autopsy. This eliminated the need to turn it over to the local detective, who would then have to submit it back to Agent JENNETT for analysis.

After receiving the sample from Dr. CANFIELD, Agent JENNETT would have maintained the evidence and include it with the evidence submitted by the Grand Junction Police Department when the analysis was conducted.

Dr. CANFIELD was not able to remember the specific reasons he did not think it was a sex crime but told us he routinely tested both live and dead bodies for evidence of a sexual assault and is sure that he would have taken the necessary steps to determine if a sexual attack had occurred. I reminded him that he did take swabbings from the genital regions of the bodies and he told us that those slides would also have been turned over to Agent JENNETT at autopsy. He assumes he would have looked for sperm in the swabbings at the time of the autopsy since it was his normal practice to do so.

We showed Dr. CANFIELD the digital image of what is believed to be a bloody fingerprint that FRED ALBRECHT believed was found on LINDA BENSON's body. Dr. CANFIELD refutes that the fingerprint was on the body because he would have remembered if it something with so much value as evidence had been on the body. He again stated he only remembered the blood drop mentioned above as the key piece of evidence found on LINDA BENSON's body.

Attn: Agent in Charge Barry Miller

RE: GJPD Case#75-3545 Double Homicide

Dear Mr. Miller,

On the night of July 24-25, 1975, unknown person(s) entered the apartment of Linda (Ketchum) Benson (Age 24) and her daughter Kelley Ketchum (Age 5). Both victims were stabbed to death. There may have been a struggle between Linda Benson and her assailant. The unknown assailant may have been injured resulting in their blood being found at the scene. The Grand Junction Police Department conducted an investigation and submitted several items to the Colorado Bureau of Investigation for examination. The blood type had been determined to be type A for Linda and Kelley. Blood items found at the scene were determined to be type A and type O.

The Grand Junction Police Department recently opened a cold case review of unsolved homicides in our jurisdiction. After a review of the evidence in this 1975 case we have identified several items of evidence that may yield new investigative leads. We believe analysis of the evidence may provide significant information that was not available 33 years ago.

We have obtained Buccal Swabs from who remains a suspect in this investigation. A Rule 41.1 Order for the purpose of taking non-testimonial identification evidence from the person of was used as a basis for obtaining these swabs.

I am requesting that these swabs be compared to the unknown type O blood found at the homicide scene that were previously submitted to your Laboratory on February 6, 2008, for DNA analysis. We would like to determine if was or was not the source of the unknown type "O" blood from the 1975 homicide scene.

These homicides remained unsolved.

Respectfully,

Paul Quimby
Sergeant, GJPD Investigations

DATE COMPLETED 7-31-75 CBI LAB CASE No. 75-0169M

RESULTS OF EXAMINATIONS:

Semen: No seminal stains were found on specimens K2, Q12, Q15, Q16, Q17, Q18, Q20, Q21, Q22, Q23, Q24, Q25, Q26 and Q27.

Hairs: A single light brown limb hair of Caucasian origin was found in the body bag of Kelly Benson Q1. A single damaged light brown pubic hair fragment of Caucasian origin was also found in this body bag, which is dissimilar in microscopic characteristics to specimen K4 and accordingly did not originate from Linda Benson.

No foreign hairs were found in specimen Q5.

A single medium brown pubic hair measuring 4.1cm in length found on the right hand of Linda Benson, at the time of autopsy, matches specimen K4.

A single medium brown pubic or trunk hair fragment measuring 3.8cm in length and of Caucasian origin found on specimen Q25 is dissimilar in microscopic characteristics to specimen K4 and accordingly did not originate from Linda Benson.

Specimen K1 consists of numerous light brown head hairs of Caucasian origin measuring from 5.0cm to 14cm in length. Head hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K1 were found on or in specimens Q8, Q17, and Q24 and accordingly could have come from Kelly Benson.

Specimen K3 consists of numerous light, medium and dark brown head hairs some of which exhibit a reddish tint. These hairs are of Caucasian origin and measure from 7.7cm to 20.5cm in length. Head hairs exhibitng the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K3 were found on specimen Q17 and accordingly could have originated from Linda Benson.

Specimen K4 consists of numerous light to medium brown pubic hairs of Caucasian origin measuring 3.8cm to 5.7cm in length. Pubic hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K4 were found on or in specimens Q5, Q6, Q7, Q12, and Q26 and accordingly could have come from Linda Benson.

REQUESTING AGENCY Grand Junction Police Department PAGE Four

DATE COMPLETED 7-31-75 CBI LAB CASE No. 75-0169M

Specimen K5 consists of several light to medium brown head hairs of Caucasian origin measuring 4cm to 12cm in length. Head hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K5 were found on or in specimens Q6, Q17, Q24 and 026 and accordingly could have originated from It is pointed out that a single medium brown head hair of Caucasian origin measuring 13¼ inches in length and two (2) small head hair fragments found on specimen Q18 exhibit minor dissimilarities to specimen K5, however; these dissimilarities are not sufficiently great to eliminate as a possible source of these hairs.

Hairs possessing microscopic characteristics consistant with cat hairs were found on or in specimens K2, Q5, Q6, Q12, Q15, Q16, Q17, Q20, Q23, Q24, Q26 and Q27.

No hairs were found on or in specimens Q2, Q3, Q4, Q10, Q11, Q13, Q14, Q21 and Q22.

A 6cm long tuft of purple cotton fibers, a tuft of red, delustered, non-striated synthetic fibers, a tuft of blue cotton fibers, a tuft of white cotton fibers and a tuft of light blue cotton fibers were removed, in the laboratory, from specimen Q15.

A single tuft of orange cotton fibers found on specimen Q16 matches the fibers in the composition of specimen Q12. A blue woolen fiber, a purple cotton fiber and a few blue cotton fibers were also found on specimen Q16.

Five (5) bright purple yarns (two strands "S" twist) composed of cotton fibers were found on specimen Q17.

Specimen Q19 is a red cotton thread constructed of three plys or strands each having an "S" twist all twisted together in a "Z" twist.

A yellow cotton fiber, a red striated lustrous synthetic fiber, several white woolen fibers were found on specimen Q20. DATE COMPLETED 7-31-75 CBI LAB CASE No. 75-0169M

Miscellaneous:

A single cut hole measuring 1.2cm in length was found in the approximate center of the specimen Q26 sheet. This cut hole is located approximately 27 inches from the corner of the sheet (opposite the label). This hole is approximately 24 inches from the long side and 15 inches from the elastic side. All measurements were taken from the simulated corner of a mattress allowing for a portion of the fitted sheet to fit over a mattress corner. This was done in an effort to locate the cut hole in relationship to a mattress or bed.

Plant type fibers, other than cotton, were found on specimen Q17.

The hairs, hair fragments, textile fibers and debris removed from the submitted items have been placed in round plastic boxes or mounted on 52 glass microscopic slides.

The results of the serological (blood) examinations on possible blood stains found on specimens K2, Q2, Q3, Q4, Q9, Q12, Q16, Q24, Q25, Q26, and Q27 will be reported separately by the Denver CBI Laboratory.

CBI Forensic Laboratory Report:

Lab Case #: M08-130
Reporting Section: Biological Sciences
Date of Report: January 29, 2009
Date of Release: January 29, 2009

Results/Opinions and Interpretations:

Presumptive serological examinations on Item 4 were inconclusive for the presence of blood.

Presumptive serological examinations on Items 5 and 14 indicated the presence of blood.

DNA packet DNA1 containing collections from Items 2, 4, 5, 6, 14, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, and 23 has been forwarded for analysis.

DNA analysis was conducted on Items DNA6, DNA14, DNA17, DNA18, DNA19-11, DNA20-7, DNA21, DNA22, and DNA23 at the Profiler Plus/Cofiler loci.

DNA analysis was conducted on Items DNA2, DNA4, and DNA5 at the Profiler Plus loci.

Interpretable DNA profiles were not obtained from Items DNA19-11, DNA20-7, and DNA4.

A DNA profile could not be developed from Item DNA2.

The partial DNA profile developed from Item DNA5 was from an apparent male and did not match the DNA profile developed from (Item DNA21). No further interpretations could be made due to limited genetic information.

The partial DNA profile developed from Item DNA6 revealed the presence of a mixture. The major component of this mixture was from an apparent male and did not match the DNA profile developed from (Item DNA21). The minor component was inconclusive.

The partial DNA profile developed from Item DNA14 revealed the presence of a mixture. The major component of this mixture was from an apparent male and did not match the DNA profile developed from (Item DNA21). The minor component was inconclusive.

The DNA profile developed from Item DNA17 was from an apparent male and did not match the DNA profile developed from (Item DNA21). Additionally, it matched the major component of the DNA profile developed from Item DNA6 at the interpretable loci.

DNA profiles were developed from Item DNA22 and partial DNA profiles were developed from Items DNA23 and DNA14 (major component). The individual who contributed to the major component of the DNA profile from Item DNA14 is excluded as a potential biological parent of (Item DNA22).

DNA profiles were developed from Items DNA17 and DNA22 and a partial DNA profile was developed from Item DNA23. The individual who contributed to the DNA profile from Item DNA17 is excluded as a potential biological parent of (Item DNA22).

The DNA profiles obtained from Items DNA14 (major component) and DNA17 qualify for entry into the state and national DNA databases. These profiles will be entered and searched on a regular basis. The investigating officer will be notified of any future matches.

Not analyzed (SER): Items 1, 3, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 15, and 16.

Evidence Disposition:

The DNA packet will be kept frozen and may be stored at the CBI for up to one year from the original date of submission. All other items will be returned to the submitting agency.

Remarks:

DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid) analysis utilizes polymerase chain reaction technology (PCR) to analyze short tandem repeats (STRs). It may also be used to analyze STRs on the Y chromosome (YSTRs).

For partial profiles, only the loci used in the statistical calculation are listed. The remaining loci were either inconclusive or provided no results. Statistically inconclusive loci may still be used for interpretation purposes. Amelogenin is not utilized in statistical calculations.

RE: GJPD Case #75-3545 Double Homicide

Dear Mr. Miller,

On the night of July 24-25, 1975, unknown person(s) entered the apartment of Linda (Ketchum) Benson (Age 24) and her daughter Kelley Ketchum (Age 5). Both victims were stabbed to death. There may have been a struggle between Linda Benson and her assailant. The unknown assailant may have been injured resulting in their blood being found at the scene. The Grand Junction Police Department conducted an investigation and submitted several items to the Colorado Bureau of Investigation for examination in 1975. The blood type had been determined to be type A for Linda and Kelley. Blood items found at the scene were determined to be type A and type O.

The Grand Junction Police Department recently opened a cold case review of unsolved homicides in our jurisdiction. After a review of the evidence in this 1975 case I have identified several items of evidence that may yield new investigative leads. I believe analysis of the evidence may provide significant information that was not available 33 years ago.

During the course of this investigation I have persons of interest that I cannot eliminate.

I have obtained buccal swabs from .
buccal swab was submitted to CBI on or about February 8, 2008.

Another person of interest is is now living out of state and I have been unable to obtain buccal swabs from him. However I have obtained buccal swabs from his wife and their child. I am submitting these buccal swabs for examination.

I am requesting that these swabs from and (based on his wife and child's DNA) be compared to the unknown type O blood found at the homicide scene in 1975. I would like to determine if or possibly were or were not the source of the unknown type "O" blood from the 1975 homicide scene. This will aid the Grand Junction Police Department in our continuing investigation.

Evidence submitted: GJPD #75-003545, PQ6, Buccal Swabs from (blood daughter of),
barcode 2017805.

GJPD #75-003545, pq10, buccal swabs from
barcode 2020744.

This is the fourth submission of evidence to CBI on this case since February 8, 2008. The lab analyses requested on previous submissions are still required to aid this investigation. This fourth examination request should be added to this case.

Respectfully submitted;

Larry Bullard

16. Results of Examination:

Scanned one roll of 126 (Instamatic) film of the crime scene and negatives of photos taken at the mortuary and cemetery. The scanned images were burned to a CD and placed into evidence as item DO2.

Two copies of the CD were forwarded to Detective Sean Crocker.

In addition to scanning the additional negatives, all of the negatives were compared to the two known photo logs (one handwritten, one typed). Photo logs for all of the jpeg images (Item DO1 and DO2) were created and cross checked against the known photo logs from the original case files.

See attached seven (7) page log for DO1 and three (3) page log for DO2.

CITY OF Grand Junction COLORADO
POLICE

August 19, 2008

Colorado Bureau of Investigation
2797 Justice Drive
Grand Junction, CO 81506

Attn: Agent in Charge Barry Miller

RE: GJPD Case#75-3545 Double Homicide

Dear Mr. Miller,

On the night of July 24-25, 1975, unknown person(s) entered the apartment of Linda (Ketchum) Benson (Age 24) and her daughter Kelley Ketchum (Age 5). Both victims were stabbed to death. There may have been a struggle between Linda Benson and her assailant. The unknown assailant may have been injured resulting in their blood being found at the scene. The Grand Junction Police Department conducted an investigation and submitted several items to the Colorado Bureau of Investigation for examination. The blood type had been determined to be type A for Linda and Kelley. Blood items found at the scene were determined to be type A and type O.

The Grand Junction Police Department recently opened a cold case review of unsolved homicides in our jurisdiction. After a review of the evidence in this 1975 case we have identified several items of evidence that may yield new investigative leads. We believe analysis of the evidence may provide significant information that was not available 33 years ago.

We have obtained Buccal Swabs from who remains a suspect in this investigation. A Rule 41.1 Order for the purpose of taking non-testimonial identification evidence from the person of was used as a basis for obtaining these swabs.

I am requesting that these swabs be compared to the unknown type O blood found at the homicide scene that were previously submitted to your Laboratory on February 6, 2008, for DNA analysis. We would like to determine if was or was not the source of the unknown type "O" blood from the 1975 homicide scene.

These homicides remained unsolved.

Respectfully,

Paul Quimby
Sergeant, GJPD Investigations

here's the employment check on the 1st SSAN. The second, was negative for CO and nationwide. These records are hecked by SSAN and the only way they're matched up with a name is if the individual has filed an unemployment claim, and this person lid not. If you have any questions, give me a call.

KELLEY A. BENSON (AKA KELLEY KETCHUM), W/F 1300 North 21st Street # 211, Grand Junction, Colorado

SUSPECT: JERRY LOUIS NEMNICH, W/M, 6'00", 205 lbs, Brown hair, Hazel eyes, CO DL FBI # 584877D, CO State ID # 113908

LOCATION OF INCIDENT: 1300 North 21st Street # 211, Grand Junction, Colorado

ACTION TAKEN: After JERRY NEMNICH became a suspect in this case, a background investigation was conducted. Initial computer database searches associated the three following addresses with him in the state of Washington after he had been released from prison in 1992:

7615 200th St SW, Edmonds, Washington 98026

10728 Whitman Ave N, Seattle, Washington 98133

1232 S Halsey Dr, Coupeville, Washington 98239

I contacted the Edmonds, Washington Police Department and spoke with an investigative Sergeant. I provided him with the information I had and he told me he would have one of his investigators get back in touch with me. On February 10, 2009, I was contacted by Edmond Police Department Detective DAVE HONNEN. Det. HONNEN had researched his department's records and located 3 police reports that involved JERRY NEMNICH and/or who we believed to be his current wife,

The oldest report, dated 4/2/98, is a fraud report filed in King County, Washington. It lists JERRY NEMNICH as the owner of Lucky Computers (14721 Aurora Ave, Shoreline, Washington 98133, 206-363-8490) and documents that unknown persons had ordered computers with a stolen credit card.

The second report is a stolen vehicle report dated 9/19/98. It documents the theft of 1977 Gray Toyota Celica that was later found stripped in Lynnwood, Washington. The address listed for

The most recent report provided by Detective HONNEN is dated 6/23/02 and is a "Domestic-No assault" report filed by the Edmonds Police Department that lists the NEMNICH's address as the 200th St. address. The report states the police were called to the house for a verbal domestic. JERRY told the police that was drunk and yelling at him and that he wanted them to take her to a detox center. told the police she was upset with JERRY because he "lied to her about his past". The officer left without removing from the house but there were no further problems.

The reports received from the Edmonds Police Department are attached to this report as exhibit BB-1.

Det. HONNEN did not find any record of JERRY NEMNICH being in Washington in the 1970's (before he entered prison) but referred me to GREGG MIXSELL, a cold case investigator with the Washington State Attorney General's Office. Det. HONNEN thought I would receive more complete and accurate information if I contacted Inv. MIXSELL rather than trying to contact individual agencies. Inv. MIXSELL, whom I spoke with by phone, contacted the appropriate law enforcement agencies to gather information on JERRY and NEMNICH but did not find any additional information.

As part of this investigation, I contacted Agent in Charge JIM MILNE with the Colorado Department of Revenue and asked for Colorado tax history for NEMNICH. He agreed to order all records related to NEMNICH but told me any records prior to 1991 had been purged and were not available. On February 24, 2009, AIC MILNE contacted me by phone and told me that the Colorado Department of Revenue did not have any tax history records for NEMNICH.

TYPE REPORT Supplement 4-BB	REPORT BY Brooks Bennett Agent	AREA Grand Junction Mesa County, Colorado
NATURE OF CASE Homicide

SYNOPSIS: On March 5, 2009, Grand Junction Police Department Detective SEAN CROCKER and I interviewed NELSON JENNETT, the retired Colorado Bureau of Investigation Agent who performed a large amount of the forensic work on this case. JENNETT was not able to remember this case specifically but was able to explain common practice and procedure used during the collection and analysis of evidence in 1975.

The information provided by JENNETT concerning the blood scraping taken from the chest of LINDA BENSON is consistent with the information previously provided by Dr. THOMAS CANFIELD, the forensic pathologist who performed the autopsies.

LIST OF WITNESSES:

1. BROOKS BENNETT, Agent, Colorado Bureau of Investigation, 2797 Justice Drive, Grand Junction, Colorado 81506, Telephone (970) 248-7500. I can testify to my activity in this investigation.

2. SEAN CROCKER, Detective, Grand Junction Police Department, 625 Ute Avenue, Grand Junction, Colorado 81501, Telephone (970) 244-3568. Detective CROCKER can testify to his activity in this investigation.

3. NELSON K. JENNETT, W/M, DOB

   NELSON JENNETT can testify to the information he provided during an interview on March 5, 2009.

SUSPECT: JERRY LOUIS NEMNICH, W/M, 6'00", 205 lbs, Brown hair, Hazel eyes, CO DL SSN # FBI # 584877D, CO State ID # 113908

LOCATION OF INCIDENT: 1300 North 21st Street # 211, Grand Junction, Colorado

ACTION TAKEN: On March 5, 2009, Grand Junction Police Department Detective SEAN CROCKER and I met with NELSON JENNETT at the Montrose County Sheriff's Office. JENNETT, who is now retired, is the Colorado Bureau of Investigation Agent who attended the autopsies of LINDA and KELLEY BENSON and analyzed several pieces of evidence for this case. Although JENNETT does not specifically remember the work he did during this investigation, he was able to provide information regarding procedures and common practices used at the time.

I had brought a copy of CBI Laboratory case file 75-0169M to the interview and JENNETT reviewed his report concerning his activity at the autopsies. He indicated it was the same procedure he used on all of the autopsies he attended at the time. Dr. THOMAS CANFIELD, the forensic pathologist, would perform the autopsy and be responsible for any evidence from inside the body (i.e., blood samples for toxicology) and JENNETT would be responsible and take possession of any evidence found outside the body (fingernail scrapings, inked prints, hairs on clothing, etc.).

What JENNETT did with the evidence collected by him during autopsies depended on the circumstances. For example, if the agency who was investigating the case had a fingerprint examiner, the prints he collected would have most likely been released to the agency (as is documented in this case). However, if a piece of evidence taken from the body would have eventually been returned to CBI for analysis, JENNETT would have kept the item to save the trouble of having to receive it at a later time.

CBI Laboratory Case File 75-0169M contains a Request for Laboratory Examination dated July 26, 1975. The items being submitted (all typed on the form) include known head hair, footprints, and fingerprints of KELLEY BENSON, along with a few other items collected at the autopsy. Handwritten below the typed items is documentation of the submission of an envelope containing the blood scrapings from the chest of LINDA BENSON. JENNETT confirmed that the envelope would have been the one handed to him by Dr. CANFIELD during the autopsy but he does not know who wrote the item on the submission sheet. His handwritten notes (also included in the

RESULTS OF EXAMINATIONS:

Semen: No seminal stains were found on specimens K2, Q12, Q15, Q16, Q17, Q18, Q20, Q21, Q22, Q23, Q24, Q25, Q26 and Q27.

Hairs: A single light brown limb hair of Caucasian origin was found in the body bag of Kelly Benson Q1. A single damaged light brown pubic hair fragment of Caucasian origin was also found in this body bag, which is dissimilar in microscopic characteristics to specimen K4 and accordingly did not originate from Linda Benson.

No foreign hairs were found in specimen Q5.

A single medium brown pubic hair measuring 4.1cm in length found on the right hand of Linda Benson, at the time of autopsy, matches specimen K4.

A single medium brown pubic or trunk hair fragment measuring 3.8cm in length and of Caucasian origin found on specimen Q25 is dissimilar in microscopic characteristics to specimen K4 and accordingly did not originate from Linda Benson.

Specimen K1 consists of numerous light brown head hairs of Caucasian origin measuring from 5.0cm to 14cm in length. Head hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K1 were found on or in specimens Q8, Q17, and Q24 and accordingly could have come from Kelly Benson.

Specimen K3 consists of numerous light, medium and dark brown head hairs some of which exhibit a reddish tint. These hairs are of Caucasian origin and measure from 7.7cm to 20.5cm in length. Head hairs exhibitng the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K3 were found on specimen Q17 and accordingly could have originated from Linda Benson.

Specimen K4 consists of numerous light to medium brown pubic hairs of Caucasian origin measuring 3.8cm to 5.7cm in length. Pubic hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K4 were found on or in specimens Q5, Q6, Q7, Q12, and Q26 and accordingly could have come from Linda Benson.

Specimen K5 consists of several light to medium brown head hairs of Caucasian origin measuring 4cm to 12cm in length. Head hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K5 were found on or in specimens Q6, Q17, Q24 and Q26 and accordingly could have originated from [redacted] It is pointed out that a single medium brown head hair of Caucasian origin measuring 13¼ inches in length and two (2) small head hair fragments found on specimen Q18 exhibit minor dissimilarities to specimen K5, however; these dissimilarities are not sufficiently great to eliminate [redacted] as a possible source of these hairs.

Hairs possessing microscopic characteristics consistant with cat hairs were found on or in specimens K2, Q5, Q6, Q12, Q15, Q16, Q17, Q20, Q23, Q24, Q26 and Q27.

No hairs were found on or in specimens Q2, Q3, Q4, Q10, Q11, Q13, Q14, Q21 and Q22.

A single blue woolen fiber was found in specimen Q14.

A 6cm long tuft of purple cotton fibers, a tuft of red, delustered, non-striated synthetic fibers, a tuft of blue cotton fibers, a tuft of white cotton fibers and a tuft of light blue cotton fibers were removed, in the laboratory, from specimen Q15.

A single tuft of orange cotton fibers found on specimen Q16 matches the fibers in the composition of specimen Q12. A blue woolen fiber, a purple cotton fiber and a few blue cotton fibers were also found on specimen Q16.

Five (5) bright purple yarns (two strands "S" twist) composed of cotton fibers were found on specimen Q17.

Specimen Q19 is a red cotton thread constructed of three plys or strands each having an "S" twist all twisted together in a "Z" twist.

A yellow cotton fiber, a red striated lustrous synthetic fiber, several white woolen fibers were found on specimen Q20. A white synthetic fiber, a yellow lustrous striated synthetic fiber, a red cotton fiber and an orange cotton fiber were found on specimen Q25. The orange cotton fiber matched the fibers in the fibers in the composition of specimen Q12.

The numerous orange cotton fibers found on specimens Q26 and Q27 match the orange cotton fibers composing specimen Q12.

A pink yarn measuring 7 3/4 inches long and a pink yarn measuring 4 3/8 inches long both composed of cotton ribers and both having a "Z" twist were removed, in the laboratory, from specimens Q27 along with a 2cm long white cotton yarn.

Miscellaneous:

A single cut hole measuring 1.2cm in length was found in the approximate center of the specimen Q26 sheet. This cut hole is located approximately 27 inches from the corner of the sheet (opposite the label). This hole is approximately 24 inches from the long side and 15 inches from the elastic side. All measurements were taken from the simulated corner of a mattress allowing for a portion of the fitted sheet to fit over a mattress corner. This was done in an effort to locate the cut hole in relationship to a mattress or bed.

Plant type fibers, other than cotton, were found on specimen Q17.

The hairs, hair fragments, textile fibers and debris removed from the submitted items have been placed in round plastic boxes or mounted on 52 glass microscopic slides.

The results of the serological (blood) examinations on possible blood stains found on specimens K2, Q2, Q3, Q4, Q9, Q12, Q16, Q24, Q25, Q26, and Q27 will be reported separately by the Denver CBI Laboratory.

Hairs:

A single light brown limb hair of Caucasian origin was found in the body bag of Kelly Benson Q1. A single damaged light brown pubic hair fragment of Caucasian origin was also found in this body bag which is dissimilar in microscopic characteristics to specimen K4 and accordingly did not originate from Linda Benson.

No foreign hairs were found in specimens Q5.

A single medium brown pubic hair measuring 4.1cm in length found on the right hand of Linda Benson at the time of autopsy, matches specimen K4.

A single medium brown pubic or trunk hair fragment measuring 3.8cm in length and of Caucasian origin found on specimen Q25 is dissimilar in microscopic characteristics to specimen K4 and accordingly did not originate from Linda Benson.

Specimens K1 consists of numerous light brown head hairs of Caucasian origin measuring from 5.0cm to 14cm in length. Head hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K1 were found on or in specimens Q8, Q17 and Q24 and accordingly could have come from Kelly Benson.

Specimen K3 consists of numerous light, medium and dark brown head hairs some of which exhibits a reddish tint. These hairs are of Caucasian origin and measure from 7.7cm to 20.5cm in length. Head hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K3 were found on specimen Q17 and according could have originated from Linda Benson.

Specimen K4 consists of numerous light to medium brown pubic hairs of Caucasian origin measuring 3.8cm to 5.7cm in length. Pubic hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K4 were found on or in specimens Q5, Q6, Q7, Q12 and Q26 and accordingly could have come from Linda Benson

Specimen K5 consists of several light to medium brown head hairs of Caucasian origin measuring 4 cm to 12 cm in length. Head hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K5 were found on or in specimens Q6, Q17, Q24 and Q26 and accordingly could have originated from [redacted] It is pointed out that a single medium brown head hair of Caucasian origin measuring 13 1/4 inches in length, and two (2) small head hair fragments found on specimen Q18 exhibit minor dissimilarities to specimen K5; however, these dissimilarities are not sufficiently great to eliminate [redacted] as a possible source of these hairs.

Hairs possessing microscopic characteristics consistent with cat hairs were found on or in specimens K2, Q5, Q6, Q12, Q15, Q16, Q17, Q20, Q23, Q24, Q26 and Q27.

No hairs were found on or in specimens Q2, Q3, Q4, Q10, Q11, Q13, Q14, Q21 and Q22

Fibers:

Two (2) white cotton fibers were found in specimen Q1.

Three (3) blue cotton fibers, a single purple cotton fiber and a single blue, striated, synthetic fiber were found in specimen Q10.

A few blue cotton fibers and a single dark blue synthetic fiber were found in specimen Q11.

Three (3) tufts of a blend of both light blue and dark blue cotton fibers, a tuft of dark blue cotton fibers and a few blue delustered, non-striated synthetic fibers, a tuft of yellow cotton fibers, a tuft of green cotton fibers, four (4) tufts of orange cotton fibers were removed, in the laboratory, from specimen Q12. The orange fibers mentioned above match the orange fibers in the composition of specimen Q12.

A single 1cm long, white, single ply, cotton yarn with a "Z" twist (counterclockwise); a single yellow thread composed of yellow cotton and yellow semi-delustered, non-striated synthetic fibers constructed of two strands ("Z" twist) twisted together in an "S" (clockwise) twist; four (4) bright purple threads (cotton) constructed of two strands ("Z" twist) twisted together in an "S" twist and a tuft of bright purple cotton fibers were also removed from specimen Q12.

A single blue woolen fiber was found in specimen Q14.

A 6cm long tuft of purple cotton fibers, a tuft of red, delustered, non-striated synthetic fibers, a tuft of blue cotton fibers, a tuft of white cotton fibers and a tuft of light blue cotton fibers were removed, in the laboratory, from specimen Q15.

A single tuft of orange cotton fibers found on specimen Q16 matches the fibers in the composition of specimen Q12. A blue woolen fiber, a purple cotton fiber and a few blue cotton fibers were also found on specimen Q16.

Five (5) bright purple yarns (two strands "S" twist) composed of cotton fibers were found on specimen Q17.

Specimen Q19 is a red cotton thread constructed of three plys or strands each having an "S" twist all twisted together in a "Z" twist.

A yellow cotton fiber, a red striated, lustrous synthetic fiber, several white woolen fibers, were found on specimens Q20. A white synthetic fiber, a yellow lustrous, striated synthetic fiber, a red cotton fiber and an orange cotton fiber were found on specimens Q25. The orange cotton fiber matched the fibers in the composition of specimen Q12.

The numerous orange cotton fibers found on specimens Q26, and Q27 match the orange cotton fibers composing specimen Q12.

A pink yarn measuring $7\frac{3}{4}$ inches long and a pink yarn measuring $4\frac{3}{8}$ inches long both composed of cotton fibers and both having a "Z" twist were removed in the laboratory from specimen Q27, along with a 2cm long white cotton yarn.

No textile fibers suitable for significant comparison purposes were found on specimens K2, Q2, Q3, Q4, Q5, Q6, Q7, Q8, Q13, Q18, Q21, Q22, Q23 and Q24.

Miscellaneous

A single cut hole measuring 1.2 cm in length was found in the approximate center of the specimen Q26 sheet. This cut hole is located approximately 27 inches from the corner of the sheet (opposit the label). This hole is approximately 24 inches from the long side and 15 inches from the elastic side. All measurements were taken from the simulated corner of a matress's sp. allowing for a portion of the ted sheet to fit over a matress, corner. This was done in an effort to locate the cut hole in relationship to a matress or bed.

Plant type fibers other than cotton, were found on specimen Q17.

The hairs, hair fragments, textile fibers and debris removed from the submitted items have been placed in round plastic boxes or mounted on 52 glass microscopic slides.

The results of the serological (blood) examinations on possible blood stains found on specimens K_2, Q_2, Q_3, Q_4, Q_9, Q_{12}, Q_{16}, Q_{24}, Q_{25}, Q_{26} and Q_{27} will be reported separately by the Denver CBI Laboratory.

REQUESTING AGENCY Grand Junction Police Department PAGE Three

DATE COMPLETED 7-31-75 CBI LAB CASE No. 75-0169M

RESULTS OF EXAMINATIONS:

Semen: No seminal stains were found on specimens K2, Q12, Q15, Q16, Q17, Q18, Q20, Q21, Q22, Q23, Q24, Q25, Q26 and Q27.

Hairs: A single light brown limb hair of Caucasian origin was found in the body bag of Kelly Benson Q1. A single damaged light brown pubic hair fragment of Caucasian origin was also found in this body bag, which is dissimilar in microscopic characteristics to specimen K4 and accordingly did not originate from Linda Benson.

No foreign hairs were found in specimen Q5.

A single medium brown pubic hair measuring 4.1cm in length found on the right hand of Linda Benson, at the time of autopsy, matches specimen K4.

A single medium brown pubic or trunk hair fragment measuring 3.8cm in length and of Caucasian origin found on specimen Q25 is dissimilar in microscopic characteristics to specimen K4 and accordingly did not originate from Linda Benson.

Specimen K1 consists of numerous light brown head hairs of Caucasian origin measuring from 5.0cm to 14cm in length. Head hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K1 were found on or in specimens Q8, Q17, and Q24 and accordingly could have come from Kelly Benson.

Specimen K3 consists of numerous light, medium and dark brown head hairs some of which exhibits a reddish tint. These hairs are of Caucasian origin and measure from 7.7cm to 20.5cm in length. Head hairs exhibitng the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K3 were found on specimen Q17 and accordingly could have originated from Linda Benson.

Specimen K4 consists of numerous light to medium brown pubic hairs of Caucasian origin measuring 3.8cm to 5.7cm in length. Pubic hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K4 were found on or in specimens Q5, Q6, Q7, Q12, and Q26 and accordingly could have come from Linda Benson.

DATE COMPLETED 7-31-75 CBI LAB CASE No. 75-0169M

Specimen K5 consists of several light to medium brown head hairs of Caucasian origin measuring 4cm to 12cm in length. Head hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K5 were found on or in specimens Q6, Q17, Q24 and Q26 and accordingly could have originated from [redacted]. It is pointed out that a single medium brown head hair of Caucasian origin measuring 13¼ inches in length and two (2) small head hair fragments found on specimen Q18 exhibit minor dissimilarities to specimen K5, however; these dissimilarities are not sufficiently great to eliminate [redacted] as a possible source of these hairs.

Hairs possessing microscopic characteristics consistant with cat hairs were found on or in specimens K2, Q5, Q6, Q12, Q15, Q16, Q17, Q20, Q23, Q24, Q26 and Q27.

No hairs were found on or in specimens Q2, Q3, Q4, Q10, Q11, Q13, Q14, Q21 and Q22.

Fibers:

Two (2) white cotton fibers were found in specimen Q1.

Three (3) blue cotton fibers, a single purple cotton fiber and a single blue, striated, synthetic fiber were found in specimen Q10.

A few blue cotton fibers and a single dark blue synthetic fiber were found in specimen Q11.

Three (3) tufts of a blend of both light blue and dark blue cotton fibers, a tuft of dark blue cotton fibers and a few blue delustered, non-striated synthetic fibers, a tuft of yellow cotton fibers, a tuft of green cotton fibers, four (4) tufts of orange cotton fibers were removed, in the laboratory, from specimen Q12. The orange fibers mentioned above match the orange fibers in the composition of specimen Q12.

A single 1cm long white, single ply, cotton yarn, with a "Z" twist (counterclockwise); a single yellow thread composed of yellow cotton and yellow semi-delustered, non-striated synthetic fibers constructed of two strands ("Z" twist) twisted together in an "S" (clockwise) twist; four (4) bright purple threads (cotton) constructed of two strands ("Z"twist) twisted together in an "S" twist and a tuft of bright purple cotton fibers were also removed from specimen Q12.

A 6cm long tuft of purple cotton fibers, a tuft of red, delustered, non-striated synthetic fibers, a tuft of blue cotton fibers, a tuft of white cotton fibers and a tuft of light blue cotton fibers were removed, in the laboratory, from specimen Q15.

A single tuft of orange cotton fibers found on specimen Q16 matches the fibers in the composition of specimen Q12. A blue woolen fiber, a purple cotton fiber and a few blue cotton fibers were also found on specimen Q16.

Five (5) bright purple yarns (two strands "S" twist) composed of cotton fibers were found on specimen Q17.

Specimen Q19 is a red cotton thread constructed of three plys or strands each having an "S" twist all twisted together in a "Z" twist.

A yellow cotton fiber, a red striated lustrous synthetic fiber, several white woolen fibers were found on specimen Q20. Miscellaneous:

A single cut hole measuring 1.2cm in length was found in the approximate center of the specimen Q26 sheet. This cut hole is located approximately 27 inches from the corner of the sheet (opposite the label). This hole is approximately 24 inches from the long side and 15 inches from the elastic side. All measurements were taken from the simulated corner of a mattress allowing for a portion of the fitted sheet to fit over a mattress corner. This was done in an effort to locate the cut hole in relationship to a mattress or bed.

Plant type fibers, other than cotton, were found on specimen Q17.

The hairs, hair fragments, textile fibers and debris removed from the submitted items have been placed in round plastic boxes or mounted on 52 glass microscopic slides.

The results of the serological (blood) examinations on possible blood stains found on specimens K2, Q2, Q3, Q4, Q9, Q12, Q16, Q24, Q25, Q26, and Q27 will be reported separately by the Denver CBI Laboratory.

#Q2 and #Q5	Chemical and serological examinations of these exhibits indicated the presence of human blood located in the handle groove which holds the blade. The blood group type was not able to be determined due to the insufficient amount of the sample.
#Q4, #Q7, #Q9, #Q12, #Q13, and #Q15	Examination of these samples was not possible due to the insufficient quantity or the condition of the sample.
#Q6, #Q11, and #Q14	Chemical and serological examination of these exhibits indicated the presence of type "A" human blood.
#Q10	Chemical examination of a few dilute spots on the cloth indicated the presence of blood, but there was insufficient sample for further analysis. Autopsy reveals mother, girl died of stab wounds

By SUZANNE SINCLAIR
Sentinel Staff Writer

Autopsies performed Saturday on the bodies of Mrs. Linda Benson, 24, and her daughter Kelley, 5, revealed both died of multiple stab wounds in what police now bill as a double murder.

The victims were found Friday night in their home at Chateau Apartments, 1300 N. 21st, by Steven Benson, the dead woman's husband.

According to Mesa County Coroner Dr. William Doell, preliminary tests indicate the homicides occurred sometime between midnight Thursday and 6 a.m. Friday.

He said further clinical tests will pinpoint the deaths within a two-hour period.

Meantime the search continues for the murderer and currently there are no suspects, according to Capt. Robert Burnett.

Two standard kitchen knives discovered by officers in the kitchen sink are being tested and could "possibly" be the weapons used on the victims, he said.

Burnett said both bodies received eight stab wounds in the chest.

About 50 people, including relatives, surrounding neighbors, friends and associates have been interviewed by police since Friday.

As far as suspects though "we're not ruling anyone out at this point," Burnett said.

"We've got a hell of a lot of clues, but we don't know whether they are good, bad and what to dispel as useless," he said.

The deaths represent the first murders reported to police this year. Burnett said work sessions will be held to "piece together and eliminate" evidence and information officers have gathered so far.

The deaths were reported to police at 8:15 p.m. Friday by Mrs. Maureen Grant, an upstairs neighbor, after Benson, 27, discovered the bodies.

Police Officer James Birdsill said Benson apparently entered the second story apartment through a balcony door and found his wife's nude body lying at the foot of the bed in the master bedroom. Her daughter, clad in panties, was on the floor of a connecting bathroom.

The resident managers of the Chateau apartments and next-door neighbors of the Benson's, Mr. and Mrs. Monty Wilson, said they last saw Mrs. Benson outside the building at 9 p.m. Thursday.

They said they heard nothing unusual during the night.

Mrs. Wilson said Benson left July 20 for Hayden where he works as a pipefitter. According to Burnett, Benson left Hayden Friday for Grand Junction and received a ride about 4 p.m. from a coworker.

According to John Eddy, business representative of the Plumbers and Steamfitters Local No. 145, Benson is employed by Stearns Roger Inc., a Denver outfit constructing the Hayden Power Plant.

Benson told police Friday night he didn't have a key to get in the apartment and was forced to climb over the balcony.

Once inside he found the curtains closed and only one light on, in the master bedroom.

According to Mrs. Benson's 16-year-old sister Tammy Himmerite, of 1606 Juniper Ct., Mrs. Grant was visiting with the woman until 9:30 p.m. Thursday.

She said Mrs. Grant, who lives on the third floor above the Benson's apartment, had spent a number of nights watching Tv with Mrs. Benson until it went off the air.

But for some reason she left early Thursday night. Miss Himmerite said she planned on visiting her sister that night also, but decided not to.

She said police told Mrs. Benson's family Saturday they have no suspects.

She added that Mrs. Benson was happily married.

Doell explained the confusion Friday night over the cause of death was the result of gaping wounds on the victims' bodies which first resembled gunshot wounds.

He said tests would be performed correlating the heat cycle in Grand Junction Friday and resulting heat loss occurring in the bodies from the time of death. An apartment cooling system was not in use at the time of death.

The bodies were taken from the apartment at 2 a.m. Saturday by the Callahan-Edfast Mortuary and transported to the Montrose Memorial Hospital morgue. The morgue serves as part of the state forensic crime lab.

The autopsies held Saturday afternoon were performed by Dr. Tom Canfield, a forensic pathologist who works for the Colorado Bureau of Investigation. Canfield was called in to investigate the murder scene Friday night.

Representatives from the police, Doell, his assistant Dr. William Rogers, Nelson Jennett of the CBI and Mesa County Assistant Prosecutor James R. Alvillar stood by as observers.

Mrs. Benson was born Nov. 11, 1950, in North Platte, Neb. where she spent her childhood prior to moving to Grand Junction in 1961.

She was graduated from Grand Junction High School in 1969 and has been married for the past four years.

According to Miss Himmerite, Mrs. Benson was gifted in handi-crafts and "loved all nature."

Her daughter Kelley was born Jan. 15, 1970, in Grand Junction and for the past year attended Patterson Preschool.

In addition to Mrs. Benson's husband, they are survived by Mrs. Benson's mother, Mrs. Barbara Himmerite, of Grand Junction; her sister Tammy Himmerite; and two brothers, Mark and Danny Himmerite.

Mrs. Benson was preceded in death by her father, who died in 1951 and a sister, Judy Ketchum, who died in 1974.

Murder probe elaborate process

By DON FREDERICK
Sentinel Staff Writer

The initial stages of the murder investigation into the deaths of a Grand Junction woman and her young daughter proved to be a complicated, elaborate, and time-consuming process, which from its start Friday night continued long into Saturday morning.

The scene of the investigation – the Chateau apartments at 1300 N. 21st – involved as many as 12 Grand Junction policemen, masses of equipment, and lengthy periods of waiting as each step in the procedure was completed.

It was around 8:15 p.m. that the police department was first informed that the bodies of Linda Benson, 24, and her daughter Kelley, 5, had been discovered in their apartment by Mrs. Benson's husband, Steve. Within minutes, four patrolmen had arrived, sealing off the apartment and conducting a quick search of the premises.

Soon the higher ranking police officers began arriving and from this point, according to police Capt. Robert Burnet, a carefully followed procedure was set in motion.

The first order of business, Burnet later told newsmen, was to establish "a man in charge" – in this case, Sgt. Fred Albrecht. For the rest of the night, everyone, including Burnet, who is head of the department while Chief Ben Meyers is on vacation, took their basic orders from Albrecht.

The 38-year-old Albrecht is one of the newest members of the force, in fact, his appointment had just been announced Thursday.

But he's not new to murder investigations. A 16-year veteran to the San Bernardino, Calif., police force, he told a newsman it was not unusual for him to handle 30 to 40 homocide cases a year in the West Coast city.

And Albrecht took firm command of what appears to be the first Grand Junction murder since 1973. At his direction policeman Larry Hall began photographing the Bensons' second-story residence and the locations of the bodies, the terrace in front of the apartment building was cordoned off and searched, and other officers fanned out to interview neighbors, friends, and relatives of the victims.

Anyone, even policemen, wanting to enter the Benson apartment had to first get clearance from Albrecht to insure that the scene would not be substantially disturbed by untrained intruders. Later in the evening, when the bodies were about to be removed, Albrecht was heard warning two mortician employes, "Keep your hands in your pocket and watch where you step."

At about 9:30 p.m., Mesa County Asst. Coroner William Rogers, also new to his job, arrived. Rogers soon decided a specialist in homocide cases was needed and called in a forensic pathologist from Montrose.

This necessitated a long delay and continued the confusion about the cause of the victims' death. At first a shooting was suspected, but by midnight, after the Montrose pathologist had arrived, police believed Mrs. Benson and her daughter had been stabbed.

An autopsy held in Montrose Saturday officially determined that the victims died of stab wounds.

By 2 a.m. Saturday the medical examiners had finished their first investigation and the bodies had been removed, but the policeman's work was hardly half done.

Using equipment from the police-sheriff mobile van, the police began checking for fingerprints, vacuuming the apartment for possible clues, and tagging certain items that may be needed as evidence.

When this task was completed, Hall was called in again to photograph the tagged items and video tape the entire apartment. Brunet said this tape would be used to spur "brainstorming sessions" among policemen as the investigation proceeds.

According to Burnet, after Hall had finished, the tagged items were then taken to the police station for safe keeping. With Saturday's dawn fast approaching, a long day's work for a number of the officers had finally ended.

RESULTS OF EXAMINATIONS:

Semen: No seminal stains were found on specimens K2, Q12, Q15, Q16, Q17, Q18, Q20, Q21, Q22, Q23, Q24, Q25, Q26 and Q27.

Hairs: A single light brown limb hair of Caucasian origin was found in the body bag of Kelly Benson Q1. A single damaged light brown pubic hair fragment of Caucasian origin was also found in this body bag, which is dissimilar in microscopic characteristics to specimen K4 and accordingly did not originate from Linda Benson.

No foreign hairs were found in specimen Q5.

A single medium brown pubic hair measuring 4.1cm in length found on the right hand of Linda Benson, at the time of autopsy, matches specimen K4.

A single medium brown pubic or trunk hair fragment measuring 3.8cm in length and of Caucasian origin found on specimen Q25 is dissimilar in microscopic characteristics to specimen K4 and accordingly did not originate from Linda Benson.

Specimen K1 consists of numerous light brown head hairs of Caucasian origin measuring from 5.0cm to 14cm in length. Head hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K1 were found on or in specimens Q8, Q17, and Q24 and accordingly could have come from Kelly Benson.

Specimen K3 consists of numerous light, medium and dark brown head hairs some of which exhibits a reddish tint. These hairs are of Caucasian origin and measure from 7.7cm to 20.5cm in length. Head hairs exhibitng the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K3 were found on specimen Q17 and accordingly could have originated from Linda Benson.

Specimen K4 consists of numerous light to medium brown pubic hairs of Caucasian origin measuring 3.8cm to 5.7cm in length. Pubic hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K4 were found on or in specimens Q5, Q6, Q7, Q12, and Q26 and accordingly could have come from Linda Benson.

Specimen K5 consists of several light to medium brown head hairs of Caucasian origin measuring 4cm to 12cm in length. Head hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K5 were found on or in specimens Q6, Q17, Q24 and Q26 and accordingly could have originated from [redacted]. It is pointed out that a single medium brown head hair of Caucasian origin measuring 13¼ inches in length and two (2) small head hair fragments found on specimen Q18 exhibit minor dissimilarities to specimen K5, however; these dissimilarities are not sufficiently great to eliminate [redacted] as a possible source of these hairs.

Hairs possessing microscopic characteristics consistant with cat hairs were found on or in specimens K2, Q5, Q6, Q12, Q15, Q16, Q17, Q20, Q23, Q24, Q26 and Q27.

No hairs were found on or in specimens Q2, Q3, Q4, Q10, Q11, Q13, Q14, Q21 and Q22.

Fibers:

Two (2) white cotton fibers were found in specimen Q1.

Three (3) blue cotton fibers, a single purple cotton fiber and a single blue, striated, synthetic fiber were found in specimen Q10.

A few blue cotton fibers and a single dark blue synthetic fiber were found in specimen Q11.

Three (3) tufts of a blend of both light blue and dark blue cotton fibers, a tuft of dark blue cotton fibers and a few blue delustered, non-striated synthetic fibers, a tuft of yellow cotton fibers, a tuft of green cotton fibers, four (4) tufts of orange cotton fibers were removed, in the laboratory, from specimen Q12. The orange fibers mentioned above match the orange fibers in the composition of specimen Q12.

A single 1cm long white, single ply, cotton yarn, with a "Z" twist (counterclockwise); a single yellow thread composed of yellow cotton and yellow semi-delustered, non-striated synthetic fibers constructed of two strands ("Z" twist) twisted together in an "S" (clockwise) twist; four (4) bright purple threads (cotton) constructed of two strands ("Z"twist) twisted together in an "S" twist and a tuft of bright purple cotton fibers were also removed from specimen Q12.

A single tuft of orange cotton fibers found on specimen Q16 matches the fibers in the composition of specimen Q12. A blue woolen fiber, a purple cotton fiber and a few blue cotton fibers were also found on specimen Q16.

Five (5) bright purple yarns (two strands "S" twist) composed of cotton fibers were found on specimen Q17.

Specimen Q19 is a red cotton thread constructed of three plys or strands each having an "S" twist all twisted together in a "Z" twist.

A yellow cotton fiber, a red striated lustrous synthetic fiber, several white woolen fibers were found on specimen Q20. A white synthetic fiber, a yellow lustrous striated synthetic fiber, a red cotton fiber and an orange cotton fiber were found on specimen Q25. The orange cotton fiber matched the fibers in the fibers in the composition of specimen Q12.

The numerous orange cotton fibers found on specimens Q26 and Q27 match the orange cotton fibers composing specimen Q12.

A pink yarn measuring 7 3/4 inches long and a pink yarn measuring 4 3/8 inches long both composed of cotton ribers and both having a "Z" twist were removed, in the laboratory, from specimens Q27 along with a 2cm long white cotton yarn.

Miscellaneous:

A single cut hole measuring 1.2cm in length was found in the approximate center of the specimen Q26 sheet. This cut hole is located approximately 27 inches from the corner of the sheet (opposite the label). This hole is approximately 24 inches from the long side and 15 inches from the elastic side. All measurements were taken from the simulated corner of a mattress allowing for a portion of the fitted sheet to fit over a mattress corner. This was done in an effort to locate the cut hole in relationship to a mattress or bed.

Plant type fibers, other than cotton, were found on specimen Q17.

The hairs, hair fragments, textile fibers and debris removed from the submitted items have been placed in round plastic boxes or mounted on 52 glass microscopic slides.

The results of the serological (blood) examinations on possible blood stains found on specimens K2, Q2, Q3, Q4, Q9, Q12, Q16, Q24, Q25, Q26, and Q27 will be reported separately by the Denver CBI Laboratory.

On 7-26-75 at 0209 Detective Richardson, Lab Technician Hall and myself entered the apartment numbered 211 at 1300 N. 21st Street, to conduct a systematic crime search and investigation of that apartment. Our purpose was to also remove and properly tag evidence from that apartment that might aid in the death investigation being conducted. The first area I searched was the hallway leading from the main entrance way to the living room. No items were removed from that area at that time.

At 0215 a closet behind the entrance way doorway was opened and searched. The closet is on the East side of the entrance hallway, contains one clothes rack, and one shelf. On the clothes rack were 12 assorted coats and sweaters all of which were hung on separate hangers. There were no bare hangers on the coat rack with the exception hanging on the far South side. On the top shelf of the closet were two one gallon cans of Coleman gasoline, one bag of sugar, approximately 10 pounds, one brown paper sack and one cardboard box. On the floor of the closet was an ironing board, a vacuum, a welding hat and a brown paper bag that contained other empty brown paper bags. Closet was thoroughly searched and nothing was removed at 0231 the door to the closet was closed. At 0233, a fishing pole was examined in the corner outside the closet door on the North side of the door, however, that item was not taken into

Reporting Agent: Audrey Simkins Personnel # 9427

Request Number: 2009000241 2

Request Instructions:

Request to contact the DOC facilities in the following states UT, CT, KS, and WA regarding Jerry Nemnich DOB/110144.

I was also requested to contact Tom Kolle with DOC to determine the best way to obtain the DOC records on Jerry Nemnich.

Action Taken :

I reached out to the above listed DOC facilities and found no records regarding Nemnich.

I also contacted Tom Kolle. He originally wanted me to drive to Colorado Springs to pick up the files and then drive them to Pueblo to be converted to the CD. However, they then determined they would take care of the transporting of the files as long as we could come to their office to view the records. He will call me when the records are ready to be reviewed.

Follow-up will continue in this case.

A conference call was held this date.

Action Taken :

They discussed what everyone had done so far. Greg and Chris went and did some surveillance of the 219 Terry Address as well as the 345 Hover address. Those were forwarded electronically and via mail. We determined we will wait on ViCAP for now and will not contact Denver regarding their 1977 case or the 1973 case in which Nemnich is a suspect. Work regarding the silver Sirocco has been done via DMV and additional information will be following.

Work continues on this case.

I began doing additional research regarding DMV and [redacted] and Jerry Nemnich.

I read through all the reports available so far to include Boulder County, Pueblo PD, Idaho Springs PD and Arapahoe County.

I obtained printed copies of all the fingerprints on file and began searching for employment records.

Action Taken :

I learned [redacted] had a 1976 Buick CP and a [redacted] address. In addition, Jerry had a DL R521946 that has since expired and was also registered on a 1991 Eagle Stuart which is similar to the Eagle Summit. The license plate is [redacted] This vehicle was registered along with a [redacted] lives at [redacted] in Lakewood, CO. We assume she is family as [redacted] Jerry's [redacted] also resided at that address. That being said this is all speculation until we interview/ arrest Nemnich and verify the information.

Obtained an off-line search from both NCIC and NLETS in addition began looking for marriage records from WA, CT, UT, and NE.

Also completed backgrounds on [redacted] with 000 found and [redacted]
Work continues in this case.

A conference call was held this date. It was requested a name file be created. Chris Wolf will work on this however, I need to provide her with the names I find.

A conference call was also held on 021909 at 9 am.
A request was made to use the same case number and forward these reports to Sean when they have been signed off by the AIC along with any corresponding notes to be used later in court. They do not want to have a discovery issue once this case is in court. They want to be careful with any internet searches conducted they do not want Nemnich to be notified. Chris and Greg continue to work on more photos of the house. Longmont PD has not been advised of the situation at this time at the request of Grand Junction PD.

Action Taken :

I continue to forward these names to Chris Wolf. In addition, I have been working on the link charts based on the information I found from the reports I have read. Complete backgrounds have not be done at this time. I have only searched accurrint.

Conference call on this date at 9 am.
Information regarding [redacted] was first discussed. It was requested that we search more for [redacted]

Action Taken :

I contacted DMV regarding [redacted] with negative results. We also had a vehicle believed to be a 1973 Oldsmobile. Much time was spent on this with negative results. The plate had been recycled and all we new was the last registered address but that was also negative as was the name of [redacted] [redacted] and [redacted]. I later learned the last name was spelled incorrectly and the vehicle was actually a 1971 Baracuda.

I looked for [redacted] again with no luck. However, I did learn of a couple addresses in which [redacted] [redacted] and Nemnich lived from 1975 - 1977. One was 515 Perry Street the other was 637 S. Sherman.

The owner of 515 Perry Street are deceased but according to the female's father the couple always lived in the residence and did not rent it out. The owner was [redacted] The father I spoke with was [redacted]

Request Instructions:

A conference call was made this date. Grand Junction PD wanted to make sure I double check with Tom Kolle to be sure there are no other repositories that might have cell mate or visitor log information. I will double check when Chris Andrist and I go down to DOC. At this point and time Grand junction PD would like us to hold off on the soft surveillance and they will discuss it with us as we get closer to the arrest. Tony has talked with Jim Milne at the IRS and they cannot help us. I offered to talk with some other folks and they suggested I hold off. Jerry is adopted and his birth name was David Knight. His eratic behavior began when [redacted] was born 12 years later.

Action Taken :

Agent Andrist and I went to DOC on Thursday March 5 and spent the day. Then on Friday I made copies and began reviewing the records in order to update Grand Junction PD. Prior to that I worked on additional background information in regards to the off-line searches. Currently, I am updating the link charts as well as the background information on the subjects we learned of via the DOC files. In addition, we learned that DOC began purging records in the 1980's. That being said 10 years from the discharge date they begin destroying visitor logs and other inmate information. Tom Kolle said the only reason we got as much as we did from 1960 - 1974 was because it had already been converted to microfiche.

On this date a conference call was held from 10:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. They are considering making the arrest the week of April 13, 2009. This being said the soft surveillance will happen the week prior that being April 6, 2009. Longmont PD will have been advised by this time. The affidavit has been reviewed and they are making some small changes. They are looking for old victims that are still alive and willing to testify regarding Nemnich's behavior.

Action Taken :

Work continues as I find new names in the DOC files. I am also working to update Grand Junction PD with any new names I find and the pages I have marked as important within the DOC records. In addition we have determined it might be nice to see if there are any other records regarding a visitor log or cell mates at the DOC facilities.

Officers Report

Case #: 09-0044
Location: 221 Main St Melvern, KS 66510
Date/Time: 01-15-2009 / 01:05 AM Offense: Domestic Battery
Suspect/s: Pamela S. Dean Victim/s: John F. Lelle
Report by: S. E. Ralston #921

On January 15th, 2009 at approximately 1:14 AM I, Deputy Samuel Ralston arrived at the above location to investigate a domestic disturbance. Upon arrival I contacted a white male and white female in the front doorway of their home. Deputy Jacob Henry, Deputy Bryan Johnson, Kansas State Trooper Dax Lewis and I entered the home to begin the investigation.

I spoke to the victim, John Lelle and he told me his side of the story. He told me that he and Pamela Dean had gone to the bar in Melvern and had been drinking quite a bit. They came home with a friend, [redacted] and began drinking some more and playing music. Lelle told me that at some point after that, Dean became upset and started yelling because she did not like the music that was playing. He said that during their arguing, Dean took the money out of his pocket. Lelle told me that they argued a bit and he decided to go for a walk and cool off.

He came back about an hour later to find the front door locked. He told me that he pounded on the door, and it was finally opened. He came back inside and [redacted] gave him the money that Dean had previously taken. Lelle told me that there was sixty dollars missing and that he and Dean began to argue about it. They kept arguing and Lelle told [redacted] to leave. [redacted] said he wasn't leaving and Lelle told him to "get the fuck out." [redacted] left, and Lelle and Dean continued to argue. Lelle said that Dean pushed him into the computer desk along the south wall of the living room and threw the computer monitor at him. He said that he then threw the monitor back. I asked him if he was hit by the monitor or if he hit her with it and he said no. He said that she then came at him and he pushed her back. She grabbed his shirt and ripped it off of him. She then allegedly threw him into a plant stand that was in the living room and then bit him above his right breast. He told me that he had to put his left thumb in her mouth to pry her off of him. He then pushed her away from him and told her that she needed to call 911. She called us and we arrived approximately 7 minutes later.

Lelle had a bloody bite mark on his chest above his right breast. He also had a laceration below his right eye. There were scratch marks on both sides of his belly going vertically. Lelle told me that he did not want her to go to jail for what she had done, and that he would rather go to jail than have her get in trouble.

Deputy Henry interviewed Dean and he had a completely different account of the events. His narrative is included with his reports. My arrest was based on the information I gained from Lelle, the information that Deputy Henry provided and the physical marks I saw on Lelle.

I have nothing further at this time....

CRIMINAL ACTION NO. X-8730

PRESENTENCE REPORT

DEFENDANT: JERRY L. WENNICH OFFENSE: NO ACCOUNT C
STATUS: IN JAIL DATE OF OFFENSE: 5-23-
COUNSEL: HOCKENSMITH, APPOINTED DATE OF ARREST: 7-5-6
PLEA: GUILTY DATE OF PLEA: 7-24-64

PRESENT OFFENSE:

On or about the 23rd of May, 1964 the subject wrote and pa a no account check in the amount of $700.00. He passed said che at the Tribolet Auto Sales Co. as a down payment on a '62 Chevro At the time of writing and passing said check the subject well k the check to be of no account.

CIRCUMSTANCES CONTRIBUTING TO THE OFFENSE:

The defendant had absconded from Parole Supervision in Boul in April, 1964. He had asked for permission from his Parole Off to come to this area, he had been refused such permission but ca here regardless. He states that he came here to see friends and travel around a bit. In addition to the check charged here, he admits writing an additional check of no account for $20.00 in th
Delta area and also a similar check for $5.00 in this area.
He denies that he was drunk at the time of writing the checks.

JN-3888

This defendant was paroled from Canon City in October, 1963 to live with his parents in Boulder. He stayed there until April, '64 when he came to this area without permission and has lived in Delta and Mesa counties with friends. He has done some part time work and had jobs of short duration.

In addition to his two offenses reported in his criminal record, he admits the following:

Longmont	1958	Breaking and Ent.	Prob. 1 yr.
"	1959	Joy riding	Prob extend.
"	1959	Car theft	To Golden

[redacted] that at times he has had problems with drinking too much but that since January 1964 he has had no such problem.

SUMMARY AND RECOMMENDATIONS:

The attached reports give a rather complete picture of this person and his severe limitations and his tendency to commit violent crimes. It is surely not unexpected that he violated the conditions of his Parole. His release on parole is the questionable fact.

In light of the willingness of the Parole board to return this boy to society after a minimum incarceration, it is recommended that the sentence in this matter be in the maximum category. This is not the usual type of offender and his dangerous nature must be considered in this Court's present motion.

Re: 39206 Nemnich

Dear Mr. Griffin:

I fully recommend any consideration that you might give Nemnich on any good time. Nemnich has worked for me severall times since he h been in this Institution. He has performed well and has met all of working assignments in a very good way. This last hitch, he has be working a dual role here in the Print Shop and filling in with the Band. This man is a model Prisoner, but, his stays on the streets not what it should of been. This man is discharging from this Inst and is going to another state. I see where a few days good time mi set him on the right track to becoming a good citizen. He has the qualities that it takes to make a good citizen. Whether he will us them or not, time will tell.

Any consideration will be appreciated by me. This just might be th lift that he needs.

Review date: July, 1973

Jerry met the Parole Board on August 21, 1972. The decision of the Board is to defer until July, 1973.

Jerry came before the Board with the usual well-refined intellectualization of his conduct on parole. It has long been known that Jerry Nemnich is a dangerous and aggressive sex criminal. He showed the Board no evidence that he has dealt with this problem in any meaningful way. He continues to intellectualize and try to overwhelm the Parole Board with this kind of an approach. It means nothing and until such time as Nemnich is able to deal with his problem of sexual maladjustment as it is well defined throughout his total case history and until he can present some kind of assuran to the Parole Board that he has dealt with it, parole will continue to be denied.

As you are aware, Mr. Wyse has been ill and has been unable to return to work up to this time. We do expect him to return around the 1st of March.

Dear Mr. Wyse:

I understand that you have removed my name from Jerry Nemnich's correspondence list, after I have had the privilege of writing to him for many months now...the reason being that he no longer works on the interpreter, and therefore has no further reason to be in touch with me.

Jerry and I have known each other for a year now, and I consider myself more than a business associate at this point; in fact, I have always stated my relationship to him as 'friend' on the interview forms to be filled out before visiting an inmate.

Of course you know that recently Jerry was expecting to be transferred to Camp George West. This hope having dimmed, at least for the meantime, I feel that his spirits might be lifted somewhat if we could be allowed to continue correspondence. I certainly do not believe that the content of my letters has ever been of a harmful nature, or that our friendship is anything but beneficial to Jerry's well being.

Please reconsider your action—I await your reply anxiously.

Respectfully,

Thank you for your recent letter regarding the encounter session held at the prison involving [redacted] and the three inmates who are in the prison on rape charges.

At the present time Mr. Wamnich is eligible for parole on October 21, 1972. His case was reviewed by the commuts board in October of 1970 at which time there was no recommendation for clemency.

Your letter will be placed in his file and in the event he does appear before the board again, it will be made available to the board members.

Dear Warden Patterson:

This letter is in regards to the encounter session held at your penitentiary involving [redacted], three inmates of the prison whose crimes were rape, and the six of us listed below, in particular a few of the effects which seemed to have developed from it.

As you are probably quite cognizant of, rape seems to have an enigmatic aura about it, and to bring both victim and victimizer together in a situation where they must deal with the situation as it has happened (And, in those cases where it has not happened yet, in the future.) to them brings much of the problems centering around the crime to a head which can be examined and perhaps, in some way, alleviated.

From what information we can gather, this is the first type of encounter ever held in any prison setting. That it is the initial session prevents one from asserting any definite conclusions about its validity. For the time being, until more experimentation, more sessions of more varied personalities can be analysed, little is left but the "gut feelings" of those involved.

One of the reasons for this letter is to extend our appreciati to you for permitting what we feel has been an overwhelmingly successful learning experience: providing us with a great amount of insight and awareness as to the behavior and personalities of not only those who rape, but of those who are raped.

Because of the nature of encounter groups, those participating are by necessity involved intimately with others of the group; learning their past, how they felt, thought, and acted in different situations. This type of situation is heightened in the case of prisoners where they've had time (it seems) to delineate their behaviors previous to incarceration.

We learned during the course of the encounter that inmate Jerry Nemnich was at the time attempting to initiate the necessary procedures required for a re-evaluation in terms of a possible commute.

JN-608

During the course of the encounter group we found something quite surprising about Jerry: that before his last imprisonment he regarded women not only hostilly and without warmth or affection, but as objects of contempt and abuse. He observed that not only was he unable to carry on any meaningful relationship with women, but that he could not, even at the minimum, carry on a conversation with them. As you can no doubt surmise, this wasn't even close to the way he presented himself to us(One might, in fact, observe that he is almost too out-going, too congenial---to the extent of being disarming with his honesty!).

The point we think should be made here is that Jerry seems to be able to express whatever hostility he has or may have verbally, in a more socially acceptable way than he was able to previously. That he can do this, while at the same time be creative and instructive is an accomplishment perhaps a few of us should consider striving for.

All of this, then, is a round-a-bout way of saying to you that being in the encounter group provides us with the information we feel is adequate in order, as women, to support Jerry's review by the commute board. Knowing well that you must take into consideration many facets of his situation, and that you must include a great many considerations of wide and varied contingencies, we feel that perhaps our own feelings would in some way aid you in making a decision.

Again, allow us to extend our appreciation for being allowed to participate in the encounter session, and we sincerely hope that you will be able to continue the program on a much larger scale.

Respectfully,

Dear Dr. [redacted]:

Re: Jerry Louis Nemnich No. 39206

Thank you for your recent letter with reference to Mr. Nemnich.

Our records indicate Mr. Nemnich was received here on October 14, 1968 from Pueblo County to serve an indeterminate to 15 year sentence on conviction of assault with intent to commit rape. On September 29, 1969 this sentence was changed from indeterminate to 15 years to an 8 to 12 year sentence with credit for all time served to be applied to the sentence.

At the present time his parole eligibility date is October 22, 1972. Mr. Nemnich did appear before the commute board at their October 1970 meeting; however, at that time there was no recommendation made for a commutation of his sentence.

Your letter will be placed in his file for the use of the board in the event his case is considered by them at a later date.

Dear Mr. Patterson:

I have been asked by Mr. [redacted] to write to you to give such support as I can to a commutation request which (I understand) Mr. Jerry Nemnich is making, or has made. I know very little about the specifics of Mr. Nemnich's case, so I cannot speak to the merits of any proposal he may in fact present to the Commutation Board; but I can, ~~I believe~~, give support to the view that there is at least some reason to bring Mr. Nemnich's case before a review board for the purpose of evaluating the facts and reconsidering his sentence.

I should say that it is my understanding that the Commutation Board may recommend a reduction in convict's sentence when, in the judgment of those serving on this Board, this would be in the best interests of the public-at-large and the convict himself. If my understanding in this regard is basically correct, then the Board must operate on an assumption that the sentence a person is serving may not well represent the optimal time the person should serve--optimal in the sense that the person is most likely to make a satisfactory post-prison adjustment if he is released after serving this amount of time.

It is my understanding, also, that Mr. Nemnich is in the third year of an 18-20 year sentence for forcible rape, and that he was convicted on two previous occasions on this same charge. The purpose of my letter is not to argue that, in my professional judgment, this apparent prediliction for rape has been eliminated: I don't know this to be true, or false. Without reviewing the facts of the matter, I cannot have a sound opinion about this. My position is simply that I think there are some reasons for conducting a review of the facts.

JN-612

Warden Wayne K. Patterson
November 10, 1971

I have talked with Mr. Nemnich on several occasions. I have found him to be exceptionally well motivated to gain better understanding of himself, to improve himself in a variety of ways. I know he has worked to gain some insight into the conditions which lead men to rape or commit other crimes. As you know, the B.A.R.S. group, in which he has been particularly active, has as its reason for existence the study of the factors which lead persons to commit crimes. My impression is that Mr. Nemnich took this thrust toward rehabilitation very seriously. It is for this reason, then, that I think the Commutation Board might want to look to see if enough progress has been made to warrant reduction of Mr. Nemnich's sentence.

I have followed Mr. Nemnich's work with the Interpreter magazine rather closely and have read several of the articles he has written for this magazine. This kind of performance indicates to me that Mr. Nemnich is intellectually capable, and that he does, indeed, have considerable insight into at least some of the kinds of determinants of crime. It is my impression, too, that this kind of performance represents a clear step away from some of the problems which weighed on Mr. Nemnich in the past, a step in the direction of his becoming a better human being. Again, I would not want too much of diagnostic significance to be read into this statement, but it does seem to me to put the prima facia case for the contention that the Commutation Board should consider his case.

In general, then, although it must be recognized that I know very little about the conditions under which recommendations for Commutation Board hearings are made, I do call to your attention some facts which seem to be relevant for consideration in making such a recommendation.

I hope that this expression of opinion can be of some use to you.

Sincerely yours,

Canon City, Colorado

Dear Mr. Nemnich:

Your sentence to the Colorado State Penitentiary on charges of assault with intent to commit rape was reviewed by the Clemency Advisory Board October 6, 1970, and I have made an effort to review the facts of your offense, your adjustment in the institution, and something about your overall personal background.

Due to the nature of your offense and a rather repetitive conflict with society's laws during the past ten years, I do not feel that any executive clemency is warranted in your case.

You are to be commended for what you have done in the institution by earning your high school equivalency certificate, continuing on with the earning of several college credits, and your participation in the many self help groups, particularly being editor of the inmate magazine entitled The Interpreter. These facts all indicate that, if you apply the same efforts to live by society's laws when you are released, you can become a good productive citizen, and I would hope that this would be your last experience in a correctional institution.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. and Mrs. [redacted]

I have your letter of August 6, 1970 indicating your interest in the case of your [redacted] Jerry. Jerry has been doing real well since he has been in the institution and his work and behavior has been excellent. The problem with Jerry is his apparent propensity for committing sex offenses when he is released from institutional control.

There apparently is no treatment which has been proven successful in cases of Jerry's type. He has been diagnosed by psychiatrists as a [redacted] with [redacted]; also as having [redacted], [redacted]. Neither of the examining psychiatrists recommended any specific treatment.

I am sorry that I cannot offer you something more hopeful as I can understand your concern regarding Jerry. However, there is a possibility when he is again released that strong parole supervision might prevent any repetition of his previous acts.

He is in good health and there is no concern regarding his ability to function while he is in this institution.

Inmate's Version: "I was walking down a street in Pueblo, Colorado and decided to go into this house. I did not know the victim, she was there alone and I showed her that I had a knife and forced her to go in the bedroom and raped her and left. She did not resist and was not hurt. I was arrested about one hour later."

Other Information: S states he paroled to Glenwood Springs, Colorado and remained in that area until January 1968 and went to Boulder and was there until about May of 1968, then he went to Pueblo where he has been since. He never married, his parents are still living at the same address. He went to work as a bartender in Glenwood Springs for 3 months and in Boulder was employed in a liquor store. He was unemployed while in Pueblo. He was only there about 4 or 5 days before he was arrested on May 2, 1968 and has been in jail since Employment: S stated he was employed at the Village Inn Hotel in Glenwood Springs for 3 months as a bartender. He was here as #34349 to serve 1 day to life for assault to commit rape, the interluding numbers were merely for NAA check. It was hoped that his involvement in academic work here were that he might absorb himself and attain status through achievement would be motivation enough to divert his need to dominate women into subject mastery. Evidently it was not and so Jerry is back. His present grade placement is 15.2 with an IQ of 125, Otis Gamma.

S states that during his previous confinement he was in the Band and a Clerk in the School.

Special attention is called to the report of 1-13-69. In view of the nature of Ss sentence it appears that we should have some information in Ss jacket as to whether or not this matter is going to be reviewed by the Parole Board, and how this will take place. We would appreciate the Parole Department reviewing this case with us and giving us some ideas of their position regarding the Indeterminate sentence on this man, if such decision has been made.

Dear Mr. Patterson:

I am unable to furnish any information on Mr. Nemnich. Management has been constantly changing here in the past ten years. This, of course, causes a steady turnover in department heads and employees. Also, records of employment are very sketchy to none at all.

If you could furnish me with some dates, I might possibly be able to tell you who to contact regarding his employment.

Mr. Gordon Heggie

8 January 1973

Dear Mr. Heggie:

In August of 1972, I appeared before the Parole Board as an applicant for parole. Parole was not granted. Instead, I was given an 11-month deferral to the July, 1973, Board. Numerous reasons were cited as cause for this action, and although I cannot recall exact quotes from the decision, the common factor in each specific instance either related to or was underscored by my arrogant attitude toward the proceedings. The parole program I presented was neither practical nor appropriate; yet, at the time, I was convinced that it had to be that or nothing, my way or not at all. Similarly, I failed to communicate to the Board the very rea changes which have occurred in me during the past 4 years, mostly because I was so engrossed in playing my big shot role I never took time to discuss the realities of my position and current circumstances. Finally, I neglected to offer th Board any tangible evidence which would support my claim that I was ready for parole and that I would make it if parole was granted.

All things considered, if I had it to do over, I think I would do things differently which brings me to my reason for contacting you. I would very much like t have the setback I received amended so that I may meet the upcoming February Boa forjustify this request, I offer the following:

> I have come to realize that having my own way is less important than I thought. The past few months have been very painful, doubly so because the hurt was self-inflicted. Living with the consequences of my own stupidity was harder than doing the time, and seeing my friends outside going on with their lives while I was stuck in the same old place doing the same things really convinced me that it was time to re-evaluate things. Shortly thereafter, I got together with [redacted] and began attending his therapy group. I don't feel qualified to comment on the effect this has hhas had; however, [redacted] has indicated that he is well satisfied with my progress and that something significant has come of my participation. Beyond this, I have concluded that I owe it to myself to do whatever is necessary to get out and stay out. Translated into practical terms, I have determined that my first objective is to attain stability, even if it means spending two or three years working at job I dislike and staying away from controversial situations, particularly until I get out of the habit of being a convict. In short, I'm willing to accept whatever terms the Board deems appropriate, whether it be out-patient counseling at an institution such as Ft. Logan, work-release or whatever.

Having just re-read the preceding, I can't help feeling that you may think I'm intellectualizing and making things overly dramatic. You're probably correct. I've spent a lot of time writing this, too much, perhaps. But I'm trying to say please. I want to meet the Board because I feel I can offer a program that is both feasible and acceptable, and if I can do that, I think I'll get a parole. And that is something I want more than anything else.

If there is further information you need which I can get, please let me know. I'll do my best to get it to you. I hope you will be able to act favorably in my behalf, I thank you for your consideration, and I will await your reply.

Re: (Parole Deferral

Date of Hearing: August 21, 1972 Decision: Defer

Review date: July, 1973

Jerry met the Parole Board on August 21, 1972. The decision of the Board is to defer until July, 1973.

Jerry came before the Board with the usual well-refined intellectualization of his conduct on parole. It has long been known that Jerry Nemnich is a dangerous and aggressive sex criminal. He showed the Board no evidence that he has dealt with this problem in any meaningful way. He continues to intellectualize and try to overwhelm the Parole Board with this kind of an approach. It means nothing and until such time as Nemnich is able to deal with his problem of sexual maladjustment as it is well defined throughout his total case history and until he can present some kind of assuranc to the Parole Board that he has dealt with it, parole will continue to be denied.

PRE-PAROLE INVESTIGATION

RESIDENCE: As indicated in Parole Placement Information, Jerry will seek rented quarters convenient to his place of employment which should not be difficult. However, presently employment remains somewhat ambiguous. One residence not to be considered is that of [redacted] [redacted] (CSP 39315, P71-455) and [redacted].

EMPLOYMENT: [redacted] was contacted at his office, 1190 S. Colorado Boulevard, Suite 302, and advised this agent that presently he is unable to offer Jerry a job. [redacted] is in process of trying to obtain financial backing to start publication of a new magazine and u he receives this financial support, he is unable to make a commitment. If he does not rec made by [redacted] was he did sign his name to a telegram which spoke to the point of employment Gerry; however, the telegram was drafted by [redacted] [redacted] and Jerry have person ~~OTHER PERTINENT INFORMATION:~~ met on one occasion and [redacted] indicated to this agent that [redacted] was contacted at her residence, [redacted], and indicated she would able to assist Jerry in obtaining employment if this need be. According to [redacted], the assistance would come from her brother, [redacted], who presently works for a small constructio pany that hires non-union carpenters. It is strongly suggested that Jerry obtain written mation from [redacted] speaking to the point of employment; and the Parole Department an opportunity to verify this before a parole decision is made.

~~CASE EVALUATION~~ OTHER PERTINENT INFORMATION: The Parole Placement Information form note that Jerry claims to have one-fourth interest in the residence at [redacted] an according to [redacted], this is false as she is the sole owner. It was also reported that [redacted] [redacted] presently being supervised by Dist. II), was living at [redacted] [redacted]. However, this is not true as he is presently living in Adams County at [redacted] [redacted]. Jerry informed Parole Agent Curtis that [redacted] would place $250 in a Denver account for him; however, she advised this agent this is not possible, but she would aid h paying his rent for a couple of months. This agent left the interview with [redacted] with an opinion that the relationship between she and Jerry was more than a platonic one w is surprising in light of the fact that she and [redacted] have informed [redacted] parole that they intend to marry.

CASE EVALUATION: As previously stated under Employment, [redacted] is not able to offe employment at this time and, in fact, did not personally write the correspondence directed point. After investigating the information contained in the Parole Placement Information and finding discrepancies existing in Denver between what Jerry told Parole Agent Curtis a actually exists, it appears there is serious misunderstanding on Jerry's part, or he is tr fabricate information and believes parole personnel too dumb to check.

If Jerry is truly sincere in his vocational goal of entering the field of publishing, perh should have several months to pursue this occupation, while an inmate at Camp George West is a very difficult field to enter. [redacted] comment, "I can say that Vernie is as goo lovemaking on the part of this couple was a rape, consisting of no foreplay, only the act of copulation. Wham, Bam; thank you ma'am.

Rapist #3 (incidently a most attractive young man of 23) did not seem to have a clear idea of what motivated his criminally asaultive (rape-beating) sexual behavior.

The psychologist deftly moved in and out of the three people's heads with a couple of interesting devices. The first was asking them to chose the woman present who he would most like to rape and the one he would least like to rape. Rapist #1 chose [redacted] (housewife) as the most desireable victim because "she is the prettiest", and [redacted] as the least likely victim because he knew her well and since [illegible] person "she did not function well as a symbol". (Presumably of his mother.)

Rapist #2 chose [redacted] as the least likely victim because of her smallness and quietness and because he felt her sensibilities would be most easily wounded by it. He chose [redacted] as the most likely but he wasn't sure why.

Rapist #3 staunchly refused to participate in the exercise in spite of the psychologist's insistance and pressure which naturally produced a good deal of uncomfortableness within all of us. At this point we see #3's refusal as an attitude of defensiveness about the rape or else possibly a reaction formation attempting to convince himself out of the idea of rape.

[redacted] then turned to the women in the group and asked those who were not chose to be raped if they felt rejected, or [redacted] the notion that women secretly desire to be raped. That, of course got a healthy rise out of the women. [redacted] and [redacted] explained that if this was true it is a direct result of the role forced on women in this society. Women are taught to flirt and tease under the puritan ethic which demands that a woman be pure strenuously, saying it would make us lose time and it wasn't fair if we ate and the men didn't. Mysterious are the motivations of shrinks and [redacted] per insisted. In retrospect we conjecture that the session was becoming too intense too soon or that the break, against group wishes at that point would serve to solidify the group.

That was not the only disagreement between the psychologist and several of the women. [redacted] and [redacted] objected to the way he was handling the group; he dominated, asked the questions, chose the course of action and the subjects to be dealt with and in doing so completely controlled the direction and motion of the group. Specifically, [redacted] (who is by profession a therapist) and [redacted] and [redacted] who have handled encounter groups objected to his not dealing with the feelings of group members. Their contention, (and that of many transactional analysists) is that an individual has to be aware of their true feelings before they can explore and activate new modes of behavior.

Indeed, [redacted] did appear somewhat unconcerned with the emotional component of the crimes, understandably though, as prison psychologist he is charged with the responsiblity of altering radically anti-social behavior, and I'm sure he saw the session as an instrument of this. He seemed to see feelings as important only to the degree that understanding them can be useful in modifying behavior. It seems too, that with the limited amount of time avilable, the number of topics to be covered, a clear agenda and sense of direction was essential.

There are a number of popular misconceptions about rape that a session like this destroys forever. First, rapists are not sexually well adjusted Rapist #1 made a very serviceable distinction between two different kinds of rape. He calls one kind, the saturday night variety, the other he calls forceible criminal rape. Most women have been involved in the saturday night variety, in which a man and a woman approach some sexual level and she backs out. In this society every date heads this way because if a man takes a woman out to dinner and a show, she is expected to pay for the honor with her sexual services and he considers it an affront to his masculinity if she rejects him. So he has the choice of forcing his attentions on her or accepting the fact that she may like him but may not at that or any other point want to have intercourse with him. If she has sex with him against her will she is the victim of consentual rape. Sex without personal involvement is just as much rape.

All three men seem to have some antagonism against their mothers. Mothers of adolescent boys, since they don't have the physical means to discipline, frequently discipline through acceptance and rejection. Most rapists are victims of an approach-avoidance conflict; they need the acceptance of women very badly and when they don't get it they try to force it, which gets them more rejection (and often a prison term) when they need acceptance. A vicious circle for everybody involved.

Some personal reflections:

All the members of the group felt that the rape encounter session was a very enlightening experience. Most of the members felt that a one time shot at something like this is insufficient and incarcerating men does not readjust their modes of dealing with women.

We all recognized rape as a factor of a societal system which charges wo

JN-758

Personal reflections: ([redacted])

"I felt [redacted] commandeered the session, and we were not able to confront surface reaction like racist #3's continuous laughter throughout the session which I interpreted as a defense. Trust didn't develop until late in the session so much was not covered, therefore, more sessions are needed.

I'm not sure of the impact made on the participants, although a lot of misconceptions were cleared up. However, I do think we as a group, outside of Levy were trying to and did suceed in building a communication between people, to effect understanding of our attitudes toward the racists and their attitudes toward us. It left me with the feeling of possible hope for the three racists if the people they encounter in society are as sensitive and understanding as the people in the group, especially if they themselves develop into sensitive and understanding people. One of the most impressive things that happened was when [redacted] left the room at the end of the group and racist #2 was summing up his reflections on the session he stated that when he was a child he was the only one in the family constantly sent away to school and camp, therefore, frequently feeling rejection. At this point all defenses broke down and the feelings of rejection were made even more clear by the embracing of [redacted] and #2. At that point all members of the group formed a circle and stood for a moment feeling the impact of #2's statement.

Perhaps this is the point where we begin to deal with the question of rape."

Sir:

Some six weeks ago, I was notified that my application for Work Release had been denied. I was advised to seek release through some other means. No reason was given; however, after making several inquiries, I learned that my application was apparently turned down because of the limited number of vacancies within the program. I was also told that, in all probability, you had been the one to deny my application.

To be frank, I find it difficult to believe that you were responsible for my being denied work release. I recall several occasions where you have made the statement that you try to do everything possible to help individuals get out of CSP when the circumstances indicate that the individual is ready to get out. In my particular situation, I think you'll agree that work release would be good for me, not only from the point of making a little money prior to my release but also in helping me get myself together.

As you may be aware, I have been at Camp George West since June 6th on a temporary basis. I came up for a job interview and have been filling in at various jobs around the camp. Hopefully, I'll be able to remain here until I'm released. Or until I can get on the work release program.

This is my reason for writing. I would very much appreciate your assistance in obtaining a review of my work release application. I have been able to locate an excellent job opportunity as an editor of a new magazine being launched in the Denver area. The only catch is that to take advantage of the opportunity I would need to start work on August 1st. Since my outdate is October 21st, it would certainly be feasible for me to begin working August 1st....if I were on the Work Release program.

This position is....or would be....a fantastic opportunity for me. In be willing to grant me such an opportunity, despite my ability and talent. Obviously, the gentleman offering me this position has his reasons, the most visible of which is that he can buy my skills for much less money than he would have to pay someone else. The second reason is that not many qualified people are willing to gamble on a new magazine. The attrition rate for fledgling publications is higher than the rate of recidivism.

Nonetheless, I feel that this is too good an opportunity to pass up, providing I can somehow take advantage of it. If the magazine succeeds (and I think it has a good chance), I'll be set for a good many years. Should it fail, I'll still have gained valuable experience and an introduction into the communications business in Denver.

On the personal side, I don't think it's necessary for me to go into a lengthy explanation. I think you're well aware that I won't be coming back to prison once I'm released. I've enjoyed all of your hospitality I can stand.

I'm sending a copy of this letter to [redacted] so he will be informed of my request and of my reasons. I hope you will be able to do something in the way of helping me obtain work release in time to take advantage of the opportunity I have outlined.

I shall look forward to your reply.

Sincerely,

Jerry Nemnich

COMMENTS: Mr. Barrett

RESIDENCE: Nemnich lacks the funds to set up a floater program. The $35.0 he would have upon release would not last long enough for him to establish himself.

75003545

EMPLOYMENT: Nemnich indicates a desire to attend college. It would be ver foolish for any college to accept him at the time of release. He sho have to exist in society long enough to indicate true attitudes and conduct before being placed in an educational institution.

OTHER PERTINENT INFORMATION:

CASE EVALUATION: Nemnich may have a superior intelligance rating, and this sound impressive, but he also has a long history of assaultiveness an rape. This too, is impressive. To place this man in a co-educationa situation where he would have to react to the social pressures along the difficulty of competing with youths more familiar and up-to-date learning processes, could well create emotional stresses he would be unable to handle. Any program initiated should include outside psychiatric counseling and this should be made a part of the parole agreement.

This writer is unable to present a workable parole plan for this subj CASE EVALUATION: Preparole investigation dated 9/19/66 submitted by this District recommend that subject be considered for treatment at Colorado State Hospital. In reviewing subject's case summary it appeared that the majority of recommendations are such th subject be considered for psychiatric treatment during his incarceration. There wa nothing that could be found that indicated that subject has received any such treatment since at least 1964 and it is felt that until a recent psychological or psychiatric evaluation be made that no program would be available the subject in District Two.

It is still recommended that subject be considered for treatment at Colorado State Hospital.

Mr. Leonard Tokle
District #4 Supervisor
Colorado State Department of Parole
Grand Junction, Colorado 81501

Dear Mr. Tokle:

Your office has probably already received notification that action in my case has been deferred for thirty days. I am to meet the board again on June 27th.

I am enclosing a letter from [redacted] of Mesa College. As you will see, he suggests that I should perhaps wait for six months or a year following my release to enroll in college. Since I have received similar letters from two other schools, I think I had better take their advice. I certainly don't want to dive off into something I can't handle.

This does bring up a problem, however. Although my parents were, and still are willing, to help with my college expenses, they are against my paroling to an area that will bring me into contact with them. They believe, as I do, that I need to get out onto my my own two feet without their support.

It's for this reason that I want to parole to Grand Junction. I don't know any one to speak of on the Western Slope, and I don't have any contacts to assist me in finding a job, etc. Being familiar with the area, perhaps you could suggest people and business firms who have made a practice of hiring parolees so I could, at least, know where to write rather than taking a stab in the dark.

I'm not skilled in any field except as a musician, but I can handle almost any type of office work and any type of employment that doesn't require skilled labor. I want out of this penitentiary and I'll work hard for the opportunity.

Any assistance you may be able to extend to me will be greatly appreciated.

Dear Mr. Nemnick:

I have received your letter requesting information about admission to Mesa College at such a time you are available. I have passed your letter around to the Admissions Committee, and they feel as I that perhaps the best arrangement we could make with you would be as we have made with other students in your situation who are interested in attending Mesa College. As a general rule we will require a student to spend perhaps six months to one year in a community readjusting or anywhere in the state readjusting and perhaps making some money in order that they can attend school here. We have on occasion taken students who have come directly out of prison and they do find it difficult both financially and adjustment wise. we have made this recommendation to a number of other sutdents and they have felt, although it did seem rather bad at the time, that it was to their advantage to take perhaps six months to a year and get their adjustment and finances set up in order that they can attend school and do a good job. If when you get out you would like to talk to me I would be most happy to have you visit out campus and visit with you on this situation or if there are any other questions I would be glad to answer them through the mail. I am looking forward to hearing from you and seeing you at a future date as one of our responsibilities is to help people who really need and want help as you.

Sincerely,

CASE [illegible]: There appears to be no adequate [illegible] program in Colorado Springs at this time. In the event Hennich [illegible] for assistance from the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation [illegible] be accepted into a structured environment such as the Half-[illegible] House in Colorado Springs, he would be acceptable for supervision in Colorado Springs. Otherwise, a program in this area would appear unlikely.

Major [illegible] of the Salvation Army reviewed Hennich's summary and indicated that this individual would not be acceptable in his program at the Men's Social Service Center.

Hennich would appear to be a poor parole risk at this time.

In reguard to the information you wished, Ihardly know how to begi The circumstances of our marriage_ [redacted] worked on a farm, long hours and hard work.We did'nt go very much. [redacted] Father was at our home every Sun. and holiday. I feel we have always gotten along better than the average couple.

I had several false pregnacies, when our Dr. suggested we adopt a child, and through his encouragment and help we got Jerry through the Colo. State Home, when he was 2I days old.

The situtation that prevailed up until he was a year old, can be summed up in one word, ILLNESS.

First we could not find a milk that would agree with him.

When we brought him home his skin felt like leather, not soft and velvety as a baby should, he had lost more weight than usual.

Every tooth he cut, he was terribly sick. He had pheumonia twice in th first year,(Ithink). He had convulsions several times, he also had tonsilitus, they were removed when he was 3½.

He was VERY ill just before he was a year old. The Dr. did'nt know what was wrong but he did'nt think he would live, that is what he told me later. He also told me he did'nt know what he was going to do with me as he thought Jerry would be dead before morning.

We are people of modest means, honest, content with what we have, unless we can better it, we do not drink, or visit bars and such and I do not smoke.

Jerry has always had good food and adequate clothing. He had many toys also cats, dogs, bicycle, horse and musical instruments. He has had all the things he needed and most of the things he wanted.

He seemed to do the opposite from all the principles we tried to teach.

If you have any questions I will certainly answer them the very best I can.

I hope this will be of some help to you.

Leavitt, Jr. responded to information telephoned to Parole Agent Leavitt by Parole Supervisor Earle O. Meyer regarding the possibility of Jerry Louis Nemnich having illegal possession of a 1971 Plymouth Baracuda registered to [redacted] (X71-441 and P71-455) currently supervised by Agent Leavitt. Agents Bokros and Leavitt contacted [redacted] at the home of his mother, [redacted], Denver, Colorado and were advised by [redacted] that Nemnich had indicated a desire to purchase the automobile and that [redacted] had given the keys for the car to Nemnich during the evening of 10-19-73, with the understanding that Nemnich would come to the residence of [redacted] by 10:30 A.M., Saturday, 10-20-73 and remit a down payment to [redacted]. [redacted] told Agents Bokros and Leavitt that Nemnich failed to appear. At this point [redacted] was advised by Agents Bokros and Leavitt to report the car as stolen to the police. Acting on the advice of his supervising agent, [redacted] reported his car as stolen to the Englewood Police Department, Englewood, Colorado, on 10-21-73. (See Exhibit #1).

On the basis of the information and circumstances described above, Supervisor Meyer and this agent requested a National Crime Information Center (NCIC) flash be sent nationwide on 10-22-73 by the Colorado Bureau of Investigation. On 10-22-73 this Division received information that Jerry Louis Nemnich had been arrested on that date by officers of the Norwalk Police Department, Norwalk, Connecticut. (See Exhibit #2).

Condition #3: Conduct. At the time of his arrest, Nemnich had in his possession and was operating a 1971 Plymouth Baracuda, 2-door, black and silver automobile bearing Colorado Registration No. BB-9285 listed as stolen from Denver with NCIC (See Exhibit #2). This was the same vehicle reported as stolen by [redacted] on 10-21-73. (See Exhibit #1).

[illegible] with Nemnich, before Judge [illegible], Circuit Court, Norwalk, Connecticut, on 11-8-73, for Waiver of Extradition.

Nemnich, at first, refused to waive; telling me he heard there was a Grand Jury Indictment, or something like that, in Denver, for a murder. I told him he was a suspect and Denver Police wanted to question him, but there was no Indictment or charge filed and I assured him we would extradite. Nemnich promptly stated he was innocent and would waive, so that this matter could be settled.

Nemnich was returned to Denver on 11-9-73 and was lodged in Denver City Jail after a routine trip by air.

revealed in December, Jerry projected at that time that he was going to attempt to establish a parole program in Connecticut. Because of the sex offense that happened in Denver in which Jerry is a suspect and his history of sex offenses in Colorado, the Board felt that it would be of benefit to Jerry to relocate himself. Jerry has tried to develpp these resources, but his attempts have been to no avail. Jerry submits a totally resourceless program to Denver. Of greater concern to the Board is the cloud that Jerry still remains under as a result of the offense in Denver. Jerry is listed as a suspect in this offense, Jerry himself realizes his situation and accepts it gracefully. He realizes that supervision in the community would be of benefit, and he relates this as one of his main reasons of desiring to be paroled. In view of Jerry's extensive sex record and his performance during the short time he was on parole, the Board cannot in good consciousness grant parole to Jerry. The decision of the Board is to defer parole and have Jerry serve his maximum sentence.

I arrived at the crime scene at approx. 2100 hours. The crime scne at 1300 N. 21st, Apt. #211 is a 3 story stucco apartment house. The crime was committed in Apt. #211 on the second story of the building. I contact Sgt. Albrecht at the door and was instructed to enter the apartment. As I entered, the spartment I saw a suitcase, blue in color leaving against the South Wall of the apartment. under the suitcase was two cans of Budweiser beer, and a pistol with pearl handles in a holster with a cartridge belt. A camera case was by the West end of the suitcase. A thermos~~e~~ bottle was lying corss ways just North of the suitcase and I had to step over the thermos to enter the dining area. A table with a plant was sitting just North of the thermos with a purse on the floor behind thetable. I then entered the kitchen - on the North side of the kitchen is a counter with a double stainless stell sink with cupboards above it. I noted blood stains on the counter and in the sink. Also in the right sink was a dish cloth, a steak knife, and the broken blade of a steak knife, with blood stains on it. On the counter just West of the sink was a box of saltine crackers, a bottle of laxitive, and an open box of Rice Chex with blood on the top of the box. On the South side of the kitchen was a refrigerator and stove with a small cabinet between them. I then entered a bedroom located in the

An extrance to the bath room is on the WEst side of the bedroom.

I entered the bathroom area and saw the body of a small child laying on the floor. The child was on its back with its feet in a doorway entering into the tub and stool area. The childs head was turned on its left side and pointing East toward the bedroom. The childs torso, and a large amount of blood on the carpet by the childs torso. Just South of the child was a counter with a sink. I noted blood on the sink, and on the North wall just west of the child. On the west side of the bathroom area is an entrance to another bedroom.

I entered the bedroom and noted the double bed in approximately the middle of the room. This bed consisted of a box springs on the floor, with a mattress. I saw the body of a nude woman lying on the floor in the Southwest corner of the room. The womand feet were next to the South wall with the body between the bed and a chest. I noted several wounds on the womans chest and neck. There were blood stains on the Southwest corner of the bed, and on the wall by the light switch on the Southwest wall by the door into the living room. Both pillows from the bed were on the floor and at the womans feet. The bed was not square with the room and looked as if it may have been turned in a struggle.

I entered the living room area and noted a couch on the Northwest wall toward the West end of the room a coffee table in front of the couch had a cereal bowl and spoon and a empty glass mug on it, a pair of mens sun glasses were also on the table. On the WEst wall of this room is a sliding glass door, which is the entrance to a balcony on the outside of the building. In fron of this door is a drape. A newspaper was found on the floor just East of the coffee table. About 17' from the West wall is a room divider which separates the living room from the dining area. I entered the dining area and noted a dinette

On 7-26-75 at 0209 Detective Richardson, Lab Technician Hall and myself entered the apartment numbered 211 at 1300 N. 21st Street, to conduct a systematic crime search and investigation of that apartment. Our purpose was to also remove and properly tag evidence from that apartment that might aid in the death investigation being conducted. The first area I searched was the hallway leading from the main entrance way to the living room. No items were removed from that area at that time. At 0215 a closet behind the entrance way doorway was opened and searched. The closet is on the East side of the entrance hallway, contains one clothes rack, and one shelf. On the clothes rack were 12 assorted coats and sweaters all of which were hung on separate hangers. There were no bare hangers on the coat rack with the exception hanging on the far South side. On the top shelf of the closet were two one gallon cans of Coleman gasoline, one bag of sugar, approximately 10 pounds, one brown paper sack and one cardboard box. On the floor of the closet was an ironing board, a vacuum, a welding hat and a brown paper bag that contained other empty brown paper bags. Closet was thoroughly searched and nothing was removed at 0231 the door to the closet was closed. At 0233, a fishing pole was examined in the corner outside the closet door on the North side of the door, however, that item was not taken into

At approximately 1415 hours 28 July 1975, I picked up at the Grand Junction Police Department and transported him to the 1300 block of North 21st, apartment #211, where in the company of Detective Gary Richardson, and myself entered that apartment and made an examination of the premises. was advised before we entered the apartment, not to touch any items nor to move any items from their places unless he was so instructed by either Detective Richardson or myself. At 1430 hours we entered the apartment and indicated the items that were still laying on the floor in the hallway that leads to the living room were brought into the apartment by him. Those items included the Daily Sentinel newspaper which indicated he had found stuck on the outside of the entrance doorway in the hall. A thermos, two beer cans and camera, which indicated he had brought with him from work when he had come home for the weekend and a pistol which he indicated he had also brought home but which was not at the scene. I advised that item was presently in the property room of the Grand Junction Police Department. From this point forward we made a systematic inspection of the residence and during the course of that investigation was able to supply us with the following information. #1 On a coffee table near the entrance way in the living room was a necklace made out of cord with a wooden heart hung on to the necklace. indicated he had not seen that necklace prior to that time. #2 indicated the bowl of apricots that were laying on the floor may have been acquired by his Linda at residence prior to Thursday, 24 July 1975. #3 The crybaby toy on the kitchen sink was out of place. indicated he had not seen that item in that place before. #4 When asked about the location and quantity of steak knives in the residence, indicated he could remember only two knives and that at the most there had been three. One of which had a broken tip. At that time, I opened the dishwasher in the kitchen and it contained two steak knives, one with an extremely long blade. indicated that one of the knives in that dishwasher was one of the possible three steak knives in the residence. #5 When examining the closet in the master bedroom on the north side of the master bedroom, indicated there should have been some rolls of quarters, dimes and nickels in the top shelf of that closet. Detective Richardson, at that time, removed a container from the top shelf that did contain one roll of nickels. indicated his may have used the roll of quarters to do the wash. #6 When asked concerning the sleeping habits of his indicated that Linda Benson slept on her stomach the majority of the time; however, she did occasionally sleep on her right side, that she had trouble sometimes getting up in the morning; that she was sometimes slow getting up and that she used a hard pillow to sleep on, that ~~where~~ her head was facing the far west side of the apartment with her feet facing the east side of the apartment towards the bathroom door. #7 While examining the items in the living room there was a wooden chair in the living room with a large nick in the back. does not remember the nick on the back of the chair. #8 Concerning the blue pillow that was taken into evidence at the time of the crime scene investigation. indicated he had no knowledge of either he or his possessing any dark blue pillow of any type. #9 indicated

He also indicated that the only time she would lay a towel on the floor was during the course of the time she was taking a shower. At that time, a search was again made of the entire residence to try and find the towel that may have been used by Linda Benson had she taken a shower on Thursday July 24th, prior to her death. However, each room including the closets and all drawers of the residence were searched and no towel could be found. At approximate 1545 hours Detective Richardson, myself and left the residence. On July 28, 1975, in order to determine whether or not screams from Linda Benson could have been heard within the apartment complex at 1300 block N. 21st Street, Officer Richardson and I entered that complex at 1110 to perform such a test. Officer Richardson went to the manager's apartment, #212, which is adjacent to the Benson apartment and after changing conditions in that apartment so that they would be the same as they had been on Thursday night and early Friday morning July 25, 1975, I went into the Benson apartment and from the kitchen of that apartment screamed three times at Officer Richardson. From there I went into the bedroom of the Benson apartment where Linda Benson's body was found and also screamed three times as loud as I could scream to Officer Richardson. At that time, I then returned to the manager's apartment where Detective Richardson indicated to me that he could just barely hear me during all the times I had screamed. I then advised Detective Richardson we should conduct one more test, with him in the hallway. With Detective Richardson standing in the hallway, I then went back into apartment #211, where I screamed once at Gary Richardson from the kitchen of that apartment and once at Officer Richardson from the master bedroom where Linda Benson's body had been found. When I returned to the hallway, Detective Richardson indicated to me that those screams had been much clearer and that

15. Details:

At approximately 2010 hours Detective Rushing and myself unlocked the door and entered the apartment #211 at 1300 block North 21st Street for the purpose of conducting a light test in the master bedroom. The lights of the bedroom were all turned on as were a 11 lights of the residence, including the master bedroom light, the ~~bedroom~~ Living Room light and the bathroom light and also the small bedroom light. The curtains in the master bedroom were drawn and I instructed Detective Rushing to stand in front of the curtains at varying distances from the curtains and to make various movements. The purpose of this test was to determine if a person standing outside the apartment house would have been able to see through the curtains and determine what was happening within that ~~Apartment~~. APARTMENT

I went outside and stood on the east sidewalk of North 21st Street in front of the apartment house and watched Detective Rushing make assorted movements inside the master bedroom. It was evident to me that a person standing outside the apartment would have been able to ascertain the approximate activities of occupants of that bedroom. Although I was unable to see through the curtains well enough to have a clear picture of what was going on, I was able to see the general body outlines, and I was able to see the movements that Detective Rushing was making.

Detective Rushing was instructed to make such movements as would be indicative of someone removing his clothes and from the sidewalk I would have been able to tell whether or not Detective was in reality removing his clothes.

I then changed places with Detective Rushing. I went into the apartment and made assortment movements, while Detective Rushing stood on the sidewalk and made his observations.

At approximately 2025 hours the apartment was secured. All the doors were locked, lights were shut off. Detective Rushing and myself then left the scene.

I asked if she had known Linda Ketchum. She replied, "No.' She did not know Linda Ketchum very well and had met her only a couple of times in the hall, passing and saying 'hi', maybe talking for a few minutes. I asked her when was the last time she saw Linda Ketchum. She stated, "Wednesday night about 6:30PM." They had been sitting on the curb on the east side of building in the parking lot waiting for a ride when Linda Ketchum came out to get her daughter who was playing in the lot to the east of the building. I asked her if she had noticed anything strange or any strange subjects around. She stated that she had not seen anybody, or anything unusual, except that she had noticed a different motorcycle in the parking lot Wednesday night, and that it had left just after she had gone to bed late that night. It was a large road bike of some type. I asked her if she knew She stated, "NO." She had never met him, and had seen him only once or twice.

She did not notice anything unusual or hear anything thatnight. She had not seen Linda Ketchum or her daughter since Wednesday afternoon.

LOCATION OF INTERVIEW: Grand Junction Police Department

ASSIGNMENT: On August 2, 1975 at approximately 2035 hours Sgt. Albrecht notified me at my home that he had been contacted by a lady who had been transported from the Gibson Discount Center to the Athens Motel and who had been told a story by the cab driver concerning Linda Benson about having hauled Linda Benson and her boy friend to various locations in the City. Sgt. Albrecht instructed me to go to the Police Department and interview the driver of that cab.

On August 2, 1975 at 2105 hours the driver of the taxi cab, came to the Grand Junction Police Department to be interviewed by myself. listed his address at married with one (1) child; although implied that a restraining order was to be served against him. indicated that he moved down here approximately a month and half ago, although he has lived here before and that he had worked for Yellow Cab on previous occasions.

I asked to relate the story he had told to the lady in cab. He stated that he had told that lady that approximately two, three, or four weeks ago he had picked up a girl and a guy from a bar and transported them to the St. Regis or the Flamingo. indicated that while he was transporting the couple the female asked if knew where she could get some grass. replied that he did not. then asked the female her name, and he was told by the female her name was Linda Benson. The female indicated at that time her boyfriend's name was described the male as short, approximately 28-30 years of age, short blond, curly hair.

said that the only identification he could give on the girl was he was fairly certain she had long hair. He stated that he would not be able to recognize this girl from a picture. He indicated that he could not recall other physical features of that female.

When asked why he remembered this particular name, indicated that he remembered all the names of persons he transported. However, throughout the interview had difficulty remembering my name. I advised that in my opinion he had fabricated the story concerning Linda Benson and that in reality he had not transported her at any time, and that he was only making conversation with his passengers to pass the time.

admitted he was a "bullshitter", however, he did state that he was sure the lady's name was Linda Benson.

I further advised that he should cease and desist at this time from telling anymore stories to his passengers concerning Linda Benson, or that he had transported Linda Benson and her boyfriend.

Complained of movie:

15. Details:

This Subject   Called P.O. #3 and complained c̄ a movie playing at the Cinema on N 25th (Cinema 25) The movie (COREY) (spelling?) was playing and he stated to me that "it was worse than these murders here, "Bothems wasn't that bad." "There is a girl in the movie that gets stabbed repeatedly and its awful."

wanted to know if there is a paper in town he could write in on (concerning complaint) I advised there was. He also stated that   runs the movie house and someone should talk to him. I advised   that all the movies are rated and   was probably not violating any laws. I tried to contact Cinema 25 at 243-8485 at 2221 hrs with negative results to see if they could describe

IN my conversation with him I could just get his name. He sounded to be possibly mentally retarded or of very poor education. Possibly in his early to mid 20's. Talked slow & uneven (Nervous) Possibly should tag and be contacted ref: Benson case.

Information -

In a phone conversation, advised: Two weeks ago my daughters apartment was entered by a man who took her purse while she was asleep. This incident occurred at and was reported to the police.

About a week ago, I was at the apartment when I heard someone turn the door knob. I moved around and looked out through the drapes to get a look at the person. He was tall and slender and had long hair and it is my opinion he was one of the two boys who live next door.

These two boys, they operate the pawn shop on North Avenue, have a trampoline who I believe use it to look into the windows of the adjoining apartments. Also, I believe they are responsible for the entry into my daughters apartment and it is possible they or at least one of them could be responsible for this incident.

Information of a similar offense.

in a phone conversation reported after reading the news article in the paper the circumstances of this incident appeared to be similar to an attack that was made on her sister-in-law in Milan, New Mexico. On the Friday before Memorial Day she was attacked by an unknown Negro male who stabbed her twice with a screwdriver and choked her down and left for dead in her bedroom.

Three similar incidents have occurred in the Milan New Mexico area in addition, and one of the women was killed.

At 0700 hours, July 28 1975 [redacted] came to the police Building and advised:

Saturday morning, I along with my two children departed for Denver, Colorado by bus. In going over, I sat with a creepy fellow and after getting to our hotel room, I found some brownish red stains on my slacks which appear to be blood. This man, described as a big man with a square face, Bushy Eye brows, 49 years old, 5'10"-5'11" and strong said he was going to Illinois, said he was upset because he had had a fight with his wife and some other problem with his daughter. As a result he was leaving them and going back east.

Cleaned some of the stain off her slacks but believed we should check it to determine if it was blood - to do this she left her slack with the department for this purpose.

He also indicated that sometime in the month of December, he entered an apartment on the north end of the second floor at 1300 block N. 21st, and found a picture of a woman hanging in that apartment that had been cut with some type of instrument. indicated to Sgt. Frazier he was under the impression that the person who resided in this apartment at that time, worked for Douglas Optical. Sgt. Frazier presented me with the above information and asked me if I would follow up on it at my earliest convenience. I advised him I would do so.

indicated in this interview with myself and Detective Richardson that on Thursday evening, August 7, 1975, in Lincoln Park near the pool area he observed a white male, approximately 5'9" to 5'11" tall, 25-30 years old, 140 to 150 lbs, with olive complexion, watching the females around the pool and acting in an odd and unusual manner. indicated that this subject's hair was about an inch long all over his head, he was wearing a pair of old cowboy boots. stated that it appeared tha perhaps this individual had had a hair cut recently, one similar to military hair cut and that his hair was just in the process of growing back. stated that the subject's right arm was wrapped with an ace bandage and under that bandage was white gauze and some blood was showing through both the bandage and the gauze.

stated that this subject was not in the Park Friday. The only distinctive feature about this subject is a very large adam's apple.

It should be noted that is a former policeman for the Grand Junction Police Department. In opinion the subject in the Park that night was acting somewhat unusual.

Should we need to contact in the future, he can be reached at He can be reached by phone

Dear Terry:

Mr. William Nelson called to my attention a request of Detective Fromm to give a list of all inmates who were on furlough or leave from the Reformatory between July 24th and July 25, 1975.

Our record shows that the following persons were on furloughs on the indicated dates:

As a matter of routine, we are notifying law-enforcement agencies at the point of destination of furloughs. I believe you are receiving notification when placements are made in the Grand Junction area. Placements are more permanent than furloughs.

I hope the above information will meet the need stated in your letter of August 6th.

The following information was recieved by telephone from an unknown female, who refused to give her name.

"I have some information on the Benson murder. It was a woman who did it, she lives in the building. She has curly black hair, she's slim and wears glasses. This is a fact, and I have reasons to know that she did it. I have known all along and my conscience has been bothering me."

I asked her if she could give me the reasons for her belief, and she said that if she did the woman would know who told. At this point she hung up.

The caller was a female, possibly between 18 and 25 years, who spoke quietly with a tone of apprehension in her voice. She gave me no reason to believe that the call was a hoax. There was no background noises to to identify where the call might be coming from.

AND HE SAID IT SOUNDED LIKE ONE THEY HAD CONTACTED THE NIGHT BEFORE.

I CONTINUED TO WATCH THE SUBJECT ~~TO~~ IN AN ATTEMPT TO DETERMINE WHAT HE WAS UP TO, BUT HIS ACTIONS DID NOT MAKE ANY SENSE.

I ADVISED OFFICER LUMBARDY THAT WE SHOULD CONTACT HIM AND AS HE PULLED FROM THE POSITION HE HAD BEEN PARKED IN, THE SUBJECT SAW HIM AND RAN EAST ON BELFORD AND THEN SOUTH BETWEEN TWO HOUSES. WE CHASED THE SUBJECT AND CAUGHT HIM HIDING IN A GARDEN. OFFICER LUMBARDY SAID IT WAS THE SAME INDIVIDUAL HE HAD TALKED TO THE NIGHT BEFORE.

I ASKED HIM WHAT HE HAD BEEN DOING FOR THE PAST 20 MINS. AND HE SAID "JUST WALKING." I ASKED HIM WHY HE HAD PICKED 4:00 AM TO WALK AND HE SAID HE COULDN'T SLEEP. I ASKED HIM WHY HE COULDN'T ~~S~~ SLEEP AND HE SAID THAT HIS WIFE HAD JUST DELIVERED A STILL BORN CHILD ABOUT ONE MONTH AGO. I ASKED HIM IF HE HAD BEEN WALKING SENSE THEN AND HE SAID "YES".

I CHECKED HIS HANDS AND ARMS BUT DIDNT FIND ANY CUTS. I ASKED HIM IF HE EVER WALKED AROUND NORTH 21ST AND HE REPLIED "NO, IT IS TO FAR" I ASKED HIM IF HE KNEW ANYTHING ABOUT THE INCIDENT ON NORTH 21ST AND HE REPLIED "WHAT INCIDENT" I TOLD HIM HE HAD SURELY HEARD ABOUT IT BUT HE SAID HE DIDN'T KNOW WHAT I WAS TALKING ABOUT. I ASKED HIM IF HE DIDN'T READ

THE SUBJECT WAS QUITE UPSET ALL OF THE TIME WE WERE TALKING TO HIM AND HE ALMOST RAN WHEN WE TOLD HIM HE COULD GO.

I FEEL THIS SUBJECT SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED THROUGHOUT BECAUSE, IN HIS STATE OF MIND HE WILL BECOME A PROBLEM IF HE ISN'T NOW.

OFFICER LUMBARDY HAS STATED THE NAME AND ADDRESS OF THE SUBJECT ON HIS REPORT.

15. Details:

After reviewing the report made by noted that a call had been received by on the 24th of July 1975 at 0930 hours and that the caller was a disturbed young male and more than likely he knew I base this belief on the fact that had received a similar call and had not talked to the caller other than to tell him she was busy.

After reviewing reports this officer noted that reported that her daughter had received an anonymous call from a male on July 23, 1975 who had stated to her daughter, "You are a dirty butt fucker." This is all that had been said prior to the caller hanging up.

It is also noted that had come to the Police Station on August 1, 1975 at approximately 1500 hours indicating that she had received the above noted phone call and that in the past she has received like calls when the caller did not say anything, but this one had been the first one she had received and had heard the caller say anything.

Other reviews of reports revealed that had received phone calls approximately two weeks prior to the murders who had repeatedly said, "Please, don't hang up. Please talk to me," in a pleading tone. had stated in this particular report that she had received four calls, one right after the other, on the same morning from the same individual, and that she had finally just let the phone ring. She indicated that these calls had come in the early morning hours . indicated that the voice was weird and was begging her stay on the line so he could talk to her. She was under the impression at that time that he was either drunk or he was a very good actor.

I believe that the caller who had called prior to calling would probably know both I also believe that subconsiously both know who the caller was and will in time recognize the voice; someone close to the family who has had problems.

telephoned and said he had some patients in his office that were telling him about a blond man about 26 years old that had driven a white Ford w/camper to Rangely last night, crawled in the back and killed himself. The camper has Mesa County plates.

thought it might be worth checking with the Rangely PD to see who this man was and if he is in any way connected with the Benson Homicide.

Sirs, [redacted] misc

There is a hobo in Palisade that I think should be questioned in regard to the murder of that woman & her child & the disappearance of those other 2.

He has been following women home in Palisade. One who lives at 6th & Kluge, another who lives on 8th St., & another who lives on Peach.

Also he attempted to get into a car that was stopped at a light in Grand Junction. The driver had it locked, but it scared her and she too is from Palisade & lives on 6th.

He wears a wide brimmed hat, black pants, and dark boots, and sometimes carries a guitar. He is older having a grey beard or goatee and shaggy grey hair.

While on patrol in the 800 Blk of North Av eastbound I noticed a red and white Chevrolet Vega pull into the North alley 900 blk North Av and come to a halt there.

Upon investigation, I contacted the vehicle NK-150 and found two w/male individuals urinating in public. The driver of the vehicle, residing at who is the subject of this report, bore an amazing resemblence to the description of the Benson Homicide suspect. was approx 6-0 tall, 180 lbs with black collor length hair and green eyes. The hair appeared stringy and dirty. His complexion was dark so as to be almost olive. He was dressed in a Khaki shirt and trousers and sported a cast on his right forearm. The cast gave the appearance to me of having been on the arm for a few weeks as it was dirty.

was also in the company of a who is covered on a separate contact card.

I haven't been up to buy you a taco for quite awhile. Take a look at this and see if any of it helps:

DEBBIE TOMLINSON----SUSPECT ---CASE

Suspect still remains in the same environment he was in at the time of the killing; (environment: Mesa College, where he lives, works and most probably is a student). Suspect is feeling safe from the law. He appears to have more than one job as he attends school. His finances are such that he needs to work; one of his jobs is menial in nature, such as cafeteria-food job, domestic nature of cleaning, etc.

His other job may be associated with publishing, such as the school paper.... He does not make much money at any one of his jobs.

Suspect's daily routine, for example, would be classes, job, classes, job. He hangs his hat most anywhere on campus, does not appear to have a fixed place where he stays on campus; that is, he might sleep at times on a cot (janitor's room, etc., or stay with a friend on campus....if he does have a permanent room on campus, he sleeps, stays elsewhere on campus also.

Appears suspect was detained for a very brief time by the law soon after Debbie's death (this detention was very brief and may not have involved a lie-detector test or much interrogating).Altho the law released him, he is not finished with the law. However, this does not mean that the law recognizes or suspects him of being Debbie's killer.

Appears suspect's immediate family lives outside the United States, possibly a South Pacific island. Suspect has lots of family outside U.S. There will be a death in his family (male authority figure in his immediate family) between now and April 15. Suspect's father or male authority figure in his family may have been hospitalized in December, 1975. Does not appear suspect left U.S. during holiday or Christmas season of 1975.

Suspect's personality around the college indicates he is popular; appears he was studying/involved with/rehearsing for a school play/drama during late last year, but the play would not be presented until after Dec. 29, 1975. Debbie could have been associated with this play in some "background" way. Suspect appears to have an "official" long name, but may go by a shorter name, of course. Suspect appears to have a good voice for singing---musical talent.

It appears that Debbie and suspect worked/associated with same school newspaper, with Debbie being subordinate to suspect.

Appears suspect walked (no auto involved, altho suspect may own an older model vehicle) to Debbie's residence just before he killed her. Suspect was allowed in by Debbie, who knew him. After he impulsively killed her, he left quickly, but did not walk in the way he exited from the building...climbing indicated and a window, such that he might have exited through a window. He then moved quickly to his next destination.

Appears he went southeast of crime scene and about as far south from the crime scene as the college is north of the crime scene. Appears to be almost a straight (N-S) line between his destination immediately after the killing and the location of the college. Appears suspect went to a group gathering very soon after the murder. A group gathering where group sports occur/group activity. This would of course indicate a southerly direction from Mesa College, past or near Lincoln Park...maybe a gym in a church, or an intramural gym. Long shot possibility: Suspect --dark hair, very dark eyes (but bright--sparkly)--darker shade of skin, but not black. Suspect could be oriental, in his early 20's. First killing for suspect---has impulsive, uncontrollable temper (at times).

DENISE OLIVERSON

Further analysis indicates, in addition to being kidnapped, raped and murdered and body thrown in river in DeBeque Canyon, that Denise suffered violence to her head (steel or iron) and that her hands were bound (steel or iron) when she was thrown into the river. Friend mentioned auto was involved in crime. Friend now says that body of Denise will not be found for a very long time---if ever. Body now a long ways downstream from where it was thrown in.

LINDA BENSON & DAUGHTER----Suspect

Brother-in-Law

Friend still believes "in-law" did this. Male relation on Benson or Linda's family tree. When info sent to you people, indication suspect was confined for medical treatment of stab wound to abdomen or chest. Confined in the direction of Ouray-Durango. However, this was a private confinement by family (member)---female member(s)---- Suspect moved north and gradually northwest after his December, 1975 release from treatment. May have passed through Crested Butte area, or further east. There is a Benson listed in Crested Butte phone directory, but relationship, if any, is not known.

but that it would be harder to kill a child.

She states that for this individual to harm anyone these three things would have to be done and concured with her findings: 1). He would have to know the people; and 2) he would also have to become enraged to the point of a black-out; and 3). he would have to be intoxicated.

She states the only time has been dangerous was when he was intoxicated. The reason for his drinking is because of his semi-sociopath behavior.

She states this was caused from sever deprivations in early childhood and this is the reason why he drinks and why, at different times, he had assaulted his wife.

Her records indicated that the subject was transferred to Pueblo to the State Hospital and there a short while later he absconded; however, her records do not indicate if he was returned there or not.

PLACE OF INTERVIEW: Grand Junction Police Department

PERSON INTERVIEWED:

On 04/05/76, came to the police department with detective Doug Rushing and related the following information to this officer. On 04/03/76 at approximately 1800 hours, two men came into the VFW Club located at 1404 Ute Avenue, Grand Junction. claims never to have ever seen either of them before. The men stayed until approximately 2400 hours and at that time, took a photograph of a and his wife who were sitting at a table in the club. This seemed to upset one of the men who came over to and asked to see the camera. showed him the camera and the man told to take the film out of it and destroy it. He seemed to be very upset about the chance he might have been included in the photograph which had taken. told the man he would not destroy the film and that there was no chance he could have been in the photo because he was behind him when the photo was taken.

The man acted as though he was going to become violent with until got up and offered some protection for While this was taking place, the second man left the bar and got into a car outside to wait for his friend. When this happened, the bartender watched to see what car he got into and took down the license number which she in turn gave to after the man he was arguing with had left. said the reason he felt it was important was that the man who had wanted him to destroy the film looked a lot like the dark haired man in the composite drawing he had seen in the paper. However, he did have a beard and it was difficult to say for sure. This officer checked the listing on the license number furnished by

The car listed to a Grand Junction, Colorado. The alpha file was checked and it was learned we have a recent mug shot of I compared the mug shot and the composite drawing and at this time I see no reason to pursue the incident further as there does not seem to be any resemblance between the two.

She believed this because when she was living in the Hershey Nebraska area belonged to a religious cult in which the people worshiped pictures and objects and would do things that the Lord was telling them to do. The whole family belonged to this cult. When came to Grand Junction she had attended religious meetings in a private home during the time Linda BENSON was murdered. He did not know if this religious cult in Nebraska and these religious meetings in these private homes were one of the same but thought that he should mention these. Regarding the meetings in Grand Junction a subject by the name of who runs a restaurant on S. 9th St. and another subject by the name of who was a construction worker for the telephone company also belonged to this group. He attended these meetings in Grand Junction to appease and they consisted of a group of people gathering in a private home reading the bible and interpreting it in their own way. There was nothing unusual other than the fact that they met in a private home. They did not do anything like worship pictures or other things of this nature. This group did meet at the Labor Temple in Grand Junction on several occasions.

did not have anything definite to be suspicious of having something to do with this homicide other than within the last several months she had been acting rather strange to him. He had first met approximately August 1978 while she was working on Gay Johnson's on First Street as a waitress, and she has worked for Temporary Services here in Grand Junction. When he met her she was the finest woman anyone could want. After they had got married she all of a sudden started putting him down sort of speaking, and also started to write numerous checks from the company business without any real excuse. He had talked to her about this and after they had argued about this she decided to leave him and she left him approximately three or four months ago this year. did not talk too much about Linda's death and the only thing that he could recall that somebody had butchered up Linda and her daughter. He did not know Linda BENSON and that had mentioned to him the possibility of Linda BENSON'S husband or husband. of doing these murders. He could not give a reason as to why had thought this. But in his mind, WAS a strange person and he stated that she had twenty-five different personalities.

stated that as far as he knew had been married to a railroad worker who had later died of a heart attack and then to another subject by the name of in North Flats Nebraska. And that had a child by whose name was who is 23 years old at this time. He then stated that the husband before himself was was asked why believed that had anything to do with the BENSON homicide. The only reason that gave him was because had belonged to this religious cult. stated that is currently living at and is living with her youngest boy by the name of also has another son by the name of who is in Germany and another daughter by the name of who lives somewhere in Grand Junction. knew that a had also been a daughter and that she had supposedly died of a drug overdose in Aspen. It was interesting to him the while he was living with her had a picture of Linda BENSON and her daughter but did not have a picture of felt from what he had learned from and from his own observations there was a possibility of being involved in this homicide and felt that he should tell the police department. requested that his name be kept out of the investigation if at all possible and that because of her age not be contacted.

This is an interview with He resides at Grand Junction, Colorado. His home phone number is works for Mountain Bell Telephone. He has been employed there for twenty seven (27) years. His office number is Officer Vig and Officer John Hakes from the Mesa County Sheriff's Department contacted at the Sheriff's Department on 7-31-79 at approximately 1:30 P.M. This interview with was concerning now married to a but is in the process of separation from and is back living on said that he has known for approximately two and one-half years and they are pretty good friends. They are seeing each other at this time. stated that he met here in Grand Junction and started dating her. Then moved over to his place in Denver, Colorado where he was employed with Mountain Bell Telephone, at that time, as an instructor. She lived with him over there from October of 1977 to July of 1978 and then she went back to Grand Junction to be with her sons, because she was worried that her sons were not getting enough attention from the father due to his working and the boys being left alone by themselves might be getting in trouble.

stated (which he thought was strange) that would get depressed during the time she spent with him in Denver concerning her daughter, and also Linda and Linda's daughter Kelly. She would get very depressed and very independent (would not let anyone help her with anything). She would always bring up that might have had something to do with the killing of her two daughters and her granddaughter, but no reason why at the time that she thought it was She followed up quite a bit on concerning the other homicides and she would mention to that maybe would get the death penalty or something like that and he would admit her daugthers (especially Linda and Kelly's) deaths and this would clear the case.

stated that this occurred around July (certain time of the year she would get very depressed, like this was bothering her or brought back memories concerning Linda and Kelly and the time they were killed) at that time he didn't know what day of the month it was. He was wondering if had a nervous problem or any kind of problem relating to this. He knew that she had gone through quite a bit, like loosing also Linda and Kelly and almost loosing her son; who was asphyxiated with carbon monoxide when he fell asleep in the vehicle.

stated that maybe the rest of the months later on like September or August she would get of this, not being so depressed and be kind of happy. She would go along for sometime and then a certain of the year she (he was thinking maybe the month of March one time) seemed kind of depressed and down. He was wondering what had occurred if her other daughter, had passed away at that time. He noticed the month of March or July that she would get very depressed. During these months she would be very independent, would plan alot of things for herself to do to keep active. If he would try to talk to her she would kind of put him off---such as ---I'll see you later, I've got to get going. She would always be in a hurry to go someplace or do some work. She would always get independent when she was depressed and would not talk much, like a different person and then later on she can be real happy, talkative and then in twenty-four hours she can change right back to being very depressed with no apparent reason unless it is concerning her daughters.

Also said that is a very neat person. She is a terrific housekeeper. She is a good worker and she would never lay stuff around, she would always pick it up and be neat and put it away. She worked up at St. Mary's Hospital and in her spare time she would be picking fruit or canning or making jam or something. She was a very active woman.

stated that never brought up any suspects names except Bundy, that is the only one she mentioned to him. No other name was mention by her as someone she thought might have done her daughters in, especially Linda and Kelly. She always brought Bundy, Ted Bundy---he either had met with them or had something to do with the killing of her daughter and Kelly, her granddaughter.

Also stated that after came back to Grand Junction, an opening came up here in Grand Junction wtih the Telephone Company so he bid for that and he got it and was transfered to Grand Junction.

He has been in contact with has been seeing, going out for dinners and

Interview with:

going out for drives. At this time she has separated from her husband, and is living back at her home on stated that when they got back from the trip, they noticed on her car that her sticker was about ready to expire at the end of July. He told her her horn did not work and also the cruise control did not work and she had better get this fixed ahead of time, to get an appointment, someone to fix it, because when it's time to put the sticker on, she will have to fix it then or she won't be able to get a sticker. So Monday, the 23rd, she made an appointment, I guess, to drop the car and get it fixed and called and asked if he would pick her up. He said he would and they would go out for lunch or something. So Tuesday, which would have been the 24th of July of 1979, she dropped the car off and he went by and picked her up and went downtown and had something to eat. She was very happy, not depressed at all like she was Monday or Sunday. She walked with him and walked down to get the car and then went home. The next day he talked to her on the phone and he recalled that she said she picked some apricots and she was kind of depressed in a sense, not bad, but that she was busy, she had to go, she couldn't talk. The conversation didn't last more that three minutes, very short. She had to get going to get work. He thought it was kind of strange, it was like she was back in her depressive mood again.

On July 22nd (she has been kind of depressed this month, also, like a pattern, thought) she wanted to go for a drive (-7-22-79) and he happend to mention Ouray or Telluride and she said, "Let's go to Aspen." He said, fine, so they left for Aspen at 7:30 the morning of the 22nd which was a Sunday and had just gotten off work at approximately 11:00 P.M. the night before which was Saturday, so she was kind of tired. Up there she didn't say much. They went to Glenwood, ate a late breakfast in Carbondale and from there they went to Redstone and from Redstone up to Aspen. He didn't know if going up there was bringing back memories of her other daughter, which understands was found dead of an overdose or something there in Aspen, Colorado. stated that while they were taking this trip, never did mention her daughter, while they were in Aspen or at any time during the trip.

Also stated that never did tell him anything about how Linda or Kelly was found at the crime scene or what kind of weapons were used or anything

Interview with:

said he'd never met Linda Benson or Kelly nor did he ever meet The only that he knows is other daughter, and her other two sons, He didn't meet until approximately two and a half years ago and this was after Linda and Kelly were killed and also after had passed away.

Also stated that father and father, still lives in Grand Junction. He comes by and picks up the boys and goes fishing or camping or stops by and sees Also stated that has never suspicioned her exhusband, or ever accused him in his presence concerning the killings of Linda and Kelly. But, did mention one time during a conversation that maybe there was a connection that and Linda (with living in Aspen, might have met Ted Bundy) might also have met Ted Bundy and this is why she thinks Ted Bundy had something to do with the killing of Linda and Kelly and that maybe he will come forward with it and this will clarify what happened to Linda nad Kelly.

Also stated that the last time saw her step-mother back in North Platte, Nebraska was when they went back for a three or four day visit and this was approximately, he thinks, 15 months ago. Once in awhile will talk about her step-mother, not too much about her sister back in North Platte, not too often even about her mother except on Mother's Day or some certain day. figured she and her step-mother got along fine otherwise.

Also stated that brought up something about her step-mother owns some land back in North Platte and, in some manner, if she passes away this property will be divided among her sister and a brother that is farming the land. The property would be split among the kids.

Additional Information for Case #75-3545 concerning the interview with This is an additonal follow-up on some information obtained from her.

At 3:15 P.M. on 8-2-79, I contacted who works for Social Services as an investigator, concerning some information related to and myself concerning the Linda Benson and Kelly Benson homicide case.

had related to Milo Vig and myself that had told her that there were scratches on the body of Linda Benson. did not say where these scratches were on the body, but just that had told her that there were scratches on the body. Prior to her telling us this, she had stated that she had not seen the bodies at the crime scene. I contacted concerning this to see if he could recall telling of any scratches on the body of Linda Benson. told me over the phone that he was not aware of any scratches on the body of Linda Benson. Also I mentioned to the fact that believed that the crowbar had been used to strike Linda Benson in the head. told me that he might have talked the crowbar over with ,but in his own mind believes that the ashtray was used instead of the crowbar.

was shown a couple of photos by Officer Hakes and Officer Vig at the Sheriff's Department on 8-2-79 at approximately 1:50 P.M. to see if she recognized the two photos of the small girls in the two snapshots. She studied the two photos for quite some time and stated, no, that she couldn't recall seeing these pictures before and also she didn't recognize anyone she knew, but seems like she recalls seeing these after studying them for some time. She recalls maybe seeing these photos in an annual somewhere, but she is not sure. At this time Officer Vig and Hakes advised that they thought maybe by looking at the photo of Kelly in the newspaper concerning her death that was printed in the Sentinel that there was a resemblance in the one picture to this girl. At this time stated, no, that isn't a picture of Kelly, because if it was she would have recognized the photo itself.

At this time brought up (she thinks it's strange) that early Spring, she thinks the month of April of 1979, she noticed some of her snapshots of Linda and Kelly and were missing from the bulletin board, which she claims is next to the phone in the kitchen. She thought it was strange that somebody had taken the snapshots from the bulletin board. She stated that the snapshot was approximately 3½" x 4½", a color picture. It was a group picture of Linda, , standing by Linda's 1975 pickup truck, red in color. She stated this snapshot was taken off the bulletin board and she can't find it. She stated the group picture was taken probably in the month of February of 1975. Also she stated that Kelly's picture was taken also. But then she changed it, and recalled that and Kelly's picture is still there on the bulletin board, it was not taken. She stated the colored snapshot of Kelly is missing from the bulletin board. She thinks this picture of Kelly was taken maybe in the spring of 1973.

Also missing from the bulletin board is the proof picture of Linda. This picture was taken approximately the year of 1969 which was the year Linda graduated and she had short hair at that time. At the time of her death said Linda had long hair, below the shoulders.

At this time stated she did not misplace the picture that she knows of, she is sure of that. The only suspect she might think of would have taken the pictures from the bulletin board would be her exhusband, because he comes over to visit his kids stated the proof picture of Linda (her graduation picture) that was taken from the bulletin board was her only picture of Linda, because Linda had the large graduation picture. She doesn't have any pictures out now of Linda, but she does have a picture of and Kelly on the bulletin board (a snapshot).

Interview with:

Also stated that she does have another picture of . It is a snapshot of in a gold case and also one Kelly in a gold case.

Also stated that she recalls that she asked Officer Doug Rushing at the time for the funeral, what kind of clothes she should put on Linda and she recalls Doug telling her that maybe something with a high collar of some sort, but Doug never did state why.

She does recall (she thinks) mentioning that Linda was scratched. At this time Officers Vig and Hakes asked her if she knew where Linda was scratched. She said, no, just said Linda was scratched, but didn't say where.

At this time Officers Vig and Hakes asked if she recalls anyone mentioning what kind of weapons or how they were killed? No, she recalls though that did tell her that a crowbar was used maybe to hit Linda on the head, because she had a bruise or blow to her head and there was supposed to have been a crowbar and did admit that it was his crowbar. She heard that and she also stated that did have some tools, maybe in the closet and maybe that is where the crow bar came from.

Also stated that the last time that she saw Linda and Kelly was on Thursday around noon. They were at her place and Kelly wanted to stay there, but told her she couldn't. She told Kelly she'd be over to see her the next day. So at approximately 7:00 P.M. (she thinks) on Friday, she went over there to pick up Kelly and she saw a newspaper by the door. She knocked and rang the doorbell, but nobody answered. The door was locked and at this time she thought that maybe Linda and Kelly were gone someplace, so she left. She stated that approximately an hour later dad came over and told her what had happened to Linda and Kelly (this was at her place).

Interview with:

She stated that the babysitter that she knew that Linda used for Kelly was who lived in the apartment above Linda's. She was about her closest girlfriend that can recall at that time, the last few months. would babysit Kelly for Linda, if she had to go on an errand or something. She stated that has moved from the apartments now, but she has seen her several times here in Grand Junction, but doesn't know where she lives. (is the only babysitter that can recall Linda using to sit for Kelly.)

Also at this time stated that she doesn't what type of weapons were used to kill Linda or Kelly. The only thing she heard (it was in the newspaper, she thinks) that some knives were found in the kitchen sink, but actually she doesn't know at this time what weapons were used to (or if any) kill Linda and Kelly.

Also in regards to the blood types, she stated that she thinks Linda had B positve She doesn't know what Kelly's blood type was nor does she know or blood types. Neither does she know but her blood type is A positve.

Also stated that she did get remarried to a and that also she spent some time in Denver and while she was in Denver, her daughter and kind of watched the house there on

Though considerable emotion was evident in subject's responses on the charts, comparisons of such responses to those of control questions, indicated that reactions to the critical questions were due to factors other than deception. At approximately 1415 hours 28 July 1975, I picked up at the Grand Junction Police Department and transported him to the 1300 block of North 21st, apartment #211, where in the company of Detective Gary Richardson, and myself entered that apartment and made an examination of the premises. was advised before we entered the apartment, not to touch any items nor to move any items from their places unless he was so instructed by either Detective Richardson or myself. At 1430 hours we entered the apartment and indicated the items that were still laying on the floor in the hallway that leads to the living room were brought into the apartment by him. Those items included the Daily Sentinel newspaper which indicated he had found stuck on the outside of the entrance doorway in the hall. A thermos, two beer cans and camera, which indicated he had brought with him from work when he had come home for the weekend and a pistol which he indicated he had also brought home but which was not at the scene. I advised that item was presently in the property room of the Grand Junction Police Department. From this point forward we made a systematic inspection of the residence and during the course of that investigation was able to supply us with the following information. #1 On a coffee table near the entrance way in the living room was a necklace made out of cord with a wooden heart hung on to the necklace. indicated he had not seen that necklace prior to that time. #2 indicated the bowl of apricots that were laying on the floor may have been acquired by his wife Linda at residence prior to Thursday, 24 July 1975. #3 The crybaby toy on the kitchen sink was out of place. indicated he had not seen that item in that place before. #4 When asked about the location and quantity of steak knives in the residence, indicated he could remember only two knives and that at the most there had been three. One of which had a broken tip. At that time, I opened the dishwasher in the kitchen and it contained two steak knives, one with an extremely long blade. indicated that one of the knives in that dishwasher was one of the possible three steak knives in the residence. #5 When examining the closet in the master bedroom on the north side of the master bedroom, indicated there should have been some rolls of quarters, dimes and nickels in the top shelf of that closet. Detective Richardson, at that time, removed a container from the top shelf that did contain one roll of nickels. indicated his wife may have used the roll of quarters to do the wash. #6 When asked concerning the sleeping habits of his wife, indicated that Linda Benson slept on her stomach the majority of the time; however, she did occasionally sleep on her right side, that she had trouble sometimes getting up in the morning; that she was sometimes slow getting up and that she used a hard pillow to sleep on, that ~~where~~ her head was facing the far west side of the apartment with her feet facing the east side of the apartment towards the bathroom door. #7 While examining the items in the living room there was a wooden chair in the living room with a large nick in the back. does not remember the nick on the back of the chair. #8 Concerning the blue pillow that was taken into evidence at the time of the crime scene investigation. indicated he had no knowledge of either he or his wife possessing any dark blue pillow of any type. #9 indicated when asked, that his wife did not sleep with a nightlight on. #10 When shown the window on the west side of the master bedroom which was damaged, indicated that window was not damaged at the time he had left the residence one week ago. #11 Concerning the screen in the childs bedroom, indicated that the screen had been taken off prior to the time he left for work last weekend; that it had been off and damaged for some time. #12 indicated that on the majority of occasions his daughter, Kelley, slept with either a doll or the cat in her bed with her at the time. #13 Concerning the layout of the bathroom, indicated that when Linda would shower or take a bath that she would lay a frayed blue and orange towel on the floor and dry herself with another towel. He also indicated that the only time she would lay a towel on the floor was during the course of the time she was taking a shower. At that time, a search was again made of the entire residence to try and find the towel that may have been used by Linda Benson had she taken a shower on Thursday July 24th, prior to her death. However, each room including the closets and all drawers of the residence were searched and no towel could be found. At approximate 1545 hours Detective Richardson, myself and left the residence. When was asked if he had seen anything unusual, he indicated that on Friday night that he had seen a car parked in the parking lot, a small vehicle like a Datsun, dark green or blue in color with one person in the vehicle. It had pulled into the parking lot for a few moments, parked, then left. also indicated that he remembered seeing a large road bike parked in the parking lot. However, he did not remember the date nor the time he saw that motorcycle. She indicated that the door was open and that the man inside did not have any clothes. When she entered this male seemed surprised and that he walked off.

She described him as being approximately 5'09", slim, with black/brown hair, wearing levi's. To the best of her recollection he was not wearing glasses, nor did he have a mustache, but that he possibly had sideburns.

said she thought she recognized the individual. Approximately 1½ to 2 years ago she had worked with a girl named Her last name was unknown. She thought the man she had seen in the laundry room was married to at that time and that his first name was graduated from Central High School in 1972. believes the who worked at Hesteds would have graduated at about that time. feels that she would be able to identify the male individual if she saw him again. She was certain that he did not live in the apartment complex at 1300 North 21st Street.

During the course of the interview both were very cooperative. did seem overly nervous, nor did he appear to have any scratches or marks on him.

The YSTR DNA profile developed from Item 11-1/12-1 (right hand and left hand Linda Benson) matched the YSTR profile developed from Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1). Therefore, Jerry Nemnich and all his male paternal relatives cannot be excluded as contributors to this sample. Utilizing a published YSTR DNA population database, this YSTR profile has been observed as follows: 0 in 4114 Caucasians (99.9% excluded), 0 in 1932 African Americans (99.8% excluded), and 0 in 1601 Hispanics (99.8%) excluded.

The autosomal DNA profiles developed from Items 13-1 (blood sample - kitchen wall west of kitchen sink) and 42-1 (blood sample - main bedroom dresser) matched the DNA profile developed from Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1). To a reasonable degree of scientific certainty and in the absence of an identical sibling, Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1) is the source of the DNA profiles developed from Items 13-1 and 42-1.

The partial autosomal DNA profile developed from Item 15-1 (blood sample - near light switch of south bedroom wall) revealed the presence of a mixture. The major component of this mixture was apparently from a female contributor and did not match the DNA profile developed from Barbara Rippy (Item DNA18). The minor component of this mixture was uninterpretable.

The autosomal DNA profiles from Items 8A-1 and 11-1/12-1 (major component) matched each other and matched the partial DNA profiles from Items 10-1 and 15-1 (major component) at the interpretable loci.

The partial autosomal profile developed from Item 44-1 (blood sample - west wall master bedroom near victim's feet) matched the DNA profile developed from Jerry Nemnich (Item 66-1) at the loci Amelogenin, D3S1358, vWA, D8S1179, D5S818, and TH01. The probability of selecting an unrelated individual at random from the population having a profile matching at these loci is approximately 1 in 11,000,000 Caucasians, 1 in 4,500,000 African Americans, and 1 in 5,400,000 Southwestern Hispanics.

The partial autosomal DNA profile developed from Item 54-1 (gauze from left hand of Kelly) was apparently from a female contributor and did not match the DNA profile developed from [redacted] (Item DNA18). The partial DNA profile developed from Items 54-1 matched the major component of the DNA profile developed from Item 7A-1 at the interpretable loci.

Not analyzed (DNA): Items 1-4, 1-6, and 43-1.

Item 43-1 consists of a minimal size sample that will be completely consumed during DNA analysis. It will be examined when written permission to do so is sent from the office of the District Attorney to the CBI laboratory.

Evidence Disposition:

The DNA packets will be kept frozen and may be stored at the CBI for up to one year from the original date of submission. All other items will be returned to the submitting agency.

Remarks:

DNA (deoxyribonucleic acid) analysis utilizes polymerase chain reaction technology (PCR) to analyze short tandem repeats (STRs). It may also be used to analyze STRs on the Y chromosome (YSTRs).

For partial profiles, only the loci used in the statistical calculation are listed. The remaining loci were either inconclusive or provided no results. Statistically inconclusive loci may still be used for interpretation purposes. Amelogenin is not utilized in statistical calculations.

Inmates to teach about prison's 'revolving door'

Nemnich, Jerry 8/2B: W.o.i

By Terry Kliewer
Denver Post Staff Writer

A pair of state penitentiary inmates have hit on a novel way to introduce outsiders to the "revolving door" of prison.

Their vehicle is a correspondence course dealing with prison recidivism — the tendency of convicts to wind up behind bars again and again. Colorado Free University is offering the six-week course, called "About That Revolving Door. . .," for a $20 registration fee.

Cañon City inmates Jerry Nemnich and Park Estep created the course to appeal to students with an interest in criminal justice and a knack for acting — the latter because the course demands students assume roles as ex-convicts re-entering the real world.

"We want the students to actually go out and live the role: to ask for dates, try to get work," Nemnich says. "Asking for a date, for example, can be very hard for someone who's been locked up for very long."

Nemnich's thesis is that failures in just such everyday activities become snares to trip up recently released inmates and point them back toward their old ways, which ultimately land them back in prison.

But Nemnich, whose own record dates to age 11, is equally convinced that ex-convicts can choose their own fate.

"I look at it this way — it's my responsibility and my choice, and it's up to me to better myself in here. An institution like this gives you a lot of reasons not to change and damn few to change."

Both men are inmates at minimum-security Skyline Correctional Center. Nemnich, 43, is up for parole this spring after doing 10 years on a 25- to 35-year sentence for first-degree sexual assault. Estep, 38, is 13 years into a 48- to 67-year sentence for first-degree murder.

"We're both veterans of the system," Nemnich says simply. "We know how it works."

Their idea for a correspondence course grew out of conversations about problems inmates face when they're released. "We've both seen a lot of our friends get out and then come back," Estep says.

The course the two devised works like this: Students supply biographical data to Nemnich and Estep, who formulate new identities for them that include contrived criminal incidents and prison terms. Students can use assumed names, if they choose.

Along with their new "criminal" profiles, students receive assignments from Nemnich and Estep to interview for jobs, try to form new social circles, ask for dates — to do the usual run of tasks common to normal life outside of prison.

They are directed to inform would-be employers or social companions afterward that they have been role-playing. "We want them all to reveal the 'game' as classwork," says Estep, "so that the other parties can think about their response and learn from it, too."

"I don't expect people to go whole-hog for this kind of course," Nemnich admitted. "A kind of partial response is most likely, I suppose. But I believe we have to change this system one person at a time.

"Our philosophy is that we're gaining something ourselves by just doing this, no matter how many or how few show up."

Denver Post 4-30-67 Perspective

Convict on juvenile delinquency

IN REFERENCE to the letter in the Perspective section of Sunday's Post commenting on Police Chief Harold Dill's "get tough in the juvenile courts" policy, I would like to add a few remarks.

As a 22-year-old convict with a police record dating back to 1956 I feel I am qualified, in an admittedly biased fashion, to express my ideas concerning the problem of juvenile delinquency.

I have no quarrel with the views of your earlier correspondent that teen-agers want and need discipline. But it is not the discipline of the courts that the delinquent is seeking; it is the discipline of his, or her, parents.

I wonder how many times a juvenile court judge has looked down from the bench and seen a surly teen-ager standing unconcernedly before him, sorry only because he was caught, not because of the crime he had committed. I wonder how many times the judge has heard these words: "But, your honor, John's a good boy. He wouldn't do a thing like that!"

And how many times has that judge leaned back in his chair to put off having to say the few little words that will send the youngster to a training school or a reformatory knowing that by so doing he is reducing the boy's chances of becoming a good citizen and a benefit to society. And why?

Simply a lack of discipline. A blatant refusal on the part of parents to accept

Certainly the responsibility for the par-the responsibility of having children.
ticular offense lies with the teen-ager. He didn't have to do it. He had a choice between right or wrong, and there are a very few cases where he could not discern the difference between the two. But the responsibility for the decision he made lies upon the shoulders of his parents.

With mutual respect of the teen-ager for his parents and the parents for the child—the recognition of the fact that every human being is a unique individual in his own right, worthy of respect—the matter of discipline can be settled with ridiculous ease.

The answer doesn't lie in bigger and better prisons or reform schools—just sweeping the dirt under the carpet so it won't show. The answer lies in acceptance of one word: responsibility.

Society has passed the buck to its courts and it's my opinion that the courts should pass it right back to society by upholding the law that states that the parent is responsible for the child.

Put the parent on probation right along with the child, not as a punishment for the crime the child committed, but to correct the decision-making deficiency that the child has displayed.

In cases where it is feasible for the delinquent to repair some of the damage he has caused, as in vandalism, he should be made to contribute as much help as he is capable of and his parents, in addition to making arrangements to pay the cost of the damage, should be required to supervise the work personally.

Similar methods could be instituted for application to other types of offenses, but the important point is to get delinquent parents involved with their delinquent children. They must accept the responsibility of being parents, and until they do accept this responsibility the problem of juvenile delinquency can not and will not be brought under control.

Canyon dams

In 1966 a bill was submitted to Congress which would have authorized construction of two dams in the Grand Canyon of Arizona. The dams were not intended to regulate the Colorado River or supply water to anyone; they were intended to furnish power so that water already available could be pumped into central Arizona. The bill did not pass Congress, due, in part, to protests from citizens who were convinced that adequate power could come from alternative sources without sacrificing any part of one of the world's unique areas: the Grand Canyon.

That was last year. Now it is 1967, and there are five bills before Congress seeking authorization to construct one or more dams in Grand Canyon. What was defeated last year will pass this year unless the protests are repeated.

It is evident that the field of nuclear power is developing rapidly; unfortunately, the same cannot be said for the field of hydropower. Interior Secretary Stewart Udall appears to recognize this trend with his recent statements that the Central Arizona Project can operate without either Grand Canyon dam.

Thus there are bills for a Central Arizona Project, with and without dams, in both the House and Senate. The House has already held hearings and the Senate will do likewise in early May.

The multiplicity of bills obscures an important point: should one chamber pass a dam-less bill and the other pass a pro-dam bill, a joint conference committee will have to iron out the differences, in meetings that are not open to the public. There are indications that Wayne Aspinall, chairman of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs and sponsor of H.R. 3300, would have sufficient strength in this committee to insure emergence of a bill with a Grand Canyon dam. A bill from such a conference committee would probably then pass the House and Senate with little difficulty.

Thus the Grand Canyon is still in danger and protests are again needed. Urge deletion of the dams from the various bills. Urge, instead, passage of H.R. 1305 (Saylor), which would extend the boundaries of Grand Canyon National Park to include all of Grand Canyon, and which would make unnecessary this yearly struggle to preserve the canyon in its natural state.

Prison Reform Viewed From Within a Prison

JAN 9 1972

By JERRY NEMNICH

24 Resp

PRISON REFORM seems like a pretty good idea, at first glance, anyway. The recent series of prisoner rebellions in penitentiaries across the nation certainly indicates the need for changes and improvements.

But is reform really needed? I think not. Reform, no matter how sophisticated, only sets the stage for further reforms. It does nothing to alter the basic underlying structure. In the case of prisons, the flaws lie within the basic structure.

George Bernard Shaw, writing for the Paris Review in the early part of this century, pointed out that the principles of reformation and punishment are fundamentally incompatible. "You cannot help a man by hurting him," Shaw wrote.

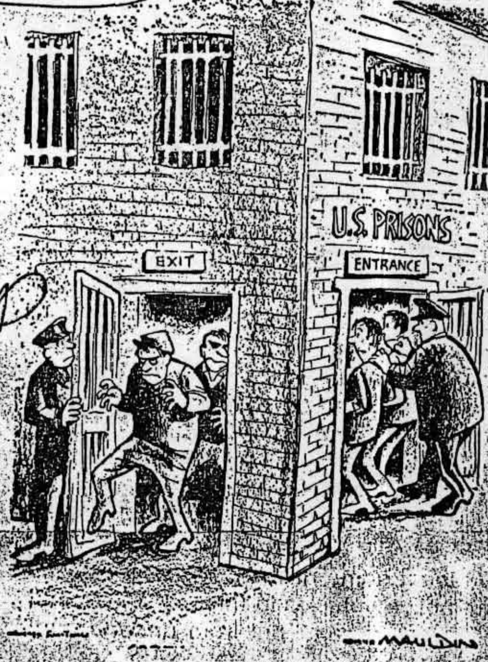
Yet, some 50 years later, punishment reigns. The entire system of criminal justice in this country is functioning on the premise of "hurting" those who break the law. There are no footnotes in the statutes which require that an offender be rehabilitated or reformed; the law provides only that the culprit shall be punished.



Correctional institution.

PENITENTIARIES reflect this. Without exception, they are places where men and women are confined against their will, places where human dignity and pride cannot exist because they disrupt the order and conformity of prison operations, places where the only choice is yield to the iron fist of justice or suffer destruction.

It matters little whether the mode of destruction is physical (as was the case in the Paris jails Shaw wrote about) or psychological (as is most common in this country today). The point is that no amount of "reform" will prevent this destruction.

And destruction will continue as long as prisoners are caged, herded about like cattle under the watchful eyes of armed guards and segregated from their families, friends and society in general. It will continue as long as prisons exist.

How long will that be? Not as long as you might think. I predict that within twenty-five years prisons as we know them today will no longer be with us.

They will have been replaced by small, regionally located correction centers. These centers will not be custodial warehouses. They will be facilities designed to re-socialize criminal offenders. Their purpose will be to re-integrate offenders into the mainstream of society. To do this, they will use the resources of the community itself.

CONVICTS—horror of horrors—will at*tend the community's educational institu*tions, work at jobs side-by-side with ordinary citizens, participate in local cultural and recreational activities, and possibly even date the daughters of respected citizens. Most prisoners will be enrolled in therapeutic programs of one sort or another, ranging from group encounter sessions to complex drug therapy. Each will be dealt with on an individual basis, and therapy programs will be custom designed to meet individual requirements.

Persons judged too dangerous to mingle with the general public will be lodged in facilities similar to today's mental institutions. While so confined, they will be subjected to intensive treatment programs designed to render them harmless and to prepare them for eventual transfer to a minimum security center of the type outlined above.

The use of mind-altering drugs will be common, and the prime emphasis will be on developing the individual's potential rather than molding him into a so-called "model" citizen.

High priority will be placed on identifying criminal offenders in the early stages of development so that preventive measures can be taken. The over-all goal will be to eliminate crime by eliminating the need for people to become criminals.

HOW MUCH will this cost? Not as much as you might think. The initial costs of restructuring the system and building adequate facilities would be high compared to what is now being spent on maintaining the current system. But operating costs would be proportionately less because no more than one-fourth of criminal offenders fall into the "dangerous" category.

The majority of people now imprisoned are simply inept. They are ill-prepared for coping with society. They lack the basic survival skills needed to exist in society. Worst of all, they lack the motivation to direct their energies into building or rebuilding their lives. Most are so unimaginative and incapable that they cannot even be successful criminals.

Putting them in prison accomplishes nothing. Pacifying them with "reform" only further aggravates their sense of impotence, frustration and rage. It merely intensifies their condition and feeds the fires of rebellion.

So the question is: Do we really want prison reform, or would we rather have an efficient rehabilitation system?

The warden's favorite outlaw

He's 5 feet tall, weighs 450 pounds and has quite a past

By JERRY NEMNICH

YOU'D think a guy with more than 1,500 outlaws underfoot would have enough of them without constructing another one. Wayne K. Patterson, warden of the Colorado State Penitentiary at Canon City, disagrees. His most unusual outlaw is a five-foot, 450-pound construction of junk metal and odds and ends of scrap, painstakingly molded into the form of a wild bucking horse after months of planning.

The Outlaw began as a pile of junk in a corner of Patterson's garage. Having lived most of his life in Colorado, the warden has a lively interest in the history of the state, and it was his hope to create a work of art that would reflect the spirit of the pioneers.

Nearly all of the materials used to construct The Outlaw are relics of the past. Using an antique plowshare as the base and building the upper portion of the body around the plow beam, Patterson made use of old harness equipment and other ranching paraphernalia.

H-C branding irons from his father-in-law's ranch, a half a dozen blacksmith tongs, more than 50 rusty spikes from the defunct Colorado Midland Railway, and discarded horseshoes all went into the construction.

Black ceramic doorknobs serve as eyes, and each of the hip joints is a harrowing disc. An old washbasin forms the powerful rear haunches, the tail is a rusty length of frayed metal cable. The saddle came from the ranch of Stump Witcher, a Canon City attorney.

"A lot of stuff," Patterson commented, "was just junk I picked up here and there. I like to nose around the hills and see what I can find."

On public display for the first time at the recent 4th Annual Colorado State Penitentiary Art Show & Sale, The Outlaw drew wide attention and much comment. One visitor to the show from Fresno, Calif., said wryly:

"There's a statue in the Fresno Town Square that the city fathers paid $3,000 for. It's caused a heck of a controversy. They should've bought The Outlaw instead. It's five times as good as the one they got."

At this point I made contact with the driver and found it to be a . At this time I noticed that the other pick-up that had been following us drove into the same residence through another driveway. I advised of the reason I had stopped him and obtained drivers license from him. had walked towards my patrol car and I noticed that he was sort of wobbling. He then had to walk back to his own vehicle to get his registration card - he was wobbling again walking back to his car. I walked to his car and started talking to him and I could detect a smell of intoxicating beverage on his breath. I advised him that I thought he had had too much to drink and that I would like to have him take a road-side sobriety test. I advised him of his Miranda rights and proceeded to the back of his car where a road test was taken. I could see that his eyes were watery and bloodshot, and he looked like he was in a daze. He was asked to try and balance on one foot and he attempted to do so, but was unable to do it. The driver of the other vehicle. which was a female, was close to us while this was being done. stated that he had water in his knees and that was the reason he was unable to balance. At this point I advised him that he was going to be taken to the S.O. where a test would be taken. He stated that he was going to move his car and I advised him not to. He stated that I was on his property, that he could do whatever he wanted. At this point he got into his car and drove it about 30-40 feet. He got out of the car and ran into a house. I got into the patrol car and contaced the dispatcher to send me some assistance. While sitting in the car a female came out of the house and proceeded to the Patrol car where I was sitting. She stated to me that I should be a good cop and forget the whole thing, that she would even give me money if I did; also that he was going to bed and would not hurt anyone. I advised her that he was aware of the situation and that he would have to go in for a chemical test. At this time she stated that she would go into the house and talk to him. Later she came out of the house and proceeded to come over and talk to me again. She stated that he was not coming out, and that I couldn't do anything because he was on private property. She also advised me not to go in the house after him. I advised her that he would have to come out or that we would go in after him, that I had sent for help. At this time a deputy S.O. car arrived at the scene. Deputy Sheriff Martsolf and two other individuals got out of the car. At this point I advised the female that if he did not come out that we would go in after him. She stated that he was already in bed. Officer Gould arrived at the scene and I advised him of the situation. Officer Martsolf and myself went to the door and I knocked on it. The same female came to the door and stated that he wasn't in the house. I advised her that

We were unable to find in the house and found a window partiall open with the screen knocked out. We looked for around the yard and several buildings and were unable to find him. I did see going over a hill crest and advised Officer Gould and the Deputy Sheriff. The Deputy Sheriff and the other two individuals proceeded to go in their car and stated that they were going to see if they could contact him. Officer Gould and myself stayed by our patrol cars. A short while later a dog which was in the yard proceeded to walk South from our location. Officer Gould and myself proceeded to follow the dog, and Officer Gould got a glimpse of an individual running into some weeds. We approached the immediate area and upon approaching the immediate area the individual sat up with a rifle in his hand. I heard a sound resembling the loading of a rifle. Officer Gould had his flashlight directly pointin at the individual. I could see the subject point the rifle at us momentarily, and both Officer Gould and I ran back to our vehicles. Both of us left the immediate area and got in contact with the Deputy Sheriffs car. The dispatcher contacted Lt. Hughes and Capt. During the week, while at work, I sleep in my car because it saves me $9.00 a night. Most of the time I stay about four miles out of Oak Creek.

Thursday night, I went fishing about five miles out of Hayden. In the area was about five other fellows, a who I know to work on the same job as I do. is a carpenter; is a electrician from New York and is a pipe fitter from here in Grand Junction. (dumped his money on the desk and it totaled approximately $27.00) We stopped at Grand Valley and I brought two beers and a Pepsi. drank the Pepsi and I drank one of the beers.

On our arrival in Grand Junction, took me to the apartment house. I got my stuff out of the back of the pickup and told him I would see him Monday morning. I was to meet him at 0430 at the Coop in Clifton to return to Hayden.

I went to the door of our apartment and found it locked. (The door is never locked) I knocked a couple times but no answer. I knocked on the managers door - which is next door to get a pass key because I left my keys in the car at Craig. No one answered.

Thinking Linda and Kelly might be upstairs at the I went up and knocked on their door. answered. I asked if Linda was there. He said, "No, they hadn't seen her all day." said she thought I had come home and Linda, Kelly and I had went somewhere. She said, "the last time she saw her was Thursday night about 9:00PM sitting on the steps."

I went back downstairs, rang the door bell - still no answer. I knocked on the managers door again with no answer.

So, I went outside to look if the glass sliding door was open. It was. I climbed up on the air conditioner onto the balcony and went into the apartment.

Inside, I noticed a glass on the coffee table along with some magzines and other stuff. The house was never left that way- Linda was very neat about picking up things and putting them away when finished with.

I went into the bedroom and saw Linda laying there. I looked around for Kelly and saw her in the bathroom.

Because the front door was locked, I pulled my shirt sleeve down and over my hand and opened the door. I went upstairs and told the to call the police that Linda and Kelly had been murdered.

Returning to the apartment, I started to look in the closet to look about the weapons I have. I don't know if I saw them or not. Also, had came down, and into the apartment. When he saw Linda, he turned around and went out.

In the apartment, I have several weapons; 9mm Browning Automatic, S&W 45 ACP, Model 1995 Mouser 7x57, Sako 222, Browning 22 Auto-Rifle, Hawthorne Single Shot 22, an old Keystone single shot 20 ga, and a 380 Browning Automatic I had purchased for Linda. She kept it in the small closet on the top shelf in a leather pouch.

With me in Hayden, I had a Ruger 22 which I threw in on the floor along with my suit case and other stuff. None of these guns have been fired in the last two months including the Ruger.

Pertinent facts concerning Linda & Kelly

1. Was never any indication she was afraid to stay by herself at the apartment or was bothered by anyone.
2. Linda and were not formally married. They have been living together about four years.
3. Linda worked at Delta Products but hasn't worked since last June. She worked for awhile to get over the death of her sister was living with in Basalt at the time.
4. Linda kept the entrance door locked but wouldn't keep the glass sliding door or screen locked. The sliding door was open for air conditioner circulation purposes.

I was living at and this is near the Gallilee Baptist Church.
(Was shown a photo of and said, "Yes, that is - man because she will never forget him.")

She was at home by herself and the kids. She fell asleep and she woke up and there was a pair of hands on her throat. Tried to kiss her, said what do you want. He said it's pretty obvious isn't it. He said I've been watching. I asked, "Do you have to do this." He said, "I am going to do it because this is why I came over." I told him don't hurt me or my kids. I'm not going to resist you.

She did not struggle and he raped her. She asked him who he was and he said I'm and I am a photographer. He was asked why he picked the time. He said, "Because I just flew in on an airplane."

He wanted to talk and he wanted to know if she was going to talk to the P.D. He said that he would come back if she did call the P.D. He got me a drink of water and brought it to me. He told me no to move until he was gone. She waited for approximately 15 to 20 minutes and finally called her mother. They came over and talked me into calling the police.

I went in can called came over to my home. He asked me to write down what had occurred and I did. I had about two sheets of reports.

He looked for fingerprints and he got prints from the glass that had brought me water.

My door had been locked and showed me how he could have gotten in using a credit card.

When I woke up had turned off the T.V. and he said that he had sat and watched me for a while. He also told me that he was married and had a boy. He said that his wife did not enjoy sex and this was why he was doing this.

Approximately a week later we heard some noise and we thought that it was coming back and we called the P.D.

I believe that used to live right across the street. I recall that he used to go by on a bike, and also used to sit on the doorstep and watch me. We also recall that we saw him going to church with his wife. I waited until they came out and I followed them when they came out of church. I followed him home to house on They picked up and they talked to him.

and I were talking on the phone and came over but I guess saw that I was on the phone and he took off. This was after I had identified him. We wanted to see what the police were going to do.

I called and I told him I had gone to the police and I told him to turn himself in and he said, "Oh! No!" and he hung up.

I called the police and they came over and they arrested and brought him to jail. supposedly confessed to everything about the rape except he said he had not threatened

He had said I know where your kids are and I can hurt them. He said nothing about killing me.

I was never told what happened on this case and I do not know to this date what did on the case. I do recall that about this time the killing of the boy on Glade Park came up.

At the time of the rape he said that he had done this one more time before but that he did not call it rape. He said that he did not call it rape because he knew the victim and if he knew the person it was not rape.

NARRATIVE

On 7/31/79 at about 13:00 hours I and Detective SILVA of the Mesa County Sheriff's Office interview came to the sheriff's office to talk with us about the Linda BENSON Homicide. He advised that he had been married to one , and since living with he had heard some things ~~about~~ his mother-in-law whose name is phone i. From the things he had heard from mother and his own observations, he was suspicious or had come to believe that possibly was involved in the homicide of Linda BENSON.

said that approximately the previous Sunday as well as today 7/31/79 he had talked with over the phone regarding told him that she and the rest of the family first believed that had something to do with the death of Linda BENSON. is the mother of Linda BENSON. She believed this because when she was living in the Hershey Nebraska area belonged to a religious cult in which the people worshiped pictures and objects and would do things that the Lord was telling them to do. The whole family belonged to this cult. When came to Grand Junction she had attended religious meetings in a private home during the time Linda BENSON was murdered. He did not know if this religious cult in Nebraska and these religious meetings in these private homes were one of the same but thought that he should mention these. Regarding the meetings in Grand Junction a subject by the name of who runs a restaurant on S. 9th St. and another subject by the name of who was a construction worker for the telephone company also belonged to this group. He attended these meetings in Grand Junction to appease and they consisted of a group of people gathering in a private home reading the bible and interpreting it in their own way. There was nothing unusual other than the fact that they met in a private home. They did not do anything like worship pictures or other things of this nature. This group did meet at the Labor Temple in Grand Junction on several occasions.

did not have anything definite to be suspicious of having something to do with this homicide other than within the last several months she had been acting rather strange to him. He had first met approximately August 1978 while she was working on Gay Johnson's on First Street as a waitress, and she has worked for Temporary Services here in Grand Junction. When he met her she was the finest woman anyone could want. After they had got married she all of a sudden started putting him down sort of speaking, and also started to write numerous checks from the company business without any real excuse. He had talked to her about this and after they had argued about this she decided to leave him and she left him approximately three or four months ago this year. did not talk too much about Linda's death and the only thing that he could recall that somebody had butchered up Linda and her daughter. He did not know Linda BENSON and that ad mentioned to him the possibility of Linda BENSON'S husband or husband. of doing these murders. He could not give a reason as to why had thought this. But in his mind, WAS a strange person and he stated that she had twenty-five different personalities.

stated that as far as he knew had been married to a railroad worker who had later died of a heart attack and then to another subject by the name of in North Flats Nebraska. And that had a child by whose name was who is 23 years old at this time. He then stated that the husband before himself was was asked why believed that had anything to do with the BENSON homicide. The only reason that gave him was because had belonged to this religious cult. stated that is currently living at and is living with her youngest boy by the name of also has another son by the name of who is in Germany and another daughter by the name of who lives somewhere in Grand Junction. knew that a had also been a daughter and that she had supposedly died of a drug overdose in Aspen. It was interesting to him the while he was living with her had a picture of Linda BENSON and her daughter but did not have a picture of felt from what he had learned from and from his own observations there was a possibility of being involved in this homicide and felt that he should tell the police department. requested that his name be kept out of the investigation if at all possible and that because of her age not be contacted.

This is an interview with He resides at Apartment Grand Junction, Colorado. His home phone number is works for Mountain Bell Telephone. He has been employed there for twenty seven (27) years. His office number is or . Officer Vig and Officer John Hakes from the Mesa County Sheriff's Department contacted at the Sheriff's Department on 7-31-79 at approximately 1:30 P.M. This interview with was concerning now married to a but is in the process of separation from and is back living on Court.

said that he has known for approximately two and one-half years and they are pretty good friends. They are seeing each other at this time. stated that he met here in Grand Junction and started dating her. Then moved over to his place in Denver, Colorado where he was employed with Mountain Bell Telephone, at that time, as an instructor. She lived with him over there from October of 1977 to July of 1978 and then she went back to Grand Junction to be with her sons, because she was worried that her sons were not getting enough attention from the father due to his working and the boys being left alone by themselves might be getting in trouble.

stated (which he thought was strange) that would get depressed during the time she spent with him in Denver concerning , her daughter, and also Linda and Linda's daughter Kelly. She would get very depressed and very independent (would not let anyone help her with anything). She would always bring up that Bundy might have had something to do with the killing of her two daughters and her granddaughter, but no reason why at the time that she thought it was Bunte. She followed up quite a bit on Bunte, concerning the other homicides and she would mention to that maybe Bunte would get the death penalty or something like that and he would admit her daugthers (especially Linda and Kelly's) deaths and this would clear the case.

stated that this occurred around July (certain time of the year she would get very depressed, like this was bothering her or brought back memories concerning Linda and Kelly and the time they were killed) at that time he didn't know what day of the month it was. He was wondering if had a nervous problem or any kind of problem relating to this. He knew that she had gone through quite a bit, like loosing also Linda and Kelly and almost loosing her son; who was asphyxiated with carbon monoxide when he fell asleep in the vehicle.

stated that maybe the rest of the months later on like September or August she would get of this, not being so depressed and be kind of happy. She would go along for sometime and then a certain of the year she (he was thinking maybe the month of March one time) seemed kind of depressed and down. He was wondering what had occurred if her other daughter, had passed away at that time. He noticed the month of March or July that she would get very depressed. During these months she would be very independent, would plan alot of things for herself to do to keep active. If he would try to talk to her she would kind of put him off---such as ---I'll see you later, I've got to get going. She would always be in a hurry to go someplace or do some work. She would always get independent when she was depressed and would not talk much, like a different person and then later on she can be real happy, talkative and then in twenty-four hours she can change right back to being very depressed with no apparent reason unless it is concerning her daughters.

Also said that is a very neat person. She is a terrific housekeeper. She is a good worker and she would never lay stuff around, she would always pick it up and be neat and put it away. She worked up at St. Mary's Hospital and in her spare time she would be picking fruit or canning or making jam or something. She was a very active woman.

stated that never brought up any suspects names except Bundy, that is the only one she mentioned to him. No other name was mention by her as someone she thought might have done her in, especially Linda and Kelly. She always brought Bundy, Ted Bundy---he either had met with them or had something to do with the killing of her and Kelly,

Also stated that after came back to Grand Junction, an opening came up here in Grand Junction wtih the Telephone Company so he bid for that and he got it and was transfered to Grand Junction.

He has been in contact with has been seeing, going out for dinners and

Interview with:

going out for drives. At this time she has separated from her husband, and is living back at her home on stated that when they got back from the trip, they noticed on her car that her sticker was about ready to expire at the end of July. He told her her horn did not work and also the cruise control did not work and she had better get this fixed ahead of time, to get an appointment, someone to fix it, because when it's time to put the sticker on, she will have to fix it then or she won't be able to get a sticker. So Monday, the 23rd, she made an appointment, I guess, to drop the car and get it fixed and called and asked if he would pick her up. He said he would and they would go out for lunch or something. So Tuesday, which would have been the 24th of July of 1979, she dropped the car off and he went by and picked her up and went downtown and had something to eat. She was very happy, not depressed at all like she was Monday or Sunday. She walked with him and walked down to get the car and then went home. The next day he talked to her on the phone and he recalled that she said she picked some apricots and she was kind of depressed in a sense, not bad, but that she was busy, she had to go, she couldn't talk. The conversation didn't last more that three minutes, very short. She had to get going to get work. He thought it was kind of strange, it was like she was back in her depressive mood again.

On July 22nd (she has been kind of depressed this month, also, like a pattern, thought) she wanted to go for a drive (-7-22-79) and he happend to mention Ouray or Telluride and she said, "Let's go to Aspen." He said, fine, so they left for Aspen at 7:30 the morning of the 22nd which was a Sunday and had just gotten off work at approximately 11:00 P.M. the night before which was Saturday, so she was kind of tired. Up there she didn't say much. They went to Glenwood, ate a late breakfast in Carbondale and from there they went to Redstone and from Redstone up to Aspen. He didn't know if going up there was bringing back memories of her other daughter, which understands was found dead of an overdose or something there in Aspen, Colorado. stated that while they were taking this trip, never did mention her daughter, while they were in Aspen or at any time during the trip.

Also stated that never did tell him anything about how Linda or Kelly was found at the crime scene or what kind of weapons were used or anything

said he'd never met Linda Benson or Kelly nor did he ever meet The only that he knows is and her other He didn't meet until approximately two and a half years ago and this was after Linda and Kelly were killed and also after had passed away.

Also stated that father and father, Mr. still lives in Grand Junction. He comes by and picks up the boys and goes fishing or camping or stops by and sees Also stated that has never suspicioned her exhusband, or ever accused him in his presence concerning the killings of Linda and Kelly. But, did mention one time during a conversation that maybe there was a connection that and Linda (with living in Aspen, might have met Ted Bundy) might also have met Ted Bundy and this is why she thinks Ted Bundy had something to do with the killing of Linda and Kelly and that maybe he will come forward with it and this will clarify what happened to Linda nad Kelly.

Also stated that the last time saw her step-mother back in North Platte, Nebraska was when they went back for a three or four day visit and this was approximately, he thinks, 15 months ago. Once in awhile will talk about her step-mother, not too much about her sister back in North Platte, not too often even about her mother except on Mother's Day or some certain day. figured she and her step-mother got along fine otherwise.

Also stated that brought up something about her step-mother owns some land back in North Platte and, in some manner, if she passes away this property will be divided among her sister and a brother that is farming the land. The property would be split among the kids.

was shown a couple of photos by Officer Hakes and Officer Vig at the Sheriff's Department on 8-2-79 at approximately 1:50 P.M. to see if she recognized the two photos of the small girls in the two snapshots. She studied the two photos for quite some time and stated, no, that she couldn't recall seeing these pictures before and also she didn't recognize anyone she knew, but seems like she recalls seeing these after studying them for some time. She recalls maybe seeing these photos in an annual somewhere, but she is not sure. At this time Officer Vig and Hakes advised that they thought maybe by looking at the photo of Kelly in the newspaper concerning her death that was printed in the Sentinel that there was a resemblance in the one picture to this girl. At this time stated, no, that isn't a picture of Kelly, because if it was she would have recognized the photo itself.

At this time brought up (she thinks it's strange) that early Spring, she thinks the month of April of 1979, she noticed some of her snapshots of Linda and Kelly and were missing from the bulletin board; which she claims is next to the phone in the kitchen. She thought it was strange that somebody had taken the snapshots from the bulletin board. She stated that the snapshot was approximately 3½" x 4½", a color picture. It was a group picture of Linda, standing by Linda's 1975 pickup truck, red in color. She stated this snapshot was taken off the bulletin board and she can't find it. She stated the group picture was taken probably in the month of February of 1975. Also she stated that Kelly's picture was taken also. But then she changed it, and recalled that Kelly's picture is still there on the bulletin board, it was not taken. She stated the colored snapshot of Kelly is missing from the bulletin board. She thinks this picture of Kelly was taken maybe in the spring of 1973.

Also missing from the bulletin board is the proof picture of Linda. This picture was taken approximately the year of 1969 which was the year Linda graduated and she had short hair at that time. At the time of her death said Linda had long hair, below the shoulders.

At this time stated she did not misplace the picture that she knows of, she is sure of that. The only suspect she might think of would have taken the pictures from the bulletin board would be her because he comes over to visit

Interview with:

Also stated that she does have another picture of It is a snapshot of in a gold case and also one Kelly in a gold case.

Also stated that she recalls that she asked Officer Doug Rushing at the time for the funeral, what kind of clothes she should put on Linda and she recalls Doug telling her that maybe something with a high collar of some sort, but Doug never did state why.

She does recall (she thinks) mentioning that Linda was scratched. At this time Officers Vig and Hakes asked her if she knew where Linda was scratched. She said, no, just said Linda was scratched, but didn't say where.

At this time Officers Vig and Hakes asked if she recalls anyone mentioning what kind of weapons or how they were killed? No, she recalls though that did tell her that a crowbar was used maybe to hit Linda on the head, because she had a bruise or blow to her head and there was supposed to have been a crowbar and did admit that it was his crowbar. She heard that and she also stated that did have some tools, maybe in the closet and maybe that is where the crow bar came from.

Also stated that the last time that she saw Linda and Kelly was on Thursday around noon. They were at her place and Kelly wanted to stay there, but told her she couldn't. She told Kelly she'd be over to see her the next day. So at approximately 7:00 P.M. (she thinks) on Friday, she went over there to pick up Kelly and she saw a newspaper by the door. She knocked and rang the doorbell, but nobody answered. The door was locked and at this time she thought that maybe Linda and Kelly were gone someplace, so she left. She stated that approximately an hour later and dad came over and told her what had happened to Linda and Kelly (this was at her place).

Interview with:

She stated that the babysitter that she knew that Linda used for Kelly was who lived in the apartment above Linda's. She was about her closest girlfriend that can recall at that time, the last few months. would babysit Kelly for Linda, if she had to go on an errand or something. She stated that has moved from the apartments now, but she has seen her several times here in Grand Junction, but doesn't know where she lives. is the only babysitter that Barbara can recall Linda using to sit for Kelly.)

Also at this time stated that she doesn't what type of weapons were used to kill Linda or Kelly. The only thing she heard (it was in the newspaper, she thinks) that some knives were found in the kitchen sink, but actually she doesn't know at this time what weapons were used to (or if any) kill Linda and Kelly.

Also in regards to the blood types, she stated that she thinks Linda had B positve She doesn't know what Kelly's blood type was nor does she know or blood types. Neither does she know but her blood type is A positve.

Also stated that she did get remarried to a and that also she spent some time in Denver and while she was in Denver, her and kind of watched the house there on Juniper .

could not remember how Linda's hands had been tied behind her. She did recall that by the time she had gotten into the room that night Linda had already gotten one hand free.

explained that there was some resentment on part towards Linda. She felt it was because she spent quite a bit of time caring for the girls, and jealousy and resentment developed on his part.

According to the early years of their marriage experienced the usual sexual relationship, that being normal male-female relations -- nothing far out or sadistic. There were time however that felt he had gotten a little rough. An example she used: He would grab her shoulders tightly and cause a small amount of pain. She can't remember whether this grip left bruises or not. felt this was masculinity showing through.

During this period in their marriage did have a drinking problem, and he had told her on occasion that he was an alcoholic, and there was quite some conflict because of this drinking problem. She stated there really were no problems sexual at this time.

In about 1960, according to the grandparents of who had adopted him when he was a small child, gave him a dairy farm in North Platte, Nebraska. worked the farm for a while, then got tired of it and sold the dairy going to Florida. At this time he had $7,000.00 or $8,000.00 profit from the sale of dairy farm. at that time had considered selling the farm an irrational act which had hurt his grandparents a lot. He did not seem to care whether or not they were hurt.

At this time the girls were left in North Platte, Nebraska to finish out a school year. It was planned that the girls would join them in Florida at the end of that school year. Also, did not seem to care for the two girls. Mrs. figured it was due to the fact that he was a young man adjusting to marriage which had brought a family with it and the children being of the ages they were. At times he was very cross

Florida began work on a part-time basis with a newspaper and began drinking very badly. One time he gotten into an auto accident and became very emotional afterwards. One night he took a revolver out and was going to shoot himself. Following this incident, left him, returning to North Platte where she stayed with her children inserted the following statement: "I feel he always had a violent temper. I always felt I had to walk on egg shells all the time. It was as thought he were the only one who had the right to be upset about anything."

that during their stay in Florida that sexual activity was normal, that being normal male-female relationship. She also inserted that he would drink himself into a state of anger. In later years when drinking he commented that he was always angry about something.

After leaving and returning to North Platte. followed. They went back together and he tried to quit drinking and straighten up. He got a job with the Sunshine Bisquit Company and did well at selling. One night he was out drinking and was picked up by Nebraska police for DWI. He lost his driver's license as a result and could no longer hold his job as salesman because it required driving.

He decided to go to another state and picked Grand Junction because of it's location and the Four Corners area and because of selling in the Four Corners area.

When they first moved to Grand Junction, they moved to an apartment on Colorado Avenue in April of 1961 approximately. At that time he started out working for Plateau Equipment.

"One night in the apartment on Colorado Avenue tried to tie me up. He was drunk. He held my arms behind me. He reached for something and I got away. He caught me and started choking me. I couldn't even make any noises, he was choking me so hard. I scratched him so hard, I drew blood. I think this kinda jolted him because he stopped choking me. I can't exactly remember what happened after that, but I felt in cold fear for a while following that incident. I cannot remember whether or not I had called the police. He is always remorseful after the incident, and can always con me into believing in him."

Shortly after this we purchased a home on Orchard Mesa in the KNob Hill area, who had been in North Platte finishing out the school year, joined us. After purchasing this home on Orchard Mesa his drinking became very bad again and we started a divorce action which was final in the spring of 1962.

After papers were served on him, came out to the house on Orchard Mesa one night and was very drunk, crawling around on the floor in the nude. I got away from him, left the house and called the sheriff's office. I think it was who came out to the house, but when the officer arrived was gone, disappeared somewhere. I thought he had just taken off. talked me into going to a motel.

The next morning I returned home and found the pans out of the cupboard, also a shelf out of the cupboard. Apparently he had hid in this cupboard when the Deputy was in the house the night before. (Talked with Joe Hicks who had been on this particular call and had indeed found him hiding in the cupboard.)

After the divorce was final was working as a waitress at the Far East Cafe. She met a fellow there by the name of and had married him. It lasted two or three days. She felt she had just married him for security since she had several children to care for. further stated that had come out and told that loved him and not always felt that had caused to leave her. The marriage was annulled shortly after this.

Late in the year of 1962 got back together and had remarried. He was pretty decent for quite a while, not drinking at that time. They were living at the house on Orchard Mesa. We weren't married very long and she had become pregnant was just a little fellow when started drinking again. I left him again, and moved to an apartment on B½ Road by the Orchard Mesa Elementary School. At these times I was in constant fear of him when he was drinking. We were separated for sa short time. He had moved to a downtown apartment. But we got back together again and moved to an apartment on F Road where was doing fairly well, sexually active and I became pregnant but lost the child.

"At one time I went to Dr. Lehmkuhle concerning lack of sexual activity and also about drinking problem. Dr. Lehnkuhle had told me that sexual drive not normal and the frequency of urge was just not there. He figured this was due to the alcohol. Also at this time, we were having very difficult financial time."

In 1965 purchased the home on Juniper Court and at that time was doing pretty well and was happy with his new home. Shortly after he began drinking heavily and was out town quite a bit. He is a self-employed contractor.

A year or two later started running around with other women and asked for a divorce. would put it off. She further stated that he would press her for the divorce and would ask on an almost daily basis if she had started the divorce procedure. Finally she started it in the spring of 1968 and divorce was final in the fall of 1968.

"One time he called me up from Glenwood Springs and gave me an ultimatum. It was of the nature "It's either me. You've got to choose. Get rid of them, and I'll come back."

The arrangement for the girls was made and they got an apartment together. Every Saturday morning I would go to the girls and get them. He was very jealous, as if I wasn't paying enough attention to him. At those times he felt sure if the girls were out of the way our marriage would work.

"At that time I knew the situation was ridiculous, having living away from home. And my marriage wasn't going to work anyway. The divorce was finalized in the fall of 1968. From that time til 1970 we did not live together or have any sexual relations."

stated that the word '1968' sets him off and when an arguement is imminent are brought up and blamed for the breakup of their marriage in 1968.

Linda became pregnant in the spring of 1969. recalls the name of the father being He was a student at Mesa College at the time found out she was pregnant and left for the Denver area. Linda had staved with her through her pregnancy and Kelley was born January 15, 1970. Linda then moved to an apartment with "I don't remember where the apartment was and I don't recall if any problems developed with bothering them.

After Kelley had grown a little bit, they would spend the week ends with At one time while she was separated from Kelley was with her out watering flowers in the yard at or just messing around with the hose would come over for no apparent reason, turn the hose off and state that water is expensive. An argument would instantly insue with him about who pays the water bill. He would become very resentful about the situation.

In recent years has become an increasingly violent person. He drinks heavily and often. He goes to the bars quite often.

He has never had a decent word to say about either of the kids.

I feel the reason for the attack on Kelly was because she could identify him. She was a brilliant child.

Thursday night, when decided to go to Glenwood Springs, it was all of a sudden. He went in his pickup and didn't ask either of the boys. I think it would have been more reasonable to have taken his car but he didn't ask for it.

Wednesday night did tell the kids he was going to stay at the Sands because he wasn't sleeping well at home. He lives in an apartment on

In 1968, and I were divorced but we went back together again. A second divorce was filed and it became final in May 1975. Because of several incidents of harrassment, my attorney, Larry Marquez, wrote him a letter which was sent in June requesting him to stop bothering me.

I saw Linda and Kelly Wednesday evening and again on Thursday during my lunch hour. I stopped by the apartment last evening (Friday 7-25-75) about 1900 hrs. I knocked on and tried the door. There was no answer and it was locked. The car was there but I supposed she was visiting somewhere so I left. I thought it strange with the car being there and she was visiting friends in the building she would lock the door. Seldom would she do so if she was in the building.

Linda didn't call me often because she didn't have a phone but she would come over every couple of days, usually during my lunch hour. The last time I was at the apartment was about two weeks ago. I stopped over on a Sunday evening and visited with Linda

Linda and were down town a few days back. They saw one of Lindas' old boy friends from the Denver area. They didn't talk to him but did have a laugh about how fruitie and ridiculous he looked now as opposed to how

I can't remember any local boy friends. She went with a few from the Denver area while attending Mesa College.

The father of Kelly was a boy who was going to Mesa when she was. His name I knew at one time but it has slipped my mind. He was from Denver and lived at the Dorm is about all I remember now. He never did any thing for Linda or Kelly.

As for any problems or being bothered Linda never mentioned anyone doing so. However, it was often on her mind if something ever happened to her, that would try to get Kelly.

Linda told me one time, if anything happens to me to go after She never would explain to me why she had this feeling - it was something we understood.

When he would try to tie me up. This occurred once in Nebraska and twice in Colorado. And, he did sexually assault Linda when she was about 6 or 7 years old. He locked me in a room and tied her up in another with shoe strings. When I heard Linda crying I started banging on the door and he ran. There was nothing to indicate he did anything to her and I didn't have her examined. maintained her sexual relationship with was normal in all respects.)

Now, when he comes over and sees the boys playing with a rope it upsets him terribly and he becomes very strange. has frequently stated, " I am a liar, adulterer and the many other things he is, but I am not a murderer." has mentioned that strange things were going to happen. I think he felt Linda stood in his way in getting the three children back. Last night (Friday 7-25-75) he drove up just after had told me about Linda. When I told him he showed instant grief.

This is an interview with [redacted]

[redacted] works for Mountain Bell Telephone. He has been employed there for twenty seven (27) years. His office number is [redacted] Officer Vig and Officer John Hakes from the Mesa County Sheriff's Department contacted [redacted] at the Sheriff's Department on 7-31-79 at approximately 1:30 P.M. This interview with [redacted] was concerning [redacted] now married to a [redacted] but is in the process of separation from [redacted] and is back living on [redacted]

[redacted] said that he has known [redacted] for approximately two and one-half years and they are pretty good friends. They are seeing each other at this time. [redacted] stated that he met [redacted] here in Grand Junction and started dating her. Then [redacted] moved over to his place in Denver, Colorado where he was employed with Mountain Bell Telephone, at that time, as an instructor. She lived with him over there from October of 1977 to July of 1978 and then she went back to Grand Junction to be with her sons, because she was worried that her sons were not getting enough attention from the [redacted] due to his working and the boys being left alone by themselves might be getting in trouble.

[redacted] stated (which he thought was strange) that [redacted] would get depressed during the time she spent with him in Denver concerning [redacted] and also Linda and Linda's daughter Kelly. She would get very depressed and very independent (would not let anyone help her with anything). She would always bring up that [redacted] might have had something to do with the killing of [redacted] but no reason why at the time that she thought it was [redacted] She followed up quite a bit on [redacted] concerning the other homicides and she would mention to [redacted] that maybe [redacted] would get the death penalty or something like that and he would admit [redacted] (especially Linda and Kelly's) deaths and this would clear the case.

[redacted] stated that this occurred around July (certain time of the year she would get very depressed, like this was bothering her or brought back memories concerning Linda and Kelly and the time they were killed) at that time he didn't know what day of the month it was. He was wondering if [redacted] had a nervous problem or any kind of problem relating to this. He knew that she had gone through quite a bit, like loosin[redacted]lso Linda and Kelly and almost loosing [redacted]who was asphyxiated with carbon monoxide when he fell asleep in the vehicle.

[redacted] stated that maybe the rest of the months later on like September or August she would get of this, not being so depressed and be kind of happy. She would go along for sometime and then a certain of the year she (he was thinking maybe the month of March one time) seemed kind of depressed and down. He was wondering what had occurred if [redacted] had passed away at that time. He noticed the month of March or July that she would get very depressed. During these months she would be very independent, would plan alot of things for herself to do to keep active. If he would try to talk to her she would kind of put him off---such as ---I'll see you later, I've got to get going. She would always be in a hurry to go someplace or do some work. She would always get independent when she was depressed and would not talk much, like a different person and then later on she can be real happy, talkative and then in twenty-four hours she can change right back to being very depressed with no apparent reason unless it is concerning [redacted]

Also [redacted]said that [redacted] is a very neat person. She is a terrific housekeeper. She is a good worker and she would never lay stuff around, she would always pick it up and be neat and put it away. She worked up at St. Mary's Hospital and in her spare time she would be picking fruit or canning or making jam or something. She was a very active woman.

[redacted] stated tha[redacted]ever brought up any suspects names except [redacted] that is the only one she mentioned to him. No other name was mention by her as someone she thought might have done her daughters in, especially Linda and Kelly. She always brought[redacted]--he either had met with them or had something to do with the killing [redacted]

Also [redacted] stated that afte[redacted]came back to Grand Junction, an opening came up here in Grand Junction wtih the Telephone Company so he bid for that and he got it and was transfered to Grand Junction.

He has been in contact with [redacted] has been seeing, going out for dinners and going out for drives. At this time she has separated from her and is living back at her home on Juniper Court.

On July 22nd (she has been kind of depressed this month, also, like a pattern, thought) she wanted to go for a drive (-7-22-79) and he happend to mention Ouray or Telluride and she said, "Let's go to Aspen." He said, fine, so they left for Aspen at 7:30 the morning of the 22nd which was a Sunday and ad just gotten off work at approximately 11:00 P.M. the night before which was Saturday, so she was kind of tired. Up there she didn't say much. They went to Glenwood, ate a late breakfast in Carbondale and from there they went to Redstone and from Redstone up to Aspen. He didn't know if going up there was bringing back memories of her which understands was found dead of an overdose or something there in Aspen, Colorado. stated that while they were taking this trip never did mention while they were in Aspen or at any time during the trip.

stated that when they got back from the trip, they noticed on her car that her sticker was about ready to expire at the end of July. He told her her horn did not work and also the cruise control did not work and she had better get this fixed ahead of time, to get an appointment, someone to fix it, because when it's time to put the sticker on, she will have to fix it then or she won't be able to get a sticker. So Monday, the 23rd, she made an appointment, I guess, to drop the car and get it fixed and called and asked if he would pick her up. He said he would and they would go out for lunch or something. So Tuesday, which would have been the 24th of July of 1979, she dropped the car off and he went by and picked her up and went downtown and had something to eat. She was very happy, not depressed at all like she was Monday or Sunday. She walked with him and walked down to get the car and then went home. The next day he talked to her on the phone and he recalled that she said she picked some apricots and she was kind of depressed in a sense, not bad, but that she was busy, she had to go, she couldn't talk. The conversation didn't last more that three minutes, very short. She had to get going to get work. He thought it was kind of strange, it was like she was back in her depressive mood again.

Also stated that never did tell him anything about how Linda or Kelly was found at the crime scene or what kind of weapons were used or anything

said he'd never met Linda Benson or Kelly nor did he ever meet The only that he knows is and her other He didn't meet until approximately two and a half years ago and this was after Linda and Kelly were killed and also after had passed away.

Also stated that still lives in Grand Junction. He comes by and picks up the boys and goes fishing or camping or stops by and sees Also stated that has never suspicioned or ever accused him in his presence concerning the killings of Linda and Kelly. But, did mention one time during a conversation that maybe there was a connection that and Linda (with living in Aspen, might have met might also have met and this is why she thinks had something to do with the killing of Linda and Kelly and that maybe he will come forward with it and this will clarify what happened to Linda nad Kelly.

Also stated that the last time saw her step-mother back in North Platte, Nebraska was when they went back for a three or four day visit and this was approximately, he thinks, 15 months ago. Once in awhile will talk about her step-mother, not too much about her sister back in North Platte, not too often even about her mother except on Mother's Day or some certain day. figured she and her step-mother got along fine otherwise.

Also stated that brought up something about her step-mother owns some land back in North Platte and, in some manner, if she passes away this property will be divided among her sister and a brother that is farming the land. The property would be split among the kids.

[redacted] had related to Milo Vig and myself that [redacted] had told her that there were scratches on the body of Linda Benson. [redacted] did not say where these scratches were on the body, but just that [redacted] had told her that there were scratches on the body. Prior to her telling us this, she had stated that she had not seen the bodies at the crime scene. I contacted [redacted] concerning this to see if he could recall telling [redacted] of any scratches on the body of Linda Benson. [redacted] told me over the phone that he was not aware of any scratches on the body of Linda Benson. Also I mentioned to [redacted] the fact that [redacted] believed that the crowbar had been used to strike Linda Benson in the head. [redacted] told me that he might have talked the crowbar over with [redacted] but in his own mind [redacted] believes that the ashtray was used instead of the crowbar.

was shown a couple of photos by Officer Hakes and Officer Vig at the Sheriff's Department on 8-2-79 at approximately 1:50 P.M. to see if she recognized the two photos of the small girls in the two snapshots. She studied the two photos for quite some time and stated, no, that she couldn't recall seeing these pictures before and also she didn't recognize anyone she knew, but seems like she recalls seeing these after studying them for some time. She recalls maybe seeing these photos in an annual somewhere, but she is not sure. At this time Officer Vig and Hakes advised that they thought maybe by looking at the photo of Kelly in the newspaper concerning her death that was printed in the Sentinel that there was a resemblance in the one picture to this girl. At this time stated, no, that isn't a picture of Kelly, because if it was she would have recognized the photo itself.

At this time brought up (she thinks it's strange) that early Spring, she thinks the month of April of 1979, she noticed some of her snapshots of Linda and Kelly and were missing from the bulletin board, which she claims is next to the phone in the kitchen. She thought it was strange that somebody had taken the snapshots from the bulletin board. She stated that the snapshot was approximately 3½" x 4½", a color picture. It was a group picture of Linda, Kelly and standing by Linda's 1975 pickup truck, red in color. She stated this snapshot was taken off the bulletin board and she can't find it. She stated the group picture was taken probably in the month of February of 1975. Also she stated that and Kelly's picture was taken also. But then she changed it, and recalled that and Kelly's picture is still there on the bulletin board, it was not taken. She stated the colored snapshot of Kelly is missing from the bulletin board. She thinks this picture of Kelly was taken maybe in the spring of 1973.

Also missing from the bulletin board is the proof picture of Linda. This picture was taken approximately the year of 1969 which was the year Linda graduated and she had short hair at that time. At the time of her death said Linda had long hair, below the shoulders.

At this time stated she did not misplace the picture that she knows of, she is sure of that. The only suspect she might think of would have taken the pictures from the bulletin board would be because he comes over to visit stated the proof picture of Linda (her graduation picture) that was taken from the bulletin board was her only picture of Linda, because Linda had the large graduation picture. She doesn't have any pictures out now of Linda, but she does have a picture of and Kelly on the bulletin board (a snapshot).

Also stated that she recalls that she asked Officer Doug Rushing at the time for the funeral, what kind of clothes she should put on Linda and she recalls Doug telling her that maybe something with a high collar of some sort, but Doug never did state why.

She does recall (she thinks) mentioning that Linda was scratched. At this time Officers Vig and Hakes asked her if she knew where Linda was scratched. She said, no, Larry just said Linda was scratched, but didn't say where.

At this time Officers Vig and Hakes asked if she recalls anyone mentioning what kind of weapons or how they were killed? No, she recalls though that Larry did tell her that a crowbar was used maybe to hit Linda on the head, because she had a bruise or blow to her head and there was supposed to have been a crowbar and did admit that it was his crowbar. She heard that and she also stated that did have some tools, maybe in the closet and maybe that is where the crow bar came from.

Also stated that the last time that she saw Linda and Kelly was on Thursday around noon. They were at her place and Kelly wanted to stay there, but told her she couldn't. She told Kelly she'd be over to see her the next day. So at approximately 7:00 P.M. (she thinks) on Friday, she went over there to pick up Kelly and she saw a newspaper by the door. She knocked and rang the doorbell, but nobody answered. The door was locked and at this time she thought that maybe Linda and Kelly were gone someplace, so she left. She stated that approximately an hour later and came over and told her what had happened to Linda and Kelly (this was at her place).

Interview with:

She stated that the babysitter that she knew that Linda used for Kelly was who lived in the apartment She was about her closest girlfriend that can recall at that time, the last few months. would babysit Kelly for Linda, if she had to go on an errand or something. She stated that has moved from the apartments now, but she has seen her several times here in Grand Junction, but doesn't know where she lives. is the only babysitter that can recall Linda using to sit for Kelly.)

Also at this time stated that she doesn't what type of weapons were used to kill Linda or Kelly. The only thing she heard (it was in the newspaper, she thinks) that some knives were found in the kitchen sink, but actually she doesn't know at this time what weapons were used to (or if any) kill Linda and Kelly.

Also in regards to the blood types, she stated that she thinks Linda had B positve She doesn't know what Kelly's blood type was nor does she know blood types. Neither does she know but her blood type is A positve.

Also stated that she did get remarried to a and that also she spent some time in Denver and while she was in Denver, , and kind of watched the house there on .

15. Details: [redacted] were informed that their son [redacted] was being charged with indecent exposure which took place at 0730 hours 22 June 74. It was stated at that time to the parents that [redacted] would have charges filed through the District Attorney's office on the 24th of June 74 and that was because [redacted] has no previous record concerning this type of charge and that it was very possible that [redacted] would be released to his parents on a probationary period. However this decision would be made only by the District Attorney and it was also informed to the parents that they would be notified by the District Attorney and that he would either settle the matter by just an interview with them as the parents or he could be taken before the Judge and the case would be taken to Court.

The son, [redacted] has been very cooperative following opening the door to the officers after he had been fully dressed and had realized that the incident of indecent exposure was more serious than he had realized. He appeared to show regret by having had such a situation happen and stated that he was only glad to find out that it happened to him at a younger age rather than after he got older because he knew that the penalty would not be as severe now. He knew that it was something that he could not get away with. The son, [redacted] was then turned over to the custody of his parents,

INTERVIEW WITH ON 13 MAY 1974 AT 1950 HOURS:

I contacted in the Booking Rm. of the City County Jail where he was being booked into jail by Officer Stiles on warrant issued by Judge Moss from County Court on charge of indecent conduct per CRS 1963 Rev. 40-7-302.

was brought to the detective interview room after completion of Booking procedures. After offering a chair and asking if he wanted a cup of coffee and being refused, I explained his rights per Miranda warning and received an oral waiver of his rights. I then gave the copy of the warrant for his arrest and list of witnesses and explained how and why the warrant was issued. looked at the warrant and witness papers over for about 4 or 5 minutes then put them back on my desk. I asked if he had any questions about the warrant or why he was arrested and he said he didn't understand why he was arrested because he had not exposed himself to anyone.

I explained that his picture had been identified by the 2 older girls involved and asked how he could have been identified if he were not the person who had exposed himself. said "I don't know." I asked if he could explain where he had been during the afternoon of 10 May 1974 and he said "I walked to my Mother's place on Mesa Ave. and when she wasn't home, I walked back to my place at the A&W Trailer Park that evening." I asked if he had been near the LaMasters Trailer Park & Motel and he said "I don't think so, I'm not sure where it is."

I asked if at anytime on the 10th of May 1974 he had exposed himself to anyone and he said "No.".

I terminated the interview and took back to the Booking Room and told him he would be arraigned on 14 May 1974 at County Court.

Jailer Willard Houck asked if he wanted to call an attorney or anyone at this time and said "No." He was then locked up by Houck.

When came into the living room she saw the boy completely exposed and, after a second, she told him to get out, and repeated, "Get out!", and the boy simply asked her, "Do you like it, do you like it?", and was shaking his organs at her. got up from her chair and told the boy she was going to call her father. CITY OF Grand Junction
COLORADO
POLICE

February 6, 2008

Colorado Bureau of Investigation
301 S. Nevada
Montrose, CO 81401

Attn: Agent in Charge Kevin Humphreys

RE: GJPD Case # 75-3545 Double Homicide

Dear Mr. Humphreys,

On the night of July 24-25, 1975, unknown person(s) entered the apartment of Linda (Ketchum) Benson (Age 24) and her daughter Kelley Ketchum (Age 5). Both victims were stabbed to death. There may have been a struggle between Linda Benson and her assailant. The unknown assailant may have been injured resulting in their blood being found at the scene. The Grand Junction Police Department conducted an investigation and submitted several items to the Colorado Bureau of Investigation for examination. The blood type had been determined to be type A for Linda and Kelley. Blood items found at the scene were determined to be type A and type O.

The Grand Junction Police Department recently opened a cold case review of unsolved homicides in our jurisdiction. After a review of the evidence in this 1975 case we have identified several items of evidence that may yield new investigative leads. We believe analysis of the evidence may provide significant information that was not available 32 years ago.

I am attaching three (3) CBI reports from 1975 for your reference. CBI report 75-0169M dated 7/31/75 is the analysis of evidence by Nelson Jennett. CBI report 75-2480 dated 8/8/1975 is the analysis of evidence by Ted Davelis. CBI report 75-0169M dated 8/14/1975, is the blood typing for the victims by Dr. Thomas Canfield.

I am requesting examination of the below items to determine the source of any DNA found. I would like any unidentified DNA profile not belonging to the victim(s) be submitted into the Combined DNA Index System (CODIS).

The following items and barcodes are itemized on an attached GJPD property report.

Items Q2/2 and Q5/5 are knives. I am requesting analysis to determine the source of the blood on these items.

Items Q3#3, Q8/#11, Q9, Q16/L1, have been identified as containing type O blood by CBI analysis.

Items Q9/#13, Q12/BA2, Q13/BA3, Q15/B17, are undetermined blood type by CBI analysis.

Item Q11/BA1 has been identified as coming from near where Kelley Ketchum was found. Previous analysis of this blood by CBI determined it was type A.

Item Q14/B6 has been identified as coming from near victim Linda (Ketchum) Benson. Previous analysis of this blood by CBI determined it was type A.

Item Q6/6 is a washcloth. Previous analysis of this blood by CBI determined it was type A.

Item Q10/14 is a washcloth. Previous CBI analysis of this item indicated the presence of blood. Serological test of fat-like tissue adhering to the cloth indicated it was of human origin.

I am requesting analysis to determine the source of any DNA found on the above fourteen (14) items.

Items Q4, Q7, Q8, are from Linda (Ketchum) Benson's hands. I am requesting analysis to determine the source of any DNA found on these items.

LM1 is a mouth swab from is the biological mother of Linda and the grandmother of Kelley. Linda is the biological mother of Kelley. The father of Linda is deceased. The father of Kelley is unknown. We do not have a known verified source of DNA for either of the two victims. This LM1 sample is submitted for analysis and may be useful in helping to profile the victim bloods.

These homicides remained unsolved with no suspect identified.

Respectfully,

Greg Assenmacher
Commander, GJPD Investigations

gave me a call. He is in high gear thinking about this case. As with any family member he is concerned it will just bring up old wounds and not be resolved. He further related he has spoken with his mom and Dad. has told him that he will come anytime anyone wants and do what it takes to help.

I think is worried for the family and doesn't want to have this made a spectacle of in the news or something on that line. I assured him that is not the case and the only reason to re-open this is to perhaps solve the case. I told him no one could guarantee that would happen, but that is the objective.

I think other people may call me at times regarding this case. When that occurs I will let you know. He did relate that he was getting ahold of Commander Assenmacher right after we spoke at 3Pm this date (2/8/08)

RE: GJPD Case # 75-3545 Double Homicide

Dear Mr. Humphreys,

On the night of July 24-25, 1975, unknown person(s) entered the apartment of Linda (Ketchum) Benson (Age 24) and her daughter Kelley Ketchum (Age 5). Both victims were stabbed to death. There may have been a struggle between Linda Benson and her assailant. The unknown assailant may have been injured resulting in their blood being found at the scene. The Grand Junction Police Department conducted an investigation and submitted several items to the Colorado Bureau of Investigation for examination. The blood type had been determined to be type A for Linda and Kelley. Blood items found at the scene were determined to be type A and type O.

The Grand Junction Police Department recently opened a cold case review of unsolved homicides in our jurisdiction. After a review of the evidence in this 1975 case we have identified several items of evidence that may yield new investigative leads. We believe analysis of the evidence may provide significant information that was not available 32 years ago.

I am attaching three (3) CBI reports from 1975 for your reference. CBI report 75-0169M dated 7/31/75 is the analysis of evidence by Nelson Jennett. CBI report 75-2480 dated 8/8/1975 is the analysis of evidence by Ted Davelis. CBI report 75-0169M dated 8/14/1975, is the blood typing for the victims by Dr. Thomas Canfield.

I am requesting examination of the below items to determine the source of any DNA found. I would like any unidentified DNA profile not belonging to the victim(s) be submitted into the Combined DNA Index System (CODIS).

The following items and barcodes are itemized on an attached GJPD property report.

Items Q2/2 and Q5/5 are knives. I am requesting analysis to determine the source of the blood on these items.

Items Q3#3, Q8/#11, Q9, Q16/L1, have been identified as containing type O blood by CBI analysis.

Items Q9/#13, Q12/BA2, Q13/BA3, Q15/B17, are undetermined blood type by CBI analysis.

Item Q11/BA1 has been identified as coming from near where Kelley Ketchum was found. Previous analysis of this blood by CBI determined it was type A.

Item Q14/B6 has been identified as coming from near victim Linda (Ketchum) Benson. Previous analysis of this blood by CBI determined it was type A.

Item Q6/6 is a washcloth. Previous analysis of this blood by CBI determined it was type A.

Item Q/10/14 is a washcloth. Previous analysis of this item indicated the presence of blood. Serological test of fat-like tissue adhering to the cloth indicated it was of human origin.

I am requesting analysis to determine the source of any DNA found on the above fourteen (14) items.

Items Q4, Q7, Q8, are from Linda (Ketchum) Benson's hands. I am requesting analysis to determine the source of any DNA found on these items.

LM1 is a mouth swab from is the of Linda and the grandmother of Kelley. Linda is the biological mother of Kelley. The father of Linda is deceased. The father of Kelley is unknown. We do not have a known verified source of DNA for either of the two victims. This LM1 sample is submitted for analysis and may be useful in helping to profile the victim bloods.

These homicides remained unsolved with no suspect identified.

Respectfully,

Greg Assenmacher

Homicide Case #753545

Grand Junction, Colorado
Home Phone:

This is a supplement report concerning the Grand Junction Police Case No. 753545 concerning the homicide case of Linda Benson and her daughter, Kelly Benson.

This is an interview with Her husband's name is who also resides at the same address. at the time of the homicide case when Linda Benson was killed, had the name of she was married to She lived in the apartment just above where Linda and Kelly Benson lived.

stated that the night that Linda was killed that her, Linda and Kelly were out in front of the apartments outside and they were talking until about dark. She thought this was probably around 9:00 PM. From there they went up to Linda's apartment and she stayed there until approximately 9:30 with Linda. Then she was kind of tired and she went up to her apartment. She said she went to bed at approximately 10:00 PM. This was on a Thursday night. She stated she thought was already in bed asleep and she stated that he got up the next morning, which was Friday morning, between 5:00 AM and 6:00 AM. She woke up when got up and left for work. He worked out of town and had to leave early. She stated that she layed back down and slept some more because she was very tired. Also recalls that on her birthday she was over to Linda's apartment on July 21st. She stated that it was that night on July 21st that they were watching TV and they always leave the doors open to the apartments when they are visiting each other. While they were talking, some old man came by and stuck his head in and said some remark but they could not understand what he said; then he left. They kind of laughed about it and she said the man kind of looked strange, it was the first time that she ever saw him around there. He was about 50 years old, had a mustache and a beard. He had dark brown or black hair with a lot of gray in it. Probably collar length hair, he was not bald and had quite a bit of hair for that age. He was approximately 5'6" or 5'8", she is not sure on his height, medium build, and kind of a round face. This is the first time that her or Linda had seen him around the apartments. They thought it was kind of weird about this man sticking his head in and saying something. But they did not understand what he had said.

Also stated that she thought Linda was very nice, she met her when they moved to the apartments there. Her and her husband at that time, had moved from Florida. They were both from Orlando, Florida and had moved to Grand Junction and rented an apartment there. said that she babysat for Linda, that she would watch Kelly if she had to go and run errands or something like that. Otherwise she thought Linda was a real nice girl, she did not know much about her past. But by just talking to her they got to be pretty close friends. She would go down there in the evenings and watch TV with Linda. She stated that some nights they would watch TV until approximately midnight and then she would leave for her apartment and go to bed. But some nights she would stay, it depended upon what TV show or movie was on. Some nights it would be as late as midnight. She stated that as far as she knew that Linda was not having any affair with anybody else, a boyfriend or anything that she knew of. She stated that she and got along okay, except maybe they had normal family arguments, that is about all. She never has seen her real mad even at Kelly. Linda was a lady that seemed easy going to her.

Also stated that approximately a year before Linda was killed, Linda had told her that an old man had approached her about taking some pictures of her being nude and that he would pay for the pictures. Linda stated that she told this guy no, no way was she going to get involved in this and told him no. So as far as she knew, said, Linda did not have any more to do with him as far as she knew. said that once he was pointed out in the park, this guy was sitting down. She stated that this guy was an older man with gray hair, he looked a lot like the old guy that stuck his head in the door. But that night when the guy stuck his head in the door, Linda did not make any remark about this being the same guy, she did not say anything.

Also stated that she recalls how that on Thursday, the day before they found Linda, that Linda was up to her apartment and they were practicing Yoga some time between noon and 5:00. She cannot recall the time right off hand but it was in the afternoon, that Kelly was downstairs in Linda's apartment. Kelly came running up and said "Mother somebody is down there and wants to talk to you." At this time Linda kind of ignored her because they were practicing Yoga and Kelly repeated it twice that somebody was down to see her. So she left said, and she did not see her anymore until they sat outside in front of the apartments there in the yard. She recalls Linda maybe saying who they were, either a guy and his girlfriend or two guys. She thinks Linda said it was more than one person, but she cannot recall if Linda told her the names of the people that were there that afternoon. She is not sure, she thinks that Linda might have told her, but she just can't remember at this time. But said that if it was her mother or her stepfather or she would have told that it was her mother or dad. It was not them, it was somebody else that came to see her, but she just cannot recall who.

Also recalls Linda telling her when they were visiting one time together, that she had met a guy named in Grand Junction and that she was supposed to have gone with him to New York where this guy was from. His first name was and she stated that this guy was kind of weird. That he was impotent, that he lived with his mother and that she lived with them back there and that she just could not take it anymore so she left and came back. But the way Linda talked, this was kind of weird. Anyway, she thought it was awful funny one day, her and Linda went to the liquor store behind Teller Arms by the 7-11 Store and she stayed in the car and Linda went in to get something. She noticed this guy with a white football jersey with dark letters, blue or black in color, and he had written in big letters across this football jersey. This made her think about what Linda had told her about and this guy kind of followed Linda around in the store. Every place where Linda walked, he walked behind her. But Linda never did talk to him. He had long blonde hair and she recalls that he had tennis shoes on and that he had big feet. After Linda got back in the car, Linda did make a remark that that this guy looked like but she did not say that it was She said that this guy looked like that Linda lived with back in New York.

Also she recalls talking to a she cannot remember her last name, it was or or something, that lived down the street from the apartments. kids would play with her and Linda's kids. She recalls that after Linda was killed that had told her that while she was at work at the VA Hospital that some guy came in there and said that he was real weird and said that you'll be reading about it in the papers soon. She remembers telling the police this but she does not know if it was followed up or not. She thought it was strange because it was either on the same night that Linda was killed that this guy came into the VA Hospital or the night before. She can't remember for sure when told her this. Also stated that who is married to was a real good friend of Linda's. They have known each other for some years. She was kind of a close friend to Linda. said that maybe can help concerning some of Linda's friends.

Also stated that Friday, the day that Linda was found dead, that she got up at approximately 10:00 AM. She heard the cat hollering down in Linda's apartment and she could not figure it out because Linda usually lets the cat out. The cat kept hollering so she went down and knocked on the door and nobody answered so she thought well maybe Linda and Kelly are sleeping late. She went back up and then twice after dinner she went down but could not raise anyone so the last time she hollered Linda and knocked on the door and did not get an answer. Then she tried the doorknob and the door was locked. She could not figure that out. If Linda went some place, why she did not mention anything to her and then she thought well maybe her and went camping or something for the weekend. Because she had talked Thursday evening that if got back early enough they might go camping someplace over the weekend. So then at approximately 6:00 PM, after her husband was already home from work but it was still daylight out, came up and said that he knocked on the door and the door was locked and Linda was gone. He wanted to ask if she had seen Linda that afternoon. told him no she hadn't, that she was kind of worried about her herself because she could not raise Linda there at the apartment also. So at this time said that he was going to go ahead up to the balcony or through some window and get in that way to check it out. So after while came running back up to her apartment and said call the police. He said Linda is dead. At this time she did call the police and notified them what happened.

said she recalls her being interviewed by Officer Doug Rushing, Officer Tom Montgomery and also Officer Fromm. She stated that she thought the officer told her that she was not coming out and telling them everything concerning Linda. She stated that she was kind of upset because she said that she was telling everything that she could think of. But they advised her that they thought that she wasn't telling the whole thing about what she knew. They did ask her to take a polygraph test and she said she would, but they never did come back and ask her to take one. She has not taken one, but she is willing to take one, she is not hiding anything.

Also she recalls the Officers telling her that there was a handprint found, some blood found and that Linda had been stabbed in the back once and then either she rolled over or something and then Linda was stabbed eight times and Kelly was stabbed eight times. She cannot recall exactly which officer told her this, but it was one of the three. She was told that this guy or person, whoever did this, might have cut himself. They knew this, but they kept it quiet for two weeks and then let it out later to try to find this guy or person that might have been cut.

stated that she thinks whoever killed Linda and Kelly must have known Linda or Linda knew them because she cannot see anyone killing Kelly unless Kelly knew who they were that did this to her mother and could tell the police. So she believes that it was somebody that knew Linda and Kelly both and also that Kelly knew them. She remembers telling this, her opinion on it, to the police. She also recalls that Linda was not a very religious person, she does not recall any church that Linda belonged to or any religion group. She recalls that her mother, would pick up Kelly and maybe take her to church with her. She thought the way Linda talked that maybe they were Catholic, she is not sure on that. But she remembers that would pick up Kelly and take her to church with her.

stated also that Linda would be the type of person that if somebody started attacking her she would fight back. She would be a forward person if somebody made a remark, she would talk right back to them. She would put up quite a scrap. stated that she thinks her blood type is 0 positive, she is not sure. She stated that she just had a baby but she cannot remember. She stated that she would look her blood type up and let us know for sure.

Also stated that she is willing to take a polygraph test concerning this case and also she would be willing to go under hypnosis to see if she can remember anything that Linda might have told her about the people that came that Thursday afternoon, the day before Linda was found.

This interview with was conducted at 3:20PM, August 22, 1975 in the Sheriff's Department. This interview was conducted by Investigator Milo Vig of the Mesa County Sheriff's Department. Present at this time was Investigator Bob Silva, also of the Mesa County Sheriff's Department.

In the transcription of this tape the three individuals present at this interview will be listed at V - Vig, , and S - Silva. All questions and answers will be noted with the appropriate initial.

I Have a meeting sometime before 5:00PM, I trust

V. Oh yes we should be through, what we want is we are going to get a complete statement on our part because there is somethings we went through, some details need answered since Bob and I talked to you, and this is what we really want We are not accussing you or anything like that. We want you to realize that we just wanv a complete statement, which we are getting from other witnesses, on the side, relatives, friends, and we are going through the whole thing. This is something that we have outlined here, Bob and I did, but before we go into this I am going to advise you of your rights.

Ooh

V. That is what I mean , we are not accussing you or anything.

Do you have any idea how many time I have had this explained to me.

V. I know but we have got to do this. you have the right to remain silent, anything you say can and will be used against you in a court of law. You can have an attorney present at all times before being questioned and if you cannot afford to hire an attorney, one will be appointed by the courts to represent you. Do you understand your rights You don't have to talk to and I.

I understand that.

V. You can have an attorney here.

It would be real strange at this point to try to turn the whole thing off.

V. But this is your rights, do you understand them?

Yes

V. Are you willing to talk to us and give us a full statement?

Yeah

V. Ok the first thing we want to do is get on with where you went to school, high school, kind of a history.

How far back

V. Well if you want to start at High School, Grade school, where you were born. Just tell us roughly OK, I was born in North Conn., and I spent about the first 12 years there and moved to Colorado in 1959 or 1960, Steamboat Springs and attended school there, and moved to Grand Juction in, I think it was 62 or 64.

V. You actually finished high school back there.

No I finished high school here.

V. In Grand Junction

Uh huh

V. Have you ever been to the service?

No service. And I attended Western State College on a Scholarship, September 1967.

V. Is that in Gunnison

Yeah, I spent the year there and lets see, boy I don't remember, lets see 67- 68, I would have to check on the dates, and I worked at the American Gilsonite for about a year, year and a half, and I was married while I was out there, and I took a years leave and attended college in California, Pacific Coast Baptist College.

V. Yes I think you were telling me, I remember you telling me about that.

I was a music major, I had a music scholarship. I spent a year there and came back here and went to work for Delta Products. I would have to check on dates I am not really sure about the dates, but I spent a year of a little better there I took my transposition with Tri Star and I have been there I guess it will be three years in February.

V. With Tri Star.

Uh huh

V. What did you take up in College in Gunnison

I was a music major, because of a scholarship. I was taking the first year there is so many electives that are required so really

V. And you went there 1 year to [illegible]

Yes

V. Ok, uh

Yeah, Yeah I think it will be 3 years the 8th of February, I remember that because it was my birthday.

V. I know you take alot of photos, you told me   real nice photos. How long have you been doing this?

I have taken pictures professionally since High school. I sold my first to Arizona Highway Magazine when I was in the 10th grade. Yah I studies photography when there were other endeavors of study, night school classes, and I had to do a resume for flight training. Yeah, I studied photography, card classes, night classes as Mesa, correspondence with Rochester Institute, correspondence with famous photographers and Courrier. I don't know that that is relative.

V. I know there is something in the statement, but I don't remember, but did you have chemistry too.

Oh yes, I had alot of chemistry from Mesa. I took it from High School and when I graduated I transferred it over to college credits. That was because, well there was a couple summers I took flight training in the summer with South Eastern College   , and there were a couple summers when I got back late, 2 or 3 weeks, back to late to get in this given course and they felt that I had to much time catching up, and after science courses   , so I dropped out of the program where I could take the college courses. I got twice the credits in half the time. The courses were more difficult but it was a time saver and it worked out well. I took other courses then I didn't have to in high school just because when I graduated I could transfer them over to college credits and I had that many college credits when I came out of High school, and I transferred them to Gunnison.

V. OK

I didn't have any photography major, at that time they just didn't offer photography at that time. The offset printing was the clostest they came to photography I guess.

V. The chemistry, was it Organic or Inorganic?

Organic, well I say organic but basically all chemistry courses are the same.

V. Yeah

I leaned toward the organic because the Gilsonite that is work they do. This Gilsonite is a lie Department. I was in the lab there as a control chemist. I had a title, no degree, just a title.

V. Do they pay pretty good down at the Gilsonite?

Oh they paid, I think they paid pretty well. I had alot of trouble there, not with the company, I went to work there when they had the big strike deal. I can't give you a date, I am sure you were involved in it. Any way I put in an application, NO   called me up and wanted to know if I would be willing to come out and work the lab, this was temporary, and I enjoyed the work and it worked out and after the strike there were 2 fellows, 118 others they let go and they kept 2 of us and I stayed on along with another fellow named He since left. I think he is selling real estate now. He went to Alaska. That is the son of the implement dealer. He went to Alaska with Standard Oil and came back here. The last time I seen him; I am not a movie goer but I took the kids to see , I don't know some movie they wanted to see, it was or something, and I saw him in the line and he said he was selling real estate now so I think he is back. He stayed on 2 or 3 years after I left, but we had crossed the picket line and there wasen't that much trouble because we were pretty closely supervised and there were alot of people that had been there before that crossed the picket line, you know. But in dealing with other persons there were several problems. I didn't have any real problems, but when they could make a little more work they always did.

V. Ok we are going to get you on. Before, you told me you went to Ouray. Starting Friday morning when did you really decide to take the photography trip?

The photography trip was scheduled months in advance.

V. Months in advance.

Well maybe not months, but weeks, but these trips are scheduled, besides this in not the first year I have been doing this. This is something I have been doing for a long time.

A. O I understand.

It is just like Color Sunday, just because you have Color Sunday in Telluride dosen't men you are going to have Color Sunday at Trappers Lake. And I know from past trend how colors go. It takes years of doing that and at that you don't know how the frost is going to be, you see. You typically have to work the San Juans first. When the colors are peaking out at Redstone they are just starting up at the Flat Top Ridge. You can go on that. Inter season pictures are worth nothing OK. If you take fall pictures you are OK, If you take winter pictures you are OK, but you can't take pictures in between seasons because you can't sell them. OK so you have to really hustle when times are right because you have seperate and it is alot ow work then but in a few weeks you will have apare time. It is one of those kinds of deals.

V. You mean you have at least 2 or 3 weeks or a month.

Well I can tell you exactly when it was. I would have to check the calender tho. I always schecule it on the calender in the kitchen so she would know where I was going to be and how long I was going to be gone, and all the trips were scheduled so that wasen't a spur of the moment thing. Ouray is typically the stepping off point of the San Juans, and I normally or sometimes I go to a motel, but that particular night it was raining and it was one of those kinds of deals.

V. Well I know you said something about Yankee Basin.

Yes Yankee Boy Basin, up above Camp Verde mine, Imogene. I have never photographed Engineer Mountain professionally. There is nothing there and it is so heavily traveled by other photographers that come through on 4 wheel trips. I would just as soon not compete with them, you don't have to and it is not that good any way, so I will work Engineer but I will take the second right and take the right up Imogene on over to Silverton which isn't as publicized. There is alot more pictures, it is alot more dangerous but there is much more profit in it. But Ouray is the stepping off point, you are only 17 miles from Telluride over the top. You got Black Bear, you have 100's of miles of photographing down there, and that particular week I was going to work Imogene. I was going to get the flats that were up there. The truth of the matter is, I showed the Police exactly the picture type I was after. I Had gotten some at Sangre De Christo the prior week, and that is what I was after, and if that didn't work out I was going to go over to   which is on East Dallas Divide Creek just this side of the old bridge there on Dallas Divide, and I was going to get the keys to the gate and go and work the area behind CorporateFlats which is over the draw, but the weather, there was no sence to do that, the weather was the same there as it was where I was so that didn't work out, but the point is the trip was scheculed along time in advance.

V. Yeah

Just like the trip the following week end. I advised someone of the intended schedule because under the circumstances there were certain loose ends that had to be tied up for the kids, and after the bodies turned up well that turned out to have to change the schedule and then about that time you people were looking for me and I wanted to be sure and be around and so I didn't, you know.

V. That morning, Friday morning, you went to regular work, right?

Yeah

V. What time did you go to work about?

Well I, usually, I usually go about the same time, about 8:30AM or so, I don't know, sometimes I get the mail first. If it is very cold, of cource it wasen't then but If it is real cold I will get the donuts and get the mail done first so that the motor will have a chance to warm up rather than driving right straight to th plant. It makes it rough, you know.

V. I know you told me   roughly but I didn't make any notes, you know when we were just talking. What time did you actually leave work? What time approximately on your way in?

I left work at, I don't know, I can't answer that. I am sure I have answered that, it is of record. When I look back now I am worried now because if I am off 2 minutes I will be suspected for the rest of my life.

V. This is just

You know this has been a long time ago.

V. This is just a complete statement we wanted to get, you know.

Well normally I leave somewhere between 4:15 and 5:30. It is seldon after 5:00 but there is certain things that have to be done. If someone walks in off the stree or a phone call comes, whey those things are waiting for you and if it goes up to 5: it might be 5:30, like changing the postage meter date, running last minute postage, on the phone. I can't tell you right now what time I left.

V. OK now usually when you go out on these trips I know you were telling me, like when you went out to Monarch one time and photographed

I never photographed Monarch

V. Where

Tin Cup is the closest I have ever come.

V. When you go out like this for the week end, plan a trip, do you usually leave Friday night or do you usually leave Sat. morning? Why don't you stay home and leave Saturday morning early?

Well there is an easy anser to that, sometimes I leave Friday morning you know these times are bad and I have taken my vacation, it is just like your job, there is no vacation. When you get back it is on your desk waiting so consequently in my case when a customer suffers like that because we are not getting correspondence out in a week, it takes a month and I would rather not get bogged down because other people are on vacation so I have taken my vacation in some cases on Fridays over a 10 week period because of something such as that, but I didn't do that this year but I did take several Fridays off and leave Friday morning, and the reason that you want to leave at night is because all of your photography is done whe your shadows are long, like say early morning or late afternnon so if you are not t in the morning, chances are in the summer you are looking at cloud coverings and rain in the afternoon. All you got is expenses for the whole trip. So it is best to be out at day break which is typically clear in the high country, where in the afternoon it usually rains every afternoon in the high country in the San Juans, and you may get rained out. Possibly if you utilize the clouds as far as compositio but ordinarly my equipment is very expensive. I don't like it rained on, and there are other things involved.

V. I Know you have alot of nice equipment.

Well it has got to be typically a sunrise day, a sunset thing, or up through, we are talking about throught 9:30 in the morning. 9:30 in the morning until 3:30 in the afternoon you've got nothing to do, so you've got nothing
You can go somewhere else
See we are looking at a 2 hour sunrise time

V. And you've got to set up all your equipment?

It takes me probably an hour to set up the 8x10 and I can set up both the 8x10 and 4x5 in probably an hour and 20 minutes. ~~Everything has to be packaged~~ And the tear down time if everything is put back, so you see everything has to be packaged the way it is in the package it is supposed to be in. We are looking at lenses about $12,000.00.

V. I Know you have all those cases.

Right, so I lash them togetherwith a big wide seat belt type strap so they move as a single unit which is to say not at all. I will take that and lash it to the back seat and it all takes time.

V. Ok when you left what kind of equipment, did you take all your equipment?

I took all except the 4x5 tripod.

V. In other words you took it all.

Well all in reference to what. All the taking equipment. I don't know if I took the folio mate or not. I believe I did.

V. How about camping equipment, do you take any camping equipment along when you go on these trips.

Yes I usually have some. I always have that that is required for emergency if I get caught. And typically dependding on the area. If there is not a lodge at a reasonable price relatively near by I might pack daybreak thinbecause I am going to have to get up at 3:30 in the morning to get up at at a scene at daybreak then Iv'e got to drive an hour from the motel. I would rather

V. Have your camping gear and set up there.

Yeah, I have a camp, as such. Sometimes I do sleep out, unless the weather is really bad I usually just use a sleeping bag and sleep on the ground beside the vehicle. I would rather leave the vehicle locked and the equipment in there than set the equipment outside. Well the tent sets up very fast, but this particular tent has been real good but Ive used it so far now I got caught in a rain shower, lets see it was the second week in July, not a shower, it rained for 2 days straight and it just, well it just rained right through it. And you know a back pack is not really designed for this type of stuff. It is not designed for camping out as such, it is designed for a one night wild weather . But the rain has come through it. Anyhow I did have that with me that night and camp gear, by camp gear I am thinking in terms of cooking utensils and all that.

V. You didn't have any of that with you?

No. I usually carry a lantern and some freeze dry food. So I do have that for emergency but actually that I never eat, but it usually always there.

V. Right

I did have the tent with me that night but it was raining and I didn't want to hassle with it.

V. Yeah, OK now Friday night when you left, how were you dressed? What were you wearing

I can't tell you, blue jeans and I always wear a t shirt. Probably, I can't tell you, bang around clothes. Maybe a flannel shirt, cut off sleeves. I usually carry that. Sometimes I just wear it as a sweater. Usually carry a sweater. I can't tell you what I wore. I usually don't carry a seperate clothes change, I didn't that night.

V. That week end you just wore what you had on.

Well I had what I had on. I had a change of underwear and socks and shaving stuff.

V. When you go out like that you usually wear hiking boots or something like that.

There again it depends on the area. If I am going to be sitting out in the middle of a stream I have tennis shoes, I always carry tennis shoes so I can walk around the water and this sort of thing. If I am going to walk around the rocks as I was that week end I do wear heavy boots, but the heavy boots are hot when you have to drive along distance, you know so I carry my regular shoes too. But driving, the heater in the car is such that the circulate system circulates through the heater even when the heater is off, so it runs, it is hot in the back department so you can close that off, but then when you are driving around in low range you over heat so I have got to leave it open and typically in those big boots if the heater is blasting on you all day long why I carry other shoes for driving. And you cant drive with tennis shoes because the exhaust manifold runs under that side and your bottom of your feet get so hot you have to move them around so you have to wear regular shoes.

So that night you had probably you boots on you think?

Well I probably left town in my street shoes.

V. Street shoes

I am sure I had my street shoes, I always leave in my street shoes.

V. When you left that night did you gas up here?

I always do on Friday nights. The company furnishes all my fuel..

V. Oh I see

My fuel cost me nothing.

V. Down there at Tri Star

Right, yes and I gas up on Friday night always.

V. So you usually gas to carry you through the next week?

Yeah right

V. Because I know you told me that Friday night

I gassed up and I gassed the two lawn mower cans and I gased the can I was going to take with me. I didn't take it with me.

V. Is that the can where the spout was broken?

I forgot the spout

V. So you gassed where, in Montrose.

I gassed in Montrose coming back. I may have had enough fuel to make it to Grand Junction but I wanted to be sure.

and Ouray. Where I was in Montrose is about 40 miles this side of Ouray so thats about a 50 -55 minute run so that would have put me in there at well it would have put me in there 2 to 2:30 or so. No it would have put me in there about 3:00 or so. It was a good afternoon but I drove from there right into Grand Junction and I got into Grand Junction about 4:30 and I remember that, I was certain of that.

V. I remember reading in your statement when you talked to the police. There was something when you came down from taking photographs you stopped in Ouray or something and arrived here about noon.

Oh no I think, No thats not right at all. I

V. Where did you eat

I usually walk into Ducketts Market and get a can of pop or something just to satisfy , a box of crispy crackers or something.

V. Is this place in Ouray.

Ducketts Market, yeah. I usually stop in there and get something, maybe a couple of apples. Nothing major just something to satisfy your hunger.

V. What time do you think you left Ouray?

V. About 2:00.

I just wasted what time it took to get fuel, I didn't have to wait.
to take my check and I didn't have any trouble with

V. Then on the way back I didn't take any notes but I know you mentioned did you stop any other place between Montrose or Grand Junction.

Yeah, I stopped out at Hollers. I wanted to check on what he was speaking on Sunday. I have the music and the music is, I try to have it from what he is speaking on so I wanted to check on that. I can't tell you how long I was there. before my first call to the police department. I think I was there about an hour.

v. and you went from there home, right

I drove from there straight home.

V. Approximately tell me in your own words, I might have some questions, what did you see first when you drove up to the place, what did you first observe.

The same thing I always observe. The kids were out there playing in the yard on the sidewalk and was riding his blue tractor and was playing in the gutter with no pants on. That bothered me, that bothered me right there. I was going to go in and chew her out.

V. And then you went in the house

No

V. You didn't go in the house.

No

V. Probalby started to unload your stuff, right.

No no I didn't do that either, Well I pulled into yard and backed up and normally I don't drive on the lawn but On Friday evenings and Saturday nights I always drive on the lawn so I packed it right up and I got out and said "Where is Mommy".

V. is he the older one.

Yes, the other one, he is like little across the street. He can't carry on a conversation, he is just now putting sentences together.

V. So said " Where is Mama at".

Yeah

V. Go ahead

Well I packed it off, I said oh she is around here, somewhere around here. ____ was out in the yard, and I don't know I guess I figured she might have gone to the grocery store and left the kids just for a second. I don't knpw I just didn't think about it. And I said, I don't know I suppose she is around here somehewere and I really didn't think anything about it. Ane he ssaid something to the effect that I guess and I are all alone. And at that time I looked at he was out there on the lawn and he didn't have any pants on, He was naked from the waist down. And I said when was the last time you saw Mommy and he guessed he didn't know. And I sat up on the tail gate and I said Now wait a minute and in just a few minutes I went over to and I talked to her and said she was sure she was around because she heard her that morning. Which I don't know, you know more than I do at this time. I think now she is not sure of that. She said she heard her holler at for aggrevating the little one and making him fuss a little. And I went in the house and you know her sewing basket was all over the floor, the kids had the run of the place. There were cooked crumbs into the carpet and on the back door step was a dirty diaper. So I went over to Linda's and knocked on the door and nobody answered. All the lights were on, thats normal, and I tried the door and it was unlocked and I opened it and I leaned in and I hollered and I closed the door and I came back and went over to and I told her I was going to call the police and I did, and then I gave my first report to the blue and white. It wasen;t much of a report that time. I was concerned.

V. I got off the track here, so getting back. you just had the Jerry can with you.

Well I'm not sure of your question, I have two Jerry cans.

V. You own two Jerry cans?

Yes but I don't carry them outside. I carry them in the vehicle.

V. Inside the vehcile

Yes thats right. I got with carbon monixide one time on a flight, and it just about did me in. You know you don't pass things off something that you might be alright now but the next time it takes that much less. Where the fuel, gasoline will give me a headache so typically I don't carry any more fuel than I need. And you know gas isn't that expensive but you know I do try to carry Jerry cans.if I can because it is free. But I left the one Jerry can in the shed and the other one which I have been use from week to week and I took it that morning and I filled it and I had it behind my seat until the temperature starts to come up in the vehicle, I have two heaters, one is under the seat and that one heats up too. I expands with fuel and I turned around and it went sheew and it let the vapors out and in so doing that , and when I get to Ouray the first thing I will do is pour in that 5 gallons. and get rid of it, something of that nature. But I told you I forget the spout and had no way of getting it in there so I didn't want to throw the gas away so I took it out of the vehicle that night and I sat it in front of the vehicle in case it leaked or something I didn't want to hassle with it in the morning. That can is still full.

V. Yeah, I remember you telling me that the other day.

It is much more convenienct to use the pump than it is to get that junk all over your hand.

V. Ok, when you usually go on trips like this , do you usually take a rife with you when you go up in the hills and camp or take photos.

No, I usually take a hand gun. I can't remember when I was driving the Volvo. I can't remember if I carried a firearm in the Volvo. I started carrying a firearm when and I got in trouble one time down here at the Redlands damm. We took a canoe in there and we came back and the vehicle had been mover, I had left the keys in it and there were some, well they weren't kids, they were in their 20's maybe, but they had taken it for a road test, they brought it back but there was beer all over the inside of it, and I parked up on that little bridge right there by where you walk out to the damm, you know and one of the guys came over and he had a side arm, and he said they had gotten a little rowdy and had taken the car and they were sorry about it and if we wanted to press charges it was OK, but he was sorry and I real do resent the mess they made in there, but I told them and I started carrying it then. This is what my grandfather gave me

V. Yes I was going to say that was the one that was in the vehicle, the one we got. Did you have that with you Friday night.

Yes, Yeah I usually carry it loaded but not in the chambers. The clip is a regular clip, of course I never get one in the chamber but I did keep the clip loaded. I usually kept it wrapped in a rag under the seat and I dont think, well somebody would have to shoot at me before I shot it back. It is for security I suppose.

V. OK I got off track here , I got to go back. The trip to Ouray when you left here did you stop anywhere to eat on your way up there.

No I ate before I left here.

V. You ate before you left here.

IXXIWXXXXXXXX I was eating when Linda came over.

V. Do you buy any film or anything like that ?

Oh you got to be kidding, I buy film in lots months in advance. Where can you buy 8x10 film

S. That tells you how much we know about photography.

You can't go up to Monument and buy 8x10 film. You are talking about 50-50 sheet box. You are talking $185.00 a box.

V. Thats the ones you had that day we were up there that you were showing us.

Yeah thats the same thing. But the wide yellow boxes, those , that one, well I. never take more than 50 with me. The temperature, anything over 100 degrees will ruin them. You are talking three hours of sheet. See I shoot more film on one exposure than the average man out there shooting pictures takes in shooting two roles of 36's. It is not the type you can go into the drug store and buy.

V. That is probably where I would buy mine.

The only time I stopped, and I wouldn't even consider it a stop, and I know I haven't mentioned it before but technically speaking I picked up a soda there at the Texaco Station at the corner of, well right there where Dallas Divide goes up over the top of Ridgeway. They have a vending machine and just put in your quarter . So I picked up, I usually pick up a Mountain Dew or something like that.

V. What time approximately did you arrive in Ouray that night? Just approximately

These are the questions I worry about because I was trying to be explicit on this initially and now I may miss it and I will be suspected the rest of my life.

V. I realize this has been some time back.

I left Grand Junction, I think I left Whites between 6:30 and 7:00 and at that time of day I can make that run in 2 hours and 15 minutes, and it normally takes me that long to make that run. On Sunday afternnon with my family it will ake a little bit longer. That will put you into Montrose, your working traffic has gone home, your Blue Mesa traffic has left Montrose and you know there is nothing to slow me down. I can't really recall but it should take 2 hours and 15 minutes and I don't especially push it, I try to hold it, I am not very fast but I try to hold that constant speed. I am not lible to stop, I will stop for fuel but consequently that is it so consequently I can't average as fast as alot of people do going 70 miles an hour because they stop at every coffee shop and I don't do that, but I can drive to Denver and it won't take me a half hour longer than most, well Frank the company President, he driveds it, that is a big trip for him. He lives with his mother and he drives that big LTD and he has a speed reader and a radar watcher and he cruises along about 55 to 70 and it takes me just a little less, it takes me about 28-30 minutes longer to drive to Denver than it does him. He drives like a bat, you know squealing around corners passing and he stops everywhere, you know he has to have coffee, you got to have this, you got to have that. But I never do. ut I think I got into Ouray Around 9:30 or 10:00 somewhere in there. It might have been 10:30 but I don't think so. I was hazy because when I got there I checked into Polly's .

V. Polly's what that.

Pollys thats where I stay, I usually stay at Polly's.

V. Is that a motel.

They usually give me a discount. They also have a rock and a lapidary, anything to please the tourist, you know. And I looked for thats the proprietor, but I didn't see him and everybody was sort of sitting around looking and I didn't see anybody I recognized. And I think I walked around for 20 minutes or half hour and finally I rang the bell and the guy that was behind the counter which wasen't really behing the counter, he was on the phone behind the counter and sitting out with these other people. She was talking to somebody in Texas, and anyway she asked if she could help me and apologized for not waiting on me sooner, but it was somebody I didn't recognize, and I checked in. I checked in there

V. card

No no I really don't, they send me a Christmas card every year. No I don't stay there oftern, it is to expensive, we are talking about tourist season.

razor

No during tourist, well thats the reason I don't like to take the wife and family, it will triple the cost and it takes three times the time to do what would normally take you to do in alot less time. And you have to hassel with the kids, blankets and all this and that was it. Anyway I checked in and I came to the room and I shaved. I normally shave in the morning, and I came back down stairs and I was going to give a rashing because there wasen't any place to hang a razor strap in the room. You know a hook behind the door, nothing, and so I was going to go down and ask where he was, I hadn't seen him in along time and ask him if he was there, and I told them there was no place in the room to hang a razor strap, and he said "Didn't you mention this the last time you were here, and I had, and the gal came over and she said "Who uses a razor strap", I said well I didn't think you cared one way or the other and I didn't want to explain the whole thing, and the people that were there were talking about, I think they were talking, archery families and they were talking about how bad archery season was and how many people were out and about the high country, and they grumbling about what, well that is what interested me, and I talked at length with at length, I am talking maybe20 minutes. He said the snow was to deep and they weren't going to open Imogene this year.

Garbled conversation about mines at Imogene and the snow.
And right away I could see that I didn't know if I was going to get to take any pictures or not, and I asked him about a photo shop in Ouray, and if they had a dark room. Now the pictures I was talking over with White needed black & white work. I still have black and white in my 4x5 folders and I wanted to check that out. And dark room, whom I usually use here in town went to Mexico and I always like to call his wife several hours in advance rather than just drop in with my stuff and say here I am, let me in. You know I didn't do that, I just didn't do it, so I just didn't feel it wise to use his dark room that night. And I can do it, you know put my arms in a black bag and use the system but it is much faster to have the dark room. I asked one of the guys there about the photograph , he knew exactly where it was, and I said I will check it out, hopefully I can get out of here early in the morning and I paid him them because I didn't want to wake him up when I checked out. And I went up to the room and Lo and Behold the clouds were lifting, everything was wet but the clouds were behind and I could see stars.

V. When was this in the morning

No this was as soon as I was through talking to those people. And then we are looking at 11:00 or 11:30 or so, and I felt good so I walked into Ouray. Well i didn't walk, I jogged a little bit.

V. When you left the motel do you usually leave your photograph equipment out in Toyota or do you take it up to your room with you?

At what time

V. At the motel, when you arrived at the room, did you take your equipment up to the room with you?

Only the lenses

V. Only the lenses

Now we are talking, I have mayble three cases so we are talking usually the lenses and sometime but usually not in Ouray, but If I stay in Denver or something of that nature I will take the tripod too so that there
That particular night I did not unload it. The tripod stayed there, I did take three cases containing the lenses.

V. That night in, did you take any photographs?

No

V. You didn't take any that night?

No, no we are talking dark. That was late and it was raining when I got there. No wind but it was just generally messy. But I went into Ouray and I went to the little camera shop, I didn't really expect to find anybody there and there wasen't anybody there, but there was a fellow getting out of a vehicle right in front there and I asked him about looking at pictures, I can tell by looking at pictures if a man does his own dark room work or if he sends it out, and it was kind of dark and I wasen't really sure, and I mentioned it to this fellow here he was carrying a Ouray tag and he was right there and I asked him about and he told me the fellows name, I can't remember what it was, but he said he didn't believe he had a dark room but that if I wanted one, and he gave me the name of the Newspaper and I knew where that was because I photographed the falls and it was right up past the old newspaper. She had a dark room and he was sure she would let me use it.

[illegible]

And I went back to the room and I showered and went to bed.

V. You showered when you got back to the room?

Yeah

V. When you showered, did you change clothes or anything like this?

No, I put on clean underwear, I sleep in my underwear, and that was it.
Garbeled
I am very exclusive there because I don't carry a alarm or anything and I have to look at my watch and say ok I have to get up in 5 hours. I lay my watch up there on the bed and typically I will wake up two or three minutes of when I want to wake up.

V. So you went to bed around 1:00

Yeah, I was in bed by 1:00.

V. Ok, what time did you get up that morning?

The first time I got up was about 5:00 - 5:30 and the same thing so I looked up and it didn't look good.

V. You mean the weather/

Yeah, yeah it had been raining, it hadn't been windy or anything . So that was it, thats what I needed the excuse I needed to go back to bed. So normally I would have left right then, but I went back to bed and I walked over to the end of the hall to make sure the Jerry can was still there and it was, everything was OK, and there wasen't mixing about, noone was up yet and I went back to bed and I got up at 6:00 -6:10 and I loaded up the cases and the tripod and I proceeded to drive to Imogene.

V. Thats when you told me you went toYankee Boy Basin?

Well no I didn't go to Yankee Boy Basin. Have you ever been there.

V. No.

Sometime I would like to run you down there, I was thinking about this the other night you know my friend from Miami came in here about a week after all this transpired and I would like to this whole smear with the police department and they put a tap on his line to, you didn't know about that, you did but you going to plead no contest. OK they put a tap on his line and that really aired me off. He is a genius and he knew they were on the line and well I can't say they, somebody. It might have been the investigator but somebody had some equipment on the line. His wife has worked at the phone company for 31 years. He calls her on a daily basis just because he wants to call her and the first thing she said was "Lace you've got some equipment on the line, and he did have, I checked it with the phone company. And anyway he said yeah he said I can understand that he said something about the dingbats that were there this morning we have nothing to worry about as far as having anything on us. He didn't like at all, and he is kind of out spoken and he made it quite clear. picked it up and wasen't necessarily the diplomat that prehaps he should have been. But anyway to top it off getting back to what I was going to say "If you would like to run down ther I would like to show you that area, and just like said, there are a afual lot of places down there for accidents, somebody going over the side, and if I were going to get rid of my wife, I mean it would just be so easy. I have thought about that many times ----------you are looking at,well I have thought about it alot in the past few weeks, you know all kinds of places that wouldn't be out of the way. If you didn't want the remains found it wouldn't take you 5 minutes and if you wanted the remains found I mean just any one of the cliffs, I mean you could drop a hole monument right in any of them.

V. Well I have been to Ouray but I haven't been up there.

Well you are looking ar real solid rock with a rock over the top, directly below the Camp Verde mine on that overlook. When we fly in up there that is 660 feet right down to the parking lot. Also I have shot pictures from up there. It would be nothing to push somebody over.

V. Lets see, so you went up

I proceeded up the Campe Verde mine road up past the Box Canyon Turn off I took a right loop off at Campe Verde and I proceeded toward the Yankee Boy Basin and took the Imogene turnoff toward the stream and proceeded toward the ghost town of Imogene.

V. Theres a old ghost town up there?

Well - Imogene, it is a ghost town now.

V. I haven't been up there, have you Bob

S. Yeah

The only activity, there was alot of activity up there and it was all prospecting. We are talking about going into the mine with a 4 wheel segment. Are you talking miles or are you talking minutes.

V. How far is it?

Using the short from from Ouray it is 7 miles and they said it is $87.00. Ok, Black Bear Pass is 9 miles and they say it will take you three hours for that run. No it is not far from Ouray, Yankee Boy Basin is 8 miles from the Box Canyon Bridge and Yankee Boy Basin is 2 miles from the Imogene turnoff so we are talking 6 miles the stream. That is using a 4 wheel now. And You go across the stream and then you go across the back side of that canyon. There is a big canyon there you know this side of the stream and the canyon drops off, Camp Verde is down here and then you start up to Imogene, and miles we are talking nothing, time we are talking something else. We are talking probably, I'm not sure, I used to stop at the, I've stopped at that ol mine there along toward Camp Verde.

I didn't shoot any pictures, but I was there for perhaps 15 minutes.

v. How was the weather?

Well it didn't look good. It wasen't raining at that point, it wasen't real windy but it just had the cold penetrating "Here comes the Fall feeling" to it and the over cast sky. You needed sun glasses but no shadows, you know what I mean.

V. Did you take any photos that day?

I didn't take any heavy photos, by heavy I mean large format type stuff. Nothing that I anticipated selling, I always take some just to justify the trip. I think I shot 2 or 3 roles of 35MM.

V. What area was that in ?

There, Imogene, When I got back I sent them in to be processed right away. And I got those back and my great uncle was here from Africia, he dropped his slide projector on the top of his car and in that slide projector was the realm of the pictures I had taken at Imogene. I can get those if you want me to.

I think we are talking, I think I shot maybe four. 35MM and that may sound like maybe alot, that is nothing.

V. Did the wind blow any that day, I know you

Yes, yes the wind did come up, the wind came up about 9:30 and it was quite cold and it dried things off quite a bit to the point where dust and crap, to the point where it starts to sprinkle a little bit you get a big dirt blotch on you windshield . It was one of those kinds of deals, and if there is any it is to much, you know I am talking, we are talking of 1/4 to 1/8 of a second, 1/10 of a second and the purpose of the big cameras is to have the detail, and 1/4 of a second and any movement at all you have probably blurred it all.

V. That morning did you eat breakfast any place or did you have any snacks that you had left over.

Yeah, I had, no I didn't eat breakfast. I had, I usually carry a can of beef jerky, something I can eat in a hurry that will take care of my hunger and get the job done. I think I had 6 or 8 apples, I didn't eat them all right then but I had stuff such as that and usually fixes some cookies or something.

V. When you took those 4 photos up there at Imogenes, how long were you up there approximately?

I was up there all day until I came back. I came down out of there, the wind was still blowing and I sat around and waited for the weather, but it was obvious the weather was the same, I could see there the cloud covering was not stopping. I could see clear out to Eastern Utah, or Western Utah, I could see no reason to stick around. And I came back down to Ouray and that's when I stopped in Duckett's

V. Did you see anybody up there, was there anybody up there you talked to?

I didn't talk to anybody, there was alot of people up there. There is only one that I can remember in particular and he was driving a scout. There was another scout and a Bronco and it was the Bronco that had the tail chopped off, a little pickup type box on the back of it. And a dog running along side of it. And they were, it was a older man, I remember them because they were the type that

V. How were the road conditions up there?

How were the road conditions, You got to be kidding. Well what can you say,

V. I mean were they muddy.

Well it depends on where you are Milo, the forest range that goes across the top, it is always muddy in there. You're not talking bedrock, top soil type thing.

Now when you go across on the drop down and the road as Imogene goes the fellow I took down there from San Diego Monday said that as far as he was concerned it was inexcessible. It is something even to walk but the road was good, it had been because of the mining operation, so as Imogene goes the road was good, but if you weren't famaliar with that area or ever driven a 4 wheeler in that area before, why it is the last thing you would consider to be a good road. Youre looking at probably 3 miles an hour when the road is good.

V. Well one of these days I am going to have to go up there. I have been to Ouray.

Well I would be glad to run you down there but I, well with this major investigation I haven't been real liberal, you know you would have to take a day off, maybe you could do it as part of the investigation. Everyone should see it, it is something that everyone who has seen it.

Oh oh one thing I wanted to talk to you about. You reminded me. I got a call the night before last, it was an anoyn̈mous call, and the party did not give me a chance to speak but said that they were in a bar some days before, he might have said a week but I can't recall but he was in a bar and he said there was a man by the name of does that mean anything to you, he wouldn't repeat the name for me. I think it was but I am not sure. He said that there was a man by the name of , kind of a odd name, and he said that he was in a bar and was boozind up a little bit and he said he was bragging about doing all this and of cutting Linda Benson's nipples off. Were her nipples cut off?

V. Oh I don't know

You don't know or you won't tell me.

V. Well no I really don't know that much.

I said "Why don't you go to the authorities with this" and he said that he did not want to get involved with the police.

V. a german name.

And he said that this particular fellow had, see he wouldn't repeat, but he had been involved in this kind of thing in the past with regards to sexual assaults or something like that or he was capable of doing it, I don't recall. He just, that was it.

V. Do you recall when this was Well it was late, I had gotten in from. I got in late, I had been to the Winery you know one of these kind of deals. It was approaching midnight, and as a matter of information, I think the phone company has one of those deals on my line, but it is doubtful, I wanted it on there for a month, they said they would only leave it on there 3 days, well 3 days won't get them. I had another call this morning. this was my first one in about 2 weeks but they said they only had 3 such devised and that the equipment they have there is no use for, and they only allowing 3 days on each one. I don't know if it was on there or not.

V. We will check on that by golly.

But I don't know who it was, Something else, somebody put their name on a suggestion box at the plant and they put a notice in there to me, something about the Sentinel and not having that much faith in them. But this is one of those kind of deals, if you got a bitch I think you get alot further if you put name on and get it resolved. This fellow didn't and I tried to shun it off as if it was nothing but what he said about the Linda Benson deal that he had said he had cut her nipples off, I felt that need credence if they were.

V. Did you talk to anybody in Ouray before you left Ouray on your way back here to Grand JUnction?

I had no conversation with anybody except when I checked out.

V. When you checked out of the motel?

No no we are talking of Deuckett's on the way out of Ouray. I bought I don't remember what I bought . I remember a gal that was giving her a rough time on a pair of teenis shoes, they had either fallen apart or something like that or she washed them and one changed color. I remember that. I am not on a first name basis or a personal basis with the people in Ouray.

V. I thought maybe you knew somebody that was with you or something.

I have no witnesses in Ouray.

V. When you got back to Ouray when did you decide to leave?

Oh I had decided to head for home when I was up at Imogene. Going into Ouray was just a formality, and the place was not busy, there were no cars parked out front so I was able to pull right in front and not get bogged in. And I drove straight from Montrose, and I took on fuel and I came straight to Junction.

✓ V. That is when you bought $7.00 worth of fuel

Yeah

V. Did you see anybody or take any photos on the way back.

Well i certainly didn't take any photos. There is no photography in there that I haven't already done.

V. And you believe you were at Reverand Holler abot 30 minutes or something like that.

No I said I was there something like an hour. I t may not have been an hour but it was certainly longer than 30 minutes.

V. OK what time did you leave there?

Well I was there, about, I don't know I don't have any way to check it but it would be the time I called the police and it is about a 12 minute drive from Holler's to my house and I was probably home before I called the police maybe 15 minutes. It was uncommon to come home at that time of day and find them gone, like home from work or something. But this no, and the kids have got clothes on and there is evidence that they have been supervised.

V. How was it inside .

It was a mess. Well the kids, a 5 year old and a 2 year old had just been there all day, we are talking, there was a sewing basket, boxes of , toys all over, we are not alking about ransacking it, I don't think kids would do that by theirself. And with checking with earlier, is not certain was in the house Friday night.

V. Did you see inside the house or do you keep inside the house.

It depends on what kind of shape she is in, if she is in heat certainly not. If she is out and gets in somebody's sprinkler and then walks through a garden she will carry a pound of mud on each foot. But she has spent alot of time in the house, that accounts for the dog hair all over everything but usually when I go out of town always stays with always. She is quite possessive. If she did you could run up and call her by name and cut up little bit it would be OK, but well I will be at home doing some correspondence late after the kids have gone to bed, about 11:30 I will go down to the plant to get a phone number or something like that I have forgot. I won't lock the house, I will come back and I will open the door and will be creeping around the piano checking me out. And she won't growl, just completely quiet, and just checking me out and I like that.

V. So If somebody was breaking in the house.

I think they would have trouble. I am not certain of that but if I leave the back window down and somebody walks by and makes an advance she will make like she is real vicious but whether she would bite them or not I don't know. But she makes like she would, and just her bark if someone walk by would make them

But I'm not certain by talking to and I'm not certain she wasen't, but I'm not sure whet-her she was or not but I asked about this, that was before you called and wanted to talk to him. I went over the whole thing again, my folks are really against it, and I talked to him again that night and they finally said, well I figured you would push that and based on that I finally got them to come around and they thought it would be ok if someone that he knew real well, like myself or was there and you were dressed in plain clothes, not with your gun or in your uniform, they said that would be OK. But she is not sure, I am not sure whether was in that night or not based on what he said.

V. id you notice anything unusual at house when you went over there?

Unusual at well the unusual at is usual. You never know. You are talking in the house.

V. No outside or in.

Just the bicycle and the can.

V. Yeah I remember you told me about that. But there is nothing else you can think of.

Well lets see at that time, I wasen't looking at it from a homicidal point. I No no there wasen't anything unusual that I can recall other than the fact that my bike was over there and that monopolizied all my thinking. And the fact well right away I thought she had loaned it to somebody, which she would never do, and my was a real expensive one, and that bothered me.

V. What about the jumper cables.

Well the jumer cables I wasen't worried about that at that time. I figured I would find them in the house sometime. The jumber cables didn't even cross my mind at that time.

V. In the house did it look like any sign of struggle or anything, in your house, like might have been struggling with somebody.

I don't think so. The bed was turned down meaning she had climbed out of bed. No, nothing of that nature, the only thing that I have noticed since this time is the little piece here on the front door right here is buckled out but I'm not certain that it wasen't always like that. I never paid any attention. The door didn't fit real good any way, it is loose, and I think it may have been that way all the time because somebody trying to jimmy it that would make it worse. If somebody had tried to jimmy it it would have woke her, she didn't sleep very heavy, she was light sleeper and she had a gun there and she knew how to use it. She can't shoot a 300 but she ~~can pick it up and handle it and you are competent~~ she has handled one before. And it was a 38 and she has shot it a number of times she got alot for a woman, she didn't like to shoot it because she played the piano and she was worried about her wrist, but she could shoot it, and she usually kept it, and I loaded it for her, I usually keep that stuff in the safe. I have a little wire chissel. he won't touch it but the little one, you can't tell about a little baby so I keep all that stuff locked up, but that particular night she had , well I didn't think it was important, still don'tbut the 38 was underneath the mattress and the box springs. Quite a ways under so the kids.

V. Don't reach under or anything

Yeah, and that was fully loaded with 6

V. and that was still ther in the same place.

Well I didn't find it at first . I didn't reach far enough but I think she must have taken it out and put it further back under there so the kids wouldn't get it and put it back further than a arms reach. But I did find it. It hasen't been fired or anything like this.

V. Any clothes you seen missing

Clothes

V. Right

It is all a matter of record except the red nightgown that her mother made for her, 1 tennis shoe, the eye glasses and the yellow bath robe.

V. Her eye glasses were missing and I remember you told me about the yellow bath robe.

The yellow bath robe I didn't miss until, I didn't go through all her stuff. I never have gone through all her stuff. there were alot of things that came up after that and I knew that going through her stuff wouldn;t solve anything and it was something I hated to do. Anyway when the family came in for the services they wanted to go through everything and they have. and I ahven't asked them about all those shoes, but it is something certain, gave her 18 pair of shoes. OK there is 5 pair in the closet where are the others. Well she might have given them to one of the gals she was friendly with at Club, she did typing for them. It was a club type of thing. and there was a couple of nights they had it, well we didn't associate with them at all but she did alot of typing for them/ They are not on a first name basis. Needless to say she didn't need that many shoes. Who is to say she didn't give some of these shoesto them, but she was concerned about me finding out that she had that many shoes and she was going to hide them somewhere. Well who knows she may have left them at one of these gaXXXaXXaXXX other gals houses: How are you going to find out, you know. So what I am saysing is those shoes are gone but I don't know if its pertinent.

V. And that bath robe, I know you told me the other day that is the quilted type.

Yeah I can probably get a sample of the cloth, she made that, I might be able to get you a sample if its worth anything. But I didn't check with her folks to see if they found those shoes in those drawers that she stored rements of cloth in for sewing and stuff. She may have put them in those drawers, I don't know.

V. When you got home where was was loose.

V. Outside the yard or was she around the house?

I don't remember

V. But she was loose where ever she was?

Yeah, thats right, I was certain she was in the house, she can get out, but when home she dosen't keep tied up, she dosen't run off. She will lay on the back steps unless she is hungry , she hasen't been fed why she will go over to fence and get in some garbage can, She has to eat, but I think she was loose. She jumped the fence when I came in, but she was there in relatively short order, but she wasen't in the house.

V. I remember you told me once, but I didn't get that down about the tennis shoes. You found one of Pats tennis shoes later on.

Well alot of that stuff, the variety of it takes a while to hit you before it comes up, and lets see Rushing came up from the Police Department and of course I had just found out in missing person he's and he came up and he talked to the blue and white who were taking a report so Rushing came in and I started all over again, he got the whol thing, and he was much more maticulous than the uniform man was.

I had a real tiny red spot herethat I got on my tail gate. It is not working quite right, I have to replace it, but it is something I haven't done )something about scraping his finger and Rushing wanting to know where he got that.) At that time I had a scar, I alwaays have a scar there, and any way it was raw because when I carry cases I will carry one in my hand this way and strap on my shoulder, ok, alot of time the strap falls off and hits me here and it will take you turn your wrist over, well when you do that it hits the metal and it just peels if off, so I usually take a chance on getting hit here and that happened on the week before and it was

And then he said, well his hole attitude and program was different from what the officer had done, and the other officer, I think he was alright but we was just going through the motions in the book, and Rushing was taking more of a hard look at things. On what was missing I hadn't picked up anything missing and I checked "Oh he wanted my knifes, which I didn't like that either, and I didn't realize at that time that you didn't ask questions of the Police, I figured this was a recripicol thing, I know that now I didn't know that then. He wnated my knifes and I got the two knifes, one of them I'm not even sure where it is.

I gave him that one and he wanted to know if I had any more and I told him yes, I couldn't find it I am looking for it. I really haven't found it but I'm certain Ive got it somewhere, anyway he disregarded all that. Anyway it was there that I took a hard look on what might have been missing. He was concerned about her purse, How much money did she have, where did she get it, drivers license and just the typical stuff I guess, and it was then that I could only find the one tennis shoe. I looked all over for that, I looked hard for that tennis shoe.

V. Where did you find the tennis shoe

It was right there by the bed.

V. In the bedroom

Right there where she had taken off her clothes that she had on the last time I saw her. Now when I saw her Friday night when I left she had on blue jeans short short cut off things which she only wore around the house and she had on a halter type thin but I know that after I left she got out of that well because was coming over and I know that she ran around with the kids and did some things. And she put on brown slacks and a blouse, I can't recall what color it was, and those tennis shoes were there, and I couldn't find the other tennis shoe, and in so doing why I took a harder look at the one and it was tied and the tongue was down in it and that made me think she tried to put it on in a hurry, that's what I thought, and that was it. Now the glasses, the glasses certainly aren't there. Both sets of contacts, well she has contacts, she got a new prescription, Her contacts were there. Now she usually wore her eye glasses unless she was playing singing with a trio, or traveling or playing for some program or something over in Denver, she usually wore contacts for that.

V. OK lets get on our way, I know you have things to do

Thats OK, I pretty much missed it now. Tuesday is board meeting day at 3:00 and for some reason after I talked to you yesterday it was cancelled yesterday and it was moved to today at 3:00 and I have to make a report for my abscence of the previous month, you see it is one of those kind of deals.

V. When were you and first married?

V. Where did you meet ? through school, high school.

Oh no, I don't know lets see, her father was serving as interim pastor at the time, he was flying over on a weekly basis and filling in at Faith Baptist when left. He got up one day and said he was a communist, one of those kinds of deals. We were flying him over from Denver weekly, he stayed with us, we were going to Faith at the time. I was just a boy. He is a founder of Silver State High School, and one thing led to another and then it got to the point that i was flying back and forth, and rather than staying here, and one thing let to another. And I met her then and we wrote for quite awhile and finalized the whole thing in 69.

V. Where did you get married at ?

Redlands Community, I didn't want to spend the money for the shazam and all this, I would rather have the cash, and so that was it, her folks were against the whole thing anyway. they wanted her to get her degree,

V. How did you and get along?

At what time.

V. From the beginning until later on.

We got along just fine until, lets see, I thought we were getting along Ok now. We started the politics of going to the Federal Aviation Administration and getting a draft of a new solar home, and I felt like everything was looking up pretty well. But about a year ago, we are talking June or July when I was taking the pictures for and also, anyway it was my first extensive involvemnt with female models, my first extensive involvement with nude work, ~~and~~ and that bothered her at first because of Church affiliation and so on, and I wasen't all that happy about it either, but we are talking quality stuff, it wasen't any of this phony stuff or anything like that. But that bothered her and she wanted me to stop and I wanted the money, and she just went out and pushed. Well she said she was interested in going back and getting some more piano, well what she was tryingto do was get me out of town, that was it she wanted me out of here. She wanted me to go to, she wanted me to give up Tri Star and all of this and she wanted to go back and work on this music thing, her piano and so on, and she wanted me to go. Shit I can't go, and I told her there couldn't be two professional people in the same family and all this. And by then she felt that I was involved with one of the models, and I was, and you know a situation such as that. And the climax of the whole thing came when she took my suit case with all my stuff and she dropped it off over in front of house. Well I will take that back, she put it in the 4 wheel. I was there, this was on a Sunday afternoon, and came in and said that somebody had put a suitcase in my car. I looked around and they were gone. She said that she was going to Greenville and that she was going to study music and that if I wanted her to come home to send her a plane ticket or that hopefully I would clean up and make . That was crazy, anyway .

V. This was last year?

Yeah, It bothered me, it really did, and it bothered her, and it kind of aired me off because , well that kind of thing affects your dispositon and your work. and I wanted her to come home but by the same token I didn't want to give in so I made up my mind I wasen't going to send her the plane ticket and she didn't call and she didn't write, and that was when I went to who is our Company Attorney, he is on the Board of Directors with us, and I aksed this is what happened, and I would like to know where I stand on this and I said I would like her to come back, and I said if she is not going to come back I would like to know right now, and if she dosen't come back where do I stand. And he said, well he checked out South Carolina law, and he went through the whole smear, $80.00 worth you know, and said I would recommend this and he proceeded to dictate a litter to to me.

V. The one you were telling me about

Well that bothered me because of all the letter in the file they pulled that one because it was completey different from the others in there, and that is the reason why, he said this will get something going, he said what you don't want to do is go down there and he said this will, we will know from this what she wants to do and then we can go from there. And I sent it. And in 3 days she called me and said she wanted to come home, and I said "Fine", and I made it a point at the time not to appear over-zealous about it, I think I was, and she did come home.

V. Did she ever see an attorney that you know of?

She said that she would never file for divorse, she said that she wanted to come home, that all she wanted was the family.and that was all she cared about. I knew she had been to an attorney because I was getting bills in the mail. Attorneys I have never heard of, is that correct, does that ring a bell.

V. No not locally.

It's local, I think so, I'm not sure, but she said all along she would never file for divorce, it was against her religious beliefs. She just would never do it. But she said if she had to she would file for a legal seperation if I wouldn't let her come home. I tried to have a attitude that if you want to come home, fine, I'll be glad to see you, if you don't want to come home I'll get bye, and I suppose that was funny but that was it, but she did come home. And I wouldn't pay the bill, she paid it.

V. I know you told me before that was religious, was brought up religious.

I don't think it was possible that she was playing around, I don't think she was.

V. What Church did attend mostly?

Well we attended Gailee for a number of years and then after the new pastor came there, well I never wanted to make a stink in the church. If you have a problem that can't be resolved by sitting down and discussing it then you should leave quietly. And this was the situation with and still is to this day. He was good, I enjoyed working with him that much but we would sit down and agree to something, he would tell me one thing and I would act on that and then he would go to someone else and tell them something completely different, and that type of thing never works. So I didn't feel that I had the support that I needed for the selection of choir members and choir numbers. If you are going to sing in my choir you are going to have to be at practice and he agreed 100% that is the way it had to be but when some people came to him and said they couldn't be to practice why he softened up a little bit, where I would not. So we dropped out of church for some time. She continued to teach, but eventually she dropped out to.

V. When did this come about?

Oh boy, I can't tell you the date. We are talking in the last year. As far as I am concerned I was justifying the whole thing by photography trips and being away Sunday night. which is a poor excuse but it did. Eventually we didn't feel right about the whole thing, and she called her dad and told him of the situation. Her dad was in here on vacation a year ago, and he can't change a flat tire but he is very intelligent. Something about Kings and being a lunatic on this sort of thing.

V. You mean when it comes to the Bible

Yeah, yeah that sort of thing. That is what he teaches, that is his bag and so on. Well anyway he visited Galilee and he suggested that we find another church. He said they were in trouble. And that following Wednesday night, called me and he said he didn't necessarily believe in proselyte or that he didn't want to do anything out of the way at all but he knew that I wasen't going to church, and he said he just wanted to get it out in the open. He said he spent alot of time thinking about it anyhow he wanted me to come out there and help him out with the music program until he could get somebody else, would I be willing or would you at least think about it? You know let me know, would I call him back or something. He was real nice. Well it was at a very opportune time and we did visit the following Sunday, and I guess we visited a couple of weeks. The third Sunday I was there I was on the platform. And we joined, because that is what you do. And we have been there every since.

V. When you first joined, this was in 1974.

No, we haven't been there that long.

It was shortly after Christmas in 1975, no it was 1974, it dosen't seem that long.

goes on to talk about record attendance at the church and the fact that they at one time went to Calvary before they went out to California.)

V. Did read or study the Bible quite abit? Did you

Not like I should, she did. She read the Greek Hebrew. She couldn't speak Greek Hebrew but she could read it.

V. So at night she would probably grab the bible and read some.

Yeah that right or study for a Sunday School lesson but she spent alot of time reading it.

V. Any certain part of the bible, like the Old or New Testament?

No, If you read 3 chapters a day and 5 on Sunday you will get through the whole bible in a year. Depends on what kind of a mood you are in. Typically if you read it every day, which I dont, but if you read every day why you usually have a set of books that you study on and then a passage or possibly two other passages that you read just because you like to read them or something to give you strength for that day, Proverbs to keep you honest, Second Coming, Isaiah, Daniel, Revolation or Creation. But to keep you honest you have to go to Proverbs. But I can't tell you what her program was. She was involved extensively with the BMA cource. She had gotten all kinds of awards from those people..

V. BMA Cource

BMA is the Bible Memory Association or something like that. It is to help you memorize bible passages.

V. Did she read the bible to the kids?

I never read the bible to the kids, but we told Bible stories all the time. I would tell the typical stories you tell little kids and then expound on it. We have alot of books on Bible stories and she would read out of those.

V. When you had this problem last summer did ever talk about divorce or you paying her alimony or something like that.

No, she made it clear that divorce wasen't something she would do. There was one time when I told her that if she filed for a legal seperation that I might file for a divorce. I wouldn't have but thats what I told her. She was concerned, well lets see, she was concerned about the kids and wanted to know what would happen to them in something like this. I said "Well I am as concerned about the kids as you are." "We will just have to go to attorneys and we won't have nothing to do about it, they will battle it out." All you have to do is pay those creeps the money to have them resolve it and there is no elements of feeling or anything like that, and I said I hated to go through anything like that. She was concerned about the the kids and wanted to know who would get to keep the kids. I told her that would be up to the courts, I guess. It would be ~~impossible~~ difficult for me to take care of them, but I would hate to give them up. I told her finacially I would probably stand a better chance of getting them there, but I said usually the mother get them ther but usually a mother gets them. I didn't know what I was talking about, other than the fact that the people that work for me. I go through this down there once a week.

V. She never did come out and say " I am leaving, I am going to take half of everything, like money , property, etc.
No. I don't have any property. She did say she wasen't interested in any kind of support except her tuition and fees at school. That is what she said, and that was ironic because with her Dad working there she had no tuition and fees. I didn't think she would but maybe with her going back she would have. But she said she didn't care about any money, that all she was interested in was her tuition and fees.

V. Then last summer when you mentioned her going back to her parents; this was because you were doing those photos of those nude models.

I was doing several nude models last year. I had at the plant. I had gotten involved with her. She dosen't look it now but she has really broken down in the last year. I was shooting her two years ago but I didn't get into nude work until we sent that stuff to Double Day. And then I sent a couple of those trans to Vogue Photos and of course they sold right away, and I paid her more than I paid the other models. I paid her 50%. I knew what she was making at Tri Star and what her expenses-were, and she was just a chauffeur away from home, I suppose.

V. Is this

V. I know you mentioned boating down the Gunnison River. When you were boating down there did you ever photograph any of these models along the river or anything.

Absolutely not. Well I take that back. All the swimming suit stuff I did for Dupont & Cunningham & Wallace, was the agent. You don't know who the client is, they never let you know who the client is because of the cut. All the swimming suit stuff I took on what used to be Hayes property, who works with me at Tri Star, at the Sand Dunes out there above the Gunnison. But the sand comes up along the canyon rim because of the prevailing winds there and it just dumps that sand right there and you can throw the horizon out of focus and it looks like a beach, you can't tell the difference so I did photograph models up there, photographed many. Some with clothes on. I photograp some snow mobile pictures for that place out here on the end of town that went bankrupt. You know that snow mobile manufacturer on South 7th. I shot those out there in the middle of the summer.

V. Iremember reading this on a statement, is this where that ming tree is.

The ming tree?

V. Yeah

You can have a ming tree anywhere. A ming tree is just a old drissel cone pine that just kind of comes out all over. You can have a ming tree just anywhere.

V. I just recall this from one of your statements.

Ming Tree, there is my own version of the ming tree out there at the Sand pile. Those pictures I had in my office with that tree in it. That would be a ming tree. But in answer to your question "No". Models floating downstream, No, No, we are talking 500 pounds of camera gear. But not that the stream wasen't famaliar with me. I have gone down the Gunnison River probably more than 100 times. But I have never taken any pictures down there. A couple of times that I did take 35MM photos it was black and white and it was for Mesa County for some of the sewerage that was emptied into the Gunnison River side of Uranium Downs. They never did use them.

V. Did   go with you on these photos?

On which photos?

V. Any one

Nude work she didn't go. I will take that back, they weren't nudes, they were semi nudes. They wore clothing althought it wasen't much, up at Hanging Lake, and she helped shoot those. She shot a 4x5 on those, and it really helped out. But it is a situation you got to pack the kids, it takes a day to haul the equipment up there, a day to haul it back, and maybe the day you are going to shoot the weather won't be good. She did go on those weekend trips but she thrived on those Scofield Crystal. She liked that up there. She loved to drive to Crystal. She wanted to buy some property up there and live up there year around. Well that was part of her ploy to get me out of town, I think, that's a speculation. But she liked the outdoors, she ate all the natural foods, she ground her own flour and this sort of thing and felt this would really be a kick. And if it hadn't been for the kids I might have enjoyed it to. I have never gone the survival route. But she made a concious effort to go if she knew that is where I was going she would always want to go along and she would make it a point to get a baby setter and that was it, and she wanted to go on this one this time because she knew that was probably going to be the last time I was going to work that area down there and she hadn't been down there that summer. She wanted to go with me on this one.

V.   did you take any photos of any scenery or models in the Bridgeport area.

No, I have shot pictures down in the Bridgeport area. That was her big one. She liked the Bridge port. We spent alot of time down there. Now when you cross the bridge, it is closed you can't drive across it, you walk across and there is a   on the far side and that goes back into some canyons and she used to like to photograph up in those canyons. There is some fence up there between the   and the tire is suspended and the kids could climb in and out of there and you get good candid shots, that sort of thins. Also the canyon wall is such that when the river is murky, as it usually is, why the evening light casts a very warm yellow line on it and it makes real nice natural skin tones because you literlly use the whole canyon walls as a reflector. And she shot alot of that of the kids. I never did, it is not my style. She would shoot alot of pictures of the kids climbing out of the old beet   down there. There is always beets   down there, and I would put Thayer up on a ladder or by the brake wheeling and she would shoot pictures of that but I have never shot any pictures down there that I have sold.

V. When was the last time you were at Bridgeport?

The last time I was at Bridgeport was with and that was the last time, lets-see,-that is a wierd question. Do you mean go to Bridgeport or go down the river past there.

V. Yeah that's right.

I can't tell you the last time I was down past there but the last time I drove down to Bridgeport was when and I put in there, I think it was a Saturday afternoon and we came down the Redlands Damm and that was, oh maybe June or July.

V. June or July of this year.

Better make that may, Springs. The Deer Run was so high that it wasen't treacherous at all. It was probably at the peak of spring, probably the last week of May.

V. You have already said that you went boating several times.

The river is not unfamaliar to me, I am very famaliar with that area.

V. When you did go in the river who was usually with you.

now was a non-swimmer, this was the thing. She always wanted to go, and I am of the opinion that if you can't swim you don't get into a boat, but I did have the life ski vest and she wasen't afraid of it and there were a couple of times when I intentionally rolled it over in an excerise so that when it happened it would be an exercise. But I would never allow her in the canoe coming down the Bridgeport or Escalante. Deer Run, I couldn't get her through there and I just couldn't take a chance with her. But the four wheelers we took she usaully went.

This kayack type thing is 20 feet long and you can carry 700 pounds of gear and keep it dry. It really is nice and you can fold it up and carry it in 2 bags which really is nice. Now usually when we came down the river she came in the full boat. Now if I came down in a or something like that well maybe I would give the full boat to one of the other fellows and well I have more confidence in the canoe, and I would take the canoe alone. Tim and I have come down there in the canoe but it is something you have to figure on dumping it otherwise if you figure on dumping it you had better not get in. It is fiber glass and it dosen't handle real well. 17 ft. 175 lbs, it is not a light water canoe, lets put it that way. But she did come down in the full boat and usually we came down with us or another couple from the plant and if you get two guys why the speed is such that you have to paddle to keep up with them because the women just kind of put the paddle in the water and watch it go bye. was no exceptic but she has probably been down the river from Escalante or Dominquez probably 15 times.

V. OK, I know you were telling me the other day that you go out target practicing with your guns. Have you ever target practiced around that same area?

No- No, there is a residence over there, people live over there full time and you are talking canyons and I have never shot anything at all in the Bridgeport area. When targeting , well it depends on what you are targeting, assuming hand guns, well I have a hand gun, well we used to go down here to the Three Sisters area before they since closed that, and now I go above the Three Sisters, take the 4 wheeler and go up on top. Or out at the range or the range here in town or in Palisade, or I have shot here with and his clan. He is a good shot. I have tried desperatley to work something out with the Police Department here when I was back in college to keep my hand in it.

Give me that last question again. I was going to say something and I forgot what it was.

S. Oh, Three Sisters, we were talking about target shooting.

Three Sisters, anyway those were the areas. Oh yeah, I tried to work out a deal with the Police Department here, oh kind of like had. In Los Angeles, why I know one night the NRA, you know they take down the peoples silouettes and you could come down. Well I felt that there would be several, you could get 5 or 6 fellows in town that would be interested 1 night a week, like a Friday or something like that. tried that when he was going to the Olympics.

V. I hear he's a good shot.

He's a good shot. I've watched him shot three 300's right in a row. I don't think there is anybody here in town that can out shoot him. I doubt that seriously. That's 90 shots at 50 feet . That's in a row. Well I would submit on this Bridgeport thing that until, I have thought about this before, she used to go down there, now we are talking in the spring or early summer. She would drive down there with the kids and sometimes I would go and sometimes I wouldn't to catch that evening light. She would shoot 4x5 black & whites and process the negatives and so on, and it was an excercise and she did that several times, by several times I mean 4 or 5 times.

V. You didn't go with her?

That right. I went with her one night and there was a pretty rowdy group down there and apparently it was a Delta function that had been chased out of that camp area just this side of the Rest stop that the Highway put in there. They used to go in there and raise cain and they got chased out of there. And alot of that moved to the Escalante area ϕminquez) which the property took care of and then down at Bridgeport. ~~There was alot~~ There was quite alot of going on down there so I told her she couldn't go.

V. Thats kind of like the Boat Docks

There's alot of wild things that happen down there.

Some talk about the boat docks down at the Gunnison River, but couldn;t understand the conversation.

V. When did you move up in that area approximately?

I think we moved in 3 years ago in September, September 1972.

V. Was living there at that time or did they move in later.

They were there

V. In the same place?

Yeah

V. So this is how long you have known Linda or

Well I have never, that is one thing about them, they minded their own business. They never, I don't know it was obvious to me. was home part of the time, he drove truck then just like he does now but he was home alot more, and he liked beer. He never came in that he didn't have a 6 pack. That was the extent of it, he wasen't the type that was always borrowing stuff or he never needed anything, but that's OK. I never had any qualms with them.

V. But this is when you first met Linda and when you first moved in up there?

Yeah, Yeah. There was never any formal introductions. The kids played together and the first thing you know she was knocking on the door with "Are the kids here", you know something of that nature but never had any formal introduction.

V. How was Linda and and their friendship

There wasen't any.

V. I mean their friendhsip.

Oh they got along OK. I think Linda respected I think she respected me. When the chips were down why she either went to or she came to us and I thought that showed something. She didn't have anything to do with us any other time. I don't know,XMXXX the kids played together. I would rather have my kids play with their kids than the across the street. He is the spitting, biting segment. He spits and bites and throws rocks and so on, but his mother says it is not him. It is one of those kind of deals. And the only thing that I had against them playing with the kids was there language, their vocabulary, you've never heard it before. They are just duplicating what the've heard at home. And it is embarrasing when you take the kids to Sunday school and one of the other kids push them or something and they let them have it with their version across the street.

V. Did Linda happen to go to Sunday School?

No, we asked them to church on a number of occassions, but, well she had agreed to go that Sunday.

V. The following Sunday after they came up missing.

Right, she had agreed to go. She came over and said to Thursday night, that she wasen't the church type, wasen't hung up on that. If she had gotten involved in church I don't think she would have had the problems she had. But she said that she appreciate that when we asked her to go to church that we never begged her or pushed her or anything like that. Well she said up in the hospital that when she came out of it she was going to start going to church. She was also the type that would just say that, but she had given Pat a committment on Thursday, which was the night before.

V. I understand from the Police Department and from neighbors that there was quite a bit of traffic in and out.

Yeah, of cource we're coming up three years now. After left, well that is no secret, he was running around too, told her so.

V. That was himself?

Yeah, after they seperated she started in and it just got worse and worse and worse. Well just right up until the time in question.

V. Was it alot of relatives or who?

That's what bothered me about the whole thing. All of her relatives have shown so much concern over all this, but where were they when she was out committing suicide all these times and needed so much help. They weren't even around. That's what bothers me. and her mother in law, they came over once in a while, but usually she took the kids over there, but there at the end, at the last. well since she was in the hospital why the kids were hardly ever at home. And told her that if she didn't straighten up and quit screwing around she was going to lose the kids. She slept all day and the kids run at large and consequently she didn't want to do that so they stayed over at their grandparents most of the time, or at least they were there if she wanted them. But with the kids out of the way it just gave her that much more freedom with her friends. And she did have alot of friends, but I don't thin they were friends at all.

V. How about parties over there, did she hold parties on weekends.

I am not sure what you mean by parties. Loud mouth parties. No. Alot of cars coming and going, yes. Her and one of her friends or someone like , they would go together and bring two guys back and they would sit and drink but nothing wild. Nothin out of the way except for the hours they kept. Yeah, the fellows would leave typically early in the morning, 6:00 or so.

V. Did you ever meeet any of her friends, or talk to any.

Absolutely not. Only

V. She is the only one.

I really felt sorry in that situation because of her little deaf boy. Her boy was tatally deaf. I used to take him on the buggy on the bicycle. I used to take my kids to the park usually every night for a few minutes and wanted to take him too, and once or twice she left him go, but she was much more astringent with him that Linda was with her kids.

V. She had more rein on him.

Yeah, it was just obvious that she was more concerned for the kid than Linda was with hers. He went a couple of times and then a couple of times after that it seemed like she had something planed or something like that and I wasen't sure what the situation was and I never did push her. But she was the only one that I ever really knew over there. And I didn't really know He came over a couple of times. He made a couple passes at

V. Who did?

Yeah

V. When was this?

Not to long ago, this summer . She told me about it. It really didn't bother me, you've got to know to appreciate him. Unless he is drinking he is a very docile St. Bernard type individual. When he's drinking he gets violent. She told me about it on two occassions and I didn't think anything about it, it sounded just like and that was it.

V. Was this when was over at Linda's visiting her?

No, came over to the house on two seperate occassions. There may have been more but from what she said I don't think it was anymore than just the twice. He either came over to pick up some dry clothes or something. It was one of those kind of deals.

V. Then this was this summer?

Yeah,

V. But when he did this is this when he had a few drinks.

I'm not sure about that. I don't think she would let him in if he had been drinking. because beat up on Linda several times when he had been drinking. always worried about this. Thats a matter of record according to I didn't know that until after I talked to her, well this came up after, she was worried that had done it because that's typically how he operates. He would come home, well he 's a truck driver, he's a big man, and she 90 pounds dripping wet, it is one of those kind of deals.

V. I understand that Linda and would go shopping together?

I don't ever recall them going shopping together, not once. We did buy raw milk, I can't tell you where that is but its out in the Clifton area somewhere, and she got started on raw milk to, number 1 it's cheaper, number 2 it was better for you. And lots of time they got milk on the same day so they could go in one vehicle and cut down on the expenses. They oftern did that and I got the impression that's what they were going to do Friday night, but I know that they didn't. I had given her grocery money, I think it was Thursday morning or the day before or, I guess it was that morning and that is typically milk day, buy it by the gallon. We really got a good price on it and it was illegal as all get out, but. Linda never went shopping, Linda never went to a grocery store. She went to 7-11 but other than that you're talking McDonalds, Der Weinersneitzel, 7-11.

V. So if the kids wanted something to eat she would drive to a drive in and get them something.

Linda couldn't fix anything. Linda could not fix anything. She would go up to 7-11 and get a can of Ravoli or a can of Tamales or Franco American Spaghetti and heat it up and burn it. That was it. She slept all day, she would go up to 7-11, typically because the hours she was up that's the only thing that was open and buy a bag of potato chips or a small box of doughnuts and give the kids a bottle of pop and open a box of doughnuts and let them have that all day.

V. Did her and ever get together and go washing clothes?

I've never known that to happen. I think her drier crapped out, I can't remember were going back now probably 7 months. used her washer for awhile while I was waiting on parts for my own, and in so doing I think said she could use our dryer. My parts came in and she continued to use our dryer. Certainly not on a scheduled basis. But she, well lets put it this way, if we weren't there she would go ahead and use it. Lots of time we would come home and her clothes would be in the dryer and the dryer had stopped. She had fallen asleep and forgot to get them or something like that. Now when left last year why it didn't bother her at all that wasen't there, she still continued to come over and use the dryer. That really wasen't a regular think tho, and to read the article in the Denver paper why, I guess there trying to sell papers, but what they said about that wasen't necessarily true the fact that they had been washing at each others houses, it's not true.

V. I know you have mentioned that at night if she had a problem she would call you folks, or

She used to call That was back when . She used to call (until sat her down and said "Listen you really screwed up" and this is what you should do and if you don't you're going to be in all kinds of shit, and consequently if something went wrong she usually called and then depending on the nature of it I either got involved or I didn't.

V. I remember you telling me about that night when she called about the bugs or cockroached.

Oh yeah, 3:00 in the morning but we got rid of the bugs tho. I am not afriad of bugs, I am not afraid of a cockroach but she was just as white as a sheet and just shaking, standing on top of the stereo, and you could hear the cockroaces in the garbage, chic chic chic chic.

. I remember you telling me that, that she wanted to call the police because she was afraid that if you got under the house you would get in with some snakes or something.

Yeah, she said there was rattle snakes down there, and she wanted to call the police then. he didn't need much of a reason to call the police. She liked to call the polic X0XM It upset her if the police came and she didn't call them, typically the gal across the street, the first house west of me, the old gal. She is a little senile, a little off her rocker, and if Linda would have her sprinkler on and some was runnin out in the street she would call the police and complain about wasting water or she would be out there talking to one of her friends with shorts on or something the old lady would call the police because the hippies were playing in the street or that sort of thing. If she called the police she delighted in that. , it wa usually the blue and white and on a couple of occassions asked her about it. I wasen't really involved in it but mentioned later that LInda said later it was her friend and how close they were and all this, but I don't think it's true because didn't drive a blue and white and knowing now, I don't thin there was anything there at all.

V. Did you ever see the person when they drove up in the blue and white.

Most of the time there were two. I think it was official. It might be out that she might have been screwing around with somebody on the force, I don't know, but I certai couldn't say she was. I never really paid any attention to them. Usually there were two of them and one of them carried their little clip board. I was certain he had business there.

V. And they were in uniform.

Yes

V. Did you and   ever photograph Linda and her children?

Yeah,   used to photograph, not photograph Linda to my knowledge, but she photographed the kids. You know the kids played together and photographed them in the sand box, alot of pictures in the snow. On one occassion out there at the Sand pile at the Ming tree, and Linda is not with us that much. ut that one day we went to get sand, and   took some pictures of the kids. I took Linda to the hospital that night because she had female problems. I didn't know it until we got back but she was just bleeding real bad.

V. When was this?

I can't give you a date.

V. Was this last year?

Last fall, it was still warm, you could go out there in your shirt sleeves and the sand was warm , I remember that.

V. She was having female problems then.

Well she had a, according to   she had a menstural extraction, she got pregant often and she would catch it right away. I think Dr. Meachum was her doctor. Catching it real early it is nothing but afterward you kind of have to settle down a little bit and I think the bouncing around in the 4 wheel, well she might have just gone through this yesterday and I didn't know, but I know she called   and   said she was going over to Linda's for a minute, and then   called and said "Can you come and help me with Linda", she says she is going to have to go to the hospital and she had already made the arrangements. She said can you help her in the 4 wheel. I drove the 4 wheel over in front of the house and I went in and her underwear and the clothes she had on there was blood all over everything. Anyway she was pretty well cleaned up,   had cleaned her up pretty well, and I picked her up and took her out to the 4 wheel and I think that time she went to the Osteopathic. I can't remember, but I am certain that jostling around in the 4 wheel had probably messed her up, and I since found out later that these extractions are more common than   . It was a scheduled thing for her.

V. Did you or   ever photograph Linda herself.

I can't answer that. I had no interest in Linda. I had approached   I knew she needed the money and I had 2   in Colorado Springs, one wanted swimming suit work and the other wanted semi-nude work and it didn't really require any posing at all on that. That was something that was a very simple deal, and I asked   to ask Linda about it so that   would know what I was doing, and then XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX I went over and asked Linda because I really didn't know   She had real nice hair and I felt there were be more credence to it if Linda would talk to her and convince her of my professionalism. So thats what I did.   Unable to read.

But I never photographed Linda, now if photographed Linda or not, I don't think she did. She might have had a picture of Linda with a back ground or something else. There wouldn't have been any commercial value in photographing Linda. She had no face, she didn't look healthy, se didn't eat. She looked like she hadn't slept in a week and she wasen't well kept, her complection was bad. The facial structure wasen't such.

V. Well from neighbors and talking to other I am sure she was having affairs.

That was no secret, she didn't make any secret of it at all. I don't know, it just wasen't something that she thought was wrong.

V. Did she ever tell you and that she was having affairs with these guys?

Well and I used to joke about it, one of those his name was a strange name, thats what it was. Well he drove a bug type volkswagon among other things and it made more noise than a DC7, and you could hear him down there making a turn and we would say "Well here comes Guber", and we used to joke about that and Linda talked about him. because she seemed to like him and it was just more than a one night deal. Well I don't know, he was around for 2 or 3 weeks, he lasted quite awhile and to my knowledge she was still seeing him, but I didn't know him. I wouldn't know him if I fell over him, but I would know the truck. But they were always there. It might be a pickup, it might be a van, you never do, they were really shaky and they were bringing fellows home. They used to go to Shakey's, and typically the gal she was going with would be under 21 so they usually went to Shakeys. She wore a Mickey Mouse that looked like a brass snake around her arms. Whenever she had that on well we knew she was going to Shakey's.

V. You told me about this before but would you tell me roughly again about the assault on Linda. I know you went with the Police, and you went to the hospital to see her

We would have done anything for Linda, so would would have done anything for her, but you have to show some initiative of wanting to be helped, and there was a continuous stretch of the truth. She would just turn around and out right lie to you, and it was obvious, and that makes it rough but I never did push it.

and about 2 weeks after she was home she came over and wanted something. I think she wanted a screw driver or some foolish thing, and I said "you look pretty nice, I guess you came through alright, and she said "Oh yes I am going to be alright". But she didn't want to talk about it and in so doing I didn't feel like questioning her on that and I didn't.

V. I know you told me you had just gotten in from Monarch.

Oh that was the night she went to the hospital. Yeah I got in, well that is the time I usually got in on week ends, it was about 1:00, it might have been 1:30, and I was just sitting there on the couch reading the paper. The 4 wheel was parked in the front yard and I unloaded the stuff, and told me to call regardless of what time I came in and that was about 1:00. Anyway I called him and I sat down and I heard a scream and I turned around and looked, but she screams all the time, you know, and that was about 20 minutes later there was a scream that was blood curdling, something was wrong, so I went to the front door, turned on the porch light and her front door was open and she staggered into the doorway and screamed for me to help and then she fell out of the step into the front yard, and that is when I picked her up. She was unconcious, she was stone cold, all swetty, her face looked like the diving board at Lincoln Park.

and I gave her mouth to mouth and brought her out and she woke up and she fought me off a little bit, and she said "Call the cops, call the cops". She complained she couldn't breathe, and I didn't see any reason to call the police. I went in and hollered for my wife and evedentally she had gone back to bed and I thought I hollered preety loud, so I picked Linda up and carried her across the street. I called to call the rescue squad, she was half asleep. I called the squad.

V. What was she wearing?

She had on a, I don't know the terminology of it but it wasen't a halter, it was a short sleeved blouse with a low neck, and hip hugger type pants.

So I did go over and check on the kids and they were asleep. Every thing was torn to hell. She had this plant in one of these plastic spitoon type thing, it was tipped over on the floor and the ash trays were tipped over on the floor. I just checked to make sure the kids were asleep and I went back home. I went to bed about 4:00 or 4:30 and called and said to come and get her, which I did. That is the extent of the information that I have until I talked to Most of the information I got from because the woman she is, called the Doctor to get the scoop on it.

V. When was the first time you used in photographs?

V. Yeah

Nude photos, any type of photos

V. Yeah

Probably last spring, Yankee Boy Basin. I used to shoot down there for Coors. It wasen't this type of shooting but I still have copies of some of them.

V. And this was the first time you photographed ?

Yeah

I think it was Yankee Boy Basin. If it wasen't Yankee Boy it was right down below there.

V. Was this a nude photo?

V. How about nude, did you ever photograph in the nude?

Yes, the first nude photos I took were out there at the Ming tree in the Sand Dune area. Some of those went to market. I still have some of those. Some of them went to market, the photos were OK they were in good taste. But even on some of the black & whites she was showing her age more than she should have or something of the nature. If their skin looks like the sand beside them you have a problem. Well in nude work you are looking someone from about 17 to 22 because beyond that there skin begins to break down and with a 35MM you can get away with it but shooting a 8x10 camera it is just no forgiving at all and there is no amount of make up that you can cover it up with. I woman gets to be 28 or 29 years old and unless she every day for the past 10 years tried to watch herself along that line, which a working woman dosen't why you just have a difficult time. They look hard, and consequently it is hard to market them .

where the shape is obvious, where the clothes are obvious, but prehaps the majesty of the scene overpowers the subject. But I don't know, we never shot alot of nudes, the situation that I thought alot of still do, and although the poses were in good taste that were going to some publication that I didn't want my name in. I stopped sending to those companies and the other companies for their 8x10 work were consistent and they paid a higher price for it, and so consequently I got out from under it and in view of the problems it was creating in my house why it wasen't worth that much money in a situation such as this. And at that point was interested in the cameras and she could see the composition , and she could tell which picture was the best, and quite frankly she could have shot landscape pictures and made, it might have been a little more work, but she could have made the money she was making posing.

V. You claim you gave her half.

That's right, 50%. The advantage of that is, womens pictures, if they are well done will turn over right now, they will send them out to a client for 30 days, he may print them, he may not, he might hold them for further evaluation and he may pay well depending on publication, that might be 5 months away, then they got 30 days and youre 6 to 9 months out on your cash flow, thats what they have right now particularly with a good looking woman or girl they will with the landscaping you may be sixty months trying to profit on it. So, it's a good profit, but is not easy, easy way to go. That was the reason that we got started, a shooting that type of work and she observed some models that both myself and Nostrad in Glenwood Springs were going and she usually copy. And fit right in and garbled---not enough to make a living off of it.

V. How long have you known Actually, personally?

When I put her to work. She's good with the company, she's still with the company. I don't know for sure I can't remember all the employees. This question they have asked me before. About April, Probably two years this coming April.

V. Two years this coming April?

I'm not sure about that. I could check in the file I've got. I don't think would have.

V. I know you told us something about your relationship with besides the the photographing----------.

Well, the more, well, I started getting involved with when a couple of assignments that I had, that she was not going to be involved in I asked her if she wanted to go along. And she helped with the equipment but it was just being her. And we were involved to that extent. And a

V. Were you having an affairs with ?

Yes. We've, I didn't start right away but a it's tapered off. Tapered off somewhat now, but a , if it were up to me and me alone-why I'd be interested in marrying her now. She's alot different than was, but it's just, just like we were talking. We talked last night, we've talked the last couple of nights and this past weekend. Its, there are problems that time will take of. Some things time will take care of. But there are problems still between us. There's a difference between playing around and having genuine feelings. And a I'm just getting married going over the hill again that's a There are problems that time won't cure and they have to be resolved right now or you have to break it off. And a you can be friends you can a lot of date a lot of types, you don't have to worry about it. Getting married is something else. This is the problem here, the religious differences and the fact that the kids. She's not, she's not really concerned with them, I think I would, my major concern now if for the kids. And a it's not an atmosphere that a is condusive for the kids. It's a situation it's not real healthy. And it's a situation where she just not sure about becoming involved with the kids, and a never has been. And kids don't especially care for them. I think it's, she means well, but her way is just different than and what they have been used to.

V. Right.

She's, now and I can have discussions disagreements there will never be a raised voice or harsh words. Never any name calling or anything like that. And does get loud. If her boy does something, why gets loud and she lights into him. That scares my boys. He has a fear of that because he's never been around it before. And her language, she's not foul mouthed, but shits and hells and damns a lot and that sort of thing. picks it up and not only that but her boy , he's had a twelfth birthday. He's a good boy, but a it's just like I told her, I said if he were mine, I'd crack down on him now. Have problems

In an effort not to have problems later. But, I don't like it when with my boy he's only five, but if pop machine I want to do it right now I don't want to wait around, If you have kids you know what I'm talking about.

V. Not three hours later or Saves dilly-dallying around that's the way and that really bothers me. doesn't run the show. And she's not seventeen and a situation to get involved in that why a it might disappoint I know it would be a problem. The problem XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX there that I would like to resolve. If it were up to me, why perhaps I could, but with the boy why I just

V.

Well, I don't know but I would say that's extremely doubtful.

V. How about having affairs with other girls or or any other girls?

No, no. I haven't played around, I haven't played around with any

V. Just this

Except

V. None of the other girls or

No

V. In your.neighborhood?

Linda never said anything wrong in the wrong way. She never made any advance toward me or anything like that. There was two times when was away last year, she came over and she'd kinda linger around.

V. Um hum

And those were the only times. But I think that she was smoking something.

V. Like marijuana or something.

Yeah, she really a, I don't think she was herself. But she never said anything out of the way or made any advances. But she lingered around quite a while. And I wasn't certain about that. But her eyes didn't look right, I, you know, she was kind of people.

V. Okay, Bob, was there anything else that you feel that?

S. Everybody has been asking the sixty-four thousand dollar question, do you have a million dollar insurance on ?

(Laughter) Oh no, they ask that right off the bat. I a, when who is now with Valley Federal, do you know, He used to be with Metropolitan Life.

S. (some response)

Anyway when I first married why he came over and sold me a policy worth about three to five thousand dollars. I don't remember what it was just enough coverage to last us. And I took it out, I really couldn't afford it at the time, but was a personal friend and I knew he needed the money. I kept it up until I went out to school, when I was in school out there I couldn't the payments on it, so I had to let it go. So what I'm saying is I have no insurance.

V. This school is this the one you went to in California?

No, no.

V. This went you went to Bible study?

Right,right. I a

V. What school was that?

Pacific Coast

I have no insurance on her. I have no insurance on myself. Oh, health insurance, you know, Blue Cross stuff like that. The company is carrying a health insurance policy on me, but they are the beneficiaries to cover my stock transactions. So, there is no insurance involved.

V. How much do you make a year down there?

Depends on how you figure it. I paid taxes last year on $29,000.00.

V. $29,000.00

I have my tax return in the car, if you want to look at it. Last year you have to bear in mind, that that's paying back a certain amount to the company as a stock purchase.

V. Um Hum.

And take home wise we are looking at about $16,000.00.

V. $16,000.00 and the rest goes to the stock exchange.

Yes, and it will continue to be that way for another thirty-eight months.

I wished I had an insurance If I had had a twenty thousand dollar insurance policy on them, why the investigation would have gone different from the beginning.You said the insurance company is a much better investigator than an attorney or paid officer.

V. Right.

S. I wanted to ask you a question, now. We asked you about clothing. Did you take any clothing with you? You don't carry a bag with you zip or ?

I usually a, in fact well in some cases, the you went through. A, it was probably empty them.

You have quite a bit of small ones?

Why, what I've got is a Salesman's sample case.

V. Oh, okay

And I usually carry underwear in it, my rasor strap, my hone, not only my hone, my brush, underwear, socks, a toothbrush, toothpaste, a if I know I'm going to be in the water, why I'll carry perhaps an extra pair of jeans.

S. You don't take one of those big monstrous things with you, you know?

Not if I just go over night, No.

V. You mean one of them like we use, Bob. garbled.

No, no, not to go to no I don't. Nothing when of course XXX I do but then you don't know a week at the time. You are talking about the rasor strap.

S. Yeah, do you have a straight edge?

Yes, yes.

S. Well, you didn't have to turn that over to the PD, did you?

(laughter)

No.

S. I'm just teasing, now.

No, I'm surprised they didn;t take that. I must say, I think was concerned about that when he came in one morning, he knocked and walked in. I came out with my rasor. I think he was concerned about that.

S. Not many people use them any more.

I don't know, I started on it and once you have used one you can't go back to the other.

S. I know my dad used to use one and I haven't seen one since. When we was down at your house I say one, I don't know whether it was a antigue or not, it looked like an anitque to me.

That one that my grandfather left me, I used it for years, and i dropped it when I was in college and it took a horse shoe nick out of the . I use a Red Imperial now and always have. Typicaly I'll shave, well it depends, I should shave twice a day. If I use a safety or somehting like that I have to shave twice a day. But banging around, If i shave that night, becasue I might not have any hot water the next morning, and I like to sleep in the morning well I shave that night. But that was it. To my knowledge the PD showed no interest in that.

V. Do you have any of the clothes that you were wearning Friday night.

Yeah, I would have to look through them and find out which one it was. I sam sure it was a set of blue jeans, I've only got about two pair of blue jeans. But the shirt and the sweater, well , yeah I've got the old wool type thing that made for me. I usually take that because it is real warm. But you know, the dog has slept on it, it's been in the four wheel now for two years. I'v e got that.

V. You don't mind if we got these clothes, ?

You could if you want to. You want to look at the clothes?

V. You have already washed you jeans and those things.

Well everything has been washed except that wool thing.

V. You mean your sweater.

No, it's a wool type of thing that made for me when she was in high school and it's been washed before and it shrunk, it dosen;t really fit, and its got dog hair all over it and its dirtier than all get out. That hasen't been washed, that was with me that night.

V. Well I guess we've got everything covered and I appreciate it, but you know, concerning body, I'll let you know.

Yeah thats one thing that bothers me, that and that I have to go through all this again. I hope I don't have to go through this again.

V. The main thing we wanted was some questions that needed answered, in going over statements, statements on both sides.

I understand

V. You already knew we contacted some of the neightobors.

I didn't know that, it dosen't matter. It is a very tedious and discouraging thing.

V. We are going to get into this and find out what really happened. I know you would want us to.

You don't know when the remains ?

V. I think maybe the first of next week. I will let you know. It shouldn't be to much longer.

I can't see what has taken so long.

V. We sure want to get to the bottom of this and I know you would want us to. And the side want us to.

Some person or persons

V. You get another call like that let me know.

If it continues to persist, it is just like shoplifting, if you stay with it they are going to get nabbed. There is going to be a mistake. I don't know, I have alot of questions that you just keep to yourself. What you want me to know you will tell me. I don't know, I wish I was more careful with this fellows name. I don't know, I didn't really expect it to be anything. But that deal about Linda Benson's nipples, I felt gave it some credence. If they were cut off, now certainly you would know that. And the fact that you don't know dosen't mean you can;t get on the phone and find out.

V. Right, if you do get any more calls give Bob or myself a call.

I don't know what good it would do. I got one this morning and they hung up. Somebody just checking to see where I am.

V. Did anybody say anything?

No, they never say anything. I segerated that call because I felt XXXXXXX certain that he wasen't the one that had been calling, and the fact that I am still getting the hang up calls. The equipment the phone company uses, that is electronic now to the point that no matter how fast they hang up it latches up, dosent it?

S. I think it is 3 seconds. 3 seconds is a afual short time

Three seconds is a afual long time to get somebody on the line..

S. Have you changed your theory any as to how you think it happened?

Well that is difficult to say. I have gone over this and I am satisfied to a point what happened but after that why I just have to drop it on you and say "Now you tell me what happened". But I, I don't know, well like I said there is alot of questions. I think I may have changed my theory had I had some of the answers to my questions, which I am not going to get. The fact that there was shooting involved, that is noise, you know things like that bring up other questions that you have to have answered in order for them to concrete the theory toghether. I am certain in my own mind that she left the house, and I am relatively certain in my own mind that she left the house willingly. The only thing that would get her out of the house in her night clothes was a call from Linda. So I am relatively certain that she went over to Linda's. Nobody in the neighborhood heard gunshots that I know of. It hasen't been heard of to my knowledge. I can't say why, I was thinking about what you told me the other day, the boys had and you said the reason for that was that they could recognize perhaps who it was. Now couldn't, , we are not talking someone that could say "Well it was Milo Vig or it was Bob Silva", we are talking someone who can't put sentences toghether, we are talking someone at his very best, if he was sit in the same room with them he might show some fear or something of that nature. You see, he couldn't talk, so I am inclined to discout that.

S. Why why why, who who who

Well it brings back the same thing, there would be no reason. Let's go back to this strangulation if that is what it was. We are assuming that's what it is at this point. Why then, there is no reason to strangle Linda sexual, you can't break the willing, and there is nothing in her house of any value, and any clean cut guy wouldn't even go in there. And the stereo, we are talking about a 8 foot console. I cn't see any reason to strangle Linda.

talk of Her inflicting by her own self, and ruling that out.

In relation to the Benson thing, and I know nothing about that but I have read in the paper about it, but that is what said. He said,well I fell that and ounce of application is worth about 5 times of abstraction, and that is what botheres me.
And he cited the Benson case as an example. He says you can't deal with facts, there is no facts here, he siad well this is before the bodies turned up. Haul them off to California and rape them on the way or something like that you would drop the kids off in Greenriver or something of that nature, and in talking about this he said "Well that's you". "That's what you would do". But that's not what happened to Linda Benson, so I don't know what happened. I dont know if the screams that were heard were or wheteher they were Linda's from across the street. But I am certain that left early Saturday morning, I mean early Saturday morning and it wasen't something that transpired at 9:00 in the morning, between 9:00 in the morning and noon on Saturday the way some people seem to think it was. Now I haven't heard that since the bodies have turned up. But I couldn't convince the police any different. They were certain in their own mind that was around on Saturday morning, I don't think she was based on what says. But the gas cans can't be explained, the one gallon gas can we are taling about, the Jury can, and the bicycle, and that plays a part. Somehow the bicycle got over there

S. also the tennis shoe, wasen't the tennis shoe found in the station wagon or someplace.

I think that is what said. She said that the Investigator found it in the Station Wagon. But said that LInda had gotten the gas out there, they have gas pumps, prior to this. She hadn't driven it anywhere on account of it was full. And the little bit of gas that was gone out of my can wouldn't have driven any distance at all. Wheter you poured it in or not poured it in it wouldn't hurt any.

V. And the jumper cable you gave to Jumper cables, somebody has a set of jumper cables, nice ones.

V. You handed them to her that night before you left.

Yeah she had them in her hands the last time I saw her.

V. we appreciate you coming down here, and if there is anything you might think of feel free to call us.

UH I don't know. There is a couple of details that we went over before but I don;t know if the are irrelevant. I just don't know. I just can't figure out why the kids were involved. And the main question I have is why Bridgeport. Bridgeport makes no sense to me, makes no sense at all. It is out of the way, it would take a long time to run down there. There are areas right off the AEC Bridge there by the canal. There is not one there and the water is always murky, it is never clear. You are looking at 20 minutes out, areas right down behind the Uranium Downs where the duck blinds are. If you didn't want a body found why you could dispose of a body in one of those duck blinds because the river just caves in, you would never find them. Even after the duck blinds are rebuilt they wouldn't go back that far, and you would never find them and you are talking 20 minutes from town, and nobody is down there. And Bridgeport you have a residence, there are people that live right there at Bridgeport.

Something about a party that Linda may have gotten involved in but would't get involved in something like that.

I don't think one person could have pulled it off, you need someone. I don't know, I just don't think, well I don't know, get back to the Benson thing, go ahead and ration that out.

Investigator Dale J. Matuszczak #52
North Platte Police Department
Criminal Investigations Division Agency Assist (Grand Junction Police Department Colorado)
Case 08-19308

On 7/29/08 I was informed by Sgt. Toelle and Lt. Ryan that Grand Junction Police Department had contacted our agency requesting assistance in gathering physical characteristics from I was informed that this request was being done because of a cold case homicide investigation from 1975 in which was never excluded as a suspect. I was provided with a contact, Special Investigator Larry Bullard with the Grand Junction Police Department, and told to contact him for specific information.

I contacted Investigator Bullard by telephone and we spoke about this case. Investigator Bullard indicated that he and Sgt. Paul Quimby were conducting a cold case investigation into the murder of a 25 year old woman and her 5 year old daughter in Grand Junction in 1975. I was told that a blood type not matching the victims was found during the initial investigation; however, because of the time frame in which this homicide took place DNA testing was not available.

Investigator Bullard told me that he suspected that was responsible for the deaths of the two victims. He had requested physical characteristics from during a contact with him in February of 2008 but refused to provide them at the time. Investigator Bullard said that became very defensive and told him to send a letter to him and he would consider it.

Investigator Bullard sent me a copy of his report detailing his interview with He also sent me an email that contained an order to produce physical characteristics that he would use in Colorado.

I put together an order to produce physical characteristics using Investigator Bullard and Sgt. Quimby's affidavit and indicated that these characteristics were being done to assist Grand Junction Police Department in their investigation.

I met with County Attorney Rebecca Harling on 7/30/08. During this meeting an application for the order was completed. I could not meet with a judge until the following morning and on 7/31/08 I met with the Honorable Judge Kent Florom where the order and affidavit were presented to him. Judge Florom did sign the order.

Once I obtained the order I attempted to locate at his residence of His vehicle was not located at the residence. I did go up to the door and knock and observed furniture in the residence but no one answered the door on 8/1/08.

On the morning of 8/4/08 I drove by the residence and observed a white 1992 Chevrolet Corsica bearing NE Plate parked in front of I was aware that this vehicle belonged to after researching him on the NCJIS (Nebraska Criminal Justice Information System) website.

I contacted Investigator Stadler and asked him to meet with me at this address. Once Investigator Stadler arrived we knocked on the door and made contact with

After introductions I explained to that I had a court order granting me the ability to obtain a sample of his DNA for Investigator Bullard in Grand Junction Colorado. I provided him with a copy of the order as required by law and he read it. commented on how he was suspicious of how evidence in a 30 year old homicide investigation was just now discovered. I explained to that I was not fully versed in the circumstances of the homicide investigation but did have authority to gather the sample as per a judge's order. also commented on how he believed his "rights to due process" were being violated.

I informed that I would like him to ride with me down to the police station where the DNA sample would be obtained. He agreed and rode with me. He continually mentioned things about his "due process" rights and his suspicions of planted evidence.

Once at the police station I brought into the CID West Interview room where I engaged the recording device and video taped the DNA retrieval from

I took 4 buccal swabs from the cheeks of 2 from the inside of each cheek, and placed them into tubes to dry. I secured the evidence and drove back to his residence.

During the drive back to his residence commented on how he used to be a police officer with the North Platte Police Department back in the late 50's. He claims that his career was ended when he assisted in the arrest of a North Platte boss. He indicated that this boss was affiliated with the underworld present in North Platte during this time frame. was dropped off at his residence of Once back at the police station I retrieved the evidence and packaged it, leaving the top of the tubes off so that the samples could dry. I also took the DVD of the DNA retrieval and placed it into evidence for Investigator Bullard and Sgt. Quimby.

I contacted Investigator Bullard and he indicated that he would like a copy of my report. I have faxed my report along with a copy of the order to produce physical characteristics, affidavit, and return which was done immediately after placing the evidence into temporary storage lockers. He has been provided with the contact information so that he can retrieve the DNA samples and DVD from Evidence Tech Gayle Reed.

This concludes my involvement in this case.

On 7/29/08 I was contacted by Special Investigator Larry Bullard with the Grand Junction Police Department in Colorado. Investigator Bullard was requesting assistance in obtaining physical characteristics from North Platte resident, regarding a cold case homicide perpetrated in Grand Junction, Colorado on July 25th, 1975. In this homicide a 25 year old woman, Linda Kethcum (aka Linda Benson) and her 5 year old daughter, Kelly Ketchum, were stabbed to death according to autopsy records. Investigator Bullard indicated that at the time of the initial homicide investigation was a person of interest; however, near the end of 1975 the investigation into these homicides went cold. Investigator Bullard is working closely with Sgt. Paul Quimby, also with the Grand Junction Police Department, and together compiled the following information for this affidavit.

13. On Sunday, July 27, 1975 Investigator Douglas Rushing interviewed She had borrowed car on Thursday July 24th, 1975. She was trying to return it and could not find at his house. Her told her that had gone to Glenwood Springs to get out of town for a rest. She did not see on that Thursday, July 24th. She saw him on Friday, July 25th at about 3:00PM. She was aware that he was in a real bad mood as if he could "bite her head off" for any minor thing. On the evening she was told about the deaths he came to the house after and had arrived.

14. On Monday, July 28, 1975, at 1700 hours MST, was interviewed by GJPD Investigator Douglas Rushing. said that on the evening of Thursday July 24, 1975, he went to Glenwood Springs, Colorado to look over possible job sites. He arrived there in Glenwood Springs about 1900- 2000 hours and had checked into the Hotel Denver. He looked at prospective job sites and returned to the Hotel and stayed the night there. returned to Grand Junction about 1000 hours Friday, July 25, 1975, and went to his apartment.

15. Investigation in 1975 verified that had checked into the Hotel Denver as he indicated on Thursday, July 24, 1975. There are no reports in the original files indicating that this alibi was fully confirmed. Grand Junction Police Department Special Investigator Larry Bullard talked with former GJPD investigators Doug Rushing and Ron Smith in January and February 2008. During the 1975 investigation they (Rushing and Smith) were unable to confirm that was looking at job sites, contacted any customers, or had actually slept in the rented hotel room. They confirmed he had registered at the Hotel. There was a period of time from 2000 hours until the following day where his whereabouts could not be confirmed.

16. The investigation into the deaths of Linda and Kelley Ketchum in 1975, and ensuing years, did not result in an arrest. The investigation became inactive. In late 2007, and early 2008, the investigation was reopened during a cold case review. The evidence was reviewed and was resubmitted to the CBI Laboratory in February 2008, for DNA analysis of the blood evidence collected in 1975. The analysis has not been completed but is expected that a DNA analysis can be completed based on the amount and quality of the evidence previously examined. As a result of this newly opened investigation there has been new interviews with several citizens, officers, and family members that were contacted in 1975.

17. The 1975 investigation reports did not indicate what blood type had. In 2008, Special Investigator Larry Bullard talked with

Dear Mr. Bullard:

I regret to advise you review of the record storage area shows none of the information requested to be available. Without my authority or my knowledge this material was destroyed by the hospital administration. Please see the enclosed letter in this regard. As the material was incinerated and not retrievable again this was done without my authority or knowledge by administrative members of the Montrose Memorial Hospital.

We do have however x-rays and tissue in paraffin blocks on these cases which I can provide to you if necessary. Additionally, as I recall I submitted a number blood samples, including some of the blood that I thought came from the assailant on that case to the laboratory at that time, that material may still be available through the investigating law enforcement agency as it is probable that CBI returned it at that time.

Very truly yours,

Thomas M. Canfield, M.D.

Re: Grand Junction Police Department Case # 75-03545, Homicide and connecting CBI case # 75-0169M

Dear Gary,

As you well know, Mike Smith of Mesa County Sheriff's Office is working hard to find evidence that will enable prosecution of suspected rapist, Smith has asked that I contact you and request that an attempt be made by your agency to compare suspect known blood and hair samples with those of unknown origin in the Linda and Kelly Benson homicide. It is believed that ws living in Grand Junction at the time of this crime and going to school at Mesa College. The suspected point of entry at the crime scene was a window, which fits Modus Operandi. I realize it is a long shot and comparison time comsuming but it will be greatly appreciated. If any questions should arise please feel free to call me at 303-244-3568 or Mike Smith at 303-244-3513.

Respectfully,

REQUESTING AGENCY Grand Junction Police Department PAGE Three

DATE COMPLETED 7-31-75 CBI LAB CASE No. 75-0169M

RESULTS OF EXAMINATIONS:

Semen: No seminal stains were found on specimens K2, Q12, Q15, Q16, Q17, Q18, Q20, Q21, Q22, Q23, Q24, Q25, Q26 and Q27.

Hairs: A single light brown limb hair of Caucasian origin was found in the body bag of Kelly Benson Q1. A single damaged light brown pubic hair fragment of Caucasian origin was also found in this body bag, which is dissimilar in microscopic characteristics to specimen K4 and accordingly did not originate from Linda Benson.

A single medium brown pubic hair measuring 4.1cm in length found on the right hand of Linda Benson, at the time of autopsy, matches specimen K4.

A single medium brown pubic or trunk hair fragment measuring 3.8cm in length and of Caucasian origin found on specimen Q25 is dissimilar in microscopic characteristics to specimen K4 and accordingly did not originate from Linda Benson.

Specimen K1 consists of numerous light brown head hairs of Caucasian origin measuring from 5.0cm to 14cm in length. Head hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K1 were found on or in specimens Q8, Q17, and Q24 and accordingly could have come from Kelly Benson.

Specimen K3 consists of numerous light, medium and dark brown head hairs some of which exhibits a reddish tint. These hairs are of Caucasian origin and measure from 7.7cm to 20.5cm in length. Head hairs exhibitng the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K3 were found on specimen Q17 and accordingly could have originated from Linda Benson.

Specimen K4 consists of numerous light to medium brown pubic hairs of Caucasian origin measuring 3.8cm to 5.7cm in length. Pubic hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K4 were found on or in specimens Q5, Q6, Q7, Q12, and Q26 and accordingly could have come from Linda Benson.

Specimen K5 consists of several light to medium brown head hairs of Caucasian origin measuring 4cm to 12cm in length. Head hairs exhibiting the same microscopic characteristics as specimen K5 were found on or in specimens Q6, Q17, Q24 and Q26 and accordingly could have originated from It is pointed out that a single medium brown head hair of Caucasian origin measuring 13¼ inches in length and two (2) small head hair fragments found on specimen Q18 exhibit minor dissimilarities to specimen K5, however; these dissimilarities are not sufficiently great to eliminate as a possible source of these hairs.

Hairs possessing microscopic characteristics consistant with cat hairs were found on or in specimens K2, Q5, Q6, Q12, Q15, Q16, Q17, Q20, Q23, Q24, Q26 and Q27.

No hairs were found on or in specimens Q2, Q3, Q4, Q10, Q11, Q13, Q14, Q21 and Q22.

Fibers:

Two (2) white cotton fibers were found in specimen Q1.

Three (3) blue cotton fibers, a single purple cotton fiber and a single blue, striated, synthetic fiber were found in specimen Q10.

A few blue cotton fibers and a single dark blue synthetic fiber were found in specimen Q11.

Three (3) tufts of a blend of both light blue and dark blue cotton fibers, a tuft of dark blue cotton fibers and a few blue delustered, non-striated synthetic fibers, a tuft of yellow cotton fibers, a tuft of green cotton fibers, four (4) tufts of orange cotton fibers were removed, in the laboratory, from specimen Q12. The orange fibers mentioned above match the orange fibers in the composition of specimen Q12.

A single 1cm long white, single ply, cotton yarn, with a "Z" twist (counterclockwise); a single yellow thread composed of yellow cotton and yellow semi-delustered, non-striated synthetic fibers constructed of two strands ("Z" twist) twisted together in an "S" (clockwise) twist; four (4) bright purple threads (cotton) constructed of two strands ("Z"twist) twisted together in an "S" twist and a tuft of bright purple cotton

A single blue woolen fiber was found in specimen Q14.

A 6cm long tuft of purple cotton fibers, a tuft of red, delustered, non-striated synthetic fibers, a tuft of blue cotton fibers, a tuft of white cotton fibers and a tuft of light blue cotton fibers were removed, in the laboratory, from specimen Q15.

A single tuft of orange cotton fibers found on specimen Q16 matches the fibers in the composition of specimen Q12. A blue woolen fiber, a purple cotton fiber and a few blue cotton fibers were also found on specimen Q16.

Five (5) bright purple yarns (two strands "S" twist) composed of cotton fibers were found on specimen Q17.

Specimen Q19 is a red cotton thread constructed of three plys or strands each having an "S" twist all twisted together in a "Z" twist.

A yellow cotton fiber, a red striated lustrous synthetic fiber, several white woolen fibers were found on specimen Q20. A white synthetic fiber, a yellow lustrous striated synthetic fiber, a red cotton fiber and an orange cotton fiber were found on specimen Q25. The orange cotton fiber matched the fibers in the fibers in the composition of specimen Q12.

The numerous orange cotton fibers found on specimens Q26 and Q27 match the orange cotton fibers composing specimen Q12.

A pink yarn measuring 7 3/4 inches long and a pink yarn measuring 4 3/8 inches long both composed of cotton ribers and both having a "Z" twist were removed, in the laboratory, from specimens Q27 along with a 2cm long white cotton yarn.

No textile fibers suitable for significant comparison purposes were found on specimens K2, Q2, Q3, Q4, Q5, Q6, Q7, Q8, Q13, Q18, Q21, Q22, Q23, and Q24.

Miscellaneous:

A single cut hole measuring 1.2cm in length was found in the approximate center of the specimen Q26 sheet. This cut hole is located approximately 27 inches from the corner of the sheet (opposite the label). This hole is approximately 24 inches from the long side and 15 inches from the elastic side. All measurements were taken from the simulated corner of a mattress allowing for a portion of the fitted sheet to fit over a mattress corner. This was done in an effort to locate the cut hole in relationship to a mattress or bed.

Plant type fibers, other than cotton, were found on specimen Q17.

The hairs, hair fragments, textile fibers and debris removed from the submitted items have been placed in round plastic boxes or mounted on 52 glass microscopic slides.

The results of the serological (blood) examinations on possible blood stains found on specimens K2, Q2, Q3, Q4, Q9, Q12, Q16, Q24, Q25, Q26, and Q27 will be reported separately by the Denver CBI Laboratory.

Autopsy reveals mother, girl died of stab wounds

By SUZANNE SINCLAIR
Sentinel Staff Writer

Autopsies performed Saturday on the bodies of Mrs. Linda Benson, 24, and her daughter Kelley, 5, revealed both died of multiple stab wounds in what police now bill as a double murder.

The victims were found Friday night in their home at Chateau Apartments, 1300 N. 21st, by Steven Benson, the dead woman's husband.

According to Mesa County Coroner Dr. William Doell, preliminary tests indicate the homicides occurred sometime between midnight Thursday and 6 a.m. Friday.

He said further clinical tests will pinpoint the deaths within a two-hour period.

Meantime the search continues for the murderer and currently there are no suspects, according to Capt. Robert Burnett.

1973 photo

Two standard kitchen knives discovered by officers in the kitchen sink are being tested and could "possibly" be the weapons used on the victims, he said.

Burnett said both bodies received eight stab wounds in the chest.

About 50 people, including relatives, surrounding neighbors, friends and associates have been interviewed by police since Friday.

As far as suspects though "we're not ruling anyone out at this point," Burnett said.

"We've got a hell of a lot of clues, but we don't know whether they are good, bad and what to dispel as useless," he said.

The deaths represent the first murders reported to police this year. Burnett said work sessions will be held to "piece together and eliminate" evidence and information officers have gathered so far.

The deaths were reported to police at 8:15 p.m. Friday by Mrs. Maureen Grant, an upstairs neighbor, after Benson, 27, discovered the bodies.

Police Officer James Birdsill said Benson apparently entered the second story apartment through a balcony door and found his wife's nude body lying at the foot of the bed in the master bedroom. Her daughter, clad in panties, was on the floor of a connecting bathroom.

The resident managers of the Chateau apartments and next-door neighbors of the Benson's, Mr. and Mrs. Monty Wilson, said they last saw Mrs. Benson outside the building at 9 p.m. Thursday.

They said they heard nothing unusual during the night.

Mrs. Wilson said Benson left July 20 for Hayden where he works as a pipefitter. According to Burnett, Benson left Hayden Friday for Grand Junction and received a ride about 4 p.m. from a coworker.

According to John Eddy, business representative of the Plumbers and Steamfitters Local No. 145, Benson is employed by Stearns Roger Inc., a Denver outfit constructing the Hayden Power Plant.

Benson told police Friday night he didn't have a key to get in the apartment and was forced to climb over the balcony.

Once inside he found the curtains closed and only one light on, in the master bedroom.

According to Mrs. Benson's 16-year-old sister Tammy Himmerite, of 1606 Juniper Ct., Mrs. Grant was visiting with the woman until 9:30 p.m. Thursday.

She said Mrs. Grant, who lives on the third floor above the Benson's apartment, had spent a number of nights watching Tv with Mrs. Benson until it went off the air.

But for some reason she left early Thursday night. Miss Himmerite said she planned on visiting her sister that night also, but decided not to.

She said police told Mrs. Benson's family Saturday they have no suspects.

She added that Mrs. Benson was happily married.

Doell explained the confusion Friday night over the cause of death was the result of gaping wounds on the victims' bodies which first resembled gunshot wounds.

He said tests would be performed correlating the heat cycle in Grand Junction Friday and resulting heat loss occurring in the bodies from the time of death. An apartment cooling system was not in use at the time of death.

The bodies were taken from the apartment at 2 a.m. Saturday by the Callahan-Edfast Mortuary and transported to the Montrose Memorial Hospital morgue. The morgue serves as part of the state forensic crime lab.

The autopsies held Saturday afternoon were performed by Dr. Tom Canfield, a forensic pathologist who works for the Colorado Bureau of Investigation. Canfield was called in to investigate the murder scene Friday night.

Representatives from the police, Doell, his assistant Dr. William Rogers, Nelson Jennett of the CBI and Mesa County Assistant Prosecutor James R. Alvillar stood by as observers.

Mrs. Benson was born Nov. 11, 1950, in North Platte, Neb. where she spent her childhood prior to moving to Grand Junction in 1961.

She was graduated from Grand Junction High School in 1969 and has been married for the past four years.

According to Miss Himmerite, Mrs. Benson was gifted in handi-crafts and "loved all nature."

Her daughter Kelley was born Jan. 15, 1970, in Grand Junction and for the past year attended Patterson Preschool.

In addition to Mrs. Benson's husband, they are survived by Mrs. Benson's mother, Mrs. Barbara Himmerite, of Grand Junction; her sister Tammy Himmerite; and two brothers, Mark and Danny Himmerite.

Mrs. Benson was preceded in death by her father, who died in 1951 and a sister, Judy Ketchum, who died in 1974.

Murder probe elaborate process

By DON FREDERICK
Sentinel Staff Writer

The initial stages of the murder investigation into the deaths of a Grand Junction woman and her young daughter proved to be a complicated, elaborate, and time-consuming process, which from its start Friday night continued long into Saturday morning.

The scene of the investigation – the Chateau apartments at 1300 N. 21st – involved as many as 12 Grand Junction policemen, masses of equipment, and lengthy periods of waiting as each step in the procedure was completed.

It was around 8:15 p.m. that the police department was first informed that the bodies of Linda Benson, 24, and her daughter Kelley, 5, had been discovered in their apartment by Mrs. Benson's husband, Steve. Within minutes, four patrolmen had arrived, sealing off the apartment and conducting a quick search of the premises.

Soon the higher ranking police officers began arriving and from this point, according to police Capt. Robert Burnet, a carefully followed procedure was set in motion.

The first order of business, Burnet later told newsmen, was to establish "a man in charge" – in this case, Sgt. Fred Albrecht. For the rest of the night, everyone, including Burnet, who is head of the department while Chief Ben Meyers is on vacation, took their basic orders from Albrecht.

The 38-year-old Albrecht is one of the newest members of the force, in fact, his appointment had just been announced Thursday.

But he's not new to murder investigations. A 16-year veteran to the San Bernardino, Calif., police force, he told a newsman it was not unusual for him to handle 30 to 40 homocide cases a year in the West Coast city.

And Albrecht took firm command of what appears to be the first Grand Junction murder since 1973. At his direction policeman Larry Hall began photographing the Bensons' second-story residence and the locations of the bodies, the terrace in front of the apartment building was cordoned off and searched, and other officers fanned out to interview neighbors, friends, and relatives of the victims.

Anyone, even policemen, wanting to enter the Benson apartment had to first get clearance from Albrecht to insure that the scene would not be substantially disturbed by untrained intruders. Later in the evening, when the bodies were about to be removed, Albrecht was heard warning two mortician employes, "Keep your hands in your pocket and watch where you step."

At about 9:30 p.m., Mesa County Asst. Coroner William Rogers, also new to his job, arrived. Rogers soon decided a specialist in homocide cases was needed and called in a forensic pathologist from Montrose.

This necessitated a long delay and continued the confusion about the cause of the victims' death. At first a shooting was suspected, but by midnight, after the Montrose pathologist had arrived, police believed Mrs. Benson and her daughter had been stabbed.

An autopsy held in Montrose Saturday officially determined that the victims died of stab wounds.

By 2 a.m. Saturday the medical examiners had finished their first investigation and the bodies had been removed, but the policemen's work was hardly half done.

Using equipment from the police-sheriff mobile van, the police began checking for fingerprints, vacuuming the apartment for possible clues, and tagging certain items that may be needed as evidence.

When this task was completed, Hall was called in again to photograph the tagged items and video tape the entire apartment. Brunet said this tape would be used to spur "brainstorming sessions" among policemen as the investigation proceeds.

According to Burnet, after Hall had finished, the tagged items were then taken to the police station for safe keeping. With Saturday's dawn fast approaching, a long day's work for a number of the officers had finally ended.

could not remember how hands had been tied behind her. She did recall that by the time she had gotten into the room that night had already gotten one hand free.

explained that there was some resentment on part towards She felt it was because she spent quite a bit of time caring for the girls, and jealousy and resentment developed on his part.

According to the early years of their marriage experienced the usual sexual relationship, that being normal male-female relations - nothing far out or sadistic. There were time however that felt he had gotten a little rough. An example she used: He would grab her shoulders tightly and cause a small amount of pain. She can't remember whether this grip left bruises or not. felt this was masculinity showing through.

During this period in their marriage did have a drinking problem, and he had told her on occasion that he was an alcoholic, and there was quite some conflict because of this drinking problem. She stated there really were no problems sexual at this time.

In about 1960, according to the grandparents of who had adopted him when he was a small child, gave him a dairy farm in North Platte, Nebraska. worked the farm for a while, then got tired of it and sold the dairy going to Florida. At this time he had $7,000.00 or $8,000.00 profit from the sale of dairy farm. at that time had considered selling the farm an irrational act which had hurt his grandparents a lot. He did not seem to care whether or not they were hurt.

At this time the girls were left in North Platte, Nebraska to finish out a school year. It was planned that the girls would join them in Florida at the end of that school year. Also, did not seem to care for the two girls. Mrs. figured it was due to the fact that he was a young man adjusting to marriage which had brought a family with it and the children being of the ages they were. At times he was very cross with that during their stay in Florida that sexual activity was normal, that being normal male-female relationship. She also inserted that he would drink himself into a state of anger. In later years when drinking he commented that he was always angry about something.

Florida began work on a part-time basis with a newspaper and began drinking very badly. One time he gotten into an auto accident and became very emotional afterwards. One night he took a revolver out and was going to shoot himself. Following this incident, left him, returning to North Platte where she stayed with her children,

After leaving and returning to North Platte, followed. They went back together and he tried to quit drinking and straighten up. He got a job with the Sunshine Bisquit Company and did well at selling. One night he was out drinking and was picked up by Nebraska police for DWI. He lost his driver's license as a result and could no longer hold his job as salesman because it required driving.

Interview with

He decided to go to another state and picked Grand Junction because of it's location and the Four Corners area and because of selling in the Four Corners area.

When they first moved to Grand Junction, they moved to an apartment on Colorado Avenue in April of 1961 approximately. At that time he started out working for Plateau Equipment.

"One night in the apartment on Colorado Avenue tried to tie me up. He was drunk. He held my arms behind me. He reached for something and I got away. He caught me and started choking me. I couldn't even make any noises, he was choking me so hard. I scratched him so hard, I drew blood. I think this kinda jolted him because he stopped choking me. I can't exactly remember what happened after that, but I felt in cold fear for a while following that incident. I cannot remember whether or not I had called the police. He is always remorseful after the incident, and can always con me into believing in him."

Shortly after this we purchased a home on Orchard Mesa in the KNob Hill area, and who had been in North Platte finishing out the school year, joined us. After purchasing this home on Orchard Mesa his drinking became very bad again and we started a divorce action which was final in the spring of 1962.

After papers were served on him, came out to the house on Orchard Mesa one night and was very drunk, crawling around on the floor in the nude. I got away from him, left the house and called the sheriff's office. I think it was Bill Baldridge who came out to the house, but when the officer arrived was gone, disappeared somewhere. I thought he had just taken off. Mr. Baldridge talked me into going to a motel.

The next morning I returned home and found the pans out of the c upboard, also a shelf out of the cupboard. Apparently he had hid in this cupboard when the Deputy was in the house the night before. (Talked with Joe Hicks who had been on this particular call and had indeed found him hiding in the cupboard.)

After the divorce was final was working as a waitress at the Far East Cafe. She met a fellow there by the name of and had married him. It lasted two or three days. She felt she had just married him for security since she had several children to care for. further stated that had come out and told that Mrs. loved him and not always felt that had caused to leave her. The marriage was annulled shortly after this.

Late in the year of 1962 got back together and had remarried. He was pretty decent for quite a while, not drinking at that time. They were living at the house on Orchard Mesa. We weren't married very long and she had become pregnant was just a little fellow when started drinking again. I left him again, and moved to an apartment on B½ Road by the Orchard Mesa Elementary School. At these times I was in constant fear of him when he was drinkin We were separated for sa short time. He had moved to a downtown apartment. But we got back together again and moved to an apartment on F Road where was doing fairly well, sexually active and I became pregnant but lost the child.

"At one time I went to Dr. Lehmkuhle concerning lack of sexual activity and also about drinking problem. Dr. Lehnkuhle had told me that sexual drive not normal and the frequency of urge was just not there. He figured this was due to the alcohol. Also at this time, we were having very difficult financial time."

In 1965 purchased the home and at that time was doing pretty well and wa happy with his new home. Shortly after he began drinking heavily and was out town quite a bit. He is a self-employed contractor.

A year or two later started running around with other women and asked for a divorce. would put it off. She further stated that he would press her for the divorce and would ask on an almost daily basis if she had started the divorce procedure. Finally she started it in the spring of 1968 and divorce was final in the fall of 1968.

"One time he called me up from Glenwood Springs and gave me an ultimatum. It was of the nature "It's either or me. You've got to choose. Get rid of them, and I'll come back."

The arrangement for the girls ( ) was made and they got an apartment together. Every Saturday morning I would go to the girls and get them. He was very jealous, as if I wasn't paying enough attention to him. At those times he felt sure if the girls were out of the way our marriage would work.

"At that time I knew the situation was ridiculous, having my daughters living away from home. And my marriage wasn't going to work anyway. The divorce was finalized in the fall of 1968. From that time til 1970 we did not live together or have any sexual relations."

became pregnant in the spring of 1969. recalls the name of the father being He was a student at Mesa College at the time found out she was pregnant and left for the Denver area. had stayed with her throug her pregnancy and was born then moved to an apartment with and (last name unknown). "I don't remember where the apartment was and I don't recall if any problems developed with bothering them.

After had grown a little bit, they would spend the week ends with At one time while she was separated from was with her out watering flowers in the yard at or just messing around with the hose, would come over for no apparent reason, turn the hose off and state that water is expensive. An argument would instantly insue with him about who pays the water bill. He would become very resentful about the situation.

In recent years has become an increasingly violent person. He drinks heavily and often. He goes to the bars quite often.

On 7/31/79 at about 13:00 hours I and Detective SILVA of the Mesa County Sheriff's Office interview [redacted]

[redacted] came to the sheriff's office to talk with us about the Linda BENSON Homicide. He advised that he had been married to one [redacted] and since living with [redacted] he had heard some things ~~about~~ his mother-in-law whose name is [redacted] phone [redacted] Hershey Nebraska. From the things he had heard from [redacted] mother and his own observations, he was suspicious or had come to believe that possibly [redacted] was involved in the homicide of Linda BENSON.

[redacted] said that approximately the previous Sunday as well as today 7/31/79 he had talked with [redacted] over the phone regarding [redacted] told him that she and the rest of the family first believed that [redacted] had something to do with the death of Linda BENSON. [redacted] is the mother of Linda BENSON. She believed this because [redacted] when she was living in the Hershey Nebraska area belonged to a religious cult in which the people worshiped pictures and objects and would do things that the Lord was telling them to do. The whole family belonged to this cult. When [redacted] came to Grand Junction she had attended religious meetings in a private home during the time Linda BENSON was murdered. He did not know if this religious cult in Nebraska and these religious meetings in these private homes were one of the same but thought that he should mention these. Regarding the meetings in Grand Junction a subject by the name of [redacted] who runs a restaurant on S. 9th St. and another subject by the name of [redacted] who was a construction worker for the telephone company also belonged to this group. He attended these meetings in Grand Junction to appease [redacted] and they consisted of a group of people gathering in a private home reading the bible and interpreting it in their own way. There was nothing unusual other than the fact that they met in a private home. They did not do anything like worship pictures or other things of this nature. This group did meet at the Labor Temple in Grand Junction on several occasions.

[redacted] did not have anything definite to be suspicious of [redacted] having something to do with this homicide other than within the last several months she had been acting rather strange to him. He had first met [redacted] approximately August 1978 while she was working on Gay Johnson's on First Street as a waitress, and she has worked for Temporary Services here in Grand Junction. When he met her she was the finest woman anyone could want. After they had got married she all of a sudden started putting him down sort of speaking, and also started to write numerous checks from the company business without any real excuse. He had talked to her about this and after they had argued about this she decided to leave him and she left him approximately three or four months ago this year. [redacted] did not talk too much about Linda's death and the only thing that he could recall that somebody had butchered up Linda and her daughter. He did not know Linda BENSON and that [redacted] had mentioned to him the possibility of [redacted] or [redacted] of doing these murders. He could not give a reason as to why [redacted] had thought this. But [redacted] in his mind, WAS a strange person and he stated that she had twenty-five different personalities.

Then moved over to his place in Denver, Colorado where he was employed with at that time, as an instructor. She lived with him over there from October of 1977 to July of 1978 and then she went back to Grand Junction to be with her sons, because she was worried that her sons were not getting enough attention from the father due to his working and the boys being left alone by themselves might be getting in trouble.

stated (which he thought was strange) that would get depressed during the time she spent with him in Denver concerning and also Linda and Linda's daughter Kelly. She would get very depressed and very independent (would not let anyone help her with anything). She would always bring up that Bundy might have had something to do with the killing of but no reason why at the time that she thought it was Bunte. She followed up quite a bit on Bunte, concerning the other homicides and she would mention to that maybe Bunte would get the death penalty or something like that and he would admit (especially Linda and Kelly's) deaths and this would clear the case.

stated that this occurred around July (certain time of the year she would get very depressed, like this was bothering her or brought back memories concerning Linda and Kelly and the time they were killed) at that time he didn't know what day of the month it was. He was wondering if had a nervous problem or any kind of problem relating to this. He knew that she had gone through quite a bit, like loosing Linda and Kelly and almost loosing her son, who was asphyxiated with carbon monoxide when he fell asleep in the vehicle.

stated that maybe the rest of the months later on like September or August she would get of this, not being so depressed and be kind of happy She would go along for sometime and then a certain of the year she (he was thinking maybe the month of March one time) seemed kind of depressed and down. He was wondering what had occurred if had passed away at that time. He noticed the month of March or July that she would get very depressed. During these months she would be very independent, would plan alot of things for herself to do to keep active. If he would try to talk to her she would kind of put him off---such as ---I'll see you later, I've got to get going. She would always be in a hurry to go someplace or do some work. She would always get independent when she was depressed and would not talk much, like a different person and then later on she can be real happy, talkative and then in twenty-four hours she can change right back to being very depressed with no apparent reason unless it is concerning stated that never brought up any suspects names except that is the only one she mentioned to him. No other name was mention by her as someone she thought might have done especially Linda and Kelly. She always brought Bundy, Ted Bundy---he either had met with them or had something to do with the killing of Kelly

Also stated that after came back to Grand Junction, an opening came up here in Grand Junction wtih the Telephone Company so he bid for that and he got it and was transfered to Grand Junction.

going out for drives. At this time she has separated from her husband, and is living back at her home on stated that when they got back from the trip, they noticed on her car that her sticker was about ready to expire at the end of July. He told her her horn did not work and also the cruise control did not work and she had better get this fixed ahead of time, to get an appointment, someone to fix it, because when it's time to put the sticker on, she will have to fix it then or she won't be able to get a sticker. So Monday, the 23rd, she made an appointment, I guess, to drop the car and get it fixed and called and asked if he would pick her up. He said he would and they would go out for lunch or something. So Tuesday, which would have been the 24th of July of 1979, she dropped the car off and he went by and picked her up and went downtown and had something to eat. She was very happy, not depressed at all like she was Monday or Sunday. She walked with him and walked down to get the car and then went home. The next day he talked to her on the phone and he recalled that she said she picked some apricots and she was kind of depressed in a sense, not bad, but that she was busy, she had to go, she couldn't talk. The conversation didn't last more that three minutes, very short. She had to get going to get work. He thought it was kind of strange, it was like she was back in her depressive mood again.

On July 22nd (she has been kind of depressed this month, also, like a pattern, thought) she wanted to go for a drive (-7-22-79) and he happend to mention Ouray or Telluride and she said, "Let's go to Aspen." He said, fine, so they left for Aspen at 7:30 the morning of the 22nd which was a Sunday and had just gotten off work at approximately 11:00 P.M. the night before which was Saturday, so she was kind of tired. Up there she didn't say much. They went to Glenwood, ate a late breakfast in Carbondale and from there they went to Redstone and from Redstone up to Aspen. He didn't know if going up there was bringing back memories of her which understands was found dead of an overdose or something there in Aspen, Colorado. stated that while they were taking this trip, never did mention while they were in Aspen or at any time during the trip.

Also stated that never did tell him anything about how Linda or Kelly was found at the crime scene or what kind of weapons were used or anything

said he'd never met Linda Benson or Kelly nor did he ever meet The only that he knows is and He didn't meet until approximately two and a half years ago and this was after Linda and Kelly were killed and also after had passed away.

Also stated that father and ather, still lives in Grand Junction. He comes by and picks up the boys and goes fishing or camping or stops by and sees Also stated that has never suspicioned her exhusband, or ever accused him in his presence concerning the killings of Linda and Kelly. But, did mention one time during a conversation that maybe there was a connection that and Linda (with living in Aspen, might have met Ted Bundy) might also have met Ted Bundy and this is why she thinks Ted Bundy had something to do with the killing of Linda and Kelly and that maybe he will come forward with it and this will clarify what happened to Linda nad Kelly.

Also stated that the last time saw her step-mother back in North Platte, Nebraska was when they went back for a three or four day visit and this was approximately, he thinks, 15 months ago. Once in awhile will talk about her step-mother, not too much about her sister back in North Platte, not too often even about her mother except on Mother's Day or some certain day. figured she and her step-mother got along fine otherwise.

Also stated that brought up something about her step-mother owns some land back in North Platte and in some manner if she passes away this property will be divided among her sister and a brother that is farming the land. The property would be split among the kids.

Additional Information for Case #75-3545 concerning the interview with This is an additonal follow-up on some information obtained from her.

At 3:15 P.M. on 8-2-79, I contacted Larry Walsh who works for Social Services as an investigator, concerning some information related to Milo Vig and myself concerning the Linda Benson and Kelly Benson homicide case.

had related to Milo Vig and myself that Larry Walsh had told her that there were scratches on the body of Linda Benson. did not say where these scratches were on the body, but just that Larry Walsh had told her that there were scratches on the body. Prior to her telling us this, she had stated that she had not seen the bodies at the crime scene. I contacted Larry Walsh concerning this to see if he could recall telling of any scratches on the body of Linda Benson. Larry Walsh told me over the phone that he was not aware of any scratches on the body of Linda Benson. Also I mentioned to Larry Walsh the fact that believed that the crowbar had been used to strike Linda Benson in the head. Larry Walsh told me that he might have talked the crowbar over with ,but in his own mind Larry Walsh believes that the ashtray was used instead of the crowbar.

Additional Information concerning Grand Junction Police Case #75-3545 the Homicide Case of Linda Benson and Linda's daughter, Kelly Benson.

was shown a couple of photos by Officer Hakes and Officer Vig at the Sheriff's Department on 8-2-79 at approximately 1:50 P.M. to see if she recognized the two photos of the small girls in the two snapshots. She studied the two photos for quite some time and stated, no, that she couldn't recall seeing these pictures before and also she didn't recognize anyone she knew, but seems like she recalls seeing these after studying them for some time. She recalls maybe seeing these photos in an annual somewhere, but she is not sure. At this time Officer Vig and Hakes advised that they thought maybe by looking at the photo of Kelly in the newspaper concerning her death that was printed in the Sentinel that there was a resemblance in the one picture to this girl. At this time stated, no, that isn't a picture of Kelly, because if it was she would have recognized the photo itself.

VF I-46

At this time brought up (she thinks it's strange) that early Spring, she thinks the month of April of 1979, she noticed some of her snapshots of Linda and Kelly and were missing from the bulletin board; which she claims is next to the phone in the kitchen. She thought it was strange that somebody had taken the snapshots from the bulletin board. She stated that the snapshot was approximately 3½" x 4½", a color picture. It was a group picture of Linda, Kelly and standing by Linda's 1975 pickup truck, red in color. She stated this snapshot was taken off the bulletin board and she can't find it. She stated the group picture was taken probably in the month of February of 1975. Also she stated that Kelly's picture was taken also. But then she changed it, and recalled that Kelly's picture is still there on the bulletin board, it was not taken. She stated the colored snapshot of Kelly is missing from the bulletin board. She thinks this picture of Kelly was taken maybe in the spring of 1973.

Also missing from the bulletin board is the proof picture of Linda. This picture was taken approximately the year of 1969 which was the year Linda graduated and she had short hair at that time. At the time of her death said Linda had long hair, below the shoulders.

At this time stated she did not misplace the picture that she knows of, she is sure of that. The only suspect she might think of would have taken the pictures from the bulletin board would be her exhusband, because he comes over to visit his kids,

AF I-96

Also stated that she recalls that she asked Officer Doug Rushing at the time for the funeral, what kind of clothes she should put on Linda and she recalls Doug telling her that maybe something with a high collar of some sort, but Doug never did state why.

She does recall Larry Walsh (she thinks) mentioning that Linda was scratched. At this time Officers Vig and Hakes asked her if she knew where Linda was scratched. She said, no, Larry just said Linda was scratched, but didn't say where.

At this time Officers Vig and Hakes asked if she recalls anyone mentioning what kind of weapons or how they were killed? No, she recalls though that Larry Walsh did tell her that a crowbar was used maybe to hit Linda on the head, because she had a bruise or blow to her head and there was supposed to have been a crowbar and did admit that it was his crowbar. She heard that and she also stated that did have some tools, maybe in the closet and maybe that is where the crow bar came from.

Also stated that the last time that she saw Linda and Kelly was on Thursday around noon. They were at her place and Kelly wanted to stay there, but told her she couldn't. She told Kelly she'd be over to see her the next day. So at approximately 7:00 P.M. (she thinks) on Friday, she went over there to pick up Kelly and she saw a newspaper by the door. She knocked and rang the doorbell, but nobody answered. The door was locked and at this time she thought that maybe Linda and Kelly were gone someplace, so she left. She stated that approximately an hour later and dad came over and told her what had happened to Linda and Kelly (this was at her place).

ORDER ON ARRAIGNMENT

The above-entitled matter came on for hearing on this 13th day of July, A.D., 1964, the People appearing by Jerry Uhrlaub, Deputy District Attorney, and defendant appearing pro se. Whereupon a copy of the information with the Peoples" witnesses endorsed on the back thereof and a Jury list for the current term were given to the defendant. The information was read to the defendant. Defendant's right to trial by a jury on a plea of not guilty, or trial to the Court by agreement in writing, the possible consequences in the event he were to plead guilty or be found guilty by a jury, and his right to counsel of his own choosing, or in the event he were unable to procure counsel, his right to ask the Court to appoint counsel for him, were fully explained to defendant.

Defendant advised the Court he fully understood his rights, and further, that he is in indigent circumstances and unable to provide his own counsel. Defendant further advised the Court he is 19 years old, and because of his age the Court feels that defendant should have the advice of counsel before proceeding further, and after defendant had signed an affidavit of indigency, the Court appointed Frank Hockensmith, Attorney at Law, to represent defendant. The matter is now continued until defendant and his counsel can confer and decide upon a plea, but not later than July 23, 1964, at 9:30 a.m. before The Honorable George V. Kempf.

THE DISTRICT COURT IN MESA COUNTY STATE OF COLORADO

CRIMINAL ACTION NO. X-8730

PRESENTENCE REPORT

DEFENDANT: JERRY L. NEMNICH	OFFENSE: NO ACCOUNT CHECK
STATUS: IN JAIL	DATE OF OFFENSE: 5-23-64
COUNSEL: HOCKENSMITH, APPOINTED	DATE OF ARREST: 7-5-64
PLEA: GUILTY	DATE OF PLEA: 7-24-64

PRESENT OFFENSE:

On or about the 23rd of May, 1964 the subject wrote and passed a no account check in the amount of $700.00. He passed said check at the Tribolet Auto Sales Co. as a down payment on a '62 Chevrolet. At the time of writing and passing said check the subject well knew the check to be of no account.

CIRCUMSTANCES CONTRIBUTING TO THE OFFENSE:

The defendant had absconded from Parole Supervision in Boulder in April, 1964. He had asked for permission from his Parole Officer to come to this area, he had been refused such permission but came here regardless. He states that he came here to see friends and to travel around a bit. In addition to the check charged here, he admits writing an additional check of no account for $20.00 in the Delta area and also a similar check for $5.00 in this area. He denies that he was drunk at the time of writing the checks.

CRIMINAL HISTORY:

See attached reports from the State Penitentiary.

PERSONAL HISTORY:

See attached reports.

JN44

LW3M

COPY 75-03545

This defendant was paroled from Canon City in October, 1963 to live with his parents in Boulder. He stayed there until April, '64 when he came to this area without permission and has lived in Delta and Mesa counties with friends. He has done some part time work and had jobs of short duration.

Subject states that at times he has had problems with drinking too much but that since January 1964 he has had no such problem.

SUMMARY AND RECOMMENDATIONS:

The attached reports give a rather complete picture of this person and his severe limitations and his tendency to commit violent crimes. It is surely not unexpected that he violated the conditions of his Parole. His release on parole is the questionable fact.

In light of the willingness of the Parole board to return this boy to society after a minimum incarceration, it is recommended that the sentence in this matter be in the maximum category. This is not the usual type of offender and his dangerous nature must be considered in this Court's present action.

Respectfully submitted,

Rufus W. Miller

Dear Sir or Madam:

I have been appointed to represent Jerry Nemnich, charged here under the habitual criminal statute. To defend him, I must have the transcript of a plea he entered on July 24, 1964, before Judge George Kempf. An order providing funds for the preparation of the transcript has been granted and I am enclosing a copy of that order for you. I will need the transcript by July 10, 1978, and would very much appreciate your cooperation in asking the reporter to let me know if there'll be any difficulty completing the transcript by that date.

Yours sincerely,

Narrative

On 2-17-2009, at about 1220 hrs, Det. Larry Bullard, with the Grand Junction Police Department, called QPD and requested some assistance in obtaining some DNA samples from Larry Hall, who is a former evidence technician and crime specialist for his department. Mr. Hall was involved and worked a homicide crime scene in 1975. Therefore, Det. Bullard needs Larry Hall's DNA so they can eliminated his DNA from the possible suspect's.

At about 1630 hrs, Larry Hall stopped by QPD and upon doing so, I obtained two DNA swabs from Hall's cheeks. The swabs from then allowed to dry and afterwards, placed into a evidence container.

The DNA samples, item 1, were then sent to Det. Sean Crocker, of the Grand Junction Police.

No further.

KELLEY A. BENSON (AKA KELLEY KETCHUM), W/F DOB 1300 North 21st Street, # 211, Grand Junction, Colorado

SUSPECT: JERRY LOUIS NEMNICH, W/M, DOB 11/1/44, 6'00", 205 lbs, Brown hair, Hazel eyes, CO DL 921675839, SSN #

LOCATION OF INCIDENT: 1300 North 21st Street # 211, Grand Junction, Colorado

ACTION TAKEN: After JERRY NEMNICH became a focus of this investigation, it was decided to re-interview at the time of the murders) and at the time of the murders). were two of LINDA BENSON's closest friends in 1975 and would be the ones most likely to recognize NEMNICH's name if he was an associate of hers.

was first interviewed on July 29, 1975 and provided the police with good background and friend information concerning BENSON. After the Grand Junction Police Department began investigating this as a cold case, she was interviewed again by Special Investigator LARRY BULLARD in January, 2008. During that interview, she provided additional information concerning the type of person BENSON was.

On February 17, 2009, who stills lives in Grand Junction, came to the Colorado Bureau of Investigation office to speak to me. The interview with her was recorded and is included on exhibit BB-2 attached to this report.

Although the main focus of my interview was to ask her if she remembered specific names, I asked her to tell me about BENSON's social life and tell me if BENSON would have seen another man while she living with (he was gone during the work week and only returned home on weekends).

went to high school with but didn't meet LINDA until married his first wife, who was a friend of LINDA's. LINDA lived with another mutual friend while and were married. eventually divorced and and LINDA got together in the early 1970's. and LINDA first lived at an address on F Road, then moved to Hayden, Colorado before returning to Grand Junction and moving into the apartments on 21st Street. and her husband at the time (long since divorced) were already living in the same apartment building.

believed LINDA and marriage to be a good one, stating LINDA "took care of " and always made sure he was ok. According to was an alcoholic, describing that he would work hard but became a heavy drinker when it was "time to party". She never saw any animosity between the couple and never saw physically abuse LINDA or KELLEY. She did remember an incident when they were living on F Road when came home drunk and LINDA took the car keys from him. He became angry and took a gun and left the house. The police were called but soon returned and the incident calmed down. Even during this incident, however, never saw direct his anger toward LINDA.

and LINDA were close friends but on occasion she felt LINDA would keep things from her because was "very judgmental" at the time. guessed that LINDA's sister, JUDY (deceased) would have been the one LINDA confided in with personal issues.

told me LINDA would not socialize away from the apartment building and that she did not have a "night life" without LINDA usually spent time with and her husband and She described LINDA as a good mom and housekeeper, stating she only saw LINDA go grocery shopping or visit friends in the apartment complex.

did not believe LINDA pursued other men behind back but looking back on it now, she is not sure if LINDA would not have done that given the opportunity. She reiterated, however, that she never saw LINDA show any interest in any man other than once they got together.

LINDA was an occasional "pot smoker" but was the most mature of the three friends (LINDA, . I asked if LINDA was a "boyfriend" or "one night stand" type of person before she and got together and was told that LINDA could be either, depending on the circumstances.

doesn't remember the last time she saw LINDA alive but guessed it was a week or so prior to her being killed, when LINDA came out to new residence (she and her husband had moved out of the apartments).

I asked about LINDA's nightly routine and was told LINDA and KELLEY would usually have a "sit down" dinner before bathing KELLEY and watching TV at night. If the house was a little messy, LINDA would most often leave it until the next morning to clean unless if was clutter that could cause someone to trip. I was told that no one locked their doors during that time and that anyone could have walked in LINDA's apartment through either door at any time.

remembered LINDA smoked Marlboro cigarettes and although she is not sure, guesses smoked the same brand since people tended to share things during that time period. She did remember wore sunglasses but could not remember any descriptive information about them. (The questions were asked because there were several cigarette butts found in an ash tray in the house and a pair of sunglasses was found on the coffee table when the scene was processed.)

I provided [redacted] with a list of names and asked her to tell me if she recognized them and if so, how they were associated with LINDA or [redacted] The list of names is as follows:

[redacted]
did not recognize

During the afternoon of February 17, 2009, I conducted a telephone interview with [redacted] (also included on exhibit BB-2). [redacted] was listed as the apartment complex manager in earlier reports but she told me she was never the apartment manager and does not know what caused previous investigators to think she was. She did tell me she was interviewed "a lot" by previous investigators and assumes the interviews were documented thoroughly.

[redacted] believes LINDA, [redacted] and KELLEY were living in the apartment complex when she moved in approximately 8 months prior to the murders. [redacted] did not know much about LINDA's past and became friends with her because her son, [redacted] played with KELLEY.

According to LINDA did not socialize away from the apartment complex and would spend most of her time at home or at her mother's. Even though would only be home on weekends, never knew LINDA to look for other male companionship and does not remember her ever frequenting night clubs or similar establishments.

does remember LINDA acted "weird" the last day she saw her alive (February 24, 1975), adding that LINDA was not talkative and appeared to be in a bad mood. It also bothers that LINDA mentioned she needed to see "some people" on that day. She requested I refer to her prior statements and interviews because she can not remember details after so many years.

I asked if she remembered LINDA going to meet someone named that day but she only remembers LINDA was going to meet someone. again stated LINDA was acting different that day, as if LINDA did not want to know what she was doing. I asked if she remembered doing yoga with LINDA and she told me she did. I then reminded her that KELLEY had come to LINDA and her while they were doing yoga and told LINDA there were some people downstairs to see her. remembers that also and believes that LINDA began acting "weird" (as described above) after that. She was not able to accurately remember whether she last saw LINDA outside the apartment complex or inside LINDA's apartment and again referred me to her earlier statements, claiming they should be accurate.

remembers wore sunglasses but could not remember what they would have looked like and could not remember what brand of cigarettes LINDA or smoked.

first learned of the murders when pounded on her door and asked her (yelling) when she last saw LINDA and KELLEY then told her what he had found and told her to call the police. never went inside LINDA's and apartment after told her what happened.

had previously told Special Investigator LARRY BULLARD that and had dated after LINDA's death. During this interview, I asked to provide details of that relationship. began separating from her husband shortly after LINDA was killed and and would check on to make sure he was doing ok. In October, 1975, asked her to go to a Halloween party and they began dating at that point (she was not living in the apartments anymore). thinks that by the spring of 1976, she and had quit dating. described the relationship as "not a good relationship" because drank too much. She believes had the tendency to be abusive and remembered a time when he "got onto" her son more than she thought was appropriate. The relationship began to sour after that incident.

told me a few of the names listed below are familiar to her but she can not place where she might have heard the name.

She relates that she met Jerry about a year ago when they worked in the same building. Claims they are just friends. During this time, he worked in Wyoming and Utah in the oil fields and would return to town periodically. He returned to the Denver area about a month ago and moved in with her at the [redacted] He was given his own key to use. About two weeks ago, they went and rented the new house at [redacted] Phone not installed yet. Still in the process of moving and last night, 10-23-77, was the first night spent in the new residence on [redacted] States that he had planned to leave Monday morning for Montana to a new job.

Related that he does own clothes matching the description given on the offense report. Has never seen a gun does not believe that he has one at all. Is very incredulous concerning the facts of the rape, adding that he has always been a gentlement and good friend to her, can't believe he would be involved in anything like this. Told her he had been a musician for 10 years, and travelled a great deal. Had his hassles with the police but mostly when he was a juvenile, never mentioned being sent to prison at all.

Felony advisement and letter to advise judge requesting high bond due to career criminal status of suspect, prepared and forwarded to the city jail.

Deputy D. A. Allison advised of case and recommended securing a search warrant for premises where the victim stated he left the gun.

REQUESTING AGENCY: Grand Junction Police Department

DATE OF REQUEST: Tuesday, February 3, 2009

DATE OF OFFENSE: July 25, 1975

DECEASED VICTIMS: LINDA J. BENSON (AKA LINDA KETCHUM), W/F, DOB 1300 North 21st Street # 211, Grand Junction, Colorado

KELLEY A. BENSON (AKA KELLEY KETCHUM), W/F DOB 1300 North 21st Street # 211, Grand Junction, Colorado

SUSPECT: JERRY LOUIS NEMNICH, W/M, DOB 11/1/44, 6'00", 205 lbs, Brown hair, Hazel eyes, CO DL 921675839, SSN #

LOCATION OF INCIDENT: 1300 North 21st Street # 211, Grand Junction, Colorado

ACTION TAKEN: On February 3, 2009, Division Director DAVE LINNERTZ and I met with Grand Junction Police Department Commander MIKE NORDINE concerning a cold case homicide that his agency was investigating.

He explained that on July 25, 1975, LINDA BENSON and her 5 year old daughter, KELLEY were found dead in their apartment at 1300 North 21st Street #211 in Grand Junction, Colorado. Both victims had numerous stab wounds and LINDA had blunt force trauma to the base of her neck. Blood was found throughout the apartment and investigators collected samples of the blood from different locations during the crime scene processing. It appeared to investigators at the time that the suspect might have injured himself during the crime and left blood at the scene. Several items of evidence were submitted to the Colorado Bureau of Investigation and the analysis determined that some of the blood collected was type O, which did not match either victim. DNA analysis was not an available science at the time the evidence was submitted. Investigators were not able to identify a suspect during the initial investigation and the case remained unsolved.

In January 2008, the case was reviewed by LARRY BULLARD, a special investigator for the Grand Junction Police Department. BULLARD resubmitted some of the blood evidence found at the scene, now requesting it be analyzed for DNA. Laboratory agents with the Colorado Bureau of Investigation were able to obtain a DNA profile from the blood that investigators believed came from the suspect and a match was made in CODIS. The DNA profile from the evidence submitted matched the DNA profile of JERRY LOUIS NEMNICH, a white male whose DNA profile had been obtained while he was in prison.

Commander NORDINE told Division Director LINNERTZ and me his agency was forming a task force to continue the investigation and asked that the Colorado Bureau of Investigation assist their department.

On February 9, 2009, the task force, which was operated out of the Grand Junction CBI office, took over the case investigation. The investigative members of the task force are as follows:

MIKE NORDINE	Commander	GJPD	task force commander
TONY CLAYTON	Sergeant	GJPD	task force supervisor
SEAN CROCKER	Detective	GJPD	lead case investigator
LARRY BULLARD	Special Investigator	GJPD	investigator
BROOKS BENNETT	Agent	CBI	investigator
DAVE MARTINEZ	Investigator	21st DA	investigator

Intel and support personnel from both the Grand Junction Police Department and the Colorado Bureau of Investigation were assigned to assist the task force during the investigation.

Nemnich, at first, refused to waive; telling me he heard there was a Grand Jury Indictment, or something like that, in Denver, for a murder. I told him he was a suspect and Denver Police wanted to question him, but there was no Indictment or charge filed and I assured him we would extradite. Nemnich promptly stated he was innocent and would waive, so that this matter could be settled.

Nemnich was returned to Denver on 11-9-73 and was lodged in Denver City Jail after a routine trip by air.

This writer appeared with him on 11-13-73 before Judge Weadick, Denver County Court. Nemnich waived a Probable Cause Hearing. He has been questioned by Homicide Detectives and they know he is being returned to Colorado State Penitentiary to meet the Board.

Leavitt, Jr. responded to information telephoned to Parole Agent Leavitt by Parole Supervisor Earle O. Meyer regarding the possibility of Jerry Louis Nemnich having illegal possession of a 1971 Plymouth Baracuda registered to [redacted] (X71-441 and P71-455) currently supervised by Agent Leavitt. Agents Bokros and Leavitt contacted [redacted] at the home of his mother, [redacted] and were advised by [redacted] that Nemnich had indicated a desire to purchase the automobile and that [redacted] had given the keys for the car to Nemnich during the evening of 10-19-73, with the understanding that Nemnich would come to the residence of [redacted] mother at 1560 South Ash Street by 10:30 A.M., Saturday, 10-20-73 and remit a down payment to [redacted]. [redacted] told Agents Bokros and Leavitt that Nemnich failed to appear. At this point [redacted] was advised by Agents Bokros and Leavitt to report the car as stolen to the police. Acting on the advice of his supervising agent, [redacted] reported his car as stolen to the Englewood Police Department, Englewood, Colorado, on 10-21-73. (See Exhibit #1).

On the basis of the information and circumstances described above, Supervisor Meyer and this agent requested a National Crime Information Center (NCIC) flash be sent nationwide on 10-22-73 by the Colorado Bureau of Investigation. On 10-22-73 this Division received information that Jerry Louis Nemnich had been arrested on that date by officers of the Norwalk Police Department, Norwalk, Connecticut. (See Exhibit #2).

Condition #3: Conduct. At the time of his arrest, Nemnich had in his possession and was operating a 1971 Plymouth Baracuda, 2-door, black and silver automobile bearing Colorado Registration No. BB-9285 listed as stolen from Denver with NCIC (See Exhibit #2). This was the same vehicle reported as stolen by [redacted] on 10-21-73. (See Exhibit #1).

During the course of their investigation Agents Bokros and Leavitt were advised by [redacted] [redacted] a guest of [redacted] and girlfriend of [redacted], that she had two credit cards taken from her purse sometime during the morning of 10-20-73. Mrs. [redacted] stated that Jerry Nemnich had been admitted to the [redacted] residence and was left unattended early in the morning of 10-20-73. When arrested on 10-22-73, Nemnich was in possession of gasoline credit card receipts from Gulf and Texaco credit cards issued to [redacted] (See Exhibit #2).

AFFIDAVIT IN SUPPORT OF ARREST WARRANT FOR PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF COLORADO

V.

Jerry Louis Nemnich DOB: 11-1-44
Defendant

Linda Ketchum (Benson)
Kelley Ketchum
Victims

COMES NOW Detective Sean Crocker, being of lawful age and first duly sworn upon oath and states and alleges in support of this affidavit as follows:

1. I am a duly employed Police Officer with the Grand Junction Police Department and was so employed at all times relevant to this affidavit. The information contained in this affidavit was compiled by me in the course of a criminal investigation by speaking to fellow law enforcement officers, reliable citizens, and reviewing official police reports. All locations referred to are in Mesa County, Colorado, unless specifically noted otherwise.

2. On July 25, 1975, the bodies of Linda Ketchum, AKA Linda Bensor and her daughter Kelley Ketchum were discovered in their residence at 1300 North 21st Street, Apt. 211, Grand Junction, Mesa County, Colorado.

3. The bodies were discovered by who was the common law husband of Linda Ketchum. They both lived in apartment #211 where the bodies were discovered.

4. An investigation by Grand Junction Police Department investigators determined the victims were last seen alive at approximately 2100 hours on Thursday, July 24, 1975, at the apartment complex. No one saw them after that time and their bodies were discovered at 2018 hours on Friday July 25, 1975, by who was returning from an out of town job assignment.

5. The bodies of Linda and Kelley Ketchum were brutally stabbed and both ultimately died from exsanguanation at the scene of the crime. Exsanguanation is the medical term for the body bleeding out. Both victims had multiple stab wounds and evidence at the scene suggests the suspect could have injured himself during the assault. In 1975 the unknown blood evidence found at the scene was type O and both victims were type A. Blood typing was the only technology available to investigators in 1975.

6. In January 2008, this cold case was reopened and evidence was sent to the Colorado Bureau of Investigation on February 15, 2008. Items that were submitted for DNA testing included biological samples that were collected from Linda Ketchum's body and from other locations around the apartment.

7. On January 30, 2009, the Grand Junction Police Department received a CBI lab report from CBI Agent Cynthia Kramer. In this report, Agent Kramer reported she was able to develop a DNA profile from the blood that was collected from Linda Ketchum's body. That DNA profile was developed using PCR reaction technology (Polymerase Chain Reaction). This DNA profile was entered into CODIS on this same day in an attempt to match a DNA profile.

8. The Combined DNA Index System, (CODIS) blends computer and DNA technologies. CODIS uses two indexes to generate investigative leads in crimes where biological evidence is recovered from a crime scene. The Convicted Offender Index contains DNA profiles of individuals convicted of felony sex offenses and other violent crimes. The Forensic Index contains DNA profiles developed from crime scene evidence. CODIS utilizes computer software to automatically search its two indexes for matching DNA profiles. Law enforcement agencies at federal, state, and local levels take DNA from biological evidence gathered in crimes that have no suspect and compare it to the DNA in the profiles stored in the CODIS systems. If a match is made between a sample and a stored profile, CODIS can identify the perpetrator.

9. On January 30, 2009, Agent Kramer reported to the Grand Junction Police Department that the DNA profile from the biological evidence in this case that was referenced in the January 29, 2009 CBI report had been compared to the Colorado and Federal Convicted Offender Index. Agent Kramer reported that a confirmed match had been identified between the DNA profile developed from the biological evidence in the case to a known offender in the State Convicted Offender Index. Agent Kramer identified the individual matching the biological evidence in this case as the following: Jerry Louis Nemnich, DOB: 11-01-44, DOC Number 44780, Ethnicity: White. This confirmed match by the Colorado Bureau of Investigation is to a reasonable degree of certainty that Jerry Nemnich is the source of the biological evidence recovered from the crime scene in 1975.

10. The qualifying offense for Nemnich's entry into the CODIS DNA database was his felony conviction for a sex offense. Nemnich's blood was drawn at Canon City Correctional Facility in 1989 by a Department of Corrections Registered Nurse and then entered into the CODIS databank.

11. Nemnich's past arrests and convictions include:

[redacted] May 1964 in Uintah County, Utah for larceny. August 1964 Mesa County, Colorado for check fraud and con game. October 1968 Pueblo, Colorado for investigation of rape and parole violation. September 1978 Denver, Colorado first degree sexual assault committed crime with handgun.

12. Nemnich's past arrests also include the following: April 1964 for absconding from Boulder parole supervision. December 1967 for absconding from parole after being paroled to Glenwood Springs. April 1968 escapes from a Boulder work crew. October 1973 arrested in Norwalk, CT for a Denver parole violation.

13. Both victims in this case were stabbed a minimum of 5 times each, with an edged weapon, in two different locations in the apartment. Linda Benson was stabbed on both sides of her body and Kelley Benson was stabbed in the front of her body.

As a result of this information and my investigation, I am requesting a warrant be issued for the following charge:

18-3-102 Murder in the First Degree, Class One Felony (2 Counts)

BASED ON THE FOREGOING, there is probable cause to believe that on or about July 25, 1975 in the County of Mesa and State of Colorado, Jerry Louis Nemnich DOB: 11-01-44 committed the crimes of 18-3-102 Murder in the First Degree (Two Counts) and therefore a warrant should be issued for the arrest of Jerry Louis Nemnich. Jerry Louis Nemnich is described as a white male, 6', 200 lbs, with brown hair and hazel eyes.

1119 hrs, [redacted] lets the dog out front. No other movement.

1320 hrs, Both Jerry and [redacted] exit the house with the dog. All get into the Volkswagon and leave the area. Surveillance follows them south out of the area and south out of town on the Diagonal (Hwy 119) south toward Boulder.

1350 hrs, The Volkswagon lands in the parking lot of McGuckins Hardware, 26th St and Canyon Ave., in Boulder, Colorado. Both exit the vehicle and walk toward the hardware store. Surveillance is unable to locate where they went or what store they went into. All units set up on the vehicle.

1530 hrs, Jerry and [redacted] return to the vehicle carrying two large grocery bags. It appears that they may have entered the Whole Foods store on the back side of the hardware store. They return back toward Longmont.

1548 hrs, The vehicle lands in the parking lot of Safeway, 1050 Ken Pratt Blvd, Longmont. Jerry exits and [redacted] stays in the vehicle. Jerry goes into Safeway.

1558 hrs, Jerrys exits Safeway with a bag of groceries and returns to the vehicle.

1600 hrs, The Volkswagon lands back at the house, 219 Terry St.

1730 hrs, Surveillance ends.

Monday, March 30, 2009

0600 hours, Surveillance sets up on the house, 219 Terry St. It is trash day and the trash bin for 219 Terry St is still up next to the house. The porch light is on but the rest of the house appears to be dark.

0615 hrs, A front room light comes on.

0720 hrs, I, along with DET John Steele, pull into the parking lot of the apartment complex to the north. The trash bin is sitting in the street next to the curb and I swap the bin out for an empty one. I pull out of the area and confirm that there is no movement from the house as we pull out of the area.

0730 hrs, I return back to the Longmont Police Department and exam the trash. I do not locate any evidential evidence in the trash and no indicia at all. The bin had only two small white trash bags inside. The contents of the trash included kitchen and food waste and cat litter waste.

Surveillance was terminated for other assignments.

Investigations Division

Colorado Bureau of Investigations
2797 Justice Drive
Grand Junction, CO. 81506

Attn: Mr. Dave Linnertz-Division Director

On 7/25/75, Officers with the Grand Junction Police Department responded to a report of two dead bodies in the Chateau Apartments located at 1300 N. 21st Street #211. This call resulted in a case of a double murder with an unknown suspect.

This incident has been labeled with several GJPD different case numbers. They are as follows: 75-3545, 75-03545, and 75-003545. Also, CBI has several case numbers. They are as follows: M08-130, 75-0169, 75-0169M, and 75-2480.

A recent CODIS match on previously submitted biological evidence to CBI has identified a suspect in this case as Jerry L Nemnich, dob 11/01/1944. Buccal swabs, head hair, and pubic hair standards from Jerry Nemnich are forthcoming.

During the autopsy of victim Kelly Benson a pubic hair not belonging to the victim was found in her body bag. That pubic hair was retained as evidence under GJPD evidence bar code# 2005348.

I am submitting the pubic hair to your agency and requesting that you examine the pubic hair for Nuclear DNA. If Nuclear DNA is recovered, I am requesting that you compare the unknown pubic hair to any known standards from this case. If Nuclear DNA is not recovered from the pubic hair I am requesting that you stop any further processing of the hair and immediately contact me. I then will need to make a determination as to which agency or private lab we may be requesting conduct further examination of the hair for possible mitochondrial DNA.

Thank you in advance for your assistance with this case.

OFFICE OF THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY

TWENTY-FIRST JUDICIAL DISTRICT OF COLORADO

Date: 040809

Case: 75-003545

Interview of: [redacted] (NMN) Nemnich [redacted]

[redacted]

Investigator: Dave Martinez

On this date, Wednesday, April 8th, 2009, subsequent to the arrest of Jerry Nemnich, Sgt Tony Clayton, of the Grand Junction Police Department, and I travelled to Longmont, Colorado, where we contacted Nemnich's wife, [redacted] and requested that she come to the Longmont Police Department for an interview.

The following is a summary of the interview, which was conducted at the Longmont Police Department, Longmont Colorado, at approximately 10:56 pm. Please note that on the visual recording a timer appears along with the time. I noted that the timer is approximately one hour slow. This interview is not a word by word account. For details of the interview, please refer to the audio/visual digital recording of the interview:

[redacted] told us that she is employed by H&R Block but has not been busy.

[redacted] was advised that she was not in trouble. Sgt Clayton advised [redacted] that this (interview) was about Jerry's past.

[redacted] told us that she and Jerry married in 1996 in Seattle, Washington. That [redacted] and Jerry met in Denver (Colorado) in the late '80's or early 90's. [redacted] said that she knew Jerry had been in jail for 14 years for rape in the past. [redacted] said that Jerry had told her about it.

Sgt Clayton advised [redacted] that Jerry is in jail.

Asked if Jerry had a lot of friends and acquaintances, [redacted] said that they had just lost a friend, [redacted] Asked if Jerry talked about his friends in the past or talks about his past, [redacted] said not that much (talks about his past). [redacted] said as far as she knows Jerry has been completely honest with her.

[redacted] said that Jerry had been involved in computer sales and various sales positions.

[redacted] said that she does not know any friends from the '70's. [redacted] said that she did know [redacted] who had been in jail with [redacted]. [redacted] is now dead. Jerry and [redacted] do not talk about the past.

Jerry has been driving a truck for the past few years and has been supporting [redacted] for the past five years as [redacted] has not been able to get a job. Jerry is honest and hard working.

When asked if Jerry ever mentions Grand Junction, [redacted] said that Jerry has just said that he passes through Grand Junction that Jerry just tells her about places that he drives through. Jerry has not mentioned having friends there (Grand Junction).

Sgt Clayton advised [redacted] that Jerry has been arrested for a double homicide involving a woman and a child that had been stabbed to death in Grand Junction in July of 1975. That the case had been investigated but had gone into the cold case files.

Sgt Clayton asked [redacted] if she were familiar with DNA. [redacted] asked if Sgt Clayton was telling her that Jerry killed a woman and a child. Sgt Clayton said that yes that we have his (Jerry's) DNA on the victim and in the apartment.

That is the news that we had to tell [redacted]

[redacted] said that there must be some mistake. That you just destroyed my life.

Sgt Clayton told [redacted] that this occurred when there were bad things going on in Jerry's life, that Jerry is not the same person now as he was back then. That from talking to his employer and others that Jerry is now a hardworking, trustworthy person. That this was part of his past, but it is his past.

Sgt Clayton explained how during Jerry's prison stay, a sample of his blood had been taken and a genetic fingerprint had been created and placed into a data base, that evidence from the crime scene had been submitted and that Jerry's DNA matched the evidence left at the scene.

This is why Jerry has not called her, because Jerry is in jail facing two counts of First Degree Murder.

Sgt Clayton said that he understands that Jerry's parent are deceased. [redacted] said that Jerry's sister lives here (Longmont, Colorado) in town.

Sgt Clayton asked if [redacted] meant [redacted] [redacted] said yes. Sgt Clayton asked if Jerry and [redacted] communicate, do they get along. [redacted] said that they do. [redacted] said that [redacted] works in medical records and gave a phone number for [redacted].

[redacted] asked Sgt Clayton not to call her tonight. [redacted] believes that [redacted] works from eight until about five, sometimes later on overtime. [redacted] said that [redacted] lives alone. [redacted] works at the hospital in Boulder, Colorado.

Sgt Clayton said he anticipates that Jerry will call her.

Sgt Clayton told [redacted] that the genetic fingerprint that you get from DNA is more precise that what you would get from a fingerprint off of a table or a wall, that there is no mistake here.

Sgt Clayton told [redacted] that Jerry had been arrested for check fraud in Grand Junction in 1964, so we know that Jerry is familiar with the area. Sgt Clayton asked if [redacted] knows if Jerry mentioned friends or anyone in Paonia or Eckert (Colorado) or if Jerry ever mentioned staying or visiting in Grand Junction. [redacted] said no.

Sgt Clayton asked [redacted] if Jerry keeps anything around the house… [redacted] said that no that they have moved around quite a bit, that everything they have is very eclectic, that they have never had a lot of money. [redacted] said that nothing they have matches, that they pick up stuff at thrift stores.

Sgt Clayton said he wondered if Jerry kept diaries or keepsakes or has [redacted] seen anything around the house from the 1970's era, or does he keep a box that he stores stuff in.

[redacted] asked what Sgt Clayton was looking for. Sgt Clayton said he does not know what he is looking for, maybe Jerry kept something, but if Sgt Clayton doesn't ask, he won't know. Maybe [redacted] has seen newspaper clippings or something. [redacted] said no (to the items Sgt Clayton was enquiring about).

[redacted] said that they haven't lived in their current house very long. [redacted] also said that as far as she knows Jerry hasn't lived in the family home (currently occupied by [redacted]) since Jerry was 14 years old.

Sgt Clayton asked if Jerry has ever mentioned the names [redacted] [redacted] said no.

Sgt Clayton asked if Jerry has ever mentioned the murders in 1975. [redacted] said no.

Sgt Clayton asked if Jerry has ever mentioned any old girlfriend's names. [redacted] said that there were a couple, but [redacted] really does not remember.

Sgt Clayton asked if the names [redacted] or [redacted] rings a bell. [redacted] said that she believes Jerry was living with a [redacted] at one point, even [redacted] and his family knows her [redacted].

[redacted] said that she and Jerry have lived at the Terry Street address for about 3 years and before that he lived on Estes briefly then with [redacted] on South Federal, then Jerry went to school to be a truck driver and has been driving a truck ever since.

[redacted] said that she and Jerry moved to Longmont shortly after his mother died.

[redacted] said that Jerry doesn't drink much or use drugs. Jerry likes his beer.

When asked if Jerry is religious, [redacted] said not in a Christianity sort of way, he believes in people, everyone being in touch with one another.

[redacted] said that Jerry smokes, PallMalls although Jerry has been able to get a cheaper brand on the Reservations, although she cannot recall the brand.

Sgt Clayton said he would ask a personal question, does Jerry have normal sexual function, to which [redacted] said they haven't had sex, that Jerry underwent quadruple bypass surgery in 2007.

Sgt Clayton asked [redacted] if there were ever any domestic violence. [redacted] said that no, not on his part, that [redacted] had problems with drinking, but that Jerry has not been violent towards her.

Sgt Clayton said that the reason he asked is because during background work on this case we located a domestic violence report from the police back in Washington. [redacted] said this would have been her fault. That [redacted] had lost her father and she was having a hard time dealing with the loss and that she did not like Washington.

Sgt Clayton said that the report that drew his attention was a report by an officer who had interviewed [redacted] and [redacted] had told the officer that the situation was her fault but it was because [redacted] had found something out about Jerry's past that she had not known before.

[redacted] said that she recalls this and told Sgt Clayton that she feels that Sgt Clayton is getting personal now but said that she had not known that Jerry was adopted or that he had been in jail for rape. This was probably what she was referring to.

When asked how it was that this information came out (about having been in jail for rape), [redacted] said from Jerry's friend [redacted] and [redacted] had moved out to Washington State. [redacted] said that she had found out from [redacted], [redacted] has since passed away from cancer. Jerry had 'fessed up.

[redacted] said that she and Jerry currently have a 1981 Volkswagen Scirocco and 1972 Chevrolet Malibu. [redacted] said that we don't have anything. When asked if Jerry mentioned vehicles that he had in the 1970's [redacted] said yes but she does not remember what they were.

[redacted] said she and Jerry may have been through Grand Junction, but has not been to Grand Junctio.

When asked about scars on Jerry's body, [redacted] said that not really, just from open heart surgery.

[redacted] asked where Jerry had been picked up at, and was told that he had been arrested at the Port of Entry in Colorado. [redacted] said that she cannot believe that he has done this.

Jerry does not keep in touch with any other family.

[redacted] still cannot believe this, Jerry's far too smart for this.

After a short break the interview resumed.

Sgt Clayton asked [redacted] if there is anything she could tell us about Jerry and the 1975 murder. [redacted] said she could not.

Sgt Clayton advised [redacted] that we were trying to put the pieces together regarding the murder.

Sgt Clayton asked [redacted] why we should not contact [redacted] tonight. [redacted] said it is because [redacted] has to work in the morning.

Sgt Clayton gave [redacted] his business card and asked [redacted] to call him if she has any questions, remembers anything, or finds anything.

[redacted] said that Jerry is not the same person as he was.

[redacted] asked if Jerry's blood could have been the result of self defense. Sgt Clayton does not know and told [redacted] that Jerry did not wish to talk.

[redacted] asked if there were any molestation, sexual molestation. Sgt Clayton told [redacted] that we don't have any confirmation that there was, however, because of Jerry's past reasonable people could conclude that there was.

[redacted] asked when she would be able to see Jerry. Sgt Clayton told her that Jerry was in jail in Grand Junction. Contacting [redacted] (Nemnich) was also discussed with [redacted]

The interview ended at approximately 11:53 pm.

Case: 75-003545

Interview of: [redacted]

Investigator: Dave Martinez

On this date, Tuesday, April 14, 2009, I returned a telephone call to [redacted] who had left a message regarding information in the above captioned case.

[redacted] told me that she had lived in the Longmont, Colorado area from about 1975 until about 1992 and that she knew a lady by the name of Erma Nemnich and Erma's daughter, Darlene Nemnich.

[redacted] told me that she wanted to relay information about the Nemnich's whom thought kind of strange.

[redacted] said that [redacted] daughter, who was Darlene Nemnich's age, were in 4H at the time and Erma Nemnich used to host 4H meetings. [redacted] added that Erma Nemnich had told [redacted] that Darlene was an only child. The Nemnich's lived in a house on Hover Street in Longmont at that time.

Regarding the 4H program and money collected, [redacted] once suggested to Erma Nemnich that perhaps they should seek to obtain a bank account to keep the money in. Erma had responded that the Nemnich's kept their money in a secret place under the carpet in the family home.

[redacted] also told me that the Nemnich's also had another house about a mile away on 2nd Street, between Hover and Sunset, and that [redacted] believes the Nemnich's only used the house to store things in. [redacted] had been to the second residence one time.

[redacted] said that she did not know of Jerry Nemnich's existence until years later, when Erma died and [redacted] read an obituary which mentioned Jerry as Erma's son.

[redacted] told me that she still has the obituary and is willing to give it to the police.

I asked [redacted] to please place the obituary in an envelope addressed to Sgt Clayton, along with [redacted] name and address, and drop it off at the Grand Junction Police department at her convenience.

[redacted] said she would do this. I thanked [redacted] for speaking with me and the call ended.

[redacted] told me that he is aware of Jerry Nemnich's arrest and had seen Nemnich's photo in the news media [redacted] told me that Nemnich appears similar to the person that had kidnapped [redacted]

I told [redacted] it was unlikely Mr. Nemnich had kidnapped [redacted] due to the information in this case which shows Nemnich was in custody and sentenced to prison in September, 1978.

[redacted] thanked me for the return call and the conversation ended.

OFFICE OF THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY

TWENTY-FIRST JUDICIAL DISTRICT OF COLORADO

Date: 040909

Case: 75-003545

Interview of: [redacted]

Investigator: Dave Martinez

On this date, Wednesday, April 8th, 2009, after the arrest of Jerry Nemnich in Grand Junction, Colorado, Sgt Tony Clayton, Grand Junction Police Department, and I went to Longmont, Colorado, where we contacted Nemnich's sister, [redacted] and invited her to the Longmont Police Department for an interview.

The following is a summary of the interview. The interview was conducted at the Longmont Police Department and was recorded on audio/visual disc. Please note that on the recording a timer which also displays the time is approximately one hour slow and the interview began shortly after midnight, April 9th, 2009. This report is a summary of the interview. For details, please refer to the audio/visual disc.

After obtaining personal information from [redacted], Sgt Clayton advised [redacted] that Jerry had been arrested for a serious crime that had occurred 33 years ago.

It was our understanding that [redacted] had not come into Jerry's life until the early to mid 1990's, and that [redacted] may be able to provide historical information that [redacted] cannot, and this is the reason for the interview with [redacted] [redacted] said that she would be happy to tell us what she knows.

[redacted] said that she probably cannot tell us about Jerry's friends. [redacted] said that Jerry is 12 years older than her. Their parents are now deceased. [redacted] mother had told her once that Jerry was fine as long as the mother could control him, but when she could not control Jerry, he was in trouble.

From the time Jerry was 12 until he was about 50 years old, Jerry was in trouble. When asked what kind of trouble, [redacted] said that you name it, he did it.

[redacted] said that her parents were very protective of [redacted]. [redacted] said that for most of her life she had said that she was an only child and maintained that policy until her father passed away. It was easier for her parents that way.

Jerry would get out of jail, her father would bail him out of jail, buy him a car, set him up with an apartment, then he would get arrested. [redacted] imagines, most of the time her parents didn't even know all of the times Jerry got arrested.

When [redacted] was a kid, she remembers going to see Jerry in facilities a lot.

Finally both of her parents decided it was a whole lot easier to do the tough love thing and just say enough is enough. They had literally spent thousands and thousands and thousands of dollars, bailing him out of jail, setting him up with an apartment and buying a car, etc., etc. and so finally the last few times Jerry got arrested, the mother and father, if somebody from a police facility did call, they would just say Jerry would have to deal with it.

Jerry had so many anger issues.

The last time Jerry was in "Penrose", Jerry did get an associates degree from Regis in computer science and that seemed to be the time that Jerry finally turned around.

Maybe that wasn't in fact the case.

But that is the story Jerry told ([redacted] family). A few months before their mother passed away, Jerry said he had changed his life, turned his life around and that Jerry wanted to make amends with her for all of the dirt he had done.

[redacted] said she would be honest and said that she would not even say she knew him before the last couple of years. [redacted] said they would go see him occasionally, and [redacted] had heard some stories about what Jerry had done.

About a year ago in the fall, Jerry had a massive heart attack and [redacted] said that [redacted] is an alcoholic and [redacted] does not feel that [redacted] is stable enough to be a support system.

Even though [redacted] resented terribly what Jerry had done to her parents, [redacted] had to come to terms with it, for [redacted].

[redacted] mother passed away five years ago, and shortly after that [redacted] started counseling because [redacted] was a wreck.

[redacted] said that the counselor had told [redacted] that yes, [redacted] is sad because her mother is gone but that the reason [redacted] was there is because of her brother, that [redacted] needed to make peace with him and to forgive herself, whether he does or not makes no difference.

At that point Darlene tried to forgive him, but when Jerry had the heart attack, that was the turning point in their relationship.

So the last year and half Darlene has been supportive of him and has tried to help him with whatever he needed help with, but Darlene is not stupid, Darlene knows that he has done horrendous things and although Darlene has forgiven Jerry for what he has done to Darlene, Darlene also knows that Jerry has a past that's pretty ugly.

Sgt Clayton said that because there is so much history, we are interested in specific time frames, specifically, 1975.

Darlene said that she graduated from high school in 1974.

Sgt Clayton asked if Darlene and Jerry were living at the Hover Street address with their parents. Darlene said that Jerry was not.

When asked if Darlene recalls whether or not Jerry travelled to or mentioned Grand Junction, Darlene said Jerry travelled all over the US when he was not in jail.

Sgt Clayton asked Darlene if she knew what kind of work Jerry was doing in the 1970's and Darlene said that her guess is he was in jail somewhere. Sgt Clayton told Darlene that Jerry had been in prison from 1978 until 1992 and again asked about Grand Junctio.

Darlene does not recall any mention of Grand Junction. The thing Darlene does recall of that period is Jerry having lived in the Denver area with his girlfriend and Darlene knows that Jerry was doing telephone solicitation but she cannot recall what he was selling.

Sgt Clayton asked if the name Lisa Kohler rings a bell or Sandra Higgins. Darlene said that she recalls Sandy. Darlene describes Sandy as having been short in stature , petite and had a big red dog and Sandy had red hair, the same color as the dog. Jerry had brought her to visit.

Sgt Clayton told Darlene that Sandra had been arrested with Jerry in December 1975 for some kind of a theft.

Darlene said that Sandy and Jerry had taken the possessions of a household that they had been renting from a woman.

Sgt Clayton asked if Jerry had ever mentioned the names [redacted] or [redacted] [redacted] Darlene said no.

Sgt Clayton asked Darlene if Jerry ever mentioned Grand Junction at all. Darlene said not that she can recall.

Sgt Clayton asked if Jerry had a vehicle in 1975. [redacted] said Jerry always had a car, but [redacted] does not know cars and even if Jerry had told her what kind of car it was [redacted] would not now know.

Sgt Clayton asked [redacted] if Jerry ever kept a diary. [redacted] said n.

[redacted] said that Jerry always had a girlfriend.

When asked if Jerry ever kept a box with newspaper clippings or anything like that during that time. [redacted] said no.

Sgt Clayton asked if Jerry ever drove a truck for a drilling company or something like that. [redacted] said no. [redacted] said that Jerry did not decide he wanted to be a truck driver until just a few years ago. Jerry had convinced [redacted] that she should pay for him to go to truck driving school. Jerry did find a company that would pay for him to learn truck driving if he would go to work for them. [redacted] did co-sign for him to go to that school.

Sgt Clayton asked [redacted] if Jerry ever wore a necklace or jewelry. [redacted] said no.

Particularly around 1975, [redacted] was asked if she saw Jerry with any kind of an injury like a cut type injury, or did he complain about that. [redacted] said no.

Asked if Jerry had any friends besides girlfriends, [redacted] said that people used to flock to him, but she cannot recall any names. [redacted] was surprised she remembered [redacted] name. [redacted] mother always thought Jerry might marry [redacted].

Jerry was always a talker.

Sgt Clayton asked if Jerry has any belongings at her home such as a box with his belongings. Darlene does not believe there are any newspaper clippings, photo albums or newspaper clippings or anything like that but she does think there may be a box with jewelry making supplies and tools. The family home has been in the family since 1955.

Sgt Clayton said that because the home she lives in has been in the family for quite some time and because of that that we are wondering because sometimes that kind of stuff tends to collect at the parents house.

[redacted] does not believe so but she will look when she gets home.

Sgt Clayton explained that we would be interested in anything Jerry might have left at her home that might help place him in Grand Junction in 1975, to include financial type documents. [redacted] does believe that there is anything else, besides the box with jewelry making tools belonging to Jerry at the home.

residence that might tie Jerry to Grand Junction in 1975, Including financial documents. [redacted] said that she does not think so but will look in the box containing the jewelry making supplies. [redacted] said that there are hardly any photos of him at the home.

Sgt Clayton would have been around 30 years old at the time this happened and again asked if there might be anything else belonging to Jerry. Sgt Clayton asked [redacted] if she would mind if we could look at the box containing the jewelry supplies at her residence. [redacted] said that we could look.

Sgt Clayton then advised [redacted] that Jerry had been arrested for the double homicides and explained the DNA match to Jerry from the homicide scene. Sgt Clayton explained the importance of finding something besides the DNA that would tie Jerry to the homicides.

Sgt Clayton arranged with [redacted] that Sgt Clayton and I could go by her residence and look at the box Jerry had left at her residence.

When asked, [redacted] said that she was not surprised that Jerry is involved in this incident. [redacted] said that she knew (Jerry) was a rapist and knows that he could be intensely angry and that Jerry has been in trouble since he was a kid so that's the reason she wondered what he had done when we came to her door. [redacted] assumed that if we were interested in talking with [redacted], that Jerry had been arrested for something.

Sgt Clayton told [redacted] that since 1992 Jerry had been living a pretty clean life and that talking with people like Jerry's employer and [redacted] said that it's hard to believe Jerry would be involved in something like this, that the Jerry back then was a different Jerry now.

Sgt Clayton asked if Jerry ever had a problem with drugs or alcohol. [redacted] said she does not know if Jerry used drugs but he always drank quite a bit. When asked if Jerry was religious, [redacted] said absolutely not.

Sgt Clayton asked if Jerry was known to carry a knife, [redacted] said that it would not be unusual for Jerry to carry a knife and it seems like Jerry made fancy handles for knifes one of the times Jerry was in jail and had given a fancy handle to their father.

Sgt Clayton asked [redacted] if there is anything that we should know about Jerry. [redacted] said that [redacted] had been protected from Jerry by her parents. [redacted] said that she had known about the theft in Denver. When their father was very ill, [redacted] begged her father to call Jerry, but Jerry was not contacted until her father passed away and at the funeral, Jerry was very angry.

When asked about the names of old friends or best friends or any other family members that may have associated with Jerry, [redacted] said that her mother was an only child, so there was no family on her side, and on her dads side they were never close. [redacted] does not know who Jerry's best friend was, that she has very few memories of Jerry when she was young. [redacted] recalls when she was little she recalls a lot of police having come to her house and shined their flashlight around. [redacted] was afraid from that point on for her mom or dad to say the any police had called because she knew that it would be more trouble for her mom and dad.

[redacted] mom and dad would fight because her mom did not feel that Jerry should be bailed out of jail but her father thought they should help him.

[redacted] was asked what horrible things she referred to when this interview began. [redacted] said that one of the things she found out just a couple of years ago, when Jerry was in high school, [redacted] had been speaking with a female that works at WalMart asked [redacted] if she knew what Jerry had done. [redacted] said that she didn't know what he had done and the female told [redacted] that Jerry had gone out with some girl and had hit her in the head and apparently caused brain damage, so he didn't kill her but she was permanently disabled for the rest of her life.

[redacted] said that she had not known what had gone on and maybe her mom had known but [redacted] doubts it, [redacted] imagines just her father knew. [redacted] knows that her mom was angry and frustrated with Jerry.

Sgt Clayton asked if Jerry had a son, [redacted]. [redacted] answered not to her knowledge and that [redacted] is the son of [redacted] cousin. [redacted] uncle [redacted], [redacted] [redacted] is [redacted] granddaughter.

Sgt Clayton asked if the names [redacted] or [redacted] rings a bell. [redacted] said she does not recognize those names.

Sgt Clayton told [redacted] he would ask a personal question and that [redacted] did not have to answer it. Sgt Clayton asked [redacted] if Jerry had ever victimized her. [redacted] said that is a fair question, but he never victimized her. [redacted] said that she believes [redacted] is part of the reason her parents never let Jerry come home to live with them, that her parents were very protective of her.

When asked if [redacted] could suggest some place or someone to go to if she were in our shoes to try to determine if Jerry had ties to Grand Junction. [redacted] said besides the IRS she does not.

Sgt Clayton again asked if [redacted] would allow us to look around at her home. [redacted] said that we could however she does not feel that there is anything there (regarding historical documents relating to Jerry).

Sgt Clayton asked [redacted] if she remembers anything or finding anything she should call us.

The interview ended.

It should be noted that later this date, at approximately 7:00 pm. Sgt Clayton and I went to [redacted] residence.

On our arrival [redacted] produced a brown cardboard box containing items which [redacted] said Jerry had left at her residence years ago. [redacted] said that she can recall that the box had been at her residence at least five years and that even though Jerry lives not far away, Jerry has not asked about the box or made any effort to retrieve the box.

[redacted] opened the box and I noted that the box contained various pieces of what appeared to be tools for making jewelry and numerous drawings of designs for items such as belt buckles.

No other items appeared to be in the box.

After a conversation with [redacted] about her concerns about what neighbors and acquaintances would say about the fact she is Jerry's sister, and [redacted] concerns about being contacted by the news media ([redacted] related she has no desire to speak with the media and would refer them to the Longmont police), [redacted] was again asked to contact us if she remembers anything else and Sgt Clayton and I thanked [redacted] and left her residence.

LOCATION OF INCIDENT: 1300 North 21st Street # 211, Grand Junction, Colorado

ACTION TAKEN:

On Monday, March 30, 2009, Grand Junction Police Department Detective SEAN CROCKER and I interviewed [redacted] for the Grand Junction Police Department. [redacted] previously worked for a short term employment staffing company in Grand Junction and through that company became an associate of [redacted], the step father of LINDA KETCHUM. [redacted] is mentioned often in the initial investigation reports written at the time of the murders (1975). The interview was conducted to investigate the possibility that JERRY NEMNICH might be an associate or might have been an employee of [redacted] The interview with [redacted] was conducted at the Colorado Bureau of Investigation Grand Junction office and a digital recording of the interview is attached as exhibit BB-4.

[redacted] was the branch manager for West Staff Services in Grand Junction form April of 2000 until August of 2008. [redacted] owned and operated Glenwood Sealcoat, a company that repair paved surfaces such as parking lots, and would use West Staff for day laborers. [redacted] who split his time between his home in Nebraska and his work opportunities in Grand Junction, would use West Staff to provide employees or to payroll his own employees. Most of the employees he provided were "down and out" people he picked up off the street. For these employees, West Staff would bill him for reimbursement later). [redacted] remembered [redacted] using West Staff every few months.

[redacted] knows [redacted] stayed in Glenwood Springs often and from his appearance at times, she guessed he occasionally slept in his truck. Although [redacted] is only familiar with [redacted] from the year 2000, she knows he used the agency well before she became branch manager.

During her conversations with [redacted] learned that he had two failed marriages because of his alcohol use but he states he has come to "know Christ". He also commented that he had not been very nice to his wife because of his alcoholism.

It was common for [redacted] to give the people who worked for him a "Christ pep talk" and tell them how to better their lives before he would put them to work. [redacted] seemed to request less than desirable people to work for him, something [redacted] considered strange. The length of most jobs he worked were almost always under a week. When she knew him, [redacted] drove an older multi colored Toyota truck.

[redacted] believes that [redacted] has a son and two daughters but he never mentioned LINDA or KELLEY KETCHUM in her conversations with him. [redacted] last saw [redacted] when he was doing a job in the summer of 2007, and they had a short conversation.

We read [redacted] the same list of names that had been read to LINDA KETCHUM's friends and relatives to see if she recognized NEMNICH's name from her time at West Staff or from conversations with [redacted] She believed she recognized the name of [redacted] but was not sure. The name, JERRY NEMNICH, did not mean anything to her.

[redacted] told us West Staff was previously called Western Staffing and Western Girl. She did not know if the corporate offices would still have records from 1975 but provided [redacted] as the best person to contact in the Grand Junction office to facilitate getting those records. [redacted] has been the Employee Placement Coordinator at the business since the early 1990's and would also be able to provide information about [redacted]

CHRIS WILSON, a Grand Junction Police Department Crime Analyst assigned to this investigation, contacted the corporate office but was told records from the 1970's were no longer available. Please see her supplement report for further details.

LOCATION OF INCIDENT: 1300 North 21st Street # 211, Grand Junction, Colorado

ACTION TAKEN:

While conducting the investigation into JERRY NEMNICH's criminal history, it was learned that he had been arrested by the Boulder County Sheriff's Office as a suspect in a sexual assault that occurred on December 5, 1974.

The victim reported she had been hitchhiking near Boulder, Colorado and was given a ride by three males in a silver vehicle. She was sexual assaulted by the suspect riding with her in the back seat and she was eventually left on the side of a road between Boulder and Longmont, Colorado. A composite drawing was made of the suspect, which closely resembled JERRY NEMNICH. A photograph line up was shown to the victim and she picked JERRY NEMNICH as the person who sexually assaulted her. NEMNICH was arrested but released after his alibis had been checked and after the victim looked at a second photographic line up. Please see the Boulder County report regarding this investigation for more information.

[redacted] who currently works in the Boulder County Sheriff's Office as a day reporting supervisor, was one of the original detectives assigned to the investigation.

On March 26, 2009, Grand Junction Police Detective SEAN CROCKER and I traveled to Boulder and interviewed [redacted] remembers just a few specific details of the crime but did remember JERRY NEMNICH was the suspect. [redacted] described NEMNICH as being very intelligent, and stated he exuded a confident and relaxed personality. Even when arrested for this crime, he remained calm and collected and did not seem concerned with the process. [redacted] also described NEMNICH as being a narcissist.

[redacted] had been a detective for just a short time when this incident happened and remembered that she felt "overmatched" when talking with NEMNICH , as if he perceived her as naïve and inexperienced.

After he had been released, NEMNICH continued to communicate with [redacted] and offered to start a support group for women so he could educate them on how not become victims of crimes (contradicts with him never accepting responsibility for this crime). [redacted] acted like she would entertain the idea but only so she could keep in contact with NEMNICH in case more information on the case developed. She had a few phone conversations with him about the support group he wanted to start but she started to feel uncomfortable with the situation and she chose to break contact with him. She added her husband had started getting concerned about NEMNICH and wondered if he might start stalking [redacted]

We provided [redacted] with a copy of the Boulder County report for her to review. She is also going to contact their detective division and make sure we have all of the paperwork associated with this case.

KELLEY A. BENSON (AKA KELLEY KETCHUM), W/F [redacted]

SUSPECT: JERRY LOUIS NEMNICH, W/M, DOB 11/1/44, 6'00", 205 lbs, Brown hair, Hazel eyes, [redacted] FBI # 584877D, CO State ID # 113908

LOCATION OF INCIDENT: 1300 North 21st Street # 211, Grand Junction, Colorado

ACTION TAKEN: On April 3, 2009, an arrest warrant was issued for JERRY NEMNICH as a result of this investigation. On April 4, 2009, members of the investigative task force traveled to the Longmont, Colorado area to arrest NEMNICH and interview his family members. The Longmont Police Department had been conducting surveillance on NEMNICH's residence and it was believed he would be home for the weekend based on information already gathered. When surveillance did not provide a location of NEMNICH , patrol officers of the Longmont Police Department went to the NEMNICH residence and contacted [redacted], JERRY's common law wife. Using the ruse of needing to interview people concerning vandalism problems in the area, the patrol officers learned NEMNICH was a truck driver. PAULA told them NEMNICH had not been home in two weeks and she did not know when to expect him. She provided NEMNICH's cellular phone number as 303-653-6112. Grand Junction Police Department Detective SEAN CROCKER obtained a Court Order for Productions of Records and served it on Verizon Wireless to determine the location of JERRY NEMNICH's cell phone.

Information provided by Verizon Wireless indicated JERRY NEMNICH was in the Salt Lake City, Utah area. We continued to monitor his phone's location and on April 5, 2009, NEMNICH drove south on I-15 in Utah, away from the Longmont, Colorado area rather than toward it.

During the morning of April 6, 2009, Detective SEAN CROCKER and I went to Westco, Express Inc., the trucking company that employed NEMNICH. We first spoke with Co- Owner [redacted] and explained we had an arrest warrant for JERRY NEMNICH for two counts of homicide. [redacted] agreed to cooperate with us in making sure NEMNICH was apprehended. He brought his Director of operations [redacted] into the discussion and we learned NEMNICH was delivering a load of freight to the Los Angeles, California area.

NEMNICH had not been dispatched for his next load and [redacted] ıgreed to find a load for NEMNICH to deliver to the Denver area as soon as he could.

We were provided with all of the truck information as well as company unit numbers for the tractor and the trailer currently being hauled. [redacted] placed a call to NEMNICH and made sure he was on time with the delivery he was making. The delivery would be made later that day and NEMNICH would need to "reset" his hours (down time) for the night before picking up the next load on the morning of April 7th. At 4:15 PM on April 6, 2009, I received a call from [redacted] stating he had arranged for NEMNICH to pick up a load of appliances in Walnut, California and deliver them in Denver on the morning of April 9, 2009. NEMNICH would be driving through Grand Junction during the trip and it was decided to arrest NEMNICH at the Port of Entry in Loma, Colorado.

On April 6 and April 7, 2009, [redacted] provided me with updates he received from NEMNICH and the locations provided by NEMNICH matched the locations learned from the Verizon Wireless information. On April 8, 2009 at 7:15 AM, I received a call from [redacted] stating NEMNICH had spent the night in Parowan, Utah and would be driving by 8:00 AM, making his estimated time of arrival at the Port of Entry approximately noon.

I had previously arranged for the Port of Entry to disable their Pre Pass System, which would force NEMNICH to enter the port. They would then direct him to park and the arrest would take place.

I faxed [redacted] a Colorado Bureau of Investigation Consent to Search form for the semi tractor which is owned by them. [redacted] signed the form and returned it to me by fax. The signed Consent to search form is attached to this report as exhibit BB-5.

Grand Junction Police Department Special Investigator LARRY BULLARD and I drove approximately 1 hour west of the Colorado Port of Entry to wait for NEMNICH and follow him to the port. At approximately 1:00 PM, Investigator BULLARD spotted the Westco truck NEMNICH was driving, confirmed by the unit number on the tractor. A few minutes later, the truck passed my location and I was able to identify JERRY NEMNICH as the driver. Investigator BULLARD passed the truck and also confirmed NEMNICH was the driver. BULLARD and I followed the truck to the Colorado Port of Entry and watched as it was directed to park. Detective CROCKER and Sergeant TONY CLAYTON contacted NEMNICH and placed him under arrest without incident.

LOCATION OF INCIDENT: 1300 North 21st Street # 211, Grand Junction, Colorado

ACTION TAKEN: During this investigation, JERRY NEMNICH's girlfriend in 1975. was interviewed. She stated that she and NEMNICH were friends with and boyfriend during that time and that might be able to help with forming a more solid timeline of NEMNICH's whereabouts around the time of the murders. Grand Junction Police Department Detective SEAN CROCKER and I were going to be flying to Chicago, Illinois to conduct another interview and it was decided to interview during the same trip.

On April 18, 2009, I flew to Chicago and then drove to the New Carlisle, Indiana Police Department where met me for the interview. The interview was recorded and is attached as exhibit BB-8.

has known since they were young teenagers in Chicago, Illinois. Between 1971 and 1975, she began hitchhiking around the western part of the country and in 1975 she "settled down" and started taking nursing classes in Denver, Colorado. In the spring of 1974, came to Denver from Chicago and they lived together in an apartment off of Colfax Avenue. During this time, was working at the Gaiety Bar and worked at a pet store. During the winter of 1974 and 1975, and stopped living together because they had met boyfriends. moved into a duplex (possibly on Sherman Street) with her boyfriend, but she is not sure where lived. She believes this is the time met JERRY NEMNICH but she can not be sure. She described as someone who needed to be taken care of and didn't think would be without a boyfriend for long.

During the summer of 1975, while and lived in the duplex, and NEMNICH would come and visit. She believes they visited at least three times and told me they would all take the visit as an opportunity to drink and socialize. does not specifically remember where NEMNICH and were living at the time (addressed again later in this report).

remembers that during this period, she learned NEMNICH had served time in prison for a "rape" in Grand Junction, Colorado. She believes that she was told this by and that also said that NEMNICH denied that he committed the offense.

described NEMNICH as someone who didn't quite fit in, stating he had short hair, wore "straight" clothes and was not the "hippie" type that she and were. I asked if there was anything about NEMNICH that concerned her and she broke eye contact with me, looked at her feet and said she didn't want to talk about it. After telling her how important the investigation was, agreed to discuss it.

When lived in the duplex, the adjoining duplex was vacant. During the times NEMNICH and visited, they would crawl through an open window of the vacant duplex to have sex. could hear the sex through the wall and would hear scream. She described the screams as "scary" and "like bloody murder", commenting she thought NEMNICH "was killing her". I asked if it could have been screams that are common during sex but she said she knew what those sounded like and that these screams were different. She was even concerned enough to ask if NEMNICH was hurting her. denied being hurt by NEMNICH and stated something similar to "he likes it like that". continued to have sexual encounters with NEMNICH so does not think did anything against her will. got the feeling engaged in the sexual activities to satisfy NEMNICH but was not particularly fond of the sex herself.

does not know where and NEMNICH lived but when I asked if she remembered them living in Grand Junction, she stated "oh yeah, they did". She never visited them there but recalled knowing they lived in a trailer in Grand Junction. She then stated that it made sense that they lived in Grand Junction during the times they visited, otherwise she would have seen more often.

moved to a different house in Denver and and NEMNICH went their own way. She did not see NEMNICH ever again and did not see again until 1984. She does not remember discussing NEMNICH with after moved out of the duplex in Denver.

According to she, drank alcohol and smoked marijuana occasionally but she does not remember NEMNICH joining in. NEMNICH, who she described as reserved and quiet, never made advances on She doesn't recall ever seeing NEMNICH with a gun or knife and never noticed him with any injuries.

LOCATION OF INCIDENT: 1300 North 21st Street # 211, Grand Junction, Colorado

ACTION TAKEN: During the course of this investigation, a thorough background search was conducted on JERRY NEMNICH and information related to relatives and friends of NEMNICH was obtained was a name listed as a friend on NEMNICH's 1978 Colorado Department of Correction intake form and extensive research was done trying to locate her. Based on the computer research done, Grand Junction Police Department Detective Sergeant TONY CLAYTON placed a phone call to of Germantown, Maryland, who confirmed her maiden name is and that she knew JERRY NEMNICH.

On April 20, 2009, Grand Junction Police Department Detective SEAN CROCKER and I traveled to Germantown, Maryland and interviewed The interview was conducted at her dining table and her husband, was also present. A compact disc containing the digital recording of this interview is attached as exhibit BB-9.

When was in her early twenties, she worked for the RCA sales office in an office building off of Speer Boulevard in Denver, Colorado. JERRY NEMNICH was working as a graphic artist down the hall but she can not remember the company he was employed by. met NEMNICH during the time they both worked in the building (she guessed it to be August of 1976). Even though NEMNICH was already dating his girlfriend, and NEMNICH went to lunch and even dinner on occasion. described their relationship as "strictly platonic" and told us NEMNICH became her best friend at the time. They would see each other daily since they worked down the hall from each other and she remembers they went out to lunch quite often. She told us they "did the things best friends do", such as going to movies, going to lunch and dinner, and "hanging out" at the park and/or her place just talking. She does not remember the vehicle NEMNICH had at the time.

She remembered they usually drank beer when they would go to eat or hang out and remembered that they smoked marijuana together on occasion. I asked if was part of their friendship but I was told that only met one time. said NEMNICH and did not have a "monogamous" relationship and didn't think either one of them would have minded if they were friends with members of the opposite sex.

admitted NEMNICH stayed some nights at her apartment but maintained that they remained just friends. believes NEMNICH and dated the entire time she knew NEMNICH and told us their relationship didn't end until NEMNICH went to prison.

She described NEMNICH as the "hippie" type (including the clothes he wore) who was definitely "not part of the establishment". She described him as very "laid back", "caring" and intelligent but that he seemed to lack ambition and worked just to make a living.

NEMNICH did not talk about his past other than to tell he grew up on a farm and "hated it there". She remembered he told her at some point he had or was going to work on the oil rigs with his friend, but she doesn't know if that statement referred to something he had already done or was going to do.

During the interview, I asked if there was ever a time when NEMNICH made sexual advances on her. She only remembered one time early in their friendship when they had been out together all day and had returned to her apartment where they were standing outside. As she was saying good bye, JERRY grabbed her hand and placed it on his erect penis (outside his clothes) and asked "are you going to leave me like this?". laughed, pulled her hand away, said "bye", and closed her door. She told us she had the feeling she should lock the door because the look in his eyes scared her, but she didn't, and NEMNICH apparently left and didn't push the issue. told us they had already established their friendship and she was not attracted to him in that way.

During one conversation, NEMNICH told that was so loud during sex that their neighbors would call the police thinking that was being hurt. (In a previous interview, told me that she too heard them have sex and thought NEMNICH was hurting After interviewing more people, it appears that was just very loud during sex and was not being injured.)

After NEMNICH returned to Denver from the oil fields, he and agreed to rent a place together. They had just moved into the apartment off of 6th Street in Denver, when NEMNICH was arrested for sexual assault. She then provided details of NEMNICH's arrest and of finding the gun used in the crime (please listen to the recording for details).

ACTION TAKEN: During the course of this investigation, I interviewed [redacted] was a friend of [redacted] JERRY NEMNICH's girlfriend in 1975. During the interview with [redacted] she told me NEMNICH and [redacted] visited her and her [redacted] boyfriend, [redacted] on a few occasions.

[redacted] last knew [redacted] was in the Providence, Rhode Island area and members of the cold case task force began working to locate him so he could be interviewed regarding his contact with NEMNICH.

Grand Junction Police Department Sergeant TONY CLAYTON contacted [redacted] by telephone and confirmed he was the person we needed to speak with. During their conversations, [redacted] told Sergeant CLAYTON he had two checks that were written by NEMNICH to the liquor store [redacted] was working at in 1975. The checks listed a Grand Junction, Colorado address for NEMNICH and [redacted]

On April 22, 2009, Grand Junction Police Department Detective SEAN CROCKER and I traveled to [redacted] residence in Warwick, Rhode Island and interviewed him. [redacted] was in the United States Air Force and stationed in Denver, Colorado from 1972 until 1974. After leaving the military, he attended art school in the Denver area during which time he worked at Paul's Liquors on Colfax Avenue. It was during this time period that [redacted] met [redacted] at a restaurant. [redacted] was with a girl that he believes might have been [redacted] and [redacted] began dating and moved into a small apartment. After someone broke into the apartment and attempted to rape [redacted] (no connection to this case), they moved into the duplex [redacted] told me about. [redacted] believes he had met [redacted] by this time but he had not met NEMNICH yet.

[redacted] recalls being told by [redacted] that she received a call from [redacted] and NEMNICH needed a place to stay and would be coming to their house. The same day (he believes afternoon or evening), [redacted] and NEMNICH arrived at their house. [redacted] remembers shaking NEMNICH's hand and believes NEMNICH was carrying a bag over his left shoulder. He does not remember noticing any cuts or injuries on NEMNICH when he met him. [redacted] told us he recalls not liking NEMNICH when he met him due to the way NEMNICH presented himself, but could not articulate a more specific reason why he felt that way. He told us he felt "threatened" by NEMNICH and described him as a "scary" guy but was okay with letting him stay since it was just for a few days.

[redacted] thinks that he remembers being told NEMNICH had just gotten out of prison but is not sure. He also believes that on this particular visit, [redacted] had been in Denver and NEMNICH had come to Denver to pick [redacted] up and return to Grand Junction.

[redacted] and NEMNICH spent the night in the spare room and [redacted] remembers hearing the couple engage in sex that night. He described the sex as loud (he imitated the sound of a bed banging against a wall) and stated it went on for an extended period of time. After a while, [redacted] and [redacted] discussed checking on [redacted] to make sure she was okay but they never did.

[redacted] was at work at Paul's Liquor store the next day when NEMNICH came into the store. He recalls NEMNICH purchasing a few items with cash and then asking to write a check for more cash. Since NEMNICH was the boyfriend of [redacted] he allowed him to write the check and watched NEMNICH as he wrote and signed the check. Although he does not specifically remember [redacted] and NEMNICH staying at his house a second night, he said it would make sense that they did because a second check was written the next day. [redacted] does not specifically remember the vehicle NEMNICH and [redacted] arrived in but he assumes that they were driving a vehicle during the visit. [redacted] believes [redacted] was outside in a vehicle when NEMNICH wrote the checks.

When the two checks were returned marked “insufficient funds”, felt responsible since he had authorized NEMNICH to write the checks (the initials and the “pers” notation on the checks were written by since he knew NEMNICH personally). reimbursed the business for the amount of the two checks and kept the checks to confront NEMNICH if he ever saw him again. He never saw NEMNICH again but he never got rid of the checks. After he and separated, the checks were placed with other items he kept from his time with Lately, the checks have been stored with other keepsakes from his life and he had forgotten about them until Sergeant CLAYTON called.

was shown photographs of NEMNICH and we were told that at the time met him; NEMNICH most resembled the 1968 photograph that shows NEMNICH as having short hair and being clean shaven. ooked at the 1975 Jefferson County booking photograph and told us that NEMNICH apparently grew his hair out and grew the beard between the time they met (July 1975) and the time the photograph was taken (December 1975).

Detective CROCKER maintained possession of the two checks until we returned to Colorado where he placed them in evidence.

LOCATION OF INCIDENT: 1300 North 21st Street # 211, Grand Junction, Colorado

ACTION TAKEN: After the deaths of LINDA and KELLEY KETCHUM in 1975, LINDA's husband, had been questioned by law enforcement. During the investigation, also took and passed a polygraph exam. Sometime after the deaths, broke off contact with his family and left the area. When Grand Junction Police Department Special Investigator LARRY BULLARD re-opened the case, whereabouts were unknown.

Using computer databases available to law enforcement, BULLARD was eventually able to locate in Mimbres, New Mexico. He spoke with law enforcement in the area as well as a woman who had recently been involved with and learned he was somewhat of a recluse who had spent time living out of a tent in the mountains near Mimbres. Although DNA was needed for the investigation, it was decided not to contact him until after the arrest of JERRY NEMNICH for fear that might relocate and make himself unavailable to law enforcement.

After the arrest of NEMNICH, task force investigators worked with the Grant County Sheriff's Office in Silver City, New Mexico to locate for an interview. The sheriff's Office had recent contact with and agreed to help connect us with him.

On Wednesday, April 15, 2009, Detective SEAN CROCKER and I went to the Grant County Sheriff's Office and contacted Deputy BILL MIZE. Deputy MIZE is familiar with whom he recently filed minor assault charges on. He described as a "talkative" person and he did not think would pose any problems when contacted. He told us is currently living with in the Mimbres, New Mexico area.

We followed Deputy MIZE to Highway 35 toward home but while driving, I received a call from Deputy MIZE. He told me we would be going to a small ranch nearby because was allegedly trespassing on the property (Deputy MIZE described the situation as more of a civil dispute).We arrived at 2910 Highway 35 and Detective CROCKER and I stood by as Deputy MIZE contacted the female at the ranch. We then drove down the hill to the barn area and located irrigating a field. Deputy MIZE spoke with briefly regarding the civil issue and then told him that we needed to speak with him.

I introduced myself to and told him we needed to talk about the incident that occurred in Grand Junction in 1975. who was surprised to be contacted about the murders, agreed to speak to us and walked back to the vehicles. The interview, which was conducted at the front of my vehicle, was recorded and is attached as exhibit BB-7. told us he has not spoken with anyone about the murders since he left Grand Junction and has not been in touch with any of his family members that lived or still live in the Grand Junction area.

Before telling that an arrest had been made, I showed him NEMNICH's 1975 Jefferson County booking photo and asked him if he recognized the name JERRY NEMNICH. who did not show any signs of deception, stated he didn't recognize the name or the photograph. He also denied knowing and did not recognize her from her photograph. When I told that we had arrested NEMNICH for the murders; tears began to form in his eyes and he told us it was hard for him to talk about the murders.

told us he remembered the day he came home from Hayden, Colorado and found the bodies of LINDA and KELLEY. said the front door was locked when he got home (according to LINDA often kept the front door locked), but the sliding glass door on the patio was standing open 6 to 8 inches (LINDA often kept this door open).

remembered being told by investigators at the time that there was a hand print on the inside wall near the main entry door of the apartment. He was asked if he could have placed his hand on the wall when he exited the apartment because investigators had found a palm print at that location. Several latent lifts are included in the case file but it is unknown if they came from the area described.

In crime scene photographs, a bowl can be seen on the coffee table in the living room and I asked if it was common for LINDA or KELLEY to eat a bowl of cereal before bed. told us it was very common for both LINDA and KELLY to eat dessert at night if they had it, or to eat cereal if they did not. They would generally eat the dessert or cereal while watching television in the living room.

said he was making very good money at the time so LINDA did not need to work. He remembered they would shop at the City Market store that was approximately 1 mile away. The couple did not go to bars or nightclubs but did socialize a lot with friends from the apartment complex.

During an earlier interview with she told us JERRY NEMNICH had a red Ford Convertible when they lived in Grand Junction. was asked if he knew anyone that drove that type of vehicle but he did not, adding that he is a "car guy" and would remember if he knew someone that did.

later stated that he became very involved in the investigation and kept notes for a while but has since gotten rid of the notes.

I told that there was a "Sir Speedy" printing company in Grand Junction at the time and was about to ask if he knew anyone who worked there(NEMNICH supposedly worked at Sir Speedy) when he interrupted me and told me and another person named "JIM" started the printing company. use to be a pipe fitter that worked with before started the printing company guessed that started the company in late 1973). He described the business as being across from the K Mart store and near the McDonald's restaurant at the time and estimated it to be within a mile of his apartment. only remembered being in the business one time and stated LINDA was never in the business as far as he knew.

knew and his wife, well and they would visit each others residences on occasion. described as arrogant and someone who "partied" a lot, adding that LINDA did not like him very much.

We discussed life after the murders and he told us he stayed in Grand Junction for approximately 3 months before returning to the Craig, Colorado area to work on another power plant. He then worked in Casper, Wyoming and several places in Montana before returning to Glenwood Springs, Colorado to work on the power plant there. In 1984, went to the Silver City, New Mexico area.

Narrative

INITIAL INFORMATION:

On Tuesday, March 24, 2009, I, Commander Lewis, was contacted by Chief Butler. He was asking that I be part of an outside agency assist.

INVESTIGATION:

I met with Chief Butler in his office and the Chief of Police from Grand Junction Police called and briefed us on a homicide investigation they were working. I spoke with his Detective Commander, Mike Nordine.

The suspect, Jerry Nemnich lives in Longmont at 219 Terry St. They had found DNA evidence that linked him to a 1975 double homicide of a mother and her 5 year old daughter.

I reviewed the history we had for Nemnich and there were no significant contacts. I requested our records section and crime analyst begin researching unsolved sex assaults. I wanted to review them for possible links to Nemnich.

I later briefed Sgt Joel Post, Sgt Darren Bloom and Sgt Bruce Wittich on this investigation. Grand Junction and CBI investigators came to LPD twice and briefed us on the investigation. SEU set up extensive surveillance operations. On April 3rd, 2009 Sgt Bloom notified me they had located Nemnich and conducted surveillance on him for the entire weekend. No arrest warrants were active at this time.

On April 4, 2009, Grand Junction Detectives returned to Longmont and reviewed the case and the possibility of setting up an arrest operation. Sgt Clayton was the lead for their team. SEU surveillance had no seen the suspect at home this weekend.

Grand Junction developed an alternative plan. Officer Deal and Officer Cromley were assigned to assist and obtained a cell phone number from Paula Nemnich. This number was provided to Grand Junction Detectives. Detective Sean Crocker completed a search warrant for the telephone records. Chief Deputy Ken Kupfner reviewed and approved the warrant with was presented to the on call judge.

I maintained contact with Sgt Clayton through the week and found that Jerry Nemnich was arrested on Wednesday, April 8, 2009 in Grand Junction.

I am still reviewing unsolved sex assault cases and have not found any associated with Nemnich.

Today is the last day of my mini-vacation. I took friday off, making this a 4-day weekend, today being Colorado Day, an official holiday for state employees. It's been pleasant. I read a couple of books (Megatrends, finally, and some sci/fi), watched the Olympics on ABC, played my guitar, jacked off when the mood struck me, and generally had a good time. Still, I don't think that the inclusion of some two-party fucking, dancing and general dissipation would have been unwelcome....

I'm impressed with the Olympics. The commercialism is annoying, yes, and the constant hype lathered on by ABC gets tiresome. The color commentary seldom sparkles, and Howard Cosell continues to be a world-class ass. But none of that detracts one bit from the efforts of the athletes. They are spectacular. It is their venue, their triumph, and all of the political nonsense and other hoopla just doesn't matter.

Congratulations on the sale of your magazine(s)! I think it's a waste of time for you to worry about the deal you made. Bronstein bought in thinking he could make a buck. If he does, good for him. If he doesn't, then it's his problem. Unless, of course, you've deliberately misrepresented the facts. That seems unlikely. I can imagine you cheating yourself but not anyone else. Take the money and enjoy the freedom it will buy.

Israel. It's too bad that Israel doesn't measure up to its 'good guy' image. Or maybe it measures up too well. I can't decide which. So much of its short history is done up in the style of a Hollywood cowboy epic that it's hard to define where the fantasy ends and reality begins. Instead of the Ponderosa, there's the Kibbutz; instead of Boomer Sooner, there's the West Bank; instead of the Apache, there's the PLO; and instead of John Wayne and Gary Cooper, there's Ben Gurion and Moshe Dayan. The problem is that unlike the movies, the hero can't do his heroics, kiss his horse and ride off into the sunset.

What else? I'm trying to make a move from close security here at Shadow Mountain to minimum security at Skyline (what used to be pre-parole), by-passing medium security in the process. Such a move is pretty unorthodox. It usually just isn't done. But the circumstances are ripe for a precedent, and I've been politicking my ass off. I'll miss working in the woodshop, but the trade-off isn't bad. Living conditions are decent at Skyline, much better than at M.S., and not much worse than here. Hobbywork is allowed. There's a lot more personal freedom. Visits are better. And since I'll be working in the Industries Office, I'll still have access to the business end of the business. The most important thing, of course, is that it puts me a couple of steps closer to getting out. I may or may not make it before the end of September. Hopefully, I will. If you do decide to drop in for a chat, having a semi-civilized place to visit would be nice. Not that the visiting room here is barbaric, but it is hassle city. I don't know all the rules and regs, but the basics are: Visiting Hours are from 12:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., Friday, Saturday and Sunday. You must be fully and modestly dressed. You must wear a bra and be prepared to be shook-down. You cannot wear any jewelry except a wedding ring. You must be on an approved visiting list and have identification to prove who you are. As I pointed out earlier, it's hassle city. I don't know what the situation is at Skyline, but I assume it's somewhat similar, the mitigation being that conditions are a bit more relaxed. If I move, I'll let you know. I would like to see you. It's been a long time.

I've got to go take a shower. It's almost lock-up time, and I don't want to spend the night alone with my armpits. There's no telling what evil may lurk within them.

Have a good time in Ireland. Send me a post card or, better yet, a snapshot or two.

Dear ....

It's sure nice to hear from you again. You may not be as quick to respond as you once were, but the content and style remains just as engaging. I like it. As someone who hasn't been more than a quarter of a mile away from my front porch in well over three years, I can really appreciate the variation in perspective your travel notes provide.

I don't know about a trip back to the 60's. The setting sounds nice, but I can do without the political overtones. If you join the colony, will you put your uptown wardrobe in storage and burn your bra once more for old times sake? Or do you plan to straddle the decades with one foot in the past, the other in the present? Knowing how much you enjoy being a rascal, I anticipate fireworks no matter what your choice of deportment may be. Keep me posted, okay?

What is it with you and your mirror? I thought I was the one who could look potential success right in the eye and disclaim responsibility for it. You're a bright, good-looking, successful woman with every reason in the world to be proud of who you are and what you've done with your life. Quit being so hard on yourself. Making money isn't a sin. Neither is spending it. And neither is doing what you want to do.

I wish I could show you some of my work, but I have ~~K~~no~~w~~ idea where most of it goes once it leaves the shop. The nicest pieces are in the offices of mucky-mucks like the Attorney General and the Director of Corrections. I'm not sure how they'd react if someone showed up and asked to look at their office furniture. I'm trying to get a couple of pictures to send you, but it's difficult. The folks in charge of things now days aren't very responsive to such requests.

That's it. I've got to get to work on my ghost story. Stay happy and stay in touch.

Dear ,

Hello....this is something new. I don't remember ever writing you and not getting an answer. Hmmmm. That makes me think. Not about why. I think I know why. But about what I can do to rekindle your interest and make it worth your while to set aside your skepticism. Out and out bribery might work, but I'm so poor I can barely pay attention. I guess the best thing is to just keep writing....

Isn't today your birthday? I should have gotten you a card. Better yet, I should have made one up. Let's see....on the front I'd put a line drawing, something squiggly and cartoonish, of a woman crossing the finish line of a marathon, and when you opened it up it would say, '47 was a very good year....or was it '48? Happy Birthday! Oh, well, it's the thought that counts. By the way, your horoscope for today says, in part, that "....with maturity comes an intellectual balance that enables you to withstand even your own feelings." I don't put much stock in the value of astrology, however that comment does seem appropriate to the situation. Happy birthday, my friend.

I bet you'd never guess what I'm doing for a living these days. I've become a woodworker, a cabinetmaker without portfolio so to speak. I started a couple of years ago when my job in the print shop was phased out. A friend of mine was working in the furniture/carpentry shop. He talked me into going to work as his helper. It didn't take long to discover that I really enjoy building things and that I've got a knack for it. During the past year I've had the opportunity to do a lot of the custom, one-of-a-kind items, things like solid oak conference tables with matching chairs, solid walnut desks and credenzas, and even some kitchen cabinets out of oak, really nice stuff. And not only did I get to build the pieces, but in a lot of instances, I got to do the design, also. It's great. I've never done any kind of work in all my life that I enjoyed half as much or that I got more satisfaction from doing. It's reached the point, now, where I've decided that I want to do this kind of work, particularly designing and building good furniture, when I get out. Toward that end, I've been doing some studying in my off time, just informally with books I get from the library, and I've Ironically, I have the same problem. I am a very adept and successful person when I'm in prison. I see myself that way, and so do others. Yet, when given freedom, I fail. Since I carry the same talents and abilities into both arenas, the only significant difference I can put my finger on is the way I see myself and how that effects the expectations I conjure. There is a whole litany of associated and interrelated patterns and habits and tendencies piled on top of one another, but all are branches of the same tree. When I'm not in control of my expectations, the opposite is true.

The same can be said of Israel. When Jews, individually and collectively, stop seeing themselves as American-Jews, Russian-Jews, French-Jews, Palestinian-Jews or whatever-Jews and begin seeing themselves as Israeli-Jews, the potential for distortion is tremendous. Israel is a geographical reality. The concept of Israel is not. It is a myth that has sustained and nurtured Jews for hundreds of years, a touchstone that has helped them endure incredible hardships and almost universal exile, the forge that has strengthened the bonds of Jews among Jews, and the hope that has honed the tools of their survival to a razor's edge. No other ethnic group in the history of the world has placed such a high value on the virtues of education, economic prudence, art, music, literature and justice, tolerance of other beliefs and - most important - an openess to change, to accommodate, to adjust to circumstances.

If Israel is to survive, the myth must be put to rest. Jews cannot afford to let past expectations of the promised land interfere with the reality of their existence. The six-gun diplomacy has to go. The Palestinians who were so rudely displaced must be accommodated. The secular interests must somehow convince the more radical religious factions that moderation is essential. The tail must stop wagging the dog.

Try to do something about all this while you're over there, will you? Also, try to avoid getting in front of any bullets, hand grenades, etc. Romance and adventure is one thing. Picking shrapnel out of your ass is something else entirely.

begun doing some research. I see lots of opportunity but getting into position to take advantage of it is going to take time. I've got 4-plus years to do before I'm even elegible for parole, and there's no guarantee I'll get one of those. Nonetheless, I can put that time to good use improving my skills, and maybe someday I'll be able to have a little shop with a sign over the door that says, "J. Nemnich, Woodcrafter". I'd like that, especially if I could make a living at it.

I've been doing a little bit of writing, too. Nothing you'd call creative. That's entirely too much work, mainly because I am still too wrapped up with myself to winnow the whining from genuine dispair. Writing as a form of therapy doesn't work for me. On the other hand, writing non-fiction articles for money is worth the time. I sold a short piece in March to one of the woodworking trade magazines. I didn't get much, just $75, but a sale is a sale. I've got two pieces out now, one to 'Guitar Player' about the trials and tribulations of 'picking' in prison. It's semi-funny, but I don't see much hope for it. I never could get it on paper the way I conceived it in my head. I finally just sent it off, more out of frustration than anything else. The other piece is more serious. It's a six-part article on how-to-cope and what-to-do when your kid goes to jail. I sent it to the L.A. Times Syndicate, hoping to sell it into syndication. It's a shot. Maybe they'll pick it up.

I've got to quit. My neighbors are sensitive about the rattatat of the typewriter late at night. Write when and if you get the urge, and take care.

Dear ,

Thanks! Getting your letter and hearing about what you've been up to and into meant a lot to me. It also sent me scurrying for words of reply. Drivel obviously will not do.

I was startled by the news that you are parting company with the house on Emerson Street. I remember how thrilled you were when you bought it and the hours you spent to make it habitable and how it became, in time, a more accurate reflection of you than any mirror could manage. I suspect that the same imagery remains true now that you are selling the place. Here's to getting the best possible price....

I'm not surprised by your desire to get out of the publishing business. Even my limited experience gives me some awareness and insight into the amount of work involved in putting out just one issue, nevermind putting out four different editions. You, my friend, are a glutton for punishment. As much as I admire your capacity for work and your ability to get things done, there comes a time when the appetite of motivation exceeds the nourishment of compensation. You sound hungry.

Aren't you glad you've gotten that first novel out of your system? It must be a marvelous sensation, to hold a book in your hands and know that it is uniquely yours, a feeling equalled only by the knowledge that there is more inside your head just waiting to be written. Are you finding your second effort easier? Or just different? And I wonder if going into a writer's colony will help or hinder your progress?

My prediction is that it won't help your writing at all. You already know more about the mechanics of writing than you need to know. Your success with McGraphics is proof of that. Fraternizing with a group of writers and/or want-to-be writers may be socially exciting, but will hanging around with intellectuals make you one? Probably not.

Hear this, , and believe it: Your only lack of intelligence is your inability to assess your own. I'll bet there isn't a single person in the whole world (except, perhaps, your banker) who sits around wishing you were smarter. If anything, they're probably envious of you!

I know about feeling old inside. I was feeling about Noah's age when I wrote you the other day. Fortunately, there aren't many days of deep, dark depression in my life. Most of the time, I feel pretty good about myself. I stay busy, doing the things I need to do to make the present tolerable and the future something more than that.

I think I'm making progress. About six months ago, I started going through the motions of preparing to meet the commute board. Part of that game involved getting some documentation from the mental health people to the effect that I had consulted them. I knew that without that documentation, I would have no chance of getting a time cut. So, off I went, taking pains to make sure that everyone understood exactly what my intentions were and what was motivating me.

It took me about three sessions to figure out that what I needed had nothing to do with a piece of paper for the commute board. Since then, I've been committed to changing things that need changing and to getting rid of a lot of the garbage that I've grown tired of carrying. I can't say that I enjoy the process, but I do like the results.

I'm still trying to get a time cut, of course, but my goal is to get myself prepared and healthy just in case I get lucky. I may or may not be able to influence the commute board, but I do have control over my responsibilities and that gives me a lot of freedom, regardless of what they may decide.

After a long and bitter struggle, I finally managed to quit smoking. Unfortunately, my waistline is paying the price. I'm not getting really fat, but I'm up to 210 and that's 15 pounds more than I want to weigh. I suppose that an exercise program is next on the agenda. Ugh.

Enough. I have to return this typewriter to the guy I borrowed it from so he can do his exercises. (He uses it as a dumbell....) Again, thanks for being there.

Take care.

Dear

I ran across your advertisement for a translator in yesterday's paper, hard evidence that you are alive and well.

Good for you! It just tickles the shit out of me to know that you're beating the odds against. Better yet, it gives me a good opening for the letter I've been wanting to write for a long time. I didn't realize that, of course, until just now, yet another side-effect of self-abuse which I intend to ignore. Feel free to do the same.

This isn't going well. Two paragraphs and already I'm playing with the words instead of putting down the feelings I want to capture and transmit. I'm lonely and depressed and I'm fed up with explaining why. Damn it, I want someon to talk with. Talk to me, Shirley. Never-mind that I walk around with my hea up my ass. Cuss me out for being an asshole, but talk to me. I'm going to beat the odds against me, too, alone if I have to, with help if I can get it.

My apologies for the lack of elegance I'm trying to break the habit

P.S.
Thanks for the inspiration. Jerry

The enclosed chunk of poem was my immediate response to your letter. Feel free to interpret that contextuality as you wish. My guess is that it's an example of a conditioned reflex, the old "if-you can't-dazzle-'em-with-brilliance,-baffle-'em-with-bullshit!" trick. On the other hand, the poem itself seems to have the ring of authenticity, at least as it relates to my stance in the scheme of the here and now. It's often difficult to maintain the illusion of choice....and even more difficult to choose, knowing that it's an illusion.

The reality of which you speak....the bars, the walls, the towers and the barbed wire....can easily be breeched. The mere passage of time will accomplish that, and for those who cannot wait, there are other means.

The actuality of confinement, however, is an altogther different beast of burden. If you wish to ride, you must pay. The price may be large or small, depending on your point of view, but it must always be paid in the currency of agreeing to the terms of the operant social contract, i.e., you are entitled to this much and no more....take it or leave it. On the face of it, this might not sound like a bad deal, and for many, it's the best they'll ever get, no matter that a government mule is, by definition, genetically absurd, going nowhere and never coming back.

If you choose not to ride, you must always remember that the road to oblivion is paved chin-deep in mule shit and that some very fancy footwork won't always keep you smelling good.

Obviously, the best position is to be leading the lead mule, preferably with a long rope. To get there from here....

Writing is more difficult than talking. I've started this a half-dozen times, intending to put down something semi-lucid and reasonably straight-forward, but it just won't fall together. I keep finding myself stranded in mid-paragraph... you'll just have to settle for random access. Or, perhaps, random excess might be the more accurate terminology.

I was really glad to get your letter, and even more pleased to talk with you on the phone. I'm not in the mood to detail the effects, but I do want you to know that hearing from you was the nicest thing that has happened to me within recent memory. Your sense of timing is superb. Thanks.

You scored a direct hit with your inquiry about whether or not I've been writing. It's one of those questions that raises a lot of seemingly unrelated issues, mostly having to do with my aversion towards anything which requires intense self-discipline.

But even setting that issue aside, there are some other considerations. Many things have changed in the way this prison is operated, and the changes involve fundamental modifications of penological theory and practice.

The how and why of this is a sordid tale, much too long and too complex to hassle with tonight. Suffice to say that the resulting situation is wretched and not likely to improve.

Perhaps the most drastic change, and certainly the one with the most potential for disaster, has to do with the disintegration of authority. There exists a constant nagging suspicion that no one is running the ship!

Not that there is any shortage of people who flaunt the titles and trappings of officialdom. Of those, there are plenty! We have captains in charge of this and majors in charge of that; assistant superintendents; superintendents; inspector generals; administrative assistants; directors ...ad infinitum, ad nauseum. The executive welfare class, more the prisoners of the system than I could ever be; foot-soldiers in the war on the working-class taxpayers.

My perception of all of this is tempered by the fact that I have no legitimate claim to any form of complaint. I've had a sufficient number of collisions with the judicial system to effectively disenfranchise myself.

And, being disenfranchised, it's simply none of my business to question how the State chooses to conduct its affairs. My only obligation is to survive, preferably with dignity and some measure of grace. Circumstances dictate that a limited amount of interaction is required, primarily within the parameters of basic needs. But beyond that, I can no longer go. It would be, by definition, collaborating with the enemy, an act of willful participation in punishing myself to please my keepers. Fuck that! Let them figure it out for themselves, what they're doing wrong.

Which leads, in an oblique way, to the position I've taken re the current trend toward cutbacks in federal spending and the elimination of some social welfare programs. I say good. You say the rich get richer while the poor get poorer. I say that will happen regardless and that more damage will result from trying to hide their poverty from them via subsidized handouts than will result from rubbing their faces in their inability to produce wealth. Institutionalized kindness begets misery of the worst kind, the insidious rotting of the human spirit.

Dear ,

I started this last Sunday morning, thinking that if I got right to it, first thing, I'd get it done before the day got all cluttered up, likewise my head. It didn't work out the way I planned, but I guess that's to be expected.

I really enjoyed your letter. It was vintage McDermott, a scatalogical ride on your high-voltage roller coaster, but I am ever so glad that I don't have to cope with so much raw energy, day in/day out. There ain't no telling how crazy I'd be — that you're not is a real complement to those diligent ladies-of-habit who use to beat your fingers when your attention strayed.

Yes, I heard — via Levy — about and getting married. It should work out all right if stays off the booze and other ingestibles. has seen him at his absolute worst so she can't claim ignorance. She shares many of the character traits and values that Mama Ann exhibits — like Mama, like wife, eh?

It's too bad, really. If ~~was~~ wasn't so fundamentally sane, we might hope that when she grows tired of never-ending bullshit, she'll buy herself a big pistol and blow his remaining testicle to hell and hereafter. It's an unlikely scenario, I would be obligated to cheer loud and long if it did happen to happen. Olé y bravo!

You're probably not aware of the major role played in bringing about my downfall. In moments of paranoic whimsy, I can almost make a case that he engineered a series of carefully calculated events which were designed to either prove or disprove his theories re my particular form of madness. Knowing me so well — better, perhaps, than anyone else — it was easy for him to manipulate situations which would not ordinarily bother me, twisting them into crisis-level confrontations I was ill-prepared to face. Adding insult to injury, he was right there, staunchly behind every bad decision I made.

In all fairness, I don't think was shooting specifically at me. He just likes to walk hand-in-hand with somebody right up to the edge of the cliff, knowing full well that if someone should slip and fall, he can hang there on his safety line and watch them smash onto the rocks below. Cheap thrills . . .

None of this is intended as gospel. It's just a theory that tends to fit the facts, and even though it makes me out to be a world-class chump, what the hell, I'm human. Sometimes it's a comfort to be able to lay the blame for your troubles on someone else. Shoot straight and true, Kristina!

And that reminds me to ask if you have tried the little French cafe in Berthoud — the town, not the pass? It is own by an immigrant couple, and on the half-dozen occasions I've eaten there, the food was consistently good, the prices tolerable, and the ambiance pleasant. You, of course, would get a bonus because you could parlez your ass off with the lady who runs the place.

Spare me, if you will, from the further adventures of you and your middle-class friend braving the wilds of Zagreb. When I started to read 'Amerikanski', I was anticipating something as energetic and volatile as your letter. My mistake . . .

Admittedly, I'm not very well informed about what will or won't sell in today's market. I rarely read magazines, and I seldom bother to look at the short fiction in those I do happen to see, although there are a few authors who never fail to get my attention. Harlan Ellison comes immediately to mind. Also, Larry Niven. The bottom line, I guess, is that I just don't like short fiction. If the story is good, it never last long enough; if it's not good . . . .

The problem with 'Amerikanski' — at least in my opinion — was that you picked the wrong point of attack. Jerzy Kosinski gets away with writing vignettes that are similar to 'Amerikanski' because he is able to completely isolate his characters from the emotional impact of a given situation. This confirms the integrity of the scene, distinctly separating the bias of the observer from the bias of the observed.

Your dominant characteristic — and your strength — as a writer is your ability to supercharge the atmosphere with great gobs of energy and emotion. I don't agree with your high-priced tutor, not when it relates to the fiction you write. Rather than curbing your personality, I think you should exploit who and what you are and integrate your feelings into your stories.

For example, I think 'Amerikanski' would have worked much better if you had told it in narrative form. If you had used a cocktail party or some similar gathering as the setting, your main character — you — could have told the tale to a third party who could have then served as an antagonist. Polarizing the issues of conflict might have served as a device which would let your talent run free instead of being hobbled by convention. As it stands, you had to make use of some shopworn gimmicks to get the thing to hold together, and the resulting story is predictably overwritten and — ultimately — underdone.

Also, I think you should omit the scene where the two Yugoslavs try to pick you and your friend up. Or just mention it in passing. Within the framework of 2500-odd words, you wasted too much valuable space saying nothing. The other scenes, particularly the fat lady and her bone, were really strong. The characterization was explicit and sufficiently bizarre to trigger rich, robust visual impressions. By contrast, your two main characters were sadly one-dimensional, which might be accurate within strictly limited parameters but in the aggregate, it does them a disservice. Shallow stereotypes may be sufficient for stories that are all plot with lots of action, but for something like 'Amerikanski', the reader cries out for more meat!

Enough of this. I've got some legitimate work to do, so until the next time, keep those cards and letters coming in because I do like to hear from you. You're about the only person I know who can consistently make me think, and I need the exercise. Take care . . . .

Jerry

hose grace was equal to my vision of what it should e.

And perhaps a poem is coming someday for you that I an feel proud of or perhaps a song that i'll learn to create ne day. Or we might not even know each other by the time I've mastered an art well enough to dedicate portion of it to you,
as I'd like to. now.

You sleep and I can't recognize the symbols I feel toward you...
You know, I remember myself as a hild and what the little boy thought of adults...
I remember nce, while in the car w/ my parents, I had been listening to the radio and w/ a disgust. I still understand though don't abide any longer, I asked why all songs were about love. ..

75-03545

and the concept of a human knowing you - sleeping & breathing w/ you so alien, so un-thought-of;

strange to see it - to believe that people held another dear enough to them that they become nearly the self's incarnation.

And, when I think of those years, even the time when I wished to get married -- a child's play at being adult - it seems incredibly odd that here I am one of those I used to watch w/ curiosity - one who is being watched by who I used to be.

Loving you is such ~~and so~~ a startlingly whole thing. Something big, hard to manage conceptually, clumsy in it's stature & my newness to it.

I've no backlog of experience to apply to it; and loving you often becomes uncomfortable. Not a pain, or ~~and~~ an irritation, but a ~~con~~ contraction of the intellect at the cognizance that I'm so much into you, so much loving you, without scouts or 5TH words to inform me of the future or what the ~~no~~ state of the emotional hierarchy is up to in you and me.

And I imagine making love to you is so important to me now because I haven't been able to produce the art I feel for you - the poem that would represent to you what you've been and are now ~~to~~ in me.

~~tiny~~ "tiny dancers" at my feet, the warm light through the window of a snow-fall in early morning aloneness.

There's rain in my head when you're around and the restless play havoc w/ the time in our breath.

I guess if I were to die this morning, I'd believe loving you, knowing you, was the most graceful & ~~[illegible]~~/important ascent of my mind.

Amid all the hurt & frustrations, I can't lose the softness & the essence of potential & existing completedness I feel when alone... ~~so~~ many things contributed to it - you gave ~~so~~ so much of that.

And if happiness ~~was~~ was a real value to me, I'd be happy.

75-03545

Most important to me is meaning. And, internally, that aspect of you which I've permitted inside of me, to blend w/ ~~my~~ my ~~f~~ life-space, is crucially meaningful to the ~~I~~ exultation I feel when seeing from inside at the mosaic ~~or~~ I'm in.

And perhaps, because of your own value system, you'll find what I say ~~too~~ hard to understand, difficult, as a tool to please you.

You'll wake, and very little will be different, very little of this letter obvious to either of us.

And what you find of yourself that's most important to you, is no doubt the least important to me - ~~what you are that's~~ ~~meaningful to my [illegible] whole & complete~~

Everything you're trying to be for yourself is separate & meaningless to what you are to me now.

What you're doing now is not ultimate for you in me, though it's ultimate perhaps for you.

I don't ask you to understand what I say, only that you're a meaning to me and a part of that meaning is love.

hi....

your last letter was fun, insanity must run in the family. i was really glad to hear that is back in school. it sounds/feels like things are falling into place for you two, more so than before, and that makes me happy....but i fear for the sanity of the irish setters.

your collected comments on my muddy ruminations startled me. i wasn't prepared for such intensity. it's not that big a thing, interesting as a philosophical issue, but operationally moot. we learn what we do. experience begets knowledge begets confidence begets further experience, the cycle is a qualitative/quantitative ascending spiral, words merely clutter or enhance.... what did you say? that i try to hard for the ideal? not so. jesus christ and muhammed ali put together couldn't live up to the ideal in my head, not even with the help of billy graham and howard cosell....i'll just be me and let it go at that.

i have been busy. the most immediate thing is the research project tommy tee-shirt and i have begun. i'm enclosing a copy of the rough outline we have put together. you remember the conversation we had when i mentioned that i'd like to put together a research/treatment center for sex offenders? this is a step in that direction. apart from the intrinsic value of doing the study, i want to use (hopefully) the results as part of the foundation for a book on rape's, rape victims, rape prevention and treatment possibilities for offenders. if i (i say 'i', meaning an inclusive 'we') can put together a decent and viable book, i might possibly garner some of the credentials needed.

nevermind the daydreams. my current goal is to get this project moving. the working hypothesis isn't inclusive or exclusive. the projected mass of data should provide plenty of opportunities for further research. tee-shirt and i have tried to narrow down our focal point. i'm most interested (of course) in finding something which might contribute to better treatment programs.

but i'm also interested in prevention. that is why the sample of females who have been raped was included. want to take a guess at where you fit in? we can handle the male samples, do the testing, interviewing and collating the statistics. do you think you can conjure up a company of people to do the females? for free?

obviously, we must talk. i have some ideas, you probably have better ones. in the meantime, before we talk, i want you to rap to dixie schriber and your psychiatrist friend and anyone else you think might have something to say or contribute.

tee-shirt and i plan to begin our end of things in the morning. we're going to start pulling jackets, etc. whether or not you can help, we're going to do the male portion independently. if necessary, the females can be done at a later date.

a note of interest. john griffin and george have blessed the project. another note of interest. tee-shirt will be getting out within the next five or six months, probably before me, and he is planning to live in denver and go to school. he is really getting it together. yet another note. earl phillips made work release. i'm really glad because i think it will be much to his benefit. he may beat me out, too.

i need a book, 'the psychology of rape' by amir. i mean, i need it. if it takes going without lunches this week, that's how i need it. see what you can do.

i have other things to say, but it's late and i have to write a note to carol. her mom died this past week, and i know she must be having a hard way to go because they were very close.

Love Jerry

hi....

28 march /

i started this a couple of days ago, but gave up in disgust. the effort wasn't worth the effort, mostly because writing you tends to trigger the hostile and perverse thoughts/feelings i normally keep tucked away safely out of sight. it really annoys me when i want to write/talk sensibly only to find myself filling the white space with digressive gibberish.

not that there's much to say of my world that's sensible. i took the letter from reynolds and confronted heggie. nothing. he smiled benevolently, told me he has been keeping informed and pointedly ignored the opportunity to act. i can only speculate, but the implication seems to be that i'm shit out of luck, at least as far as getting on an early board. it's no big thing, i guess. the distance to the july board grows narrower every day. i think i can stand it.

how is it in your world? and i have conversed briefly on a couple of occasions, but our talk was mostly gossip. george is baffled and slightly annoyed that you failed to accept his invitation last sunday. 'i was there waiting, but she didn't show,' he told me, implying that i should offer some sort of explanation. i didn't even try.

i've been thinking quite a lot about the proposal you outlined in your last letter re the NOW task force on rape. i would suggest a 3-pronged format:

1) prevention: establish a rape information center, the purpose of which would be to:

  a) coordinate a group of knowledgeable speakers
  b) collect and codify any data pertinent to the rape problem
  c) disseminate information helpful to the prevention of rape
  d) sponsor and/or support research into the problem of sex offenses
  e) assist the national office in its effort to put together a model code for the handling of sex offenders
  f) bring pressure to bear on the state legislature toward revamping the laws currently in use

2) protection: establish a liaison committee to work with/against local law enforcement agencies, the purpose of which would be to:

a) formulate and implement a program through which an all-female rape detail can be added to the metro-area police departments.

b) recommend qualified women for positions in law enforcement agencies

c) recommend qualified women for positions in the District Attorneys' offices

d) build a political coalition strong enough to apply pressure sufficient to get programs and recommendations implemented

3) aftercare: establish and staff an aftercare center for rape victims.

all this is going to cost money. i assume you have access to someone in NOW who knows the ins and outs of preparing grant applications. i would suggest that one of the first things to be done is to find out who else in town is working the block you're on. i ran across something in the last issue of the front range peoples' press (boulder underground/looks like a pretty good paper). there was an article about WIT (women in transition). one of the goals of the group, apart from maintaining a house for women in the process of getting unmarried, is to establish a rape aftercare center. the people to contact (if you don't know them) are Mona hitz and iris green, 1825 lafayette, denver - 255-2435. i'm sure there are other similar projects.

you might also call carol. we were talking about this project when she was here a couple of weeks ago. she was interested, she would probably be willing to help. she did some really good posters for the lawyers' guild and the vvaw, no doubt she could design for your project.

on the topic of rape...did you hear what billy graham and his good christian ass had to say about what should be done to rapists? nice fellow. it struck me as significant that he made his statements while enjoying a really great tour through south africa, that bastion of high moral character and brotherly love where all men are god's children.... the hypocritical son of a bitch! him and our friend the senator in denver!

i'm going to put this in the mail. thanks for the job letter, even though it didn't do much good. tell everyone hello. hope to see you soon. keep me up-to-date and take care.

Love
Jerry

i've moved again. this time, however, it wasn't just me. the entire dairy crew, including the dog and the cat, was transported en masse back to m.s. a variety of reasons was given, none of which seemed particularly creditable, but....it's no big thing. i've discovered of late that more and more of what occurs within this place seems trivial, a perceptual alteration/observation which makes sense. what doesn't make sense is why i've suddenly become sensitive to something i've known for years.

though it pains me to admit it, attending wednesday afternoon group has had a significant effect on my head, not so much because of what happens during the sessions but because of my penchant for wanting to stay on top of what's occurring. i have to keep my shit in order so i can do my thing. the result has been that i have had to come to terms with some fairly touchy items in my repertoire of quirks, notably an excess of vanity and arrogance when assessing my status/influence/capabilities relative to a given situation. to state it differently, i'm learning to live with the notion that in many circumstances i'm the low man on the totem pole. there are only a few areas where i might be considered reasonably expert, and most of those are relevant only to my current place of residence. consequential thought along these lines has made it necessary for me to take a closer look at what i intend to do when i get out of here.

several things become immediately apparent, the first being that i am going to have to establish a stabile environment for myself, one that is independent of 371 south emerson, 2332 clarkson, etc. the parole board will demand it, and i think it not only necessary but imperative. secondly, i think i must exclude myself from anything more than nominal involvement in activities not directly related to my self-preservation, i.e., the procurement of food, shelter, clothing, transportation and similar goods. finally, i think i'd better find a woman i can trip with, someone less frenetic than you and someone less radical than carol. what it adds up to is the construction of a reasonably conventional life-style based upon the limited credentials at my disposal.

what a farce. i've spent years trying to get my head together, trying to be a person who can think and function in a more-or-less autonomous manner, someone who can choose his own way rather than accept the inevitable mediocrity of the masses. yet, here i am, a victim of my own choice. i can think, but i can't act; i am aware, but i can do very little to alter what i see. the only rational comment which seems appropriate is that self-inflicted wounds always cause the most discomfort.

but i'm just sniveling. i don't really feel dismal. quite the contrary, in fact. i have this prevailing sensation of being confident of my own competence, mostly because i've established a functional definition of its limits. complementing this is the private understanding i have with myself to work toward expanding those limits.

i guess i'm just writing this down to get it out of my system, call it my recurring attempt at cleaning my rafters. i suspect you understand, probably better than i, what i'm saying and why i'm saying it. and that's enough for tonight, on this topic....thanks for listening.

i haven't heard anything about getting back in front of the board. i understand that gordon heggie (chairman of the board) is supposed to be here this week and that one purpose of his trip down is to review cases such as mine. did i tell you i wrote a most humble missive begging reconsideration? you wouldn't believe your eyes if you saw it, most un-jerry-like. i couldn't bear to keep a copy. it wasn't that i tried to con them or lie....it was just the way i wrote it, do you know what i mean? anyway, it looks like the best i can hope for is to get back on the march board. the time required to put together a parole program and get it approved precludes the possibility of february. but what the hell, march beats the piss out of july. i don't think i'd bitch if they only moved the date up to june!

was down a couple of weeks ago. it was really good to see her. we have sort of been untracked by intervening circumstances during the past six or eight months, so i was especially glad to be able to get back on the same wave-length with her during our talk-talk. i suspect that she and i will be getting together more often during the coming months. brian is going to chicago to work in the national vvaw office for a year; is staying in denver until this fall when she plans to go to art school (finally). since and i are a lot alike and because is i imagine she will come to me when she misses him, at least for awhile. if she does, i hope i'll be able to do for her just a fraction of what she has done for me. if she doesn't, well, that's cool, too.

i wasn't too disappointed at not being able to see you when you and were down. you'll notice i've avoided making any comment on your situation. if you had come, sure as shit we would've gotten into your head, and i'd rather not. i'm fairly well informed of what's happening between you two, george and i have discussed it several times, and to be blunt, i don't particularly like what i see. but it's for the two of you to work out as best you can as far as i'm concerned. because i love you both, it hurts me to see you hurting each other; yet, because i love you, because you are my family, i don't think my getting involved would help. please understand and please do me the favor of backing off and looking at what you're doing to each other and to yourselves; then, take a look at the reasons. is it really worth all the hassle?

i've got to get some sleep. hello rod and whoever else....take care.

Love Jerry

Dear ,

It's evening, I'm laying up listening to Moody Blues & tripping on the fireplace. I'm using the writing stick instead of the typewriter because my finger is not yet healed. I gashed one digit rather severely the other day while carving on a piece of teak... I'm currently doing a thing for , a wax stamp. I've really gotten into carving, a development which surprises me to a degree; I'm not usually oriented toward things which must be done with my hands.

As for the fireplace, it's a part of my new environment. I'm no longer at M.S. I'm at the dairy, now, in my most recent capacity as a teat-puller par excellence. I find it's not a bad gig, especially since I'm on the early morning shift. We get up at 1:00 a.m. & work until 8 or 9. By the time I snap that I'm at work, work is almost over. I find it's a job that makes the time fly by.

I'm living in a dorm composed of people who are predominantly into the 'head' trip... by that I mean there arent any duds in the crew. A couple of the people are pretty weird, but weird translates as good in this instance. Selective acquisition has paid off in spades.

I don't really know what is happening as far as getting out of here is concerned. I wrote a letter to Heggie /parole board member/ the other day. I'm sure you would fail to recognize it as work of mine. It was really humble, excessively restrained, and I have to admit that it cost me to write it. By the same token, however, I'm glad I did because it may get me out of here. I hope so!

I've decided not to make any comment about the situation you and are experiencing. I'm sure that anything I would say would be devisive rather than helpful. It's a thing the two of you must work out...and, in truth, the farther away I stay at this juncture, the better.

Where I'm concerned, however, some things have become more apparent, mainly that I am going to have to maintain a reasonable distance if any of us is to survive. More + more I feel as though I'm on my own, to make it as best I can without excessive imposition on my friends. This doesn't bother me particularly, I hope you won't be disturbed by it either. It's just that the situation is different now than it was 6 months ago. Now, it's more important that I make it on my own when I get out than it is that I depend on you (collectively) for help. Comfort I may need, help, I don't think so! I'll explain more fully when I see you, but for now, this will let you know what's happening, Tu savvy?

I've got to mail this so I can get some sleep, but I'll write more when my head + hands are in better shape. Until then, all my love + take care.

Jerry

just time for a minor rap. i talked briefly with george this afternoon after the group split and put a bug in his ear about getting me out of this place. he wrote a note to himself, a reminder that the time has come to initiate action, significant because until today he talked only in terms of what i would have to do before he would attempt anything in my behalf. he was quick to remind me that his efforts may result in no action, but....a little hope beats no hope at all.

he also made a point of explaining his position on the irving/rod situation. in thinking about it, i tend to agree that the sooner irv moves on the better it will be for everyone concerned. irving is a nice guy, but carrying him around gets tiresome unless carrying irving is the major passion of your life. i don't think any of you are that impressed with him, talented misunderstood artist or not. the trick is to keep a sufficient distance between him and anything you value, the only safe way of handling a sorry motherfucker.

got a postcard from ron ward to the effect that he will be in denver until his parole ends (april, i think) and that he has been trucking about with heavy. if they should happen by the house, keep watch for stray pieces of dope, etc. ron wouldn't do anything deliberately to put rod or craig in a bind, but he is a well-known character with a reputation as a dealer. and you might clue him to heavy, more the interest of ron than in trying to pin down the fat guy.

i didn't enjoy your last visit too much. i know it was a big hassel for you to come and i appreciate that part of it. but not having time to really rap put me on a gigantic bummer. talk about frustrated, i was ready to punch walls when i came back to the cellhouse the other night. the whole thing made me super-hostile. goddam these people and their chickenshit penitentiary. and goddam me for ever running afoul of them! if i ever get out of this place, more than anything else it will be not being able to communicate with my people when, where and how i want to that will always serve as a reminder to stay out.

i want to mail this tonight. tell everyone that this is my christmas wish for them: keep the faith, keep truckin' and--most important--take care. later.

With Love,
Jerry

got your letter today, enjoyed the hell out of it, more so than usual. it's getting better. scary, in a sense, but better....the connection being that having resolved some of my hassels, i'm in a better position to appreciate yours. i think....

you spoke of emerging patterns, here's one you might find amusing: george has become a pimp. and i the prostitute. since i began attending the group thing on wednesdays, there has been a gradual shift in the dynamics. more and more it has been left to me to force the action, to cut through the crap and the intellectualizing. he sits back, pretending to be asleep but paying close attention. this doesn't bother me, particularly, but it does make it difficult to focus attention on myself. george explained that there are others in the group who are in much worse shape than i (a point i readily picked up); therefore, my primary function in the group is to work to help them....all of which confirms my previous rantings about form vs. content, at least where my participation in the group could possibly influence the parole board. all they care is that i attend, so....

the group is interesting, though. and entertaining. and it does prod me into further ruminations which, in turn, seem to be prompting some changes for the better....or worse, depending on the point of view. my return to m.s. seems to have precipitated other conjunctive changes, also. several people, friends whose opinions i value, have commented that i seem much more mellow, nowhere near as hyped-up and better for it. in addition, i've noticed that the cops haven't been hasseling me about nitshit crap like they used to. i don't quite know what to think of it, and to be truthful it makes me a little leery because i can't put my finger on what is different. no matter, i guess, but i do hope some of what these people see is visible when next i meet the board!

on to other things. i've really been getting into music since i came back, and it fits. all summer long i starved for some external thing into which i could vent my excess of mental energy. what happened was that all my energy kept cycling inside my head building up pressure until sometimes i didn't know which end was up or where i was at. in some ways, i think it was good. i know my frustration tolerance increased tremendously. but it was bad, too, because the constant internal strain eroded my self-confidence, self-esteem, et al.

anyway, getting back into music made a lot of other things fall into place, simply because of the release. not to mention the aesthetic satisfaction of getting something good together. the group i'm with is only three pieces, guitar, bass and drums, but somehow it works. considering the sad shape of the equipment at our disposal, we get it on pretty fair. plus, we've got 4 gigs lined up within the next couple of weeks, and nothing makes practice easier than knowing someone will hear you play.

i hope you'll be able to make it for the 16th. i asked a couple of people about your getting together with someone for the trip down, but nothing so far. but you could bring dave. and ken, too. we might could put dave on the spot and let him sit-in with the band for a number or two. another thing, i don't want to press you, but it would probably help if you could come sometime in the afternoon for a visit because i just don't think we'll have a lot of time to talk-talk that evening. maybe you could put the bum on george to buy your supper. think about it.

carol was down sunday morning. it was really good seeing her, even though she could only stay for an hour and a half. she has decided that maybe she isn't into going to school, not because of school itself, but because of the lack of communication she found between her own political idealism and talk and that of the students she talked to at the schools she visited. her politics are important to her, more so than art, and i can accept that. i don't necessarily agree that she's right, but....

i ask her to discuss with bill hazelton, joanie and brian (the people she lives with at 2332 clarkson) the possibility of putting me up for two or three weeks when i first get out. hazelton is a lawyer and none of the folks there have bad relations with the police so i think the board would accept that as a temporary residence for me, should i need it. it's all very vague, anyway. so far, no one has committed themselves to saying anything about when i might be going back to the board, even though george mentioned the possibility of february. like i said before, i'll believe it when i see it, but i might as well be prepared if something does happen.

i've got to give it up because the lights went out some time ago. tell everyone hi.

Love You Much, Jerry

FAST FAST FAST RELIEF

by arthur everett small

Instant law is only a dream. Yet, this vision of speedy and fair justice, with push-button answers to legal problems, is humanly possible to achieve. It will require great expenditures of finances, educational resources, and dedication, but the goal of a total "Justice Information System" is as surely within our capabilities as a successful landing on Mars.

Throughout the United States, our judicial administrators are investigating the use of computers to simplify and expedite court proceedings, and eventually to provide swift and comprehensive access to statutory and decisional law. In some few cities and states, the innovation of computers in the field of justice is actually underway, highly limited in scope, but obvious in potential. Because of the expense of installation or leased use of privately owned computers, coupled with the general unfamiliarity of legislators, judges, lawyers, and adminstrative personnel with the mechanics of computers, their use is already several 10-year generations behind technical development of the apparatus. This gap between know-how and application will increase before we accomplish the changes and adjustments necessary to reach the computer age in justice.

To quote from "What Computers Cannot Do," by Mr. and Mrs. Ira G. Wilson (Auerbach Publishers, Princeton), "A computer has no judgment." "The computer program must contain minutely detailed instructions in order for the sequence of operations to be performed. It must include all possible outcomes of the called-for operations and computations."

Also the Wilson's point out that, "No computer can have imagination." However, "Limitations on what a computer can do are not due to the mach ines. They are due to the man wh programs them, and furnishes then with information.""A computer i is like a perpetual motion machin Neither can put out more than is pu in."

"It is hard to be optimistic abou programming costs. Programmers ar in short supply. A minimum need is a advanced degree in mathematics an computer training." For appropriat programming of court decisions int subject matter, with the law's countles shades of distinction, it would appea also that legal training would be essential.

According to Special Report 31 issued in May 1971 by The America Judicature Society, 23 states have ye to start any use of electronic dat processing equipment in their cou systems. These are Arkansas, Delawar Idaho, Kentucky, Maine, Mississipp Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Carolin South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, Vi ginia, and Wyoming. I had a talk with the warden the other day. As usual, we discussed my status as editor of this publication. Also as usual, we wound up arguing basic philosophy; should a publication such as the Interpreter have a negative or positive approach in its efforts to instigate change.

He took the position that although criticism of existing penal practices is a necessary and legitimate function, it should be directed toward the system and not toward individuals who work within the system. He indicated he felt more could be accomplished by adopting a positive viewpoint, particularly in the area of what has been done to improve prisons and penal practices during the past few years. And he pointed out the necessity of outlining specific plans of action which could be implemented to further improve prisons and penal practices.

My counter-argument went something like this: "But we have been outlining specific plans of action! For the past 20 years guys like me, editors of penal publications, have been telling people what needs to be done, what improvements need to be made, what programs need to be implemented.

"The problem is, we can't get anyone to listen!"

....and so on. But the man did have a point. IF someone is listening, concrete suggestions are more potent than bitter complaints.

Therefore, with all due respect to the brothers who died trying to get someone's attention in Attica, the following suggestions are offered:

ON SENTENCING

A more equitable method of sentencing criminal offenders is needed. The current practice which permits judges to set 'fixed terms' does not provide the flexibility which is vital to treatment oriented penology; yet, indeterminate sentencing (the most common alternative) does not provide protection for the offender. We suggest a method which is a distillation of both 'fixed terms' and 'indeterminate' sentencing. Called Modified Indeterminate Sentencing, it would work as follows:

> The sentencing authority would retain the practice of setting a fixed term within the limits provided by statute. There would be, however, no 'minimum' set by Court. Instead, parole could be granted at any time at the discretion of the administrative/paroling authority of the institution to which the offender was sent. The practice of awarding good-time would be retained. In cases where the statutory minimum exceeds one (1) year (such as Class Two and Three felonies as outlined in Colorado's new criminal code), offenders would be required to serve the statutory minimum term but would become eligible for parole immediately upon completion of the minimum. Persons sentenced to life imprisonment would become eligible for parole upon the completion of five (5) calendar years. In no case could any prisoner be detained for period exceeding ten (10) calendar years except in cases where judicial approval has been given, such approval to be subject to judicial review on an annual basis.

ON INSTITUTIONS

The most common complaint among penal administrators is the lack of sufficient funding to implement needed rehabilitative programs. Legislatures are notorious for their reluctance to spend the tax-payers money on penal improvements, and, until just recently, administrators had virtually no other resources on which to draw. Today, however, federal and private money is widely available to underwrite the costs of research, plant improvements and experimental programs of all types. Some agencies, notably the Justice Department's Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA), have taken the initiative in channeling funds into sagging prison systems. But most have not, and corrections people have not been rushing to pick up the slack. We suggest that this is an area of vital importance, and that immediate steps should be taken to get things moving. Our proposal plan of action is this:

> that a full time grants specialist be hired by the State Department of Corrections to seek out and obtain grants, loans and other financial assistance for state penal institutions. To assist this specialist, a staff of at least three full-time researchers (one of whom should be skilled in computer programming and statistical analysis) should be provided.

Space limitations prevent me from going into detail on either of the above suggestions; however, both must be considered indicative of the 'positive ideas convicts have to offer their Keepers. There are many more, equally rational and realistic 'plans of action' floating around. All that's needed is for someone to listen.

And, if anyone has been listening and would like more information, all you have to do is drop us a line. We'll be more than happy to tell you what we're thinking.

Reading between the lines is a dangerous occupation. Take care. The overtones and undertones contain blatant truths, but are we (a categorical 'we') prepared to deal with truth? The question always arises - am I perceiving your truth or mine?

So much for early morning philosophy. This is being written at the outrageous hour of 9:00 a.m., and I do not claim full responsibility for the content. My capacity for functional coherence rarely manifests itself before noon. (And it has been several days since I indulged in tossing words around like I am presently doing. Latent insanity has arrived in the form of lexographic excess.)

(Later) Now that my head is in somewhat better condition (lunch helps & it is now 1:40 p.m.), sorry for the delay in answering your letter. I've been busy with my juggling act. An Interpreter is going to press; the battle with the Parole Board continues; grant applications for various & sundry projects are being prepared; etc. Also, I had to track down your surname because you didn't sign your letter with it and I couldn't remember it from our flurried introduction.

In any case, we are going to have to sit down and hash out the details for an article on C.W.C.I. Hopefully, this will transpire Saturday if you attend the B.A.R.S. party with and If this doesn't happen, we'll have to arrange for you to come down and visit the offices of the Interpreter. This won't be difficult. Let me know when. Also, we'll be able to arrange for you to visit C.W.C.I. so you can do your thing.

Peace and all that - will look for you Saturday or for your reply. Later.

Conversations are rarely finished -- they begin/end -- and the in-between only provides a context for another time/another place. Days pass, very quickly it seems. Already, the girl of your poem has chosen friends and made a place for herself. I saw her again the other evening. This time it was I who performed while she watched....

It is very strange when the women are permitted to attend functions within the walls. Last Monday, the Imperial Players from Cripple Creek performed here (the melodrama "Under Two Flags" plus an Olio), and 59 of the 70 at CWCI were in for the show. And on Friday, we did the Summer Music Festival show for them. On both occasions, the atmosphere fairly crackled with the silence of colliding vibrations. There is an undercurrent of 'esprit de corps' which passes back and forth, almost as if the acquisition of a number has provided them with a commonality which supercedes the roles they play as men and women. Or, perhaps, it intensifies their common need to be men and women. In either case, the phenomena adds a glaring accent mark to the self-image problems encountered by most prisoners and points out an area where reparations of some sort are definitely needed.

Which is one reason the questionnaires I gave you asked for so much personal information. When we formulated the questionnaires, we were very much interested in seeing if a gap existed between the way Carol Convict saw herself and the way others saw her. Unfortunately, although we discovered a gap does exist, we were unable to run a control sample with non-felons for comparison purposes. So the question remains: does how one sees oneself contribute to one's criminality or lack of criminality? Personally, I think it's a major factor and other, far-more-learned experts than I tend to agree. The opinion, however, remains unproved. Consequently, methods of reparation languish untended. C'est la vie.

I have ambiguous feelings about the day you spent with us. In some ways, I think a more formal sort of experience might have been more valuable to Shirley, the journalist. Factual information is sort of handy when it comes time to do the story. On the other hand, I happen to prefer subjective/impressionistic journalism on the grounds that it is more honest. Bias and distortion are inevitable so why not be up front and capitalize on the validity of the reporter's perceptions?

You were quite successful at getting into my head. I usually don't permit strangers to go poking about in my ruins (although by the time you got through my defenses you were no longer a stranger). And I generally don't find it possible to discuss rape with a female, at least, not rationally. Perhaps you should have been a psychologist. Or, perhaps, you are.

I assume you will be coming to see us again. Let me know when so I can make the appropriate arrangements. I would like to see you tape some conversations for use on your show. A suggestion: ask some of your listeners to pose questions for us to answer. Also, on your next trip down, I'll see to it you get a tour of the place, such as it is. As for rapping with the chicks, I don't know. I'll see what I can do -- a little politickin' might do some good -- we'll see.

Another suggestion: how about rapping to some of the women who have men in jail, the wives and girlfriends?

I'd like to see your article run about 4000 words....what do you think? I think, also, that I'll use graphics rather than photographs to illustrate it, but I'll be needing a photo of you to run with a kicker. As for facts and figures, when you get into the story and need specifics, let me know and I'll figure out something. For the time being, I'm not even worrying about it. I want to see what slant you take, first.

Bones says thanks for the bread; Danny Ray says if you'd care to up some non-Playboy-type flics, he'll be more than happy to oblige you with an oil of your bod; Willy Watts, the Black Canadian, is well and appreciates your concern; Bob Warren has a big head over the complements about his writing; etc.

All things considered, ours has been a most satisfying and functional experience. May things continue. One comment: TUM arrived, and I was disappointed that 1) you did not sign your own name, and 2) that you chose to use what I considered to be some unnecessary, four-letter expletives. Is it really necessary to be 'ballsy'? Why not just be what you are? More later.

Hi....

The situation here - as of this morning - remains unsettled. I still have received no confirmation that I will be seeing you Friday. I'm operating on the assumption that the trip is on; however, that is only an assumption, not a guarantee. Who can fathom the strange and mysterious workings of bureaucracy? Who would dare?

So this is a hedge. How goes it with the article? Are you going to be coming down again before the 31st? Did you ever get hold of] ? (I owe you an apology there. It completely slipped my mind that she had gone to Florida when I told you to get in touch with her. Sorry.)

If you do plan on making a trip, it would probably be wise to send a letter to Griffin or Matthews ahead of time. Since it's their ballpark, I suppose we had better let them have their rules and regulations. And send me a copy of your letter so I'll know what's happening.

Also, don't forget the 'flic & bio'. It's necessary that our readers get acquainted with you, and what you would say about yourself is probably quite different than what I would say. (Somehow, that doesn't sound quite the way I intended it, but....) In any case, get it on.

Hope to see you this week, or - if snags snag & get unsnagged - next week. Or down here. Or something. I don't know. Catch you later. Peace. Love. And the rest.

Late Wednesday

All things considered, I'd rather do some coke and spend the night balling....but, since that possibility seems remote, I'll write a letter instead. Things are relatively copacetic. On the earphones, Frank Zappa and the Mothers, B.B. King, and other assorted versions of sanity in the raw. It is quiet. I am still employed and at large. The magazine is progressing. Lacking is Craig's article and yours. The warden hasn't yet returned it to me; I assume he will within a day or two. We're calling it, "The Perpetual Pedestal" — you figure out the significance; it just sounded good so we used it. I told you I had gone through 1/2 of it before giving it back to Griffin so that 1/2 will be set and ready for the press tomorrow. Would appreciate your calling Craig and revving him up. The cover advertising the XYY article has already been printed. If this doesn't sound too coherent don't worry. This just isn't my night for being coherent.

A couple of interesting things have occurred. CBS-News arrived with a film crew yesterday and spent last night and today shooting a bunch of film and recording various inmate/guard/administration comments, opinions, and feelings concerning the riot in Attica. Naturally, I got my two-bits-worth in (although, as it turned out, I was much more moderate than others who spoke). The compilation of it all will be shown this Sunday evening on "Sixty Minutes" — check your local listings for time and station. In retrospect, I wish I had said some things I didn't mention, but on the whole (if the editor does even a half-assed job) the program should give a pretty good picture of 'our' feelings on the subject.

A sidebar.... Considering the difficulties you've encountered in your visits, it's ironic that this was the only prison CBS could get into (this particular week) of the 15-odd attempts they made at other joints around the nation before coming here. And they were welcomed here with open arms.

My feelings about what happened in New York are mixed and ambivalent. In some ways, I very much agree with the brother's action; yet, the feeling that all the bloodshed could have been so easily avoided haunts me. What bothers me even more is that Attica will not be the last just as it was not the first. It's so stupid, so futile. And having been through a riot several years ago, I get scared shitless at the thought of trying to survive another. Talk about hazardous occupations! In a war at least you've got a gun to shoot back with; in a riot, there you are with your bare ass hanging out and there ain't no such thing as being uninvolved. If it happens, baby, you is in it.

On the more positive side, we may be getting a 'free University' type program — that is, if we can get it together and push it through. The Denver public defender's and the lifer's (and me) are working on it. Also, I'm working on setting up that encounter session. Will be looking forward to hearing your thoughts on Attica. And other things. Pax.

Jerry

Hi....

Tuesday / p.m.

This is an addendum to my letter of yesterday which hasn't as yet been put in the mail because the accompanying manuscripts have to cleared through channels. Both should reach you Friday, assuming no complications arise.

Things are relatively skosh, here. The magazine is nearly ready for bed. Bob and I are working on the final paste-ups. I know was probably drug with the continual harrassment concerning his article. But with the cover already finished, I was getting a little uptight. And being able to guess the difficulties he was having still didn't do a thing to ease my mind.

This long-distance, time-lag communications network of ours is a pain in the ass. Evidence to the contrary notwithstanding, I really don't like to write letters. It's so hard to get the desired effect, not to mention the fact I share your impatience with seemingly stupid delays. Then there's this business of carrying on interpersonal friendships with 'free' people. It's a relatively odd experience for me because I've never been a very sociable character, even on the outside. It really blows my mind when I trip on the wild, far-out things which have happened to me in the last couple of years. Believe this, the penitentiary is one weird place to find out what it's like to be alive....

There is a gradual trend toward improvements in the political scene. has abandoned the practice of calling me (definitely a good sign because people were starting to look at me with speculative eyes).

About that slip of paper, I'm sure I enclosed it. The only thing I can figure out is that it must have slipped out when the mail room employees were checking it out prior to mailing. Anyway, it had to do with the fact that the way you address your correspondance to me doesn't quite meet the requirements. You're going to have to remember to put my number on the envelope. Correct instructions are above.

For what it's worth, my suggestion(s) concerning your domestic situation is: Let him go. Since I don't know him, I'm probably out-of-line, especially since all I know about the situation is what I hear, what I guess and what I assume. But, I think you're on different merry-go-rounds and the syncopation is out-of-time. You're far too energetic and creative to let him smother the fire within your mind/body/soul. I get the impression neither of you knew what you wanted when you married. And, in the time since then, Roger committed himself to the all-American routine while you kept on looking. I think you're still looking. So, let him go.

75-03545

Another thing, since I'm passing out free advice. Don't worry about your employability. The way I figure it, there's only one reason in this world to work and that's because you dig it. As pointed out, "freedom's just another word for nothin' left to lose." And that's a great line, any way you look at it. Money is only good for one thing, to spend. If you spend it buying what you need to survive, there's always plenty left over for other things. Therefore, the only question worth considering is: What do you need to survive?

It's about time to close up shop. Send the Xerox of the Ramparts article. See you Saturday. Love. Tell all I said to have a happy on me. Peace.

Jerry

monday/september 20th

if i mail this in the morning, a letter from you will probably arrive tomorrow afternoon. example: the book of Strindberg plays and your letter of last tuesday arrived wednesday; the letter with the pictures didn't come until thursday. don't ask me why.

i still haven't gotten the original of your article back from griffin (or whoever he gave it to). if something doesn't happen soon, i may just print what i have and put in an editor's note to explain the missing portions. also, craig's article has not yet reached me. it is probably on its way, but just in case it isn't, tell him to quit partying so much and get on his job! also, tell him to write george levy and make some sort of acknowledgement for what george did. i saw the letter from craig's attorney thanking george and it was exceedingly clear that without george's help, craig would now be picking cotton, weeding okra or whatever-the-hell-else they do in texas. get on his ass and make craig (and i know that sounds bad) do something.

the little yellow slip i'm enclosing was attatched to your last letter. since you are on my personal correspondence list (by misadventure or whatever), it would probably help grease the wheels if you will go along with the program. (and nevermind the verb tense change.)

did you see 'Sixty Minutes'? i was hung-up watching the chargers beat the chiefs, consequently i missed it altogether. i understand CBS is sending us a print of the film, but i'm curious to find out what impression it had on people not directly involved.

did you attend the saturday night bash at the tessler's? quite frankly, i'm looking forward to enjoying a similar session myself one of these days. last saturday night would have been perfect, too. it was cold and snowing and i freaked out throwing snowballs and standing around just digging it. everybody else was grumbling; i haven't felt so good since last year's first snowstorm.

came down friday afternoon; we spent the majority of our time telling each other how great it would be to go camping in the snow and having a snowball fight before breakfast, etc. friday night was a little tough after lights out, you know? but the day will come....

no, i'm not depressed; at least, no more so than usual. i'm just a little tired of this place and all that goes with it. if having a high level of tolerance is a virtue, there must be some of the most virtuous humans alive walking around in here. this place must be considered one of the world's best schools for learning to be resiliant and flexible (i believe those were the terms you used). as for being chipper, what else could i be? after all, i've got some of the greatest friends in the world; i've got an interesting job that i enjoy doing; i've got some fascinating hobbies; i've got a relatively decent understanding of myself, who i am and what i'm capable of; i've got years and years of life ahead of me; etc. the only thing i haven't got (at the moment) is mobility, and i'll soon have that. what more could i ask for?

i share your sentiment concerning little brother -- but what help can be given where help isn't wanted? i think he needs very much for someone to find a way to give him a 'natural' high. you know the kind i'm talking about, the high you get from just being a part of something that works. might be able to do it. you might. or it might have to be someone less close to him. but he sure does need to know.

i don't have your letter(s) in front of me and so i can't remember her name, but if you can, try to convince the woman who got raped in N.Y. to get in on the encounter session. i'm working on george, griffin and the warden to get it set up for some time in october (probably, the 3rd week -- wish me luck). if you think it would help, i'd be happy to write the lady in question a letter or talk to her personally if she could come down (or would come down) prior to the session. the chances are slim (i.e., non-existent) that i'll be anywhere near denver for some time to come, but the lady's presence would greatly enhance the session, believe it. and i can't help but think it would be a healthy (if painful) experience for her. see what you can do.

how are things with your job? didn't say anything to (or if she did, he didn't mention it). i hope it works out for you, but if it doesn't, keep in mind the fact that you were looking for a job when you found that one at KGMC.

how's things with your domestic life? i'm not prying; just curious. i have this hunch that having craig around and getting involved in this prison thing isn't doing wonders for peace on the home front. i also have a hunch that when you told me to take care of me because no one else could, you were talking just as much to yourself as you were to me. so, as the saying goes, take care, okay?

say hello to the mountains and everyone else for me. more later. love and pax.

Jerry

TO PRISONERS: Don't interline. Put one line of writing on each ruled line.

Thursday / late

Developments: I finally tracked down the missing portions of your article: It was in W.K.V.'s care. Another conversation with him revealed that although my position was precarious, I am still going to be editor of the Interpreter, providing, of course, that no further incidents cause him to reconsider. I'll send the revised article Monday.

Also, he said that he had no objection to our encounter session but that I'd have to work it out with George Levy. I'll see George in the morning to get it moving. George is pretty receptive to idea — the problem is working it into his schedule. Will keep you posted.

idea: do you suppose you could get the women who are going to take part to take some psychological tests prior to the session? (MMPI or CPI, 16PF, etc. — get to translate) I think I could arrange for the tests, could administer them, and we can probably get George to codify & interpret the results. It would probably help when the time comes to write the story. What do you think?

Tell I'll be calling on him to get some things together for the corporation. Also, have him get hold of concerning the encounter session. I think a lady psychologist might liven things up a bit...although the whole thing shows signs of being quite zesty as it is.

Other Developments: A commutation may or may not be in the offing. (By the way, the commute board is a panel composed of a dozen-odd people who either recommend or do not recommend convicts to the Governor for Executive Clemency). I have met them once (last year) and was denied; however, I am working on a review. To get this, I need WKP's recommendation. At the moment, there's nothing to be done except a Joan Didion, i.e., play it as it lays.

A change in work release policies, extending the period of eligibility up from 90 days to 1 year, may give me an 'out'. (Work release is, in case you're unfamiliar with the program, working at a regular job in the community during the daytime and spending the rest of your time under supervision at an honor camp—ask Craig for details) Nothing official, yet, on this change, but I'm digging into the possibilities. Maybe would hire me to rabble rouse at KGMC. (chuckle)

Nflash: I understand may be coming down to consult with George in the near future (providing details can be worked out). Why don't you bring him or, at any rate, come along? Providing you can get free. It's worth some thought.

Odds-and-ends dept.: Considering the conditions under which last week's letter (the hand-written one) was penned, it's no wonder you thought it strange. Attica did bother me; it still bothers me. And I feel it was more inevitable than necessary because there are other equally effective ways of getting the public's attention without resorting to self-destructive violence.

Will I see you in the near future? Love to all.

The date for the encounter session has been set (tentatively) for October 12th, 9:00 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. All that is needed is your confirmation that this date is suitable. I've talked with both Matthews and Griffin and will keep them both informed. will sponsor the thing. Despite his bluster, he is secretly very much interested in the project. It's the sort of thing psychologists get excited about.

Concerning the participants, Sunday evening I talked with and suggested she should get involved. In retrospect, however, I don't think she should be included. I'm not worried about having her there; the thing which worries me are the political implications. This thing is too important to risk its validity by having someone say it was just a scheme to get all my personal friends down for a day of shooting the breeze. And that's exactly what will happen if you, and all show.

Also, I will need the names of all participants by October 7th. On this particular project, it's especially important that no shortcuts be inserted into the procedures. We're dealing with something which is highly volatile and deserving of precautionary measures. So, do me a favor, luv; don't throw any monkey wrenches in the machinery, okay?

The remains of your article (and the original) are enclosed. Please forgive the editor's lacerations. I tried to retain the flavor and tone, and I think I was relatively successful. Let me know what you think.

So, how were the mountains? I went into my motive-determining bag (after a small conference with and the others) and came up with the conclusion yours was a peace-keeping journey. I hope it was successful (by whatever standards you choose to apply).

I'll be looking forward to seeing you the end of this week. No doubt we'll have much to talk about. Later.

Pax.

Hey! Tuesday / p.m.

What the hell is going on? I keep getting scraps of information from various people (notably   and   ), but from you I hear nothing. It wouldn't be so bad if I had only this end to worry about. Between   and I, we can pretty much take care of whatever arrangements need to be made. But what's this flack at your end? I told   Saturday night; I might as well tell you: if you people can't get it together out there, what do you expect me to do? For the love of christ, all you have to do is pick up the telephone and dial a number to get misunderstandings squared away. Do you remember my telling you the truism: if you can't be effective in a situation, either change the situation in such a way to make yourself effective or back off and don't mess with it? That's the way it is,   . I understand that you have problems (both personal and professional). And, in some ways, I think you're using this rape encounter (and, by implication, me) as a smokescreen to channel off some of the stress caused by your problems. That, in itself, is okay; I'm glad to be of assistance. Just don't rip me off and don't jeopardize the encounter. If it's too much, if you can't handle it, cut it loose.

          article arrived yesterday. It's shorter than I expected, but I satisfied. Not many who read the magazine will understand what he's talking about, I'm afraid, but that has more to do with the content than with the way it's written. Anyway, we'll be going to press tomorrow. You may kiss _ for me if you don't mind. I don't think I'd go quite that far, personally, but since you're a girl-type....

I've been doing my homework. I'm about halfway through "The Dialectic Of Sex" (got it for me). It's a far-out book. Although it's too early for any salient commentary, I am intrigued. On an intellectual plane, I seem to be very much in tune with what she is saying. On the gut level, I know I'm not anywhere near being able to handle it. Plus the fact, I cannot (as yet) conceptualize what tool would be necessary to instigate basic biological evolution called for by her logic. Of course, I'm not yet finished reading.

Also, I'm into some Eric Berne (Games People Play) stuff -- transactional analysis as a mode of therapy -- plus Glaser's 'reality' training and B.F. Skinner's 'operant conditioning'. I also ran across an article in this week's 'National Observer' entitled, "Women Attack Rape Justice". It was concerned, basically, with the premise that no matter what happens, the woman who is raped still gets subjected to a 'worse' treatment than the man who raped her. Check it out. Also, are you sending the article? To be quite blunt about it, this is really an experience. I'm looking at all sorts of things from a new perspective. Even though I'm in relatively good shape in comparison with most of my fellow rapists and run-of-the-mill sex offender, I don't think I've ever gotten into my head the way I have since we started this encounter thing. And, like you, I'm beginning to get a bit apprehensive now that the time is drawing near. At the same time, I get excited just thinking about it.

One thing which has been bugging me is how to break down the initial tension. I'd sure hate to spend all day yakking on superficialities, and then, just when the group begins to get into something worthwhile, have to break off. If you've got any ideas, let me know.

George is sending the tests. He agreed it would be a good idea if a bit of psychological data was to be made available to him (since he's going to be the group leader). And, of course, I think it'll come in handy when we delve into the results of the day.

Just for the record, I sure would like to have a recording of the conversation which will take place as you and your people drive back to Denver. It would, without a doubt, be a most enlightening and interesting bit of commentary, but I suppose it would be useless if everyone knew their talk was being recorded, and I don't think they'll let me ride back with you. So much for that.

As I told Annette, we're going to try to arrange for you and her to stick around afterwards. I don't know whether we'll be able to swing it or not so....

It teed me off a little bit when you didn't come down last Saturday, not so much the fact that you didn't come, but because you didn't let me know ahead of time. I'm paranoid anyway (indicating my lack of confidence in my capacity to assess and evaluate personal relationships) so I'd appreciate your not throwing too many curves at me until I get a little more experience under my belt, okay? I think I can cope with just about anything providing I have adequate information.

The lights are out. If I don't stop typing, I'll probably have to fight my way out of the cell in the morning. With my usually bad luck, a letter from you explaining everything will probably arrive tomorrow. But, this is the way it went tonight.

Later. Say hello, etc. Peace. And love.

it occurs to me that you are just as insane as i am. ain't it great? i got the letter you wrote saturday. i've got to agree i was a little unfair. on the other hand, don't take it too seriously. it happened to be the way i felt at the moment so i ran it up the flagpole to see if anyone would salute.

yesterday was fantastic. i'm still putting my pieces back together. last night was some kind of experience. i came in and wrote to . it took me 5 hours to write one and a half pages. now, i'm scared to death wondering what her reaction will be. i don't remember half of what i wrote. on top of which, she's coming to see me tomorrow (which means she probably won't get my letter until after i've talked with her). i believe the phrase i'm looking for is: play it as it lays.

what a beautiful thing yesterday was. never in my whole life have i felt so loved or capable of giving love as when i walked out of that room yesterday afternoon. can you imagine what that feeling meant to me? , i came in and cried. it hurt so goddam bad, and it still hurts. if it ever stops hurting, i'm going to be one scared s.o.b. because it feels good to be able to hurt. but, to be honest, when you went to earl (and for that i thank you more than i can express) i almost split. i almost stayed out in the hall with . what can i say? just thank you, i guess. everyone was so wonderful. there are so many levels to deal with, i'm only just beginning to sort things out a bit. i do feel that we (and me in particular) let down. the gnawing question: isn't in the same position i've been in only on her side of the sex gap? wanted to tell her she was beautiful because i don't think anyone has ever told her that. correction. i don't think any man has ever told her she's beautiful. didn't have enough guts, plus i was scuffling to keep track of what was going on inside my own crazy skull. will write her and tell her. don't know if it will be the same. and . what a lovely person lives inside that gorgeous exterior. damn me for a sexist, would still love to ball that body. felt jean was holding back deliberately because of her professional training. fact? fell in love (temporarily) with elly. would really like to have her as my friend. she's so gentle, so....can't think of anything more to say which fits.
nothing defined, very ambiguous, both distant and close. further data (to be obtained in different circumstances) needed. will pursue. fascinates. jealousy. antagonistic toward roger, jealous of . multiple facets. want to enjoy. think the phrase, 'very close, intimate friend' might come close to being adequate. can cope. spontaneous turn-on super exciting. feel absolutely no need to protect. female symbol obliterated. crazy. will advise re developments. have feeling we will soon run head-on into situation which will require a temporary (or perhaps permanent) disconnection of our relationship.

could be wrong. would severely miss you and the complications you've injected into my life. on with group. felt tremendous empathy and affection for earl. want to help him (if i can) get himself together. John was no surprise. found myself annoyed with him at many points. felt he copped out on all of us. pissed for including him. george served useful function. got the impression he was pleased with whole affair. and jerry. much displeasure at timidness. will need more strength in future. believe it will come in time. will keep working on it. discovered could accept self-love. more important. discovered could accept love from others. more important, yet, discovered ability to give love. fantastic. total exhaustion, totally high. examined feelings for . decided i love her. thought of her time after time. wanted her there. gap only partially filled by the part of her which is always with me. big misgivings as to how she will accept this newly acknowledged love. terrified she will not be ready to cope. feel i am being tremendously unfair even asking her to deal with situation.

will write of more practical things tomorrow. peace. all good things. most especially, love.

Jerry

P. S.

Don't forget to put your name & address on outside of envelopes. Got another yellow slip. Also, please pass my comments on to everyone if you think they're pertinent. I'll try to send personal notes to all if I can. Am anxious for feedback, too.

i'm a bit overwhelmed....mostly because i'm not accustomed to having all sorts of people moving hell and half of georgia in my behalf. i've never been very concerned about myself or my own circumstances before; consequently, I've never before experienced the joy of having people doing things for me just because i'm me. it's something new, this sense of self i'm acquiring because of you and and in fact, i'm almost beginning to like myself....just because i'm me. and just because you (collectively and individually) are you. don't guess there's much else to say.

i was hoping to get in on the interview with . for several reasons. first, it would've made it possible for me to get up to your neck of the woods and away from here for a day. secondly, it would've given me a better opportunity to rap with him. thirdly, i think it would've provided a more interesting session for your listeners. finally, it would've been a dandy ego trip. c'est la vie.

however, would you please pass on the following to dr. morris:

a) it would be greatly appreciated if he would contact the prison and confirm the date he will be here;

b) that, if possible, he would bring as many of his students as feasible; and

c) if possible, he should try to arrange to talk with me privately either prior to or following his meeting with the Lifer's and Jaycees.

the reason for suggestion "c" is that there will be very little opportunity for me to talk with him at the meeting. intrusions would be inevitable, and discussing my personal business at the expense of other cons attending the meeting would be way out-of-line, not to mention discourteous.

i'll call george first thing in the morning to see what can be done concerning evaluations, past and present, and my files. i have avoided approaching george on this matter, primarily because we've worked together rather closely on several projects. this leaves room for nasty implications (privilege, politics, blah, blah, blah). but, the time has come.

there is no psychiatrist available (except, perhaps, dr. wagner who is in charge of the psych team which handles some cases here). i've never consulted him, mostly on the grounds that other therapeutic sources seemed adequate for my needs and that i don't have much faith in psychoanalysis or psychotherapy. it reeks of witch-doctor-ism. however, i'll ask george what steps i should take on this. if he concurs, i'll get wagner to do some probing.

your suggestion concerning the women in the encounter session would be really helpful, i think. it would be a scientifically invalid endorsement; however, it would be an extremely effective 'gut-level' document. Undoubtedly, it will cause a response. Another thing along the same line might be a petition signed only by women. Admittedly, it has to be a little absurd to ask women to sign a petition to free a rapist, particularly if they don't know me. but, on the other hand, think what effect it would have on the commute board and the governor!!!!

and you aren't the only one who got caught with their pants down! I don't know who is on the commute board, either. i mean, i don't know them by name. i do know who is represented: the governor's office, the attorney general's office, the director of parole, the director of institutions, the warden, the three members of the parole board, and one or two other 'representatives of the people'. i'll find out names and addresses and enclose them before mailing this in the morning.

for the record: i'm currently doing my third bit at CSP, an 8 to 12 year sentence for assault with intent to commit rape. the original charge was forcible rape, but i copped out for the reduced charge. previously, i did a 3 to 5 for passing a no-account check and a 5 to 7 (actually, three 5 to 7's but they ran concurrently) for assault with a deadly weapon, car theft and assault with intent to rape. now, hang on because this gets a little involved. all three 5 to 7's resulted from the same basic offense which occurred when i was 15. first came the assault with a deadly weapon, followed only seconds later by the attempted (and unsuccessful) rape, and then, a few minutes later, came the car theft. when i stole the car, i fled to nebraska where i was arrested for yet another attempted (and unsuccessful) rape. less than 24 hours had elapsed between all this. anyway, i did a 2 year bit in the nebraska reformatory. then, is was brought back to colorado and sentenced to the penitentiary here. i was 17. since 1960, i've spent 8-plus years behind bars.

2 november / a.m. - just checked, no one seems to know all who sit on the commute board. suggest that for the time being, correspondence be sent to the Clemency Advisory Board c/o Warden Wayne K. Patterson. In this instance, w.k.p. is the key figure. for me to get in front of the board, he will have to recommend me.

there is more, but i'll have to write again when i have more info. other things: since you have some pretty decent connections, how about seeing if you could line up dionne warwicke/john denver/10 years after/etc. for a freebie concert of sorts for the people here. do what you can if you can when you can.

your present didn't make it through the censors, must have been hot stuff! got to get this mailed. will write more, later. peace.

Love, Jer

hi... friday p.m. / 19 november suppose you are in san francisco....wouldn't object to being there myself....but i'm here and don't know when this will reach you. thought i'd better send word that i've gotten over being pissed. carol came wednesday afternoon with news that you've been working your ass off to get things together at kfml. hang in there, sport. i know how tough it must be for you to sound loaded when you're not because i doubt if you sound loaded when you are. oddly enough, i get the feeling kfml is missing a bet by not permitting you to 'hype' your bits with your natural energy. it would provide them with a unique personality they could exploit....and exploitation seems to be their bag. they're certainly trying to exploit a certain listening audience by utilizing the image that all the jocks and staffers are 'loaded'. if they were into a 'real' people's bag, they'd concentrate more on the content and less on the packaging. oh, well....

things are improving. wednesday evening i had a lengthy discussion with w.k.p., wyse and capelli, the gist of which was that i would be well advised to shut up and stay shut up until further notice. i was informed that further agitation - whether positive or negative - will not be tolerated until things have cooled off a bit. the man made it clear that while i was not being blamed for the strike, i had played a significant role in setting the stage on which it occurred. your name (naturally) was mentioned. face it, girl. you are not one of the favored crowd; guess you can't make a hit with everybody. the discussion ranged far beyond you, though. the corporation caught a bit of flack; my associations with several other groups and individuals were mentioned as was my correspondance with various members of the press (underground and otherwise). the man got on me about my constant and continual 'needling' of the csp administration, the legislature, the department of institutions, the department and board of parole, etc.

i defended my indefensible position with as much dignity as possible; however, i concluded it would be wise to take his advice, at least, for the time being. things are agitated to the point of being out-of-hand, and there's certainly no point in tickling the tiger when he's hostile. plus, there's that commute thing....

i get the feeling w.k.p. isn't entirely opposed to doing what he can. i made a point during our discussion of reminding him i would much appreciate his assistance. he said neither yea nor nay, of course, and for a while (until things cool somewhat) he's not going to do anything. perhaps, something can be salvaged afterall.

today, i learned that i will be returning to work next week. i've been reappointed editor of the interpreter; things must not be too bad. the vacation was not the most pleasant, but i'm sort of glad for the rest. now, i'm eager to get back to work.

morgan smith was here this afternoon. he is trying to salvage the norval morris appearance here at the institution. understand morris is going back to chicago the first part of december - not much time - but hope he can make it. morgan called me out to tell me he'd done some things about a UCI project involving getting the parole rules and regulations changed, wanted to know if i'd received his letter. i hadn't. will fill you in when i see you or when i have more space. also, morgan is going to work on dorothy davidson about getting the warden and i to the aclu banquet on the 4th. carol is working on the same thing. would you like to join the cause? do what you can. commute-wise, news-wise, politically-wise and otherwise it would be a most valuable sort of thing.

how are things apart from work? understand you were unable (or missed) to get a ride to san francisco on the abortion express? how are things with that movement? how's ? did he get something worked out with ? told me he'd abandoned one of his jobs.

got something weird in the mail today from someone named (i always wonder what the m stood for!) -- anyway, this bit of correspondance resembled a slightly used shopping list for a thanksgiving dinner. i fell out laughing. honest-to-god, , it could only happen to you and me!!!! i mean, re-cycling paper a couple of times is cool, but this is ridiculous....

however, it did serve to remind me of how super-extended you are what with all the things happening. you remember one time when i told you i'd miss while you went to put out various and sundry fires? well, i have missed your letters, but i understand (or think i understand) the situation. things are going to get better, girl.

i sent a list of stuff to that i need done re uci. i'd appreciate it if you'd give her a hand in rounding up etc., to help get the info together. you're excused from duty in deference to other obligations.

also, i don't think i ever really thanked you for all the things you've done and tried to do, not only for me, but for the magazine, cons and prisons in general. i'm still not thanking you (really); i just thought i'd remind you that you have some coming and that one of these days, i'll see that you do get thanked....properly!

have a good time in san francisco and try not to get run over by a cable car.

Much Love,
Jerry

....

Just a short note. First day back to the office; somewhat hectic. Discovered that the roof had fallen (literally) at the office. A fluorescent light fixture (one of those big ones) broke loose and landed just where I always sit....leading me to think that perhaps it was a good thing I haven't been working. It would have been a bit tough on the old skull had I been sitting at my desk when the thing came down.

Anyway, spent the morning cleaning the joint up a little, finding where things were left, and taking care of assorted other chores. The magazines have not been mailed, yet, but the mail office says we can get them out Tuesday.

Enclosed are couple of pictures for   to use on her illustrations. They aren't of the best quality....but then I've always been more magnetic in person than on film. Cameras just don't do me justice.

I will be needing something from you on the encounter in the very near future. What's the status? I really need to get together with you for a collaboration, but I really doubt if such togetherness is feasible. These people are not going to be too crazy about letting me come to you, and I know you're extended halfway to Red China. Advise....

Your little extra presents finally reached me....they are far out. Everyone who comes in the office gets a bang out of the Lone Ranger and Tonto flic. Plus, some of the guys know some of the people working at KFML. Many thanks.

I'll write later today or to~~m~~morrow and fill you in on the latest scandal, etc. Much love.

I'm in the print shop baby-sitting the Interpreter—there's nothing much to do, but one of us (Bob or I) has to be here just in case—so thought I'd answer your letter. First off, let me congratulate you on the KFML thing. I think it's a fantastic opportunity for you. And I have to say I think the discipline of working straight news will be really good for you. I noticed when I was editing the story you did for the INTERPRETER that you have a huge amount of energy, but you tend to go off in several directions at once. There are three key words which I've found immensely useful: clarity—continuity—economy. Learning to use them is tough (at least, it was—and still is—for me), but once you learn to hone the edges of what you write (or say), you become a much better communicator. Anyway, you've got my full support. If there's anyway I can help, let me know. And, most important of all, give 'em hell!

While I'm on the subject of communicating, I was a little disappointed that you misinterpreted some of the things I said in the letter I wrote you after the encounter. I think something got lost in the translation, either from my head onto the paper or from the paper into your head. I know one thing: I shouldn't have used the word jealousy. It wasn't really accurate. Envy would have been a much better choice. But I was trying to get across the way I feel about your relationships with and . It doesn't bother me that the relationships exist. As a matter of fact, I'm really pleased that you and have been able to have a good thing with each other. What bugs me is that I feel like one of my arms is in Georgia; that my feet are in California; and that my head is in Minnesota. My heart reaches all three, but the disconnected feeling remains. It's just because I'm in here, I guess, and all of you are out there.

My feelings for you are particularly intense because you make me feel so great. When I get a letter from you or we get together and rap, I end up on top of the world. You have a knack for getting inside my head, and, like you, I like having you there. You have given me confidence I've never had before. When you're around, I get a very positive masculine view of myself. And I love you, too, you nut. It pissed me off that you'd get the feeling I was predicting a collision between us. I was talking about outside influences. Your marriage, your new job, your politics, etc., and my being here with a year left to do and my commitments to Urban Communications and other things. All the realities which take time and energy to deal with. Particularly, I was thinking of Roger. You know and so do I that one of these days, he's going to blow his stack. Since you are married to him, what he does has to have an effect on you and, by association, me and and everything else. Okay, so we'll cope when the time comes. But like I said, I'm going to miss you while you put out the fires. As far as is concerned, I'd really be in sad shape if I had to stop loving you because I also happen to love her. What you and I have is ours. It doesn't belong to anyone else. And, personally, I'M enjoying the hell out of it. As far as Urban Communications is concerned, I don't think you're being quite fair to and the others. You and I haven't discussed it to any great extent, and I think we re going to have to do this pretty soon. The other night when I wrote, I didn't say much other than someway or another, I was going to do my part. I think what has happened is that you confused the things which are my responsibility with the roles that the others are playing. I'm very acutely aware of the dangers involved when people try to translate dreams into reality, more so than any of the others, I think. I know you can't just run out in the back yard and pick hundred dollar bills off the money tree. And I know the necessity for getting the groundwork taken care of before starting to build the house. But what I've tried to do is to instill the dream in everyone's mind. Once the dream becomes personal, it can be dealt with. The difficulties can be worked out. I'm working on smoothing things up a bit. I'm working on programs which will give specific individuals specific tasks to be worked out. Dave Snyder (from the bank in Pueblo) has offered his services and the services of the bank's attorney in working out a credit program for ex-cons. But, as I also pointed out, I'm basically impotent while I'm in jail. So....

George was pleased enough with the encounter to be considering having another. The next one, he told me, should involve different people than those who participated in the last one. (referring to inmates) He wants to have a session between Black rapists and women a bit more conservative than you and yours. I concur in the sense that everyone (with the exception of Lynn) seemed to be very much together, so much so that responses which might have been explored never even came up. If everyone had been a little less sympathetic, the encounter might have had more clinical value (even though it would not have been anywhere near as enjoyable). George was a bit upset by the touching, kissing and so forth which closed the session. (not in the room, but in the hallway on the way out). I was too after giving it some thought. Not because it wasn't the thing to do, but because of the potentially explosive repercussions it might have caused because the situation in which it took place was the Colorado State Penitentiary. Also, because Earl wanted to correspond with Jean, George got a little angry. He felt like he had spent all afternoon trying to explain to Earl that men and women can meet and talk and enjoy one another without making a big thing of it. All the time George spent on the subject of looking at flowers instead of picking them seemed to go for naught. Persoanlly, I tend to agree with George. Earl does need to learn that he does not have to have every woman to whom he speaks or interacts with. But at the same time I feel a little bad because you and I are more than a little conversant plus I know and quite frequently have an opportunity to rap with her. Of course, as pointed out, I've already begun to get myself together.

George also asked if I would pass along a message from him to Mark W. George is pissed because Mark promised to attent the speech George gave in the Springs last Sunday and then didn't show. See if you can find out what happened, will you? George is beginning to like you (a fate worse than death). He makes big demands on his friends, but somehow it's worth putting up with him. Despite the way I got on his case the other day, I like him and find him very useful. That's one thing you're going to learn about him, sooner or later. If he can use you, he will, but in return, he'll permit himself to be used. It's his way of looking at things.

If you feel up to it, you might get some people together and start a letter-writing campaign to Warden Patterson urging him to put me up for the Commute Board at his earliest convenience. I'm doing everything I can. I'm getting everyone who has any pull at all here in the institution to go to him on my behalf (those that are willing anyway). I could sure use a little help from my friends. If I can get to the Board, the chances of my getting out within the next few months will be greatly improved. See what you can do.

Tell I'm working on getting it fixed to have him added to my mailing and visiting list. Don't know how much success I'll have, but....I really would like to sit down and rap with him. It takes him and I all day to have a conversation. We have to gossip and dream together and all sorts of neat things before everything gets covered —it's impossible to cram our conversations into a telephone conversation, particuarly long distance; after all, we are already supporting the United States Postal Service. Why add Ma Bell to our list of dependents.

Tell him also that I hope the loan thing works out okay. I wrote and thanked Dave for being so prompt. I think should drop him a than you note, too, if he hasn't already. I don't know this gentlemen Dave referred to in Denver, but I assume he will be willing to help. I told Dave Snyder quite a bit about (including the problem with Mom and Little Brother), and I think he understands the situation quite well. I also told George about it. He even thanked me!

Back to you. You know what I like about you most? I can just tell you any old thing that comes to mind and know you'll either accept it or bring it back to me. There's just so damn few people worthy of that kind of trust (or maybe I just haven't checked to find out how many there are). Like you, I have a list of very special people. And you're on it, luv. Thanks. Just for being you.

Enough for now. Tell the world I said hello. Pax. Love.

hello.... monday / evening

if you should happen to run into the good dr. campbell, do me a favor. ask him if he believes mental illness can be cured by performing frontal lobotomies on all mental patients; that amputation can curb chronic masturbation; and that witches should be burned at the stake! then give him a good solid knee to the groin and tell him to worry about his own balls instead of everyone else's!

no, luv, i didn't get any clemency. i'm working on it, but....at the moment, i have exactly 1 year and 2 days left....providing i get a parole. i see no reason why i shouldn't get paroled. i'll have about 40 months of parole. but back to the clemency thing....i'm trying to get warden patterson to recommend me to the clemency board for a re-hearing. if that happens and if gov love stays home long enough to check things out, i might get lucky and get a time cut....meaning, i might get out in january or february. there are a lot of 'ifs' involved, and, quite frankly, i'm not too optomistic. i've more-or-less resigned myself to doing another year. i'll keep you posted.

i'm relieved to hear there were no serious repercussions when you aired the subject of the encounter. as i mentioned this morning, both george and i were more than a little concerned. i don't give much of a damn, but i'd hate to see george get put in an awkward position. also, i was pleased that your listeners responded in the way they did. i'll consult with the swami re taping some comments to lead in another show. for the benefit of the lady who asked about legalized prostitution as a tentative cure, your instinct was probably correct. i doubt if it would have any effect. as for the question on pornography, it's been shown statistically that sex offenders (and rapists in particular) are sexually naive and inclined to be ultra-prudish in their attitudes toward pornography. Generally, they have had less exposure to 'prurient' materials (particularly during adolescence) than most 'normal' individuals. my own observations over the years tend to substantiate these statistics. personally, however, the evidence does not apply. no doubt i'm more sexually naive than the average guy my age....but it's more from lack of opportunity than anything else. (remember? i've spent nearly a third of my life behind bars.) as for being turned on by pornography, i find it intellectually depressing but not particularly offensive. emotionally, some porno turns me on, most of it doesn't. it depends on how horny i am, what the circumstances are, the quality of the treatment, etc. a good example is something which happened last week. tuesday was the encounter; wednesday they showed a skin flick called 'wild pussycat' (one of those italian/greek sex-ploitation ventures) for the population. wednesday night, i could've balled a snake if i could of found one....but everyone else (except those who didn't attend) was in roughly the same condition. actually, quiet as it's kept, i've a more-than-ample supply of porno inside my head. because sexual fantasy is more personalized and effective, it's also more appealing. who needs a dirty book? as for a causal effect between pornography and rape, i doubt it. by the way, since i'm on the topic, how are you in bed? or is that a fair question? don't get upset if i proposition you one of these days. the idea fascinates me, dirty old man that I am (or would like to be). i think it would be great sport (from a purely recreational point of view), and....enough of that!

i don't know what to say about urban communications. you know me. i have an enormous amount of self-confidence (conceit?) in my own ability to make it hang together. somewhere, somehow, someway i'll get the money we need. and we're going to make it work. believe it. but, i'm also enough of a realist to know that i'm relatively impotent at the moment. carol and craig, yvonne and gary, mark and rod, you and everyone else, however; all of you have other obligations (like feeding yourselves) that must be met first. among us, we have a tremendous amount of talent and energy. but until all that talent and energy can be channeled and shaped it's not going to be very effective. that's where i come in. i'm the fixer, the one who ties the loose ends together, the one who must build and maintain the bubble for everyone else. my peculiar talent has always been my ability to inject excitement into potentially great situations. i'm not very good at sitting on an assembly line, but i'm hell when it comes to designing one, if you get what i mean. perhaps the most accurate (or most fanciful) description is that i see myself as a bee going from flower to flower, pollinating hither and yon, until the whole damn world is covered with flowers. and i know one thing for sure: if no one tries, ain't nothin' gonna get done. i'd rather do a belly flop off the highest board at the pool than wade around with the rest of the clods in the safety of the shallows.

the lights are out. i'll write more, later. love.

Jerry

hello.... wednesday p.m. / 1 december 1971

a short note to let you know your letters are finally coming through. it's a bloody miracle. i was beginning to think these people had permanently closed down the long distance line. all of which is to say it was super to hear from you.

things are popping. today, i quit my job as editor of the interpreter. the reasons are many and varied, but basically it resulted from the overdoses of bullshit i've had to put up with over the years. the situation had deteriorated to the point where i was beginning to turn sour. so i decided to chuck it. when i see you, i'll run the whole thing down.

i caught hints of weariness in your letter, too. and, when carol was down last sunday, she was showing signs of strain, nothing either of us could put a finger on, but....what we all need, i think, is a couple of weeks of mountains/sea/peace & quiet and family (quote/unquote).

i fell out of my chair laughing when i read about your car-keys-left-behind introduction to the cat burglar's profession. that was a classy bit of savoir-faire. it substantiates my suspicions that you are a handy sort of consort, and i applaud your poise.

was glad to hear of your successes at kfml. carol mentioned you were beginning to get it together. was disappointed to hear of the split between craig and mark. having lived around craig for quite a while, i wasn't particularly surprised, but i have to feel that he was a bit less tolerant than he could/should have been. hope the situation doesn't get any farther out of hand than it already is.

naturally, i hope you get down to see me before long. but if it's going to cause you any serious hassles....you know. i'm hanging on. getting out from under the pressures of the magazine is, at the moment, a relief, but i'm sure the next few weeks ~~is going~~ (sorry about that) are going to be hectic as i rearrange priorities and go through the process of getting the wreckage together. i'm sort of in the position you were in a month and a half ago.

there's much more to be said, but i'm not in any condition to say it at the moment so i'll cut this loose. look for me when you see me. and give my regards, as always. will write more later.

Love
Jerry

shalom... sunday / 12 december 1971

sunday mornings always surprise me. it's weird. most days i awaken with the feeling of having been dredged up from the bottom of hangchow harbor. but sundays are something else. i woke up this morning, for instance, and tripped over myself. i looked into my head, and there i sat. a mantle of swirling topaz/aquamarine cradled my lotus-formed pose, the aura within. lifting a stem glass carved of the finest translucent jade containing five freshly picked strawberries afloat in vintage champagne, i offered a toast to all the gods and goddesses, creatures incarnate and the cosmic beyond.

"children of the universe," said i, "this offering is of me. it is the essence of all that i am. the five berries are of my senses, ripe and succulent:

sight that I may see the beauty of my world, taste that I may know the bitter and the sweet, smell that I may know the surf and pine,
touch that I may be gentle, sound that I may find music in my life;

the wine is of my mind:

sparkling bright; tart yet not overpowering; incisive yet smooth; and -- above-all -- intoxicating!

and the chalice is of my soul:

i drew a circle that shut me out....
bastard! bastard! evil lout!
but love and i had wits to win:
we drew a circle that took me in....

(from E. Markham)

and now i present myself to all the multitudes. may we travel this life together as one."

....see what i mean about sundays? on top of which i felt incredibly erotic, just supersalaciousmchorny. i guess it all has to do with my scorpio influences. or something. anyway, i kind of do a relax-and-enjoy-it thing and let it go.

the day has fled; night has come.

hello....

....and how are you? with luck, this page will be a bit more lucid -- albeit no more significant -- than the one preceding. i deliberately waited until now to respond to your letters and visit. i've been on a pilgrimage into the recent past, examining people relationships/environmental influences/things done and left undone/etc. i think it's called getting oneself together, a fairly heavy task.

anyway, things are tidied up for the present, the loose ends of significance have been attatched and re-attatched as circumstances dictate. carol came today. as always, she did a nice thing for my head. she mentioned that you thought i was a bit 'down' during our visit a week ago. i wasn't...rather, i was deep off into my head and just could not make it clear to the surface.

no doubt you will receive word before this reaches you, but....i talked with fred wyse the other day and arranged a transfer to camp george west. because a few things remain to be cleared, i don't know precisely when i will move, but it will be sometime within a week or ten days. in any case, what this means is that i will be living only a few miles from downtown denver, and that work release (at the very least) should be forthcoming within a few months. christmas came a little early this year.

suddenly, i have a million things to tell you and only half a page remains! i received the poems (finally). of the two, i like the 'imitation' best. the other seems forced in spots, and the theme is too blatant for my taste. there was nothing to distinguish it from the bus trips taken by untold thousands of people. a suggestion: could you use the incident in the bus garage at Salt Lake to structure the sight/sound/sensual images? and perhaps paraphase the process of abortion with the rhythm? pretend denver was the locale of impregnation; salt lake the discovery of pregnancy; reno the search for an abortionist; and san francisco the deliverance by the sea? fit your images to match the emotional rhythms of each.

very complicated, yes? also, though i like the effect of 'imitation', i disagree with the message. art imitates nothing. it is the ultimate contradiction, an illusionary double-helix existing only because it is perceived yet never seen.

ken russell and company were here friday. i assume you received a report of what transpired. i was extremely pleased to rap with them. i assume, now, that my previous assumption was incorrect. you probably don't know what transpired. but it's too lengthy and involved to go into here. i'll save it for when i see you again.

annette mentioned you may be dropping in again in the near future. i'm really anxious to hear more about the magazine thing. that news came down really heavy on my head, sure hope something can be worked out.

and now i'm out of space. i'll write again soon. until then, hang on.

Much Love Jerry

things are back to normal. after 13 days of quiet, the battle rages once again. the point in question? whether or not i yield to the mailed fist of bureaucratic stupidity.

it goes like this: there is a policy (?) of operations which states that persons being transferred to honor camps are required to go through the diminished custody routine, i.e., from maximum to medium to minimum security. this policy (?) is enforced with varying degrees of selectivity, depending on who is involved and the institution's stake in the matter. for example, if a cook is needed at camp george west and one turns up at max, he is transferred posthaste. the policy gets overlooked. on the other hand, if an individual requests a transfer simply for his own benefit, no matter what his credentials, he is told to go to medium security and then his case will be considered.

enter one jerry louis nemnich. he is told by fred wyse that things are cool. but things ain't cool. the director of honor camps determines that nemnich should follow the rules because, a) there is no particular need for his skills at cgw, and b) past confrontations between nemnich and said director have not always been congenial. nemnich, it appears, is a bit too given toward calling spades spades, not to mention the fact that said director once had nemnich as a client when said director was employed as a parole officer. wyse sides with said director and orders that nemnich go to medium security as a prelude to a transfer to cwg.

nemnich tells said individuals to stick it in their ear. the question of custody is not in contention. all parties concerned are quite aware that nemnich is not going to flee the premises. those concerned are also aware that nemnich is not into narcotics or alcohol in any significant way. in fact, the main hang-up appears to be nemnich's insistence on retaining custody of his balls.

enough of the 3rd person crap, it's getting dreary. i blew my top, . if i don't go to cgw, i ain't going nowhere, i told assorted people. my reason for bucking the chute is simple: no one, not one of the people i've talked to can give me a valid reason why i should go to medium security. what's in it for me, i asked. in what way can i benefit? is there something, anything at medium security that will enhance my rehabilitation? What will i gain by spending one, three or six months at medium security?

the collected answers, boiled down, constitute pure unadulterated shit. in paraphrase, it reads: if i capitulate and go along with the program, i'll endear myself to various and sundry people, notably the parole board, by demonstrating my ability to sublimate my needs in deference to the all-knowing, all-powerful state. in other words, if i make the rope myself, i won't have any complaints when hung.

the problem, of course, is that i don't intend to hang. somewhere, somehow, i managed to pick up the idea that i really don't need big brother's (read 'big mama's') psuedo-omniscience, particularly when i get hit dead in the mug with a pile of shit. it really bugs me to think that after all the years i've spent in this place i still get no more consideration than does the run-of-the-mill punk. and i don't say that to put my fellow victims down. what i'm saying is that it doesn't matter what you do, the man perceives only what he chooses to see. to which i reply, if these maniacs will not recognize my right to be human, i will not recognize their authority to manipulate my life.

my behavior could be termed childish, i suppose. no doubt, george would (and will when he finds out). a tantrum is a tantrum. and it's definitely a possibility that my stand could cost me dearly. i really don't like to think about blowing my parole over something like this, but unless these people come up with some valid answers, piss on 'em. i'm sick and tired of cooperating with petty tyrants.

the whole thing is one big mind-fuck. and the worst thing is that i can't win no matter what i do. i've chosen another indefensible position. the only way to 'beat' the system is to be a human being. and if you are one of those rare creatures, you get systematically stomped. some choice, huh?

i suppose i'll have to rationalize/manipulate/politic/compromise my way out of all this. freedom, even a bastardized illusion of freedom, beats two more years in this place. but goddam it makes me sick. i want to puke everytime i have to go through these changes and it's getting worse instead of better.

(on top of everything else, the damn lights just disappeared so i'll have to finish this in a hurry).

got your letters and the package. will respond to the former when i'm in a better mood. a suitable response to the latter will have to wait until i can make it a little more personalized.

guess i'll pack this in. i'm in a foul humor, but having blown off a considerable amount of steam, my ability to maintain should be improved. i'll keep you posted of developments. also, if it's any solace, thoughts of you and craig and carol and rod and the rest of the people dear to me are what keeps my sanity intact. not to mention my sense of humor. i want to be with you far too much to really do anything stupid. the significance of anything done to me by the idiots who run this place pales in comparison to what awaits me when this time passes on.

peace and love.

28 december / tuesday DEC 29 1971

hi....

thought i'd better bring you up to date. got a letter today from the honorable (?) jack seavy. he denied my request that i be granted credit for the time i spent in jail prior to getting this 8 to 12. he claims to have taken that time into consideration before he passed sentence. to which i can only say, "up yours, pal. you're a real sport." anyway, what this means is that my parole date is still the 21st of october. c'est la vie.

i have been given a job in the print shop, an assignment i find bearable. i don't expect to be there for any great length of time. i still think i'll be going to camp george west before too long. but even if i don't, working in the print shop will be worthwhile. i'll be able to learn a lot of things about production.

bob is going to continue with the magazine. he had a lengthy conversation with griffin yesterday. as i understand it, bob will stay on for 4 or 5 months until some new people can be trained; then, griffin will help bob get out on work release. it's a good deal for bob, i think. griffin agreed to get some of the problems straightened out so bob won't have to go through all the changes i had to put up with. i told bob i'd help him out with an article or two and some assistance on the mechanical end of things until he gets things moving.

i'm just loafing around, mostly. there's nothing much i can do because i don't want to get heavily re-involved with anything here. i've been playing music everyday, wood-shedding and jamming with a rock/blues group. i enjoy being able to get into it without having to worry about all the other shit. i like to play but not when i have to cram playing into the midst of 30 other things.

was down sunday. it was a little awkward. she also received one of my 'funky' letters, and it scared her. i didn't know what to tell her. my objectivity concerning me is shot. and, since there's no point in picking at myself if i can't be rational on the subject, i've just sort of shrugged and settled back to wait for improved conditions. with , i don't know. she seldom reacts the way i expect her to. that doesn't bother me particularly, but i think it bothers her. i keep getting flashes that she is leery of me, that i will demand too much of her when - and if - i get out. we talked about it a bit, but nothing was resolved.

there's no question but what i've contributed to her fears. the problem is that i don't quite know how to go about alleviating them. i have this thing about thinking out loud. what i say or write at a given moment is mostly a response to that moment. it doesn't mean that i will always behave/act-out my thoughts. sometimes i'm just tripping for lack of anything better to do or because i'm trying to avoid doing something i should be doing. naturally, this confuses people, particularly when their can be no immediate resolution to the 'trip'. understands, and so does . you do also, i think. but i don't think does, and i'm having a bitch of a time trying to explain it. but i suppose it will work out, given time and some communication between us.

about your reviews....what to say? i thought both were sloppy. obviously, 'watermelon summer' was a wash-out; therefore, what was the point of the review? i would have been much harsher, much more cryptic, and less inclined to congratulate jeff golden on non-ability. i liked the 'joe hill' review better, but why didn't you mention the jury award from Cannes in your lead? 'joe hill' is obviously a depressing sort of flick, but you managed to give me the feeling it would be worth my time and money. in both reviews, however, i missed that 'tightness'. i suspect that you didn't have much time to spend writing them. but, that's why editors get paid more than writers. you're learning. it just takes time.

i happened onto a copy of the january playboy the other day. it's a pretty fair issue. the interview with germaine greer was far out. and there's a short story by john cheever which is way out of hand. also, in the january psychology today there's an interesting interview with robert rimmer (the harrad experiment). he poses some interesting ideas on group marriages, bigamy and similar excursions. i couldn't help getting a deja vu flash on your comments made the last time you were down.

is a turd. he keeps referring to the question of whether or not i'll be able to 'perform'. i don't quite understand where he's coming from. it has been shown in cases other than mine that performance is (or can be) a problem. but i can't recall ever experiencing failure. and i don't really see where it makes any difference, one way or the other. all i'm interested in is enjoying myself and providing similar enjoyment for my partner. i don't see any point in trying to prove that i'm some sort of sexual superman. maybe george is 'projecting'?

the lights are about to disappear so i'll quit for the time being. just one thing....don't worry about not getting down to see me. come when you can and let it go at that. i'll manage, mainly because in about ten months i'm going to be a whole lot more available than i am now.

i'm looking forward to hearing more about the magazine thing. i've even got a couple of ideas about the money thing leftover from when i was thinking of starting a mag.

happy new year.

Love
&
Peace,
Jerry

Memo To .... Date ....

Subject--

Sorry to hear of your abortion. When you were here last, you indicated that the job was going well after the normal humps and lumps were in the process of being ironed out. You were quite proud of acquiring the knack of dubbing and timing.

Secretaries have their places and oftimes find themselves in a position to get involved in management decision-making. In other words, it can mean more than being a mere typewriter jockette. In any case, it is a job which carries with it a paycheck.

The F in French may have jolted   but we did discuss and forecast the possibility the last time we met. Maybe he will finally get the Word and practice the role of Grind along with that of gypsy moth.

For a major in Journalism, don't you think the term "chauvinist, male," should be relegated to the cliche Biz Bag by now?

Aren't you doing a _-in-reverse? His insouicance regarding French appears to be matched by your evangelizing of your instructor. Winning a battle and losing a war is poor strategy. You need to earn a degree more than to prove a point. An instructor may be wrong but he does dish out the grades.

Tsk, tsk. A reporter is interested in who, where, what, and spelling names correctly. Getting tangled up with Why can be hard on your adrenals. Passion is useful in bed but not while reading a scientific treatise. Skinner is not a sensationalist and if he outrages your humanistic sentimentalisms, that is not uncommon in students of Psych I.

If   could put up with his brother, he probably can endure you. Of course your behavior did belie your talk with me where you had everything neatly compartmentalized. The move could be a learning process and might turn out to be a form of operant conditioning, adverse, perverse, reinforcement-time will tell.

Jerry made the editorial page of the DP. Rollie Rogers gave him a kudo. Now if he makes George West his stein will be like an overflowing bathtub.

Earl Phillips is a sentimental slob. Reinforcing his sentimental fantasies would be cruel as well as unhealthy.

Despite all the vitriol you hurl,somewhere you still come through as a nice girl.

Tell to write to me.

hi, luv.... monday p.m. / 3 january 1972

do you remember randy newman's '....and the circles that i find in the windmills of my mind'? i thought of it while reading your st-sylvestre letter. sad and wistful i have much empathy, ami. it do get raggedy around the edges, don't it? i don't what to say except that i would reach out and hold you if i could. it sounds like you could use a bit of snuggling and a toddy of tender loving care.

i am a fortunate fellow. i rarely get hungover. at least, not from drinking. too many cigarettes gets me down now and again, but i can't ever remember having a head from boozing. i don't drink that much. on the odd occasion when i do tie one on, my metabolism manages to cope. working on the wrong side of the bar educated me on the evils of excess. in fact, the main reason i decided against a career as a pro-musician is that i dislike being constantly surrounded by drunks and nuts. a once in a while gig is cool, but an every night thing is something else.

like you, i don't care much for new year's. actually, none of the holidays are/is(!) much of a turn on for me. my life cycle doesn't coincide with the calendar, and i get weird flashes behind getting pushed around by some arbitrary timekeeper called society. plus, i have this thing about keeping celebrations private, something to be shared sparingly with the world. i don't make a fetish of it; i just feel that it's more aesthetically satisfying. but i did succumb this year. i broke another of my pet rules, the one about not buying/manufacturing/giving christmas gifts, and got a present for you. since the holidays are over, just pretend it's not a christmas gift. we'll call it something for just because you're you. you can pick it up the next time we visit, whenever and wherever that may be.

i still have no concrete information concerning a transfer out of this asylum of the inept. i'm in the pattern and holding, and that pretty well sums up the situation. sheer boredom has driven me to the point where i'm actually considering writing a book. i probably won't, but it's nice to think about. i think i'd call it, 'tree jumping in america'. the plot would hinge upon man's discovery that humanity exists only within its own frame of reference. the crisis factor is a supposedly random patterned time/slip-skip which throws the protagonist out of phase with his cluster culture. it turns out, however, that the time/slip-skip has been engineered by an experimental electro/organic intelli-mass which has mutated. the story resolves when another, more benevolent intelli-mass intervenes on the part of humans, declaring them sub-intelligent and therefore an unworthy subject for the attention of an intelli-mass. they are deserving of having their needs provided for and of being allowed to do their thing, whatever it might be.

if i were to throw in a little sex and violence (during the time/slip-skips into the past, of course) and add a healthy dollop of social commentary, a logically contrived historical sequence explaining how my imaginary world came into being, it would probably be a best-seller, not to mention what stanley kubrick could do turning it into a movie.

in odd moments, i think up things like that. the problem is scuffling up enough self-discipline to do the work. i tend to be lazy. of course, if i had my business in shape, i'd be a producer with plenty of money which i could use to hire flunkies to flesh out the skeletons in my closet. so much for that trip.

speaking of work, today was my first day on my new job in the print shop. dig this: i was vaguely worried about getting hung up. the man doesn't let just anyone play with the ibm composer, a fairly rational policy since the damn thing cost five grand and can get fucked up with no trouble at all. anyway, i was kind of sweating getting put in one of those positions where all of a sudden no one else in the whole world can operate the damn machine. so today, when i show at the gig, there's another guy who just got out of the reception center and was assigned to the print shop. so both of us are assigned to work in the composing room. naturally, since i'm not going to be around too long, i immediately nominated him as the numero uno and slid out from under any heavy duty. in effect, i now have another base of operations almost as flexible as the magazine was. dumb luck, you can't beat it.

the situation with carol has improved. i'm quite sure you don't want to hear about it, but i thought i would mention that i have re-assumed some degree of objectivity concerning my relationship with her. suffice to say that that special something it takes for two people to get it together is missing. we're friends. we may someday be lovers....but it will never be for real unless....well, you know. i won't plague you with the subject anymore. promise.

i assume you and roger have gone your separate ways. where are you going to rest your weary bones? i suppose i'd better notify the mail office that you are now using mcdermott instead of giellis. i got one of those little yellow slips the other day inquiring as to whether there had been a name change. it would seem that these people should be able to handle something simple like this without going through nineteen different changes. but i'll wait until i hear from you before i do anything.

your life seems to mirror mine....or vice versa. i haven't gotten sick, yet, though. doubt if i will. i'm almost disgustingly healthy. i shouldn't be, no more care than i take of my beat-up old bod, but maybe it's just luck. or maybe all the virus bugs gave up in disgust. when i was young, i had virtually everything it's possible to have and survive. had pneumonia 4 times before my 4th birthday. but then they took my tonsils out and i've been okay ever since. knock on wood.

i was glad to hear you made it through christmas at home without excessive conflagrations. and remind me to tell of the brief flirtation i had with a chestnut pony named ginger. and of my aspirations toward being a professional rodeo cowboy. and of what happened to change my mind.

well, hippy, ol' buddy, i think i'll go to bed. hope i see you before you up and take off for europe. or something. besides which, i think it's a dirty rotten trick for you to even consider going to the continent without giving me a chance to pack my bag. on the other hand, since i'm in no position to go anyplace at the moment, if you want to go, go. that's not the sort of thing you should put off. so many people keep putting things off until next year or next month and wind up doing nothing.

give my regards to the gang and....what d'ya wanta do, go up in your hat or give me a pancake?

Take good care + Peace

Love, Jerry

because i rather expected to see you today, i put off writing. guess i should have written, huh? brought word that your internal mechanisms are malfunctioning. not being gynecologically astute, i'll refrain from offering any comment. except, of course, that i hope an appropriate incantation soon does whatever it is that incantations are supposed to do.

i have been steadfastedly diligent in applying my talents to the task of obtaining a transfer to the promised land. success is not yet within my grasp (i won't consider myself successful until i am safely ensconced at cgw); however, it won't be long. i talked again with the main man last thursday and with wyse on friday. with a bit of luck, this should be the week. i base this on the warden's comment that i'd be well advised to get my business in shape and on wyse's comment that he will be having a talk with uhrich on monday or tuesday re arranging my transfer. it appears as if uhrich objections are going to be devalued. all i can say is that i think it's about time!

by the way, i checked on the visiting thing. everything is squared away. if you would be so kind, also, the folks here would appreciate your using the name which appears above. why the issue over nomenclature i have yet to discover. nonetheless....

as i predicted in my last communique, nothing has come of the book. i have, however, embarked on a series of articles to follow-up the one which was in the Post today. speaking of which, i received a bit of feedback from which startled me slightly. she said that i started the article opposing prison reform; then switched midstream and talked about - and for - reform. did it read like that to you? i thought i'd made it clear that prison reform is not possible and that attention should be paid to reforming the judicial process in such a way that prisons become not only obsolete but absurd. at least, that's what i intended to write. my question is, is it my writing or reading that caused her comment?

but back to the future articles. i've been doing a lot of homework, reading and what-not. i wish i had (or rod's) organizational capacity. i've acquired a few bad habits over the years. the most painful of these is my dependency upon my memory. i'm forever collecting items of trivia, quotes and comments by various people, excerpts from my readings and statistical stuff to use in my writings. the problem is, i collect these in my head instead of notating, building a reference file, etc.

this works out okay for conversational purposes, but when i have to document my ravings, accurize quotes and provide exact statistics (including references and controls), it doesn't work worth a damn. which is why i'm a better editor than writer, why i so often resort to dramatic presentations and techniques and why i am so attracted to the visual media. i really loath doing research. it seems so ridiculous. i mean, if i'm going to lie to my readers, i can just as easily document lies as truth. why not just present my subjective viewpoint and let it go at that? such is the lot of a peon, i guess.

what i'm getting to is that i ran across a book you might be interested in reading. it's called, 'sex in prison', and it's all about the conjugal visiting program in mississippi. i found nothing of significance in it that i wasn't already aware of; however, you might check it out. the guy's name is (i think) hopper, and the book was published by LSU press.

also, i've been tinkering with the idea of writing up a proposal for the creation of a 'judges' workshop'. the way i see it, judicial ignorance as to what actually happens to people entangled in the criminal justice system contributes significantly to the continued lack of change. most judges don't know the limitations of correctional facilities. they don't realize what inmates of institutions go through in terms of mental stress, psychological torture, deprivation of the barest essential human rights, etc. most have never visited a prison or reformatory except to take the 'blue ribbon tour', and many have not even done that.

added to this is the lack of any cohesive, meaningful pre-sentencing investigative facilities and/or policies. it adds up to an appalling amount of ignorance vested in people who have the power to deprive other people of their freedom. the situation is so bad that judges often send people to prison with the expectation that prison will start them on the road to a happy and successful life.

so, i think something needs to be done. i'm investigating various other organizations and associations to see what others have done/are doing/intend to do in this area. so far, the best thing i've found is the institute for court management operated by DU. it parallels what needs to be done for the judges, i.e., a quick yet comprehensive course which deals specifically with the problems at hand. will write more, later.

the lights just went out. i never get started early enough, it seems. i'll write again tomorrow. 'til then, take care.

A Kiss

i was going to write last night, but i got hung up working on a short story called "sullen ducks". hung up is nicely descriptive....you wouldn't believe the changes i go through when i try to write prose. last night, while puffing on my after dinner cigar, i got to tripping and it occurred to me that sullen ducks would be a neat title for a moody piece of fantasy. so i got up and put my head to work. by the time the lights went out, i had a rough draft worked out. now, i'm letting it simmer on the back burner of my mind. tomorrow or next week or a month from now, i'll sit down at a typewriter and....voila! it will fall together. unless, of course, it gets lost amid all the junk i've got tucked away in odd cubbyholes.

about europe....i've never been there. while working in aspen, the opportunity to go presented itself a couple of times. but, since i was on parole and not really interested, i let the idea go by. i also had a chance to go to chile for the summer skiing season. a guy i bummed around with, one of the ski patrol crowd, had a 40-foot cruiser anchored at san diego. he invited me to take off with him when the season ended in aspen and cruise down the coast to santiago. but i had to pass. i would have had to go without a passport, and i just couldn't see going through all those changes. now, of course, i kind of wish i would have split. i probably wouldn't be sitting here writing this if i had. on the other hand, i'm probably a lot better off....all things considered. no telling what might have happened to me off in the wilds of south america....

actually, i'd like to go to europe....providing i had plenty of time to follow my curiosity around. but i wouldn't want to stop. i'd want to tinker around in north africa and the middle east; then go on east. there's the balkan states and the soviet union, outer mongolia, afghanistan and - best of all - china. i'd really like to go to china. i mean, really do it right. learn chinese and bum around the provinces. i've got a hunch (like a lot of other people) that china is going to be where the action is, both socially and politically. and you know me....

but this is basically a moot conversation. unfortunately, i don't think i'll be permitted the privilege of international travel until at least 1975, and no telling what may happen between now and then. on top of which, a criminal record like mine tends to upset the customs people....both ours and those employed by other nations. of course, there's always the underground....and it's amazing the wonders which can be performed with the judicious application of the greenback dollar.

as wednesdays go, this was neither bad nor good. i've become rather tranquil of late, adjusting to the winds of time, taking pleasure in the small things because there ain't no big things to take pleasure in. the trick to doing this lies in maintaining a low profile....

i'm listening to the play-by-play of the sky-jacking which is taking place in dallas this evening. krld-dallas/am/fm has a man stationed at love field and every few moments he reports in with the latest developments. the thing making it freaky is that krld is an 'underground' station. 50,000 watt-clear channel underground if you can believe that. during the daytime hours, it's a bubble-gum format, but from 6 to 6 it's hard rock....and nothing but. the only commercials are for coke and at most 4 minutes per hour, usually less. i guess the station makes money, but i don't know how. anyway, this dude that has this airplane jacked up is a lunatic of the first order. here he is with these hostages and trying to deal with the braniff people and the fbi and lord knows who else and what does he ask for? a case of beer....and gets it! i tell you, shirl....

have you heard....no, what i mean is, do you like the bengladesh album? i know you've heard it....or at least parts of it. i think it's far out. one of the things you're going to have to do for me when i get to cgw is hustle me an fm radio. and, also, i think i'll have you rent a typewriter for me. for that, i'll provide the bread, though. the thing is, i don't think i could survive without a typewriter. (a true child of the times, eh?)

one of the things i've been doing is putting together some notes concerning the magazine thing. i dug back in my memory for the ideas i was considering previously. some of them are valid, i think, but whether they'll relate to what this cat gianuzzi has in mind i have no idea. i was thinking about a weekly news/mag based on the culture/sports & recreation/entertainment scene in and around denver. lots of color flics, a mini-tabloid format on slick stock and about 60% ads. strictly a money-making type of thing. to go with it, a weekly ½-hour tv take-off built around the feature in the mag. stick to newsstand sales, primarily, and build around 'image' ads as opposed to the retail schlock. to get the kind of coverage needed for in-depth stuff, i worked out a system of rotating the editorial staffs, utilizing a central production/continuity staff, art & pix staff and sales/promotion. with two free-lanced columns per issue plus reports from stringers in vail/aspen/and wherever, and everything else staff written (except for the occasional feature) costs could be held in line.

the denver market is ripe for something like this, a magazine that denverites and denver-based companies can identify with. plus, there's enough going on now to pull the ad revenue. by 1976, a good circulation could be built and once the tv thing got moving, what emerges is the base of a conglomerate. if, of course, a conglomerate is what you want.

and, so, you've just heard the latest from the whipping post. i'll be seeing you. 'til then, take care. peace.

Love,
Jerry

hi, luv....

i started to answer your letter last night, but writing with a pen instead of a typewriter is just too gross a task. i was especially glad to hear from you, mainly because the last word i got was that you were indisposed. i tried to promote a phone call last week, but since you're not family, it was wasted effort. i tried to explain that we are a whole lot closer than most families, but....

the camp george west situation is unreal. last week, when urich was here at the main institution, fred wyse missed talking to him about my situation. but, after a bit urging, wyse called urich friday and told him to come down monday for a conflab. then, saturday, wyse suffered a gall bladder attack with complications and checked into the hospital. no one knows when he'll be back. i've got a note in to patterson, but it looks like i'll be stuck here for yet another week or two. if i were prone to paranoia, i'd swear these people have launched a conspiracy. but i know better....it's nothing but a streak of crumbled cookies.

i heard, via george, that you are staying with ....i'm glad you have a place to park your bod. now, if you could just find a place for your wheels....and, in the process, cheer up the cop who's giving you all those tickets, you'd be in clover. george had a few comments to make about your getting fired. he asked me to explain. i told him i thought it had something to do with your inability to sound stoned and your propensity for taking christmas vacations. he also made snide reference to your 'liberated' status. have you ever met such a fucked-up broad, he asked me. i think he feels that your moving in with craig is only indicative of your need for 'masculine approval/reinforcement', that you are basically insecure and dependent upon the male of the species, and that you have a definite tendency toward acting out the 'electra' syndrome. he didn't tell me this in so many words, but it's the feeling i get talking with him. anyway, i pointed out that you probably are staying with craig because a, it's convenient, b, it's comfortable, and c, because you needed a place to stay. then i changed the subject.

your poetry is improving. i got a kick out of 'lunch adventure'. knowing you, of course, increases the impact. i can just see some poor, unsuspecting cowpoke trying to dab a loop on you for a one night stand. there he stands, splendidly decked-out in his custom-built "tony lama" boots and "resistol" stetson with its red-river-crush and 4 1/2 inch brim, his face tanned by "coppertone" and his smile "ipana" bright. he makes a casual, yet studied, move, and his figurative lariet hums through the air. his well-trained, but borrowed, quarter horse sets up, and he rushes to make the final tie; but his loop is empty. incredulous and amazed, he gawks as his quarry dances away; then turns and slinks back to the starting gate, glancing uneasily to see if anyone in the audience noticed. too bad...,he should have heeded the brand which said: "don't tred on me...."

holy shit....

.....it's thursday already! i've been trying to get this written for 3 days, but what with one thing and another....and it feels so awkward to write. i enjoyed the hell out of seeing you last saturday. even in that crappy visiting room, being able to touch you when i wished while we talked and watch the expressions on your face.....i got to thinking about it, and it struck me that we've seen each other in person only 7 or 8 times since we first met. what a ridiculous way to live! we know each other; yet, we are virtually strangers. got to do something about that....

tracked me down monday and demanded to know what the hell is going on. "your friend, --he consistently refers to you by your last name--"is sick!" a lengthy discussion ensued. he was pissed. i was hard-pressed. he commented on your behavior, calling it childish and completely immature. he seemed most upset over your failure to see him saturday. but there were other things, too--your poem (which enraged him), your use of lower case letters instead of capitals in the letter you wrote (he called it an "affectation" and i told him i thought he was over-reacting), etc. it bothered him that you told him you were staying with coomber yet still using the corona street return on your mail. it also bothered him that you wrote to him here instead of at his home address. apparently, the cretins in the mail room opened and inspected what you wrote.

naturally, he was most concerned with well-being. pointing out that craig only just managed to get out from under the spell of his mother and brother, he's worried that your antics might drag him down. i did my best to assure him that is holding his own and not in danger (apart from the fact that he may get shot by an enraged husband....but i avoided that). and when i mentioned the possibility that you may be going to san francisco, george lit up like a 300 watt bulb, immediately inquiring as to what craig's reaction to that had been. i told him was all for the idea, and the wattage increased to about a 1000.

i was called a male chauvinist pig for responding to your plight. "if she's so fucking liberated, why does she have to come running to you with her problems?" i got out of that one by resorting to logic, i.e., it's because you're liberated that you feel free to share your problems others. didn't bother to dignify such an obvious attempt at chicanery with an argument. he just looked at me with a funny look and changed the subject.

there was more of the same, but, essentially, the main point he made was that i would be well-advised to avoid your deadly embrace. i understand he wrote craig and offered the same advice. i was also given to understand that if i persisted and subsequently crashed in flames, he would not lift so much as a single finger to salvage the broken parts, which is a moot point. if i get fucked up again--with or without your help--george will undoubtedly abandon me anyway. he dislikes stupidity. and so much for that.

for my part, at least for the present, i'll continue to associate with you. i've always had a weakness for bad influences. i figure that if i'm going to have a vice, it might as well be an enjoyable sort of thing. all of which is to say that i'm not taking you (or george) too seriously. or myself, for that matter. i'm in the mood to just coast along and let my life happen. i feel like i'd be way out of line if i tried to force myself into the shape of anyone else. and i'd be just as far out of line in trying to force anyone to assume my shape. does that make sense? what i'm trying to say is that i like you in some ways and love you in some ways and that when i can help, i will. and when i can't, i won't. i've told you before, i don't mind being used, not as long as it's a reciprocal thing. but if the price gets too high, if you get too expensive, don't count on my being there, shirl. i've been battered enough trying to pay other people's dues. it's cost me damn near 10 years of my life, and maybe i've grown selfish, but from now on, i'm going to be looking out for me first. then, if there's anything left over, i'll see what i can do for others.

like you, i have to say, "keep your damn ropes off me!" maybe we say this because we have so many ropes of our own. but, at least, we recognize that we are tied to ourselves and that our ties have a greater value because they are self-imposed rather than other-imposed. do the george levy's of the world understand this? Or, understanding it, could they accept it? i sometimes wonder.

i want to get this in the mail. there are other things, but i'll save them for tomorrow or the weekend, whenever i write again. i still have heard nothing of george west, don't know what is happening there. life goes on as usual.

one more thing....do you remember the first poem i sent you when i asked, rhetorically, if the matron got thrill-chilled feeling your body, and said that i would? suspicions confirmed.

Love,
Jerry

your letter came this afternoon so i'm adding a postscript to what i wrote this morning. speaking of which, i hope the sketch i included of the talk i had with will be helpful, even though i was writing more from my point of view than objectively. that part, that i was writing from my point of view, was no doubt obvious. now, i'm wondering how it will affect you. and what your response will be. guess i'll find out.....

want a piece of free advice? quit trying to be friends with roger. i've got a hunch that both of you would feel a lot better if you would smash it all to shards. and quit trying to be innocent, you're not a little girl, you're a woman. you've been bruised, used and abused so quit trying to live up to roger's definitions of sweet and lovely. you told me once that you felt your scars added rather than detracted from your beauty....so why are you trying to cover them up? plus, there's the rip-off factor. if you really want to rub it in, let him get away with ripping you off. you think his ego's beat up and battered now; just let him find out that you care no more for his worldly goods than you did for his life-style. he'll really hate you, then! at least, if you take his money and his goods, he'll have a conventional bitch to grouse about, something he can salvage to soothe his ego. you don't have to rip him off completely, but take enough to make it hurt. and don't worry about it. that's the sort of hurt roger can cope with.

actually, i think the solution for the whole damn mess is for you and and i and, perhaps, 2 or 3 others to establish a house of ill-repute. we'll all sell our bodies, catering to the wildest perversities, and everyone will know us for what we are. as a sideline, we'll make dirty movies, peddle porno flics to 7-year-olds and dirty old men, coerce young girls into lives of sin, etc. at least, we'd have freedom in the sense that no one would expect us to abide by the petty moralities of society. and, of course, we'd all wind up in jail. but it's worthy of consideration which is more than i can say for most of the world's religions. what do you think?

another thought. i've come up with something to help the fat people of the world, the gluttons. called the 'natural' plan, it works this way. we take the subject to the local medic and have surgery done. voila! within weeks, pounds and pounds of ugly fat begin to melt away. the secret? it's the surgery. instead of taking something out, we install a couple of tapeworms in the subject's stomache. theoretically, it should work. do you know any chubby, guinea pig types?

do you ever view the world through two dimensional eyes? i've been thinking deep thoughts about the relationship between animate and inanimate perceptions, trying to establish that a) a relationship exists, and b) the dynamics of the relationship determine attitudinal behavior patterns in humans as opposed to the situational behavior patterns of primates and other mammals. the communicative deployment of energy operant within the process of perception has to be regulated; thus, premise one is established. a relationship exists between the animate and inanimate. premise two, however, is not so easy to outline. or analyze. basically, i think, it goes something like this: all thought in the human mind is, i assume, dynamic and, therefore, animate. however, the bits of energy which, in the matrix, structure perception, are inanimate and complete cycles within themselves, independent of each other. the codifying/de-codifying process regulates the mass. within the peculiarly human scope of emotional perceptions, however, a secondary dynamic system is operant which acts both in accord with and independent of the primary dynamic: in the coupling of the primary and secondary dynamics, a third dynamic emerges, and it is this which determines attitudinal behavior, regulating the stimulus/response activity related to the abstract.

if you want to know what stimulated all of that, it was thinking about your body. viewed two-dimensionally, i.e., blocking out its occupant, it takes on attributes you referred to in your poem. i'm working, of course, out of my imagination and a handy copy of playboy, but no matter. your body is quite a functional and efficient masturbation machine which is capable of producing reasonable facsimiles of both itself and the masturbator. it is not, however, unique, i.e. in the vernacular, a cunt is a cunt. but back to the artists of your poem. those men were not painting cunts, they were painting women. They were reproducing three dimensional perceptions. chauvinism, sexism be damned! they painted beauty and life, and it's unfair to charge them with their displays of what is a cultural/biological fact of their times. and that is why your poem doesn't work. technically, it's acceptable; artistically, it does not because it denies the existence of art. you've lied to me because i also have seen the paintings. "this is life, this is beauty" they said to me; not "i am a thing, use me."

as for your other poem, i'm enclosing a slightly revised version which may--or may not--suit you.

and that's all you get from me this day.

Much Love,
Jerry

8 february 72 / tuesday p.m.

hi...

for no good reason - apart from the fact that i have survived yet another day of interminable boredom - i feel kind of kinky this evening. it always sort of surprises me when i catch myself chugging happily along in the midst of all this mediocrity, hypocrisy and misery. even more startling is how isolated i've become. i used to be really gregarious, always making the rounds to find out the happenings. now, i get up, go to work, stay there all day, and come back to my cell. i'm getting as bad as craig used to be, missing meals, staying up 'til 3 or 4 in the morning, reading a lot, writing, etc. the only bad side-effects i've noticed to date is that i've upped my consumption of cigarettes and coffee to an outrageously expensive level.

so how are things with you? a foolish question....i'll probably get a letter from you tomorrow or the next day with news of the latest developments, but i'm sort of stuck for a topic. after last week's out-pouring of advice, comment and opinion (any or all of which might have been or might not have been viable), i don't have much to say. and there sure hasn't been anything worth talking about happening here.

would you settle for a thumbnail poetry lesson? since you seem to write the way i do - what with intricate structures and form as opposed to the narrative style craig and rod use - i thought maybe you might be able to use some of the same rules-of-the-dance. basically, i like the less-is-more technique of utilizing the fewest words possible. the hard part, of course, is finding the particular word which conveys the meaning you want. sometimes, it's not the specific definition of a given word; rather, it's the ambiance which adds the sought-after color. occasionally, just the sound of a word fits, a situation where the meaning of that particular word is irrelevant.

meter is just as important - if not more so - in a 'free' poem as in a ballad. in 'tight' poetry, the principle expression of meter is expressed in the poem's cadence. i've never cared enough about 'tight' poetry to learn the terms used to describe the various cadences; however, they parallel musical cadences so i have a fairly decent understanding of how they work. if you want to know for sure, ask rod. he knows that kind of stuff. anyway, in free poetry, the meter centers around thought/rhythms. this is the main reason for using abstract form, punctuation breaks, split words, etc. the visual stimulation of the form should direct traffic in the reader's mind, telling him/her when to stop and when to go and giving him/her a clue as to what interpretation should be made, what inferences should be drawn and what assumptions can be made.

back to words for a moment. i used to use a lot of jaw-breakers, but i've gotten away from the habit. for one thing, they fuck up the meter. for another, it's easy to alienate the reader if you throw a bunch of obscure words at him/her. really disagrees with me on this. he figures if the stupid lout doesn't understand the words, he won't understand the message, either. maybe, maybe not....but could it be that maybe the message is even more obscure than the words? or, perhaps, even non-existent? of course, craig and rod both prefer the blood-and-guts style epic dramas. i tend toward the vignette, the frozen moment, etc. anyway, i've found that everyday words will do the job....providing the ambiance is right.

there are some things which generally should be avoided. words ending in -ing, for instance, and the verb 'to be' in all its conjugations. asking questions is a lazy gimmick. if you do what you're supposed to do and provide the right answer with your verse, the question will be obvious and, therefore, in conflict with the less-is-more premise. there are exceptions like, for impact, asking a question which is out-of-context and completely alien to your subject. used properly, this could completely change the reader's perception of what he/she is reading. similarly, it's sometimes necessary to use -ing endings and 'to be'.

use form to untie complicated phrases; avoid multiple modifiers; a single adjective or adverb should be sufficient in most instances; watch out for prepositions, they can easily trap you into saying something you don't want to say; and - most important - don't try to escape the work of writing poetry!

i don't know any other way quite so effective as simply sitting down and tearing a poem apart and putting it back together again, repeating the process time after time until it works. i've spent six hours toiling over 30 words, arranging and rearranging, substituting, experimenting and eliminating until i got what i wanted. sometimes you wind up with nothing; other times you get a moderately nice poem for your efforts; and once in a great while, you get a gem, something really good. but the process doesn't change. you and carl sandburg share this same agony.

one more thing. try to make your images 'pop'. the trick is the ambiance, the dynamic relationship between modifier and modified, between the action expressed and the action meant.

enough of that. you probably don't know a hell of a lot more now than you did before, but maybe this will give you something to evaluate your poems with. just remember the key words: ambiance, meter, form and intent. the content you'll have to provide yourself.

still no word, not so much as a whisper, on cgw. take care of yourself and others as best you can. i'll do the same. why don't you get some pictures of yourself, craig, rod and other interesting folks and send them to me? later and love.

Jer

sklxwymphi glycwtz phuqe'ng sphlaglltxsc! ah'mglk ptuu zquek aienkliicsh, umf tianque.....sorry, luv. i forgot to turn off the scrambler. but it's probably just as well. i wasn't saying anything important, anyway. mostly just a bit of off-world invective.

has become a pain in the ass. i haven't gotten any of my letters back; have been 3 since february 3rd. if i haven't got them and you haven't gotten them who the fuck has them? probably roger or the trashman. either way, that makes a sorry motherfucker. and you can tell him i said so if you like. it wouldn't matter except that all 3 were fairly heavy. the 1st was mostly about an extended conversation i had with concerning with some of my observations and reactions thrown in. the 2nd was mostly my advice (good, bad or otherwise) and some oddball crap i had running through my head at the time. and the third was a thumbnail poetry lesson. oh, yeah, there was still another - my valentine for you and since i never make carbons of anything and because i'm not about to try and reconstruct them from memory, i guess we'll just have to write it off as one more shitty ending. fuck! not to mention having to hassle the mailroom over a change-of-address. how long, may i ask, do you intend to use this one? no, i take that back. i just feel grumpy, and there's no point in taking it out on you. do you think i could whip ? (and i dredged that up out of my playground repertoire - please, for christ's sake, don't take it seriously!) i've made a promise not to indulge in any mayhem except on the authority of home-made red-eye....and i can even get the stuff down in here.

did you know that father died? i'm sending a sympathy card. it seems like the proper thing to do....but don't ask me why. maybe i've got a distorted viewpoint, but i've never been able to get very enthused about the deaths of people i don't know. or, for that matter, about those i do know. death can be damned inconvenient, at times, and it hurts to lose someone close, but why be so fucking morbid? i mean, if you had had cancer and died, i would have been so pissed at the world i probably would have chewed up a couple of yards of barbed wire and spit out tacks. but the anger would have been selfish because i probably wouldn't give a thought to the fact of what dying did to you. i would have been mad because death had deprived me! does that sound terrible? and i would just go on living because it's what i do, no matter what happens to other people, and then, poof!, one day it'll be my ashes or bones or whatever.

(later, in what - i hope - is a better mood)

your valentines turned me on....or out....or something. i don't know, the textbooks say that all (a textbook absolute, not mine) men are fetishists. and fantasy-freaks. i think they've been poking around inside my ruins. of late, i've been considering the possibilities of becoming polymorphously perverse. or, at least, working toward that goal. it is a fiendishly impossible goal, but - of course - that's the attraction. the twin valentine thing set off all sorts of rambling thought-trips in my head.

and - in thinking about it - i think i'll wait to discuss it some other time. there's no point in freaking out the mailroom people with talk of sexual families involving 3 or more people, bi-sexual relationships, etc. it's enough to ask them to overlook my motherfuckers and such. but i have some neat thoughts (fantasies? or, rather, realizable concepts as opposed to....) which we ought to rap about one of these days.

there is one more thing to say, at this point, on this topic. george seems to get confused (?) anytime i start rapping about sexual deviancies. he has, i think, a tendency to mis-read my talk on the grounds that since i'm a tree-jumper, i automatically have no ability to discern fantasy from reality, and that if i can't make my fantasies become reality, i react by making reality fit my fantasy(ies). tain't necessarily so. what i'm trying to say, albeit not very successfully, is that, for the moment, i'm very much into the possibilities of what you and _ and i could do together, both sexually and non-sexually. but, at the same time, it is more of an intellectual exercise rather than a projection of the future. my intentions, as the saying goes, are honorably scientific. it could be, we might work something out at some point hence. but if not, it won't be a major trauma, at least, not on my part. in any case, this ought to give the two of you something to yak about. not to mention my ever-faithful guardians.

still, there has been no word of i've more-or-less adopted the position of to-hell-with-it. and i'm concentrating my energies on getting a work-release program together (a job, a parole program, money, etc.). i'm almost afraid to list you as a resource person....what do you think?

tell everyone hello. and why don't you get some pictures of everyone and send me. bob warren was over to see heavy and i'm envious as hell over his hair/beard/life-style/etc. and i'll try to scuffle up a reasonable facsimile of the valentine thing i fixed for you and craig and send it tomorrow or the next day.

Love, Jerry

16 february 72 / p.m.

i know what you mean. your friday/saturday words had the ring of an open minor 9nth....do you know music well enough to recognize the chord/i can't explain the way it feels/grab a piano and strike C-below-middle-C, E-flat, G-above-middle-C, B and D; then try to imagine doubling the mid-range E-flat, the bass C in octaves and extending the B and D to the upper register/do you hear it? Now, resolve it through a 2-minor, 5-7/1 cadence going to E-flat-major-7th, and you'll be into the 'B' section, minor-to-major.

the kkfm thing/i knew about it last week/mark mentioned it to bob w./got an idea. you've been beating your head against the establishment's phali-inscribed wall, right? and you haven't made a sale, right? could be you're selling the wrong product. or, rather, not the wrong product, but the wrong package. or, maybe, you've been knocking on the wrong door. or whatever....anyway, if you can stand the thought of living on peanut butter and day-old bread and crashing wherever there's a place to crash, etc., here's what you do.

start a free-lance, one-woman news service. syndicate yourself in the metro area/ make yourself a personality. gear yourself to cranking out 4/5-minute spots weekdays and catch the weekend crowd with a 15-minute summary of local issues. concentrate on issues, in-depth and/or odd viewpoints on the 'hard' news developments, make yourself a columnist/editorialist/commentator. denver's own paul harvey, if you get what i mean.

now comes the hard part. obviously, the denver radio people aren't going to be going all out to help you get off the ground. but money talks. so you're going to need a sponsor, someone with a pocketfull of bread and a jock strap full of balls. to get a sponsor, you're going to have to do some demonstration work and you're going to have to knock on doors. and, to avoid the pitfall of sponsor interference, you're going to need more than one. then, when you get a sponsor, you can approach the stations with ad bread backing you.

your best selling point is that you are naturally insane. if you expect to make it, your insanity will have to be with you wherever you go, a constant companion. the more outrageous you become, the greater your appeal....providing you don't get totally obnoxious. be eccentric, be arrogant, be demanding. you're going to be selling primarily to men; make them play the butterfly to your candlefire. and never, never, never, never compromise. make it your ballgame or take the ball and go home.

does it sound tough? it will be, and if you plan to do it, you'd better bring your ass down here and have a long, long talk with me. jumping into this would confine you a hell of a lot more than being married did. but it would also free you in a way.

personally, i think you could make it....but you might not like the terms. you're going to have to stop talking liberation and begin living liberated, not just in the bedroom, but all around the block. and, when you hear some man complaining about your feminine stupidity, you're just going to have to grin and bear it until some point in the future when your credibility as a news person/opinion maker gets established. you're going to have to work 12/16/20-hour days and learn to manage your business on the run, etc., etc., etc. i could give you a 1,000 reasons why you shouldn't even try, but if you want to make it, this is the only way i can see it going. it's pretty plain that the establishment won't give you a break; enough on that.

on ambiance: the qualitative/quantitative/and/inferred aura/context of a given word. rose-colored glasses vs. rose-tinted glasses is an example. the first has the ambiance of unreality; the second has overtones of femininity-high fashion-eccentricity or affectation. another example: make love, not war vs. let's fuck, not fight. the first is low-keyed and passive; the second is action oriented. verbs are more ambiant than nouns. there is a masculine ambiance to some words, a feminine ambiance to others. few are neutral. consider the movie title, "two mules for sister sarah"/see the ambiance? two donkeys for sister sarah? no. two horses for sister sarah? no. two beasts for sister sarah? definitely, no. it had to be mules. first there is the word-play, mules/males; then, in the reader's mind, "but mules are neuter", i.e., incapable of mounting a sexual threat to a sister of the cloth. reaction? a safe, unthreatening ambiance for the female (a categorical 'female') movie goer; yet, there is a hint of sexuality and taboo for the randy male (as defined by madison avenue). result? good box office receipts. never mind that shirley maclaine and clint eastwood were the stars, the movie would have never made a dime if it hadn't been for the title. see what i mean about ambiance?

on prepositions: i can't really explain why, it just seems that free poems 'pop' better without them. i think it has to do with rythmic impact, the jolting feel of solid thought-images slamming into the brain without the social/civilized shock absorbers "of the....", "in a....", "without....", but don't quote me. i think i tend to substitute form in place of prepositions, at least part of the time, but i can't say whether it's a good or bad practice.

on 'to be': again, i really don't know why. i think it's a hangover from writing prose (the journalistic kind) where it's not proper to make statements without providing justification. in the case of poetry, if the justification exists, then why use the 'to be' since the context should portray the essence without an overt comment. but it doesn't always work.

tomorrow, i guess i'm going to have to get my locks trimmed. i've really been getting hassled about it for the past couple of days. jesus, these people have really got to be crazy, i mean, you'd think they'd have something more important to worry about than the length of somebody's hair. fuck! but, of course, the point could always be made that i'm over-reacting to the stimulus. it's just that, having so little, i feel like i have to make the most of what i've got. and certainly that doesn't apply only to my hair!

speaking of relating to things, i could get into being able to take extended talk trips with you. your point of wondering what i will be like when i get out is, i think, a very viable question. how much of me is a reaction/reflection/projection of this tight, confined and stable environment called prison? i really can't say. but it is one of the things i'm really looking forward to finding out. drat! i'm out of room. and more than one sheet of paper isn't permitted. until....

TO PRISONERS: Don't interline.

23 february 72 / p.m.

hello, luv.....

the madness has subsided. it will, no doubt, flare once again....by which time i fully intend to be elsewhere....but, for the moment, things are cool. and there doesn't seem to be any point in further comment except to say that i survived the hostilities and mayhem.

one of my letters sent to you at the above address came bouncing back yesterday. i'm enclosing it, mainly because i can't bear the thought of discarding so many of my words....even though it's not one of my better efforts. hopefully, you will have informed the post office of your presence at 1120 by now. might i suggest that you take steps to acquire a p.o. box? in view of your currently mobile life-style, it would seem a most logical and pragmatic move....

sunday was....interesting. having both you and within touching distance did nice things for my head (read: my masculine, sexist ego), but i also found it a bit unnerving. the two of you are so different: you react physically and quickly while absorbs things, mulls them over in her mind and then reacts or not as the mood strikes her. it makes conversation difficult, especially in a place like the wunnerful, wunnerful csp visiting room where there just isn't anything to relieve the awkward moments. i was really surprised at the disparity between the way i normally converse with you and the way i normally converse with i mean, i tell you things i don't tell her and vice versa. that's normal, i guess, but it just hadn't occurred to me prior to sunday. to be honest, i was relieved when you took off to go see . i had (and still have) much to talk with you about, but....next time.

i have been doing some serious scuffling. i've enjoyed just about as much of this place as i can handle, you know? and so i'm going to go someplace: M.S. or where-ever. Urich was down yesterday from cgw. he sent word to me that he'll be getting in touch in the near future so there may be something happening there. i hope so.

i heard on the news tonight that the abortion legislation got committeed out of existance. too bad. and did you hear about the idiot from durango who hung a rider on the increased-pay-for-released-felons bill? it's really swell. they'll probably give us the $100 instead of the $25 we now get....but $75 of it will have to be spent under the supervision of a parole officer. ain't america great? the land of the free and all that!

the lights are about to go out, so i'll cut this and write again tomorrow. love from the rapist-in-residence. pax.

Jerry

Your letter finally caught up with me. I was able to borrow a typewriter so I'll answer it. I just can(t get into writing with a pen, it just isn't something I can do with any sort of competence. And this kind of ties into what you were saying when you pointed out the difference between the 'in person' jerry and the 'lexographic' me.

Like you, I noticed a discrepancy....but it isn't just me. You're also different when I talk to you than when you write. Partially, I attribute the sometime awkwardness to the restrictive place where we have to visit. But there's more. When I write, I have time to consider what I am saying and to shape my words. I rarely sit down (like I am trying to do now) and just write. I sometimes spend an hour or more on the letters I write you. This, of course, allows me to sound more rational/coherent than I am. When I'm sitting across from you in the visiting room, I don't have time to think. Is it any wonder I sound different? Oddly enough, with Carol it's just the opposite. She has visited me so much and written so infrequently that she finds my letters weird and scary. I don't guess there's much that can be done until I get out. Then we'll see if you can stand me (and vice versa) in free world circumstances.

I find that I am enjoying MS much more than I anticipated....almost to the point that I wish I'd come out some time ago. I have a lousy job (would you believe I've been put to work in the slaughterhouse?) but really it's not so bad. The work is hard. Today, for example, after I finished the regular work, I helped out unloading a semi-truck load of barley. I haven't done anything like that in 8 or 9 years. But I find I can still handle a shovel with the best of them. And I feel good. Coming in tired at night is still a strange enough feeling to be enjoyable.

There are some neat people out here, also, and that helps my head. During the last month or so I spent inside, I just couldn't talk to anyone. But I find there are several people who I can relate to. Plus, there's a generally relaxed feeling a round. This morning, when I went to work, I just walked out the gate and got on a truck and split. No hassels from the cops (and this is the rule rather than the exception). They just leave people alone and let us do our thing or whatever.

N o hassels from the cops (and this is the rule rather than the exception). They just leave people alone and let us do our thing or whatever.

I've been playing music again, too. The equipment here isn't as good as the stuff inside, but it is tolerable....especially since I play only for my own enjoyment. And that's enough on this place.

was here Sunday. It was really good seeing her after such a long (3 weeks) dry spell. We got into talking about her feelings toward men, particularly who split Monday. She said it was really nice to be 'free' of his influence. She was talking about the way men manipulate their women, and the subtle exploitation which occurs. I had to come to the defense of us males. Though I didn't deny that manipulation/exploitation occurs, I pointed out that it also occurs the other way around. Women also exploit their men. She said it wasn't the same, but I disagree. The method may be different; the results are the same.

I talked with some of the people here about going to CGW. Nothing of consequence emerged, although I did find out that I've been approved for work release....providing of course that the parole board will give me a parole. So, I guess I'd better start scuffling for a substantial and definite place of employment. I plan on writing to Dave Sumner at Colorado Magazine sometime this week and find out what kind of arrangements they can make. Also, I'm going to make some other inquiries. No telling what might turn up.

What have you heard about San Francisco? Anything positive? I'll send your poems to you tomorrow or the next day when I can get some postage money together. I think you'll like what I did with a couple of them, although will probably scream like a wounded buzzard.

Tell that I'm doing what I can to get him and on my mailing list. They're pretty reasonable about things like that out here. Also, tell hello. Why don't you bring her along the next time you come down? She's not on my visiting list, but - again- they're a little more reasonable hear than they are in the walls. Usually, if someone comes who isn't on someone's list, they'll usually let them in one time unless they're drunk, loaded or otherwise incapacitated. It'd probably do some good to get out of the house and away from the kids for a few hours. And I know I'd get a bang out of seeing her. would probably scream double bloody murder if he ever found out, but screw .

And now I'm going to bed. I'm tired. I'll write again later this week since I'll probably get a letter from you soon. Give my best to everyone....

Much love.

Pax,

Jerry

i am slightly pissed....yet another of my letters came back marked addressee unknown....can't you do something about letting the post office know where you're at? i mean, there doesn't seem to be much point in my writing if you're not getting the letters.

which reminds me....has the hassel with p.o. concerning your presence been resolved? i assume it has, but you haven't mentioned it. i didn't think to ask when you were down last week. i just got the letter you wrote last saturday. know what i think? you're trying too hard. the guy in san francisco liked your talk tape, right? it's my guess that the audition tape you sent lacked the spontaneity of your talk tape rap. ergo, you're pushing when you should be backing off. if i were hiring a news reporter, i'd be more interested in hearing a routine rap rather than something which had been especially prepared. my suggestion, for what it's worth, is that you should do a half-dozen carts over a period of three days, just as if you were working for tony or bob or kfml. maybe you could even talk tony into 'hiring' you for a week of special reports (gratis) so what you do will get an air play. then take the best 3 carts and send them to san francisco. the guy out there may not like them, but he won't be complaining about your lack of confidence....

i'm settling into a fairly comfortable routine. already the work i'm doing is having positive effects on my body, and my head is in much better condition. i'm playing music everyday. one of the guys has a Hofner bass (the kind paul mccartney plays), and i've been scheming like a madman, trying to figure out some way of buying it from him. i don't want to wish any bad luck on the guy, but i hope he gets uptight for money or gives up playing or something because it's really a beautiful ax. if i can get it for $50 or something like that, i'll grab it in a hurry. you never can tell, i might get hard up and have to go back to working as a musician to feed my face.

don't worry about the typewriter thing....i have access to this one for the time being....and every now and then somebody has to sell one. most times, a guy can pick up a standard (old but in good working condition) for $15 or $20. that beats street prices. plus, i may be getting one from the state pretty soon.

i talked with some of the people here about starting a weekly scandal sheet. they seemed to think it was a good idea. it'll probably take a month or so to get it set up (they have to create a job classification, get a repro machine of some sort, etc.), but it looks like a good thing. i'll be back to my old ways of running around everywhere sticking my nose into everything. i don't mind my current job. i'm learning how a slaughterhouse operates and how to butcher various animals and all that. it's information. i don't know that i'll every use it, but what the hell....

also, i'm doing some model building....geodesic domes and whatnot. i've decided to construct a model of an elliptical, free-form gymnasium and theatre complex. they plan to build something like that here in the near future so i figured i'd show them how to do it for less money and with style. considering that the state is building it, my ideas probably won't get much play, but it's something we'll (craig, rod, shirley, carol, et al) be looking into in the future so my mucking about may be useful eventually. the way i see it, ferrocement, stone and glass would make a far out, practical and interesting type of institutional architecture, much more rehabilitative than the current mode. i'll keep you posted on developments; may call on rod to run some math calculations through his computer. wish i had access to his geometric abilities, math has never been my cup of tea.

also, the have a TV setup here....inch and half-inch VTR's, cameras, a studio, mixing board, etc. color, too. they are very touchy about who they let play with their stuff, but i'm negotiating to do a few things just in case i get stuck here for the duration. i don't think that's going to happen, but in the meantime, i'm covering the bets.

you might mention to that they have a drama workshop working out here. is the guiding light, however dim or bright the light might be. (hello, how are you my friend?) and tell rod that i'm still working on the mailing list thing....but it's slow.

it's getting to be about bedtime, so i'll have to cut this loose. i was just getting ready to mail the other poems to you, but i'll wait til monday morning and return the latest one, also. i think you're getting better, luv, but may disagree. keep chucking.

one more thing....i think you're beginning to get into knowing what craig and rod and i refer to when we say we have to get together. it's not what we say so much, just that we say it. also, i've gotten recharged by you and by the switch in places. i'll make it now. those last few weeks inside, i was having doubts.

all my love, lovely lady. catch you later. pax.

Jerry

this will be short.....i send it in the hope you will get it because i'm enclosing your poems, the ones i sent once before, plus your latest. i got your letter and a card from yvonne/gary yesterday. acknowledge the latter for me, and tell them i will write within the week.

i saw doing her thing on the front page of the post. you might tell her that her mug shots are more presentable than mine would have been. i say mug shots because that's about the only service the post provided. they certainly didn't go out of their way to print any of her comments. that's really fucked up. surely more women read the post than do chicanos. jim valdez is a pretty cogent dude, but it seemed he said nothing so startling as to deserve all the space he got.

i didn't see newsweek, but i got a copy of time....assume the coverage was in parallel. sometimes i think the two mags are published out of the same office. time's slant was muddy. one article seemed 'right on'; the next 'what are these crazy broads trying to prove?' somehow it struck me as being super wishy-washy and very much a reluctant exploration.

what was all that about the karate lessons? i trust you're not planning an assault on my poor old beat-up body? quite honestly, i could not make the connection between the growth of the movement, your taking lessons in unarmed combat and my proclivity for jumping out of trees. if you're trying to tell me something, for christ's sake just tell me! and if your 'asking' if i am contemplating raping you (or anyone else), the answer is no. i anticipate problems; however, the masculine sex role thing (expertise in doing the right thing at the right moment) should not be too difficult to learn. as i understand it, practice does wonders. i've grown enough to handle the associated refusals/embarrassments/etc. that accompany the learning process. and if worse comes to worse, i'll just sign up for anti-karate lessons. seriously, shirl, i'm pretty sure i'll be able to handle things with (as the beatles say) a little help from my friends. enough.

work proceeds. i was outside today, working on the muscle end of a pick-and-shovel routine, sweating like a half-fucked fox in a forest fire and digging it. no pun intended. if the routine continues, i'll be disgustingly healthy by summer's end.

got to go wash my socks. come see me when you can, send the flics, write, and do all the other things there are to do. later.

Much Love, Jerry

hi....

i half-expected a letter from you today. since i didn't get one, i assume you have been busy....right on. i have been busy, too, excluding the past weekend which i spaced out, and the days are mostly good. i hope yours are the same.

the research thing is beginning to move, albeit at a snail's pace. tee-shirt and i have been doing mechanical things like getting the psych jackets of the 100 rapo's pulled and putting together individual files on each subject (vital stats, previous tests, previous convictions, etc.). it's tedious work and i hate it, but it has to be done. now is a good time to do it while we wait for the information we need to complete the project design.

i talked with a member of the forensic team from the state hospital who indicated he might be able to help interview the rapo's. also, we are contacting bill ross, head of the correctional psychiatric section at csh. i know bill, i've talked with him on numerous occasions. he has his head screwed on right when it comes to treating sex offenders. he wrote a book on the subject. i hope he will be able to offer some comment on what we're doing, and perhaps let tee-shirt and i take a look at what goes on at the hospital. and i'm anxious to hear what dr. selkin had to say.

i saw the article in the post last week about the lecture at d.u. i agree/disagree. the first part of his advice seems sound, the part about staying calm and rational. the second part i question. what happens if the rapist isn't completely disabled or if he recovers before the victim can flee or get help? secondly, what happens if the rapist isn't apprehended? his next victim won't have a chance. add to this the probablity that such an experience would tend to reinforce the rapist's motivation/justification for rape. i think i would have to go along with dr. selkin. either blow it from the get/go by screaming and raising general hell, or submit gracefully and become the aggressor, the technique i outlined to you before.

here's something you and and : can chuckle about. i have become disgusted with my ignorance to the point where i may weaken and go to school if i ever get out of here. i wrote last week to a woman at loretto heights re the university without walls program. it seems they are trying to get some funding to underwrite the cost of sending people like me to college. from the information i have, the program looks ideal. i have the credentials to enroll, and the research study/book project will serve as a skeleton on which to put some meat. plus, there's that all important item: no required courses outside of my self-selected program.

this possibility, however, is very much contingent on the funding UWW is seeking. at $60 per credit hour, i don't think i could handle the cost without mucho help, muy mucho help. i'll keep you posted on developments.

was down last week. it was good to see her. she still is weighted down with the complications of her mom's death, and it doesn't seem likely that they will go away quietly. just before she died, mom had been trying to fix it for to go to school this fall at mill's college. when she died, some of her friends stepped in and are putting together a scholarship fund for . isn't very comfortable with the obligation, but....

came with seeing her was really nice, it was the first time she's been down since late last summer. we got into a big argument about the lawyers guild and its fight against behavior modification programs. it was a scene. we were shouting at each other and the visiting room was crowded and people were looking, cops were getting upset....we had a good time.

i may not be here too much longer. about a month ago, when it became apparent that nothing was going to happen re getting on early board, i put in another application for work release. today, jerry curtis told me that i had been granted w.r. contingent on available bed space. i still haven't received the official notice on it, so i remain skeptical. in any case, it will probably take 6 or 8 weeks before i even get to pre-parole and another 3 before actually starting work. but it's a start, and it means that the parole board is inclined to give me some play. that's my main concern at this point, even though being able to work for awhile before i get out will be a definite help.

i've got to get some sleep, so i'll wrap this up. take care.

Much Love
Jerry

while getting the machine warmed up, i'll tell you that my grandparents just celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. i've been negotiating for permission to call and congratulate them....it seems the right thing to do. they are a couple of neat people, and they've had to scuffle all their lives....perhaps that's the reason they're still happy and spry after 60 years of living together. they certainly have been doing something right....

i was hesitant about sending the last letter. i tried to inject levity into the topic of your karate lessons; it didn't come off....oh, well, next time. considering tony's source, the response he got when mentioning my name wasn't surprising. i can barely tolerate preachers under the best of conditions, and i've had several hassels with the resident men of the cloth. if my guess is correct, tony talked with riske (who is, without question, one of the duds of the century)..riske and i had a misunderstanding involving some money several years ago, and he came out on the short end. i didn't cheat him or anything like that, but since then he has had no use for me. which is ok....i didn't have any use for him in the first place.

you've sort of inundated me with fertile topics: since i can only write a 1-page letter, what i'm going to do is just start and as each page is completed, mail it. this is another of the silly regulations which i cannot fathom; however, as mr. king said, we shall overcome. i find i prefer our 'paper & ink' conversation, awkward though it may sometimes be, far and above 99/100's of the 'real' conversations i have (the exceptions being you, , & & , and a few of the heads around this place). anyway, what i started to say, was that your letters are really welcomed. you have a knack for bringing my view of life at csp into a more tolerable perspective. plus, there is a certain mystique which surrounds your life that i find both amusing and invigorating.

it's snowing. one of the nicer things about ms is the bigger cells (if care was taken, you could just about park a volkswagen in one) which have windows that can be opened. i've been sleeping about 100% better because of the fresh air. (now, if i/just manage to squeeze in a bed-partner....)

could

i talked briefly with today. he is struggling to get out one more issue of the magazine. he is scheduled to be reviewed by the work release board wednesday; i hope they give him a play. i have the feeling that if were to devote a little effort when gets out, he could very well make it. i say that because one of the few people i know who has a longer record than mine. he's never really had anyone who cared about him enough to really help him and stick around during the rough times. i don't care to speculate as to whether wants (or could handle) that responsibility, but i'd like to see her try. i suspect the experience would be good for her....which balances things nicely.

about ....i don't know. i have ambiguous feelings: i don't like her. she strikes me as being a confused, self-centered bitch, very much the 'show biz' girl, hard & brittle & phony. true, she's talented, but to the point to justify her ego? i don't think so. and i think she knows it....but won't admit it, not to herself. then, too, she is one of those women who thrives on abuse. in the brief dealings i had with her (a point which makes much of this more-or-less impertinent), i reached the conclusion that in a man/woman relationship, she would push/push/push until she got a left hook to the mug/bounced off the wall/etc. then, having been put in her place, she would be happy until the next time she felt un-adored. as a person, she comes on as being artificial and superficial, not ready for love/warmth/affection. i get the feeling she wants to be worshiped/denegrated. i don't think she deserves craig; plus, i think she could harm him. craig (hi, buddy) is predisposed to getting involved with her (afterall, she's very much like Ruth Ann); and ruth ann didn't do wonders for his mental health or his behavior. if carol ann falls into the surrogate mama role, craig could very possibly revert old behavior patterns in dealing with her. and that just ain't too good. perhaps he can handle it; perhaps, he can't. i just hate to see him wasting the effort trying to salvage her. she just isn't worth the cost.

on the other hand, i'm not at all sure i have any right to say anything. i really don't know carol ann that well....she scares the hell out of me if you want to know the truth....and i might be over-reacting because i don't like her. then, too, there are certain traits which you have which carol ann also has: talent, a lot of professional ambition, low lows & high highs, a certain ruthlessness when dealing with people, high-energy intensity, sexual attractiveness with overtones of availability. the ambiguity comes in because i like you. the traits i mentioned come out positively where you're concerned. are negative....or perhaps simply misused....or perhaps it's my perception of them....but there are other opinions similar to mine. , for what it's worth, concurs.

your poem (and f's comments) lead me to believe that you are more than a little concerned. san francisco could (from one point of view) become an escape hatch, very convenient. like i said at the beginning of this....i don't know. we'll just have wait and see how things pop. all things considered, it might simplify things somewhat if i were to get out at the same time carol ann arrived on the scene....or would it?

to be continued: for tonight, thanks for the kiss. i'll collect when you come down. speaking of which, don't bring a picnic, not yet.

Business Letter

July28, 2

Dear

If I could explain why it has taken me so long to respond to you, it probably would not have taken me so long...the cummulative error of missing you when down seeing Jerry is even more enigmatic to me.

But I'm proud that I've finally managed it, though a wary eye remains on the cause of delay.

Thank you for sending me a copy--or the copy--of the poem. Did you finally, ever, use it and was there a response of any sort...what context did you use it in (if you did), and upon hindsight, do you think it was employed validly...

Read Angela's thing in TUM. I've a bias against pen-names. It's a facade of sorts, a protective covouring if you will. And when one uses same as an element in her action against precisely the same phenomena (for surely, masculinity and femininity are cultural facades created for individuals to wear as protective covouring in order to perpetuate the cultural mystique and on and on...) I become caveat. Regardless of your rationale, which no doubt is valid, the dynamic remains the same. As in logic, it's not so much the different elements inserted into the sentence or phrase structure, but it is, entirely, the form--and you can't get around that if you're to be valid in your argument, as well as convincing.

Convincing you are--to those who have already been convinced. It seems the paradox inherent in causes is that they are useless unless the whole they are a part of changes as well.

JN-1276

As in penal reform, ecological reform--any kind of reform movement--women's liberation is a concretistic reflex trying to apply to an abstract context. They just don't work unless everything else is--and that perhaps should be more the focal point....perhaps not.

But there is feedback. It's what I like most; ergo, what I try to supply. I wish I could be more definitive, but letters are not place for spontaneous thought--there is no immediate feedback, its most important facility--and I'llleave them to someday...

which should be soon...

maybe.

Peace,
Craig

s. I just come across this quote which may intrigue ou. PIERRE CHODERLOS de LACLOS said in Les Liaisons angereuses, "A woman must have a pretext in giving herself to a man. What better than to appear to be ielding to force?" I would say the important aspect here s not woman giving to man or visa versa, but that a "pret" needs be established whose most favorable contingency "force." You see, then, you automatically involve an ✓ ntire cultural ethos which cannot be modified by mething as specific as a singular cause. To place anything ut secondary importance on job opportunities for women is bound in the force of a cultural structure imbued with a ontingency set common & impinging on all substructures. More omen having more jobs will change nothing -- their presence n be ignored as easily then as it is now -- until the underlying remises in form are altered. You're dealing w/ FORMS, not philosophic or even, so much, values. —— Craig

Dear Mrs. :

Your letter of June 1st to Warden Patterson has been referrend to me since the Warden is presently away from his office.

Thank you for your interest in attending the Drama Workshop and in writing to us regarding your impressions of this group.

I also note your interest in having Mark Warner appear on your radio program on either June 12th or 19th. I appreciate your interest in providing this type of program; however, at the present time we have no facilities whereby inmates can be taken to appear on radio programs and this has not been done in the past.

At the present time I would have to deny this appearance for Mr. Warner and trust you will understand the position that we must take regarding this request.

Very truly yours,

Dear Abby!

Hello There, remember me? I'm the real-live bank-robbing, dope smoking, super sinner of a convict from Canon City. Actually, I'm a frog molester. I molest young tadpoles before they reach puberty. Hardly anything your listening audience would appreciate as it's rather dull ripping-off tadpoles anyway. My secret desire has always been to star in a prono movie but they turned me down when they saw my body and told me I looked to much like Sophie Tucker in drag. Jesus Christ, This is getting ridiculous.

Nice to hear from you. I wasn't quite sure you had recovered from your last trip down here yet but I see you have sufficiently got it together. So, you met Fred Wyse. Wonderful little old bald-headed man isn't he. I forgot to warn you I don't hold a a very warm spot in his heart, in fact, I think he hates me. I went to him on one occasion to ask for my good time that I had lost on various trips I made to the hole, and he looked me straight in the eye and said, "You've got to be kidding."

I also understand you and the woman who runs CWCI didn't actually get along to well either. Oh well, maybe the world isn't ready for you or me yet.

Can you read this? Congratulations, your doing better than I am. Since I can't type your stuck with what has been ~~desc~~ described as some of the best pre-school penmanship available to this date. My mother think I should have been a doctor. All Jewish mothers thin you should be something your not. You should of heard her when she busted me with a bacon + tomatoe Sandwich.

This probely isn't making much sence and might seem kind of stupid and childish but I do it to more or less keep my sanity, The less I think seriously about this place the better off my head is.

75-03545

Note: I was reading an article in TUM and came across a story called "Needed: Broadcasting Broads". nice article this chick wrote. You two have something in common, in fact so much in common its kind of ridiculous. I guess Angele is as good a name as any if you can understand where I'm comming from.

Also, you are being invited to another big bash at CSP on July 31 from 7:00 to 10:00 P. Another wild party is being thrown if you would like to come down and spend a few hours searching for your back-stabbing, cop-hatting, mother-in-law killing convict. I'm sure somebody here fills the bill.

I think we got the records, We haven't recieved them yet but they must be here because they don't want to give them to us. Understand that one!

I've had you added to my visitors and correspondence list also in case you feel like saying something prolific or are out here visiting the rocks.

Again, its late at night and I must close for now before I pass out. Hope to rap to you more about Women's Lib because your right, all I know about it is what I read in the press and see on TV and to be quite honest with you, they seem to be making all women's libers look like cigar smoking tatooed bull-dykes. What the fuck! That can't be true After all how many women do you know who smoke cigars? Please don't take this letter too seriously as my insurance policy dosen't cover being killed while I'm in prison. let me know If you want to come Down the night of the 31ST for the party.

later + peace,
Maric

I think I've found a dog for your dog. Her name is tracy and she's a nympho. The only trouble is tha she's crazy about oral sex.

note: read over this letter I find it rather hard to believe that I wrote it.

Dear Shirl,

It was really beautiful seeing you today. As a matter of fact, seeing you and Anette made my whole day. Also received your letter this afternoon. You write the longest short letters I've ever read. I take it Jerry Didn't make it down. Your right, they would have crucifyed him and It would have only added insult to Ingery. Unfortunately Rape is looked at as an unforgiveable crime and In many instances it properly is but everybody seems to forget that rape is usually a mental disorder resulting from some sort of fear of women, In Jerry's case, his mom. Hate plays a big part but I feel that most people fear what they hate because it poses a constant threat to their own being of security. So much for that, aeechhhhhhh.

Yeah, I guess we think alot of the same things are funny. I thinked we laughed as much today as ever. And don't worry about being crude, I like you that way. Its very refreshing to know that you can joke about certain thing's others isn't and still can tell a person when to get fucked. I like that. You are a very Interesting person and I would hate to see you change. I dig you the way you are. In the case of the the walls I think its just a simple case of pure envy. Mos of them don't know how to express how they feel or are still lost in the illusion that a woman is dependent on a man, when in most cases, is untrue. A liberated chick is something most men don't understand because they fell it poses a threat to their masculinity ← misspelled (whoohj) and there fore falling into the sissy class. From what I can pick up, this whole trip about womans lib is trying to wake up sleeping America and make it realise that women are just as important as the male member. Unfortunately its run into some very adverse conditions such as the press and so forth. I'm, Oh Fuck, I'm getting lost into something that I really don't know much about yet, but I'm learning. In the mean time, just don't change.

Congratulation on your award. What did you receive? Don't tell me, let me guess, a season ticket to Lakeside. Wonderful.

Well, I've got 10 hours a 23 minuets until I'm out. Your right. I need to get away from the power structure and athordome figures.

Also, out of the 6 thousand some flowers that are here, they really jacked me up over what Annette took. Petty, Huh. I almost felt like telling him what he could do with his fucking flowers but good taste and a longing to be free

Be Cool and I'll see you

GREETINGS, Seems as I SHOULD ALSO SAY I'M SORRY, I WASN'T THERE SATURDAY NIGHT EITHER. SOME BULLSHIT ABOUT THE ORDER GETTING LOST, MAKES SENCE, They LOOSE JUST ABOUT EVERYTHING around Here.

JUST recieved your letter today (Wenesday). Mail isn't to fast arround here either. Score two

As a matter of fact, no I didn't Think about The fact that I might be using you or that you would be angry. To Tell the truth, I wasn't aware that you would Have to go throught all that shit til the night it Happen ED. Seems As that was the premice to get me in ~~for~~ the party and It was thought of by somebody else other than Myself. By no means do I wear a white Hat, But this time I'm NOT Guilty. I'm sorry anyway, I Know It was uncalled for, I personaly did'nt dig everybody asking me If they could have their picture taken with you either But I think something like that is for you to decide. I don't run anything or anybody and thats the way I like it. IT STILL pissed me off though. (In case you Haven't noticed they don't Censor my mail anymore)

Butter
Just wanted to see if my pen would write through it.

I've always wondered if you enjoyed coming down to Canon City and now my ideas have been Founded, You Hate it. Far-out. Actually, IF you Hate it that much why do you still Come down? I always got the feeling there ~~was~~ was something you wanted to say but were afraid to say it. Thats a drag. I enjoy talking to you and think you have some very profound statements to make but I'm still waiting

For the big Bomb. Some how this paranoia that your talking about has put up a barrier and the real you isn't coming out around here. I'DE REALLY likes to GET to know the true Shirley Giellis. She seems like a care free, fun loving person In her letters and such an uptight Chick in person. Sigmund Freud I'm not so please don't take ~~offence~~ offence to what I've said But theres something missing here. I hope you'll let your guard down when you come up. Its much ~~Greers~~ out here. You will still find some Asshole who is going to try and stare straight Through your Clothes but That probely isn't anything new. We can go some were to talk where you can blow your soul. Also I have a bad tendentsy to do the same kind of ~~Stuff~~, so....

Yeah, I noticed we had a lot more fun than most people. Why feel guilty? I felt so good it was pathetic. they tell me you aren't suposed to feel good while your in prison but thats B.S. I've had some really good times while I've been here and have learned a lot of thing that maybe would have taken me 10 or 15 years to find out in ignorant America. But it still boils down to the ~~fact~~ that I'm still a 23 year Old Kid (childish even) with dreams and Ideas without the vagist idea how to put them to use. note: my spelling must be worse than yours. As I reread this I'm wondering what I said.

Yes, the system is sick, sick, sick.

As usual, I'm running out of paper with about a million ~~other~~ things to say. Thanks for your tips on the sexuall movement. I'm not really as nervous (3 wow did I mess that up.) as I seem and attitudes were changeing back in 1968 when I was last out in the great society. If you can, let me know just what day you'll be here so I can set it up. But take care of all your Business first because this is supposed to be a relaxed

Aug, 10, 1971

Shirl,
Now that I have your attention:

Hi there. How the hell are you? Been on your bycycle to Lakeside lately? I'm really sorry we didn't have more of a chance to rap at the party but I guess Jerry had a lot to take care of. Its to bad that guy doesn't know how to relax and forgit business once in awhile.

I've written a letter to the FCC To scedyal a date for me to come to Denver to take my test. The people out here don't want to have me go down unless they know I'm going to take the test for sure and not sneak off to have sexual relations with somebody. Its be so long I've probly forgotten how. When I was out last the still believed kissing made you pregnant.

Are you still coming down for the music ~~Festival~~ if you can stop by before you [redacted] maybe they will let me show you around. I'll be at the festival also. They will probably take me in about 6:00.

Will write later. When I come take the test will stop by the station. Can I get a tour?

See you Sat. beautiful lady

Peace & Love

Mark

P.S. Sorry for the mess

i got your packet. i haven't read the book and doubt if i will. i've lost/abandoned interest in the topic. from what i read in papers and magazines, the banner has been picked up and people are doing things to implement change. i leave it to them and you.

thanks for including the copies of dsg. i read them and passed them on. people enjoy them....or the misery of seeing what they're missing. i hope your pay is commensurate for the amount of work your doing. i thought the article on happy hookers of the past in tandem with the saga of the vanishing virgin was a bit much. but good. one thing, for sure. you're getting plenty of experience. keep at it.

if you can swing it, you might see if you can get 'comps' sent to CWCI, MS and here every month. it would be good for morale.

as for me, i have no plans for anything, rational or otherwise. i will discharge sometime this fall, i don't know when exactly, and then i will go somewhere and do something....or go nowhere and do nothing. one way or the other, it doesn't matter.

have a happy may one. i seem to recall it's your birthday but don't get' old: get over.

i was mildly surprised but glad to get your letter and the copies of dsg. you seem to have found/created a good thing for yourself, although it's a bit mind-boggling to picture you interviewing lyle alzado....

i still find dsg irritating, mostly because of the 'style'. it looks good, but the casual, 'in-crowd' approach has an uneasy feel, a sort of you've-got-to-like-me, see-how-hard-i'm-trying....maybe it's just me, maybe the new editor will change it, maybe a lot of things, but it doesn't feel right. also, does jo farrell own a piece of the action? rhetorical question, but....?

pay no mind to my carping. even if i'm right and you're wrong (unlikely), at least you're in the game; i'm just kibbitzing. hang in there....

nothing important is happening to/with me. i'm assigned to the print shop where i do little except sit around and drink coffee. i'm playing guitar (badly) with the traveling band. we spend most mornings rehearsing, to little avail, i'm afraid, but going out to play gigs now and then breaks up the monotony. the rest of the time, i spend goofing and gaffing. i haven't written anything in months; no matter, because i've very little of consequence to say.

occasionally, i wonder what i'll do when these people throw me out in a couple of months. staying in colorado doesn't seem adviseable, so i think i'll head for the east coast. i've been thinking about joining the merchant marine. in a lot of ways, a ship is similar to prison. the structured environment, the detatchment from society, etc. my thinking is that perhaps i'll be able to fit in to that kind of life without acting a fool and fucking over my friends and, at the same time, put together some kind of existence where i can do something worth a shit.

i don't know that this makes any more sense than anything else i do, but necessity dictates a change of some sort.

later. take care. i'll try to keep in touch.

Jerry

dear ...

i feel much like the luckless chameleon who ventured to cross a sheet of transparent acrylic and vanished in the attempt. has spoken good words, and gordon heggie (chairman of the board) has indicated that he agrees with george's recommendation that i be paroled. yet, i remain in limbo, a bald yossarian in a non-fiction catch-22....

your letter came, but nothing do i hear from as much as i enjoy you and your words, this is one week i'd rather see a letter from him. it's important that i have a job offer in hand when i approach heggie next week. i dearly hope hasn't spaced it. it could mean the difference between early june and late september....

apart from that thought (which i would like to ignore but can't), usual things occupy my time. tommy t-shirt, earl and i are trying to get george to start a therapy group at ms. going into the walls every week is getting to be a real bummer. last week, they locked us up in cellhouse 7, and we were 45 minutes late. since the group only lasts an hour, i think our resulting hostility was justifiable. but there are other reasons, too. george's associate (perhaps affiliate would be a better word) out here, dave holt, is a dolt. he lacks so many basic skills, i can only assume that he purchased rather than earned the master's degree which hangs on his wall. plus, he's afraid of convicts. he doesn't even trust the men who work for him. you can picture his effectiveness, i'm sure....anyway, if we can talk george into working a group out here, at least a few people will have a chance to do some good for themselves.

i'm not mad at you for telling some of what i said; however, it is an example of my involvement creating complications, something i wanted to avoid. as for violating a confidence, i don't think i did. conversations between george and i hardly constitute privileged communications. you are one of the parties involved, and not keeping you informed is like not telling a condemned prisoner that the gallows awaits. it does bother me, however, that you are so sensitive to george's off-the-cuff evaluations. why is it so important to you that you have his support/approval? sometimes you remind me of a little girl fighting with her brother for daddy's attention, the stance of a very un-liberated person. i tend to agree that you're likely to get fucked without being kissed, but i don't think there's much you can do to avoid it. you're certainly not going to alter george's attitudes. it doesn't matter that you may be right. he's the one who put his balls on the chopping block for craig, and like it or not, he's going to protect his investment. and, at the risk of making an unfair judgement, i think george would protect himself to the extent of permitting craig to become a sexist all-american robot instead of encouraging to gamble on being an exciting, creative person.

it bothered me to hear refer to you as 'the stuff' when i called the other night. it didn't sound like a friendly gibe, and then when you came on the line, i got the impression that you were weary and depressed, a tired housewife caught in the web of domestic strife. that, my friend, does not resemble any previous descriptions i have made of you. i hope the error is mine....

there's another facet i should mention. i was also bothered by my reaction to calling you 'stuff'. the inference was obviously sexual, friendly or hostile, and my taking offense suggests to me that my attitudes toward women are not entirely resolved. to be sure, i'm not saying i will commit or even consider committing rape again. that's simply out of the question. but how the hell am i going to re-program myself to get into sex without becoming sexist? i've been thinking about this since last summer, and i don't think i'm one bit closer now than i was then. the thing is, what are the differences between the man/woman roles (which i consider sexist and therefore unacceptable) and the male/female roles (which i think of as being the sexual ideal). personally, i would rather be a male human being than a man. on an operational level, however, i doubt that such a goal is either attainable or desirable. i am aware that a certain degree of sexual aggressiveness is necessary. the question is how much and when? and how do i convince my body that it is supposed to react to the symbolic acceptance of the female when it is programed to react to the non-symbolic, physical resistance of a victim? it's been my experience that if i rip-off the woman i'm with (with or without her consent) there's no problem. i get mine and that's that. the trouble is that it's a one-way thing. the woman is left to get her's as best she can. it doesn't leave me with a whole lot of alternatives. either way, the woman gets a fucking without getting a fucking. my performance as a non-sexist male was rather dismal. so what do i do, go around ripping-off my friends? i suppose that that's realistic and pragmatic. no doubt, george would advise me to do just that. in fact, he has advised me to follow that course of action, but i don't find the idea very appealing. a rip-off is a rip-off, nevermind that consent was given. or do i delude myself? my instincts tell me that i should just go ahead and do what i can do and what i want to do, leaving it up to the woman i'm with to do the best she can with what she gets. if it's not enough or if it's too much, she'll just have to make do until we can work out something better.

you can ignore the above paragraph. i was just verbalizing a thing which needed verbalization. i have to dump non-essential data on paper or in words to get to basic information. i find that once i clear out the excess, i can begin to act/behave in accordance to whatever decision i've made, something which is not possible as long as conflicting factors remain in my head. odd that the mere business of writing the shit down should have such an effect, but it seems to work.

i've got some ideas for you re the NOW task force, but i'm out of room and time so i'll wait until another time to run them by you. hey, before i quit let me tell you that i really enjoyed our visit. you may be bad for me, but you sure make me feel good when you're around and i love you even if you are married to my best friend....

Take Care

hi...

remember what you said saturday, that these people wouldn't send me to the dungeons because of my hair? well, you were half right. i didn't get sent to cell house 3; instead, i spent the rest of the weekend locked up here. then, on monday, they came and told me that if i'd get my hair cut, they'd ship me back to the garden. i didn't object. but after i'd completed the tonsorial requirements, they informed me that they were moving me back to m.s....

so, here i am, once again doing drudgery in the slaughterhouse and trying to cope with all the noise, confusion and pettiness. don't ask me to explain. all i can figure out is that this is just another example of my quote bad attitude unquote in conflict with authority. as usual, i came out the loser. i'm beginning to think that george may be right when he tells me that the only way out for me is conformity.

some of what we talked about saturday is pertinent, the part about criminal acts resulting from an individual's need to be recognized for autonomous actions. the same is true, i think, for some of the things i've done. this most recent incident is a case in point. the whole thing could have been avoided if i had gotten a haircut two weeks ago. why didn't i? i didn't want to because long hair in prison is a symbol of nonconformity. but why do i have to be a nonconformist? what am i gaining? recognition, yes. but by the wrong people in the wrong way.

i think a lot of the hassle with the parole board resulted from the same basic thing, my refusal to accept the idea that anyone has the right to dictate to me. isn't that what they said? but this warps my head. assuming that they (george, administration, et al) are valid in pointing out that i am not the ultimate authority, that my opinion is not pertinent even in terms of directing my own behavior, i find myself in an awkward position. i can't define myself except in terms of what i value....or, at least, i haven't been able to do so.

i hate to even admit how much it scares me when i shed the eccentricities i have cultivated over the years. without them (or perhaps even with them, although i don't notice) i'm a zilch. all i've ever managed to do was get myself labeled a menace to society. i can't think of one single thing which would stand as a quote accomplishment unquote in the outside world. and what i can't seem to get through my head is that just being is enough! what makes me so afraid of getting lost in the shuffle?

i was thinking about some of the thoughts i've had while committing rape, the exultant, intoxicating feeling of having proven my potency, both sexual and human. and beyond that, the self-righteous sensation of superiority, of being the master, the god, etc. in some perverted way, the act of rape becomes the act of making love to myself, the humiliation inflicted on my victim becomes merely an enforced reflection of my own self-worship. it's as if i'm saying that i belong in some special elevated hierarchy among men.

but what makes me need such a distinct (and false) recognition? why is it nearly impossible for me to accept the idea that a woman might want to fuck with me? you remember how it was with us. i was virtually incapacitated with terror. i just don't know what to do when, and on top of that, i just was plain afraid to ask. do you see the gap between the camouflage and me? do you see why it scares me so much when someone starts suggesting that i conform?

i know all of this must sound weird, particularly at this late date, but i just haven't been able to come to terms with this part of me. i can sort it out well enough in my head; the problem is in applying it. i need some feedback from you and craig. i know i'm not perceiving an objective analysis of what is/is not when the facade is removed. would much appreciate whatever thoughts you may have.

later: different mood

just re-read some of the above and nearly tore it up. then decided to let it go. don't know how much sense it will make to you, but it's an example of what goes on in my head in dark moments. and it does contain many elements of truth, even allowing for the distortions of glum.

you will be receiving an invitation to a x-mas party for december 16, a saturday. the party probably won't amount to much, but me and some friends plan to jam it up a bit that night. should be fun. also, i wanted to tell you to forget about the package of goodies you were going to fix. home-prepared stuff isn't permitted here like it is at the garden so....

i forgot to ask you: how is your article coming? or is it? what with the happenings lately, i would imagine it got put aside. i'm looking forward to seeing it. and how has it gone with the case studies? i wouldn't mind seeing them if you save a copy.

gotta go, will catch you on the next bounce.

Much Love,
Jerry

shirl....

take one hostile spragglepharg, add a half-dozen befuddled ratchet-fratchets, stir in a pinch of mugwump spit and bake slowly in a stone kiln. what you'll get might resemble the sorry old convict perched at the input end of this.... then again, it might not. weird.

that's how things have been/are. weird. but, paradoxically, weird doesn't feel weird even though i know it's weird....if that makes any sense. mostly, it's all in my head (and if that doesn't fit, nothing will), but coping with it is something else. or different. a buffer zone, perhaps. people usually refer to a buffer zone as an abstract area which encloses a given dimension and provides a measure of protection for what is within. implicit is the inference that whoever constructs and/or defines a buffer zone feels threatened and in need of protection, whether the object within is he, personally, or a possession of his, either abstract or concrete. the implication, however, is not endemic to the actuality of a buffer zone. persons trapped within a theatre of war, for example, often experience the effect of a buffer zone without having any control over its placement or function. etc., ad infinitum....

i'm just playing with words. still, it is weird. i have never, in all my years of doing time, been so free of visible restraint; yet, i have never felt so isolated. what i mean is that i am functioning okay except that i'm not performing the right functions. and i can't do anything about it. take a simple thing like writing you a letter. it isn't that i don't want to write. it's just that i don't know what to say. the pace of my life and the surroundings in which i exist are so much different from yours that i can't seem to find the right words to bridge the gap.

one thing keeps going through my head again and again: i'm sick to death of talking about the things i want to do, of waiting and waiting. i want to get on with it, you know? fuck this business of going through the same game time after time after time. george has made a federal case out of my quote contributing my eminence unquote to his wednesday afternoon group thing (by the way, i had already enrolled myself, albeit with great reluctance and enormous skepticism, prior to receiving your letter). but, as i told red on the phone, it isn't that i am opposed to the group, per se. on the contrary, i rather enjoy it. if nothing else, it breaks the monotony, and i'm sure i'll get something for my effort. what fucks with me (and it shows) is the stupidity of it all. the most immediate point of bafflement concerns my current job assignment. if i'm such a dangerous threat to society, why am i living at the garden where custody is a complete zilch, not to mention the fact that i drive the garden truck all over town, to and/from m.s., etc. all by myself, etc., etc., etc.

if i decide to run out and jump out of a tree on somebody, there's certainly nothing to prevent me from doing exactly that. sure, i'd get caught, but that's never stopped me before, right? so maybe, just maybe, the reason i haven't raped anyone or done something equally stupid is because i've gotten myself somewhat together, at least to the point where my behavior falls within the accepted norms of society. so what the fuck difference does it make whether or not i spend another 6 months or another year attending george's sessions? so far, however, not too many of the people who count have seen fit to consider this paltry bit of evidence. wowie zowie!

anyway, to get back to george and his federal case, just what does he expect me to be, overjoyed? he really pissed me off last week. he got on my case about not taking off my hat when i came in to the group meeting. to tell the truth, i just didn't think about it until he started going crazy. then, i got obstinate and he went into playing his psychologist role, ranting about the mask i was hiding behind and absolutely demanding conformity. it reminded me of the scene he and i had over my use of profanity in the rape encounter. what pissed me was that both he and i knew it was a sham. he was playing his game; i was playing mine. he wanted to prove, beyond all reasonable doubt, that he was in charge of the group, the one and only authority figure. in the interest of my future, i capitulated and backed off. but the whole thing irritated the hell out of me.

i was sort of half-expecting to see you last weekend....so much for minor expectations. i really do miss seeing you, and--quiet as it's kept--i miss holding you close. it could be another example of my obstinance, but i refuse to believe that the craig-rod-george conclusion as to my ability to ball with you is accurate. all the votes haven't been counted. i mean, what if it turns out that hairy-legged women are my forte? seriously, i can accept being labeled a lousy lover, but i won't promise to stay that way.

i want to get this mailed tonight, so i'll quit for now. maybe this letter will get to you, since the last one didn't. also, in case the message didn't reach you, i acquired an electric heater so don't worry about getting me one. and as for the care package, don't push it. if it doesn't happen, it just doesn't happen. the one thing that i would like to have is an FM radio, but it's no big thing so don't get too frantic, okay?

love to everyone.

Jerry

p.s. the next time you run into bill armstrong, tell him i said he's a sorry, no-account mongrel. i've been watching his political promises on the boob tube....ugh!

just time for a short note before the mailman comes. mostly, i just want to let you know how much i enjoyed being with you sunday. maybe it was because i hadn't seen you for quite a while or maybe it was because we spent some time working on your article, but whatever it was felt good.

the thought occurs that perhaps we haven't been doing a very good job of keeping our shit together. you mentioned in one of your recent letters about how craig's anniversary party sort of spawned bad vibes or - perhaps - showcased a not-so-good situation. for my part, i think i let myself get a little too involved in the business of getting out. now, looking back, i can't help feeling like i should have paid more attention to me and less to what was going on around me. comment?

i got a cryptogram from carol in yesterday's mail. the envelope was postmarked ely, nevada, so i assume she's on her way. all the envelope contained, however, was one of her ink sketches of this funny looking dude eyeballing an unruffled and very serene seagull. oddly enough, the sketch told me everything i needed to know, tu savvy? it was good!

i still haven't been able to nail down alex wilson. i talked briefly with him on the phone monday, he said he'd see me sometime this week. since i can't complete the article until after i talk with him, i hope something happens pretty quick. in the meantime, would you give gianuzzi a ring and let him know that i haven't abandoned the project? i told him in my letter that i thought i'd have the article to him by now, but....

tum came yesterday. did you see the article by betsy morscher? seems to me she only did a re-hash of your article in the same paper. the question which comes to mind is that, is this going to become an annual feature of tum? like, once a year whether you need it or not, tum will provide you with a female kgmc staffer's commentary on the sad state of hiring done by the denver media.

por favor....one of these days when you have a chance, why don't you get some film and take some pictures of the house and its inhabitants. i'm sort of curious to see all that i'm missing. also, would you fix me a care package for the long winter evenings which will soon arrive, i.e., some books which are current and/or recommended. i haven't been reading at all (which is just as well since there's not much to read), but i will before long.

let me know what george had too say. and, now, i've got to run. the mailman just turned in the driveway. i love you a whole bunch. peace.

ami....

the 'official' word from the parole board, quote: "It has long been known that Jerry Nemnich is a dangerous sex offender....we can find no evidence to indicate that he has made any significant effort toward dealing with his problem....he continues to resist....and tries to intellectualize and rationalize his actions without delving into the real cause....blah blah blah." need i comment?

george came by. we talked. his advice: hang loose and don't burn any bridges because policy changes may be developing which could conceivably benefit me at some future date. i assured him that i have no intention of turning down any offers, but....

he was miffed by the board's arrogant dismissal of the recommendation he had tendered in my behalf. he didn't like the implied slur against his competence. i couldn't resist needling him. "George," i said, "it looks like the board doesn't think any more highly of your opinion than they do of mine." he didn't laugh. i didn't, either.

i haven't seen she wrote me a spiffy letter, though. from paonia. she has been going through some fairly heavy changes. there's the thing with her mom. and since the race house broke in pieces, she's been unable to get into anything substantial. she and wanted to go to california for awhile, and art school was something she wanted to do. i have suspicions that she's hankdy about enrolling. she doesn't have much confidence in her talents. she needs someone to shove her off into it, but none of the people she's moving with have bothered to push. a sad thing, huh?

i got a postcard from gianuzzi. he offered condolences and more. he wants me to do the 'reform' article for him. and more. he wants me to join the stable of writers he has doing term papers, speeches, re-writes, ghosting, etc. he seems to think i can do stuff for him on a by-mail basis. i'm definitely going to take him up on the offer. it's a chance to earn some easy (?) money while keeping in touch. but i have to admit i was startled by his card.

and, while the topic of writing/editing is at hand, i'll dig up your rape thing and see what can be done. also, if you go to jail again (how does it feel to be a potential 2-time loser?), you probably should do an article. and, yes, of course, i'll do what needs to be done to touch it up.

i've been working like a son of a bitch, mostly because i haven't had the mental energy to cope with the massive amounts of bitterness, anger, frustration, etc. so, instead of tranquilizers, i've been knocking myself out with physical exhaustion. my boss is aghast. he can't believe it. but the real shock is going to be when i slow down. he just won't understand what happened to the fantastic worker. that, of course, is his problem.

i've been toying with an idea: if i discharge, there won't be anything to stop me from taking off....how would you like to go on a long trip to north africa, europe, the middle east and china? if this thing with gianuzzi works out, i should be able to save a little money before i get out. then, i could really hit it for 6 months or a year, putting every spare cent in the old savings account. and then, away we go....me with my hot little typewriter and a camera, and you with whatever necessities you think you need. does that sound like something you might be interested in doing? by the way, my discharge date is july 11, 1974, so you've got plenty of time to think it over.

i haven't heard anything about mark warner. i assume he's doing all right. he hasn't come back to csp....bob warren got a bit of a scare. he was involved in some shit at cgw (unwittingly) and they brought him back here for a couple of days. but things got straightened out so he'll be getting out october 21. i was glad to hear he'd made it okay. if you have a chance before you go to new york, why don't you call him. he could probably dig hearing from you. if you do call, tell him hello and that i don't want to see his name (or him, either) back here. also, tell him to keep in touch.

i want to mail this tonight so you'll be sure to get it before you split for the big city. i can't have you tripping off on a good-time gig with worry on your mind. and do have a good time, a double good time, in fact....once for you and once for me.

gotta go.

All my love,

Jerry

hello.....

this will be short. i just wanted to let you know that i'm hanging on and that i'm not contemplating harikari. mostly, i've been trying to get things sorted out so i can see where i'm at in terms of what-to-do/where-to-go....

as yet, nothing has filtered down from olympus. jerry curtis (csp parole agent) maintains that i was denied parole because of my lack of quote substantial employment and/or tangible assets unquote. he said that, in his opinion, the board would have granted me parole if i had presented a rock-solid program, i.e., a job (read: well-defined, non-controversial employment, preferably in the construction trade and offered by an established, well-known firm), a place of residence (where there would be no overt sexual liaisons), and a few hundred dollars to tide me over until the first paycheck arrived. he commented further that in no way, shape or form should i have ever mentioned you or craig or the house at 371 south....

personally, i think he's full of shit. having the above assets would have been helpful, no doubt, but the issue wasn't my program. the issue was my attitude and whether or not i would be jumping out of trees on people. and, just for the record, i'll bet that when the official word filters down, the recommendation will be that i consult the psyche team for 'treatment' of my affliction. a dollar will get you 10 that not a word is said about not having a substantial parole program.

anyway, no matter what the gods say, i've pretty much decided to discharge and get this shit over with once and for all. it seems to me that i've had to absorb just a skosh more than my share of the crap, even though it's true that more-often-than-not i chose to stand in front of the fan instead of ducking. in that respect, i guess i'm a foolish, stubborn idiot. but, on the other hand, i've pretty much always done what i thought was right. somehow or another, it balances....but these dues are a motherfucker!

be that as it may, i realize that my decision to discharge doesn't affect just me. i do want to discuss it with you because - obviously - we can't continue as we have been for two more years. something's going to have to be readjusted in our relationship. perhaps, the best thing would be just to quit and let it go completely. i don't want that, but i do know that i can't tolerate another two years of being constantly on the verge....yet, never there. tu savvy?

and there are other things which need discussing, too. for one thing, the bass. i am sure you could sell it for what you paid and i think maybe you should. i doubt that i'll be able to reimburse you within the foreseeable future and i don't like the idea of just letting it slide, you know?

got to get this in the mail so i'll quit. please don't misunderstand: i love you very much, more than anything, but....two years?

hi, luv.....

since i haven't been able to obtain permission for a phone call, this will have to serve. i met the parole board yesterday morning. the session lasted something like 50 minutes (an unheard of amount of time - most other people get 15 minutes or less), and....what to say?

my impression was that the experience paralleled that of balling a 2" x 4" -- what you get is a whole lot of splinters and damn little satisfaction. i did my best to convince them that i'm ready for parole and that i'm no longer a threat to women in particular and the outside world in general. but i kept getting the feeling that they weren't hearing what i was trying to say. what baffled me was the way they kept returning to the subject of why i hadn't participated in the various group therapy programs the institution operates for sex offenders. they simply refused to accept my explanation, that i felt i have accomplished more by pursuing my own course than i would have by locking myself into some sort of structured, formalized program. kaplin (the board member who did most of the talking) challenged the validity of my propensity to rely on my own judgements and opinions as to what is good and what is not good for me. he finally got on my nerves to the point where i told him point blank that he'd better damn well accept my opinions as valid because if and when i get out of this place, it will be my judgements and opinions which will determine whether or not i stay out. "there won't be any funny little psychologists or rinky-dink psych techs holding my hand on the outside," i said. "like it or not, you'd better accept that fact. if i'm granted parole or if i have to discharge, i will be released from here eventually. you know it, and i know it. i'm telling you that i won't be raping any more women. there's no need for it, and i've got better things to do with my life than spend the rest of it trying to deal with people like you!"

meeting the parole board

and so it went. oddly enough, no mention was made of the various run-ins i've had with the parole department/parole board during the past few years. and not much was made of the fact that i'm not in possession of substantial living quarters and employment. kaplin commented that as far as he was concerned, there was no big hassel on either point, that he was confident i would be able to find a job and a place to live.

i did tell them that i would prefer to live at 371 south emerson and i explained why. i also told them my reasons for wanting to associate with craig and rod. but i mentioned that i would be willing to live somewhere else, if necessary. none of this seemed to cause any visible reaction. and they seemed concerned but not morally outraged when i explained (rather feebly) the relationship you and craig and i share.

all in all, it seemed as though their greatest concern was that they would prefer for me not to assault any more women. in connection with this, they also indicated that they didn't particularly like my attitude toward the state-operated 'treatment' programs. and, when the subject of work-release came up, they seemed rather hurt by my bitterness....and then they had the gall to ask whether or not i thought work release might benefit me now. the implication, of course, was that they might consider giving me a 90-day set back in order for me to complete a work release program.

it was at this point that i think i might have blown it because i told them that as far as i was concerned, i didn't think they had any right to bring me some bullshit like that, not after they had twice turned down my previous application for work release. in retrospect, i wish i hadn't put it quite that strong because getting put on work release for 90 days beats getting a 6-month set-back.

anyway, now that it's over, i don't know what to think. maybe i'll get a parole, maybe i won't. i told them the truth as i saw it, and i did my best to show that i'm ready for parole. and i didn't blow my top and rant and rave or call them motherfuckers or anything like that. so i guess i'll just have to wait.

but there's one thing i've notice already. now that it's over, i'm back to being my usual relaxed self. i feel better, both physically and mentally, than i've felt in months. i don't know exactly how to explain it, but i just sort of feel like no matter what they do, i'll be able to handle it.

on to other things. it was really nice to see you sunday, luv. for the first time since i came back down here from cgw, i felt like we were able to really enjoy each other's company. mostly, i suppose, it was because i was able to get my mind off jerry and get into your head and the world at large. but you seemed more accessible, too. it was good, shirl. love you.

i found out why i haven't heard from carol. she's really been having problems. her mom finally ran out of strength and checked into a mental hospital. carol's father is an alcoholic (i told you before, didn't i?) and the strain it has put her mom is really too much. anyway, carol's been really scuffling to try picking up the pieces and take care of her mom while looking out for her two younger brothers while trying to get her father to do something for himself while trying to keep her job and her own life together. i really feel for her and wish there was something i could do. but, of course, there isn't. i just hope she doesn't tear herself to pieces. i wrote her last night, and i wish you'd call her and just let her blow off some steam. i don't know whether or not you could get her to loosen up and let it all hang out with you, but i'm sure she needs someone to help ease the pressure.

i've thought some more about what i told you re you and craig, but i still don't think it would work. sexually, i'm sure there's no question of craig's liberal (perverted?) attitudes; it's the other things which cause me to question such a move. do you remeber asking me whether or not i thought of you as being one of the services provided by the prison? well, are you sure that craig doesn't think of you as being one of the conveniences of his environment (which is, of course, your house?) i should hope not and both you and craig will probably be pissed at me for mentioning it....but it deserves consideration, even in an abstract sort of way. i'm out of room, gotta go. love you very much.

hello...,

there's nothing much happening and - from the feedback i've been getting - it looks as though nothing much is going to happen. i talked with jerry curtis of the parole department yesterday. he came right out and told me point blank that things don't look very promising.

according to curtis, the field report don alders turned in on me was not the best. the main beef, apparently, is that my tentative program is too ambiguous....in other words, i don't have a solid and substantial job awaiting me, where i will live is undetermined and how i will pay the rent remains to be seen. also, he questioned our relationship, making note of the fact that you and craig live together and that it is possible that you may get married. he made additional reference to the fact that you didn't/couldn't initiate the bank account for the $250 'insurance' money. and then there was the house thing....the feeling that i got in talking with curtis is that mr. alders is, at best, skeptical of your intentions and of my supposed reliance on those same intentions. to put it bluntly, the parole people believe that i have misinformed them as to the amount of support/assistance i can expect from you. curtis repeatedly got on my case about my not having a concrete job offer to take to the board, and he was more than a little upset about the 371 south emerson situation. "i don't like to second-guess the board," he said, "but i can't help feeling that there's a good chance that the board will set you back 60 or 90 days with the instruction to put together a more substantial program!"

funny thing....apart from the above (or, perhaps, in spite of the above), alders indicated that he would accept me as a parolee, that he felt i was ready for parole, and that he felt a period of supervision would be beneficial to everyone concerned. also, i talked with leo jenkins (the supervisor of the institutional parole department) and he told me that without exception i had received excellent reports from my work supervisors, counselors, etc. he told me that my current boss here at the garden had turned in what was (in his opinion) one of the best work reports he had ever seen.

so....there it stands. from what i can deduce, whether or not i make parole will depend entirely on how well i am able to present my case when i meet the board. somehow or another, i am going to have to convince them that before october 21 i will be able to come up with sufficient assets to meet my immediate financial needs; that i will be able to secure adequate employment within 3 or 4 days after i'm released; that i am sufficiently rehabilitated to the point that i won't be running amuck among the female population of the state of colorado; that i have a reasonably accurate picture of where i fit within the relationship you and i have; that there are valid reasons for my stated intention of associating with and ; that i have feasible and attainable goals of both the long and short range variety; that my past interference with the actions and philosophies of the parole board were based on the honest belief that improvements were needed and that my intention to continue with my efforts to change things is similarly well-founded; that i feel rather bitter about the arbitrary bullshit i have had to put up with during the past year, particularly where work release was concerned; and, most important, that if i ever do get out, i intend to stay out.

any way you cut it, luv, that's a lot of convincing i'm going to have to do in a very short period of time, about half an hour or less. there's no way, of course, that i can hope to cover everything. all i can do is play it by ear and hope that i'll be able to recognize and concentrate my efforts on what they think are the important points, nevermind my own ratings on the values scale. we shall see....

in the meantime, i have to admit that the kitchen is getting pretty warm. i keep trying to ignore the gremlin which tells me again and again that i made a bad mistake by not taking care of the employment/residence thing myself instead of asking you to take care of it. the way things have turned out, i probably should have....but it's too late to worry about it, now. if i get set back, i'll do whatever needs to be done, including enrolling myself in a halfway-house and getting a job shoveling shit, if necessary. but, first, i'm going to finish playing this hand....and that's enough on this topic.

what about us? i keep getting the premonition that our relationship is not going to change very much, even if i do get a parole. to be sure, there will very probably be the added pleasure of getting together sexually, but beyond that....what? you're a busy person, if it isn't one thing, it's another. even so, you've managed to retain enough flexibility in your affairs so that you do pretty much what you want, when you want. but since has wrapped himself in a tight and relatively rigid schedule, i sense a certain disenchantment on your part. right or wrong, i think you feel a bit miffed at him because he no longer chooses to place your whims and fancies ahead of his own, whether it happens to be a toyota or whatever. and i think that you tend to be occasionally put off by rod because of his peculiar allegiance to his own way of living. what it adds up to is that i think you expect us to adopt your mode.

where i'm concerned, i think i ought to say that i'll probably be stretched out like a government mule when i do get out, especially if i work during the daytime and play music at night. what i'm trying to say is that, in reality, i'm not going to be much more available on the streets than i am here. how will this affect what we have? will it still be a situation of your not being able to do the right thing at the right time? probably. that's why i've been wary of getting out, i think. or, at least, that's a part of it. i have a tendency to want to be dependent on you (for example, see above). i think you'll agree that that is a tendency which i'm going to have to put to rest, permanently.

these are just random thoughts. what say you in reply?

gotta go, the mailman is here. all my love.

Jerry

hi, m'luv....

your card arrived today so thought i'd best get on the ball and let you know what's going on....not that there's a whole lot to tell. the most pertinent item is that i just discovered that the parole board won't be meeting until next week (wouldn't you know it?). for some reason or other, mostly having to do with robert trujillo's ascendency to the post of chief of corrections, i think....

whatever the cause, i figure it leaves me with an extra week to think about what i'm going to say in my moments before the gods. actually, i'm glad of the delay because it means i won't have to deal with trujillo. he was the one board member least likely to appreciate my position; since he's out of the picture, i feel that my chances of having a rational chat with the board instead of a shouting match have improved greatly. we shall see....

but, of course, there's a negative factor in terms of the damage which will be done to the cause of prison reform. trujillo is a treacherous character, an ambitious conniving bureaucrat who is a star performer when it comes to sucking ass and licking the boots of people like schaur, hugh chance, et al. what's even worse, he's not stupid. he has a master's in psychology, and he knows the value of propaganda. but his ideology is incredibly fucked up it appears that i've recovered from whatever was making me sick. i'm still a little weak, but i feel good and i'm able to eat once again. and my head is in much better shape, also. looking back, i guess it was just a combination of things turning to shit all at once that knocked everything out of kilter. in a way, though, i'm sort of glad it happened. now, i think i've got a little better perspective on what it's going to take to get me out of here....perseverance!
ARE as ~~is~~ his theories on the proper care and treatment of criminals. it's really going to be an up-hill battle to accomplish anything positive while he's in office.

i talked with alex wilson on the phone this morning (he's acting deputy warden) about the NOW conference on the 26th. he advised that i should get the particulars together and send a letter to wyse....but ~~i~~don't see much point in that approach. what's really needed is a letter from someone in the organization specifically inviting me to attend and speak. it's pretty tough for me to take it to him cold.

if there was a way this could be done, i think i might have an outside chance at making an appearance. what i would do, i think, is ask for a temporary leave-of-absence, thereby avoiding the necessity of having an officer accompany me hither and yon. in any case, i don't know how feasible any of this is from your end so do what you think best and let me know.

i guess i should make some comment about your discussion/letter to/with don alders. i am not acquainted with the guy (except in a very remote way in that i think i would recognize him if i saw him). and, surprisingly, i don't know him by reputation. what this means, if anything, i'm not going to speculate about. if you were able to talk to him, i assume i'll be able to, also. as you have pointed out on numerous occasions, we do seem to share many similar attributes, not the least of which is saying what comes to mind. we shall see....

your paragraph about craig (his busy/busy ways) makes me wonder. what is he shooting for? i know that two of the major influences in his life have been george and the tesslers....and they rank well up in the line-up of conspicuous consumers. the thing is, they've been making good money for quite some time and they can afford to blow bread on whimsy. i'll have to rap with craig to get into what the deal is....but, of course, i'm really able to empathize with him. i have a tendency to spend money liek it was going out of style, too. the thing is, i'm not trying to finance a college education, either.

well, i want to get this in the mail this evening so i'd better quit for now. except to say that i love you and that i'm looking forward to being with you. maybe we can spend some time just stretching out enjoying life, making love and doing things we like to do. until then, all my love.

Peace,
Jerry

wednesday / very late got your letter today....can't say that it was entirely unexpected. for the past couple of months i've had the uneasy feeling that i've been pushing too hard in the wrong direction. so, today, push comes to shove....

since the topic hasn't been discussed for quite some time, i'd better start by bringing you up-to-date on where my head is. bluntly, there has been some regression. i'm not in as good shape, now, as i was 6 months ago. i've had to use up far too much energy just to stay in the game, a doubly tiring exercise because the game disgusts me. there have been times when i would have much rather have crawled in my hole and rotted....except for you and craig and rod. but the effort has cost me. i'm worn to the point where it has become difficult to focus my attention on anything for any period of time. and instead of viewing the impending possibility of freedom with exuberant delight, i catch myself avoiding thoughts of the future. even worse, when i do allow myself to trip on things (post-october 21), i find myself getting tangled in superficialities and projecting happenings rather than concentrating on the realities of where i will live and work and how will i pay the bills. and most important, what do i plan to do with my life, what goal do i want to reach?

comment re the interpreter has merit, but i think he is overlooking two essential points: 1) the magazine had become a dead issue, sucked dry of the energy needed to sustain it's existence; and 2) that the ability to swim demands the existence of water. how very nice it must be to have flowing spring constantly at hand....but the wise traveler should recall the arid expanse of years passed. there just aren't many streams available, and i'm running out of waterholes....

i don't find any of the above particularly alarming. remember, luv, i've been through this before. but the effect i'm having on you scares the hell out of me. tonight, when i got your letter, my first impulse was to tell you to forget the whole thing and fuck-off....and then i got this empty sort-of vacant hurt that just ripped my head. what you say is true. i have been treating you in a matter-of-fact sort of way and laying some pretty heavy demands on all of you.

but, in retrospect, i see only a few things which go beyond the limits of credibility. therefore, i suspect, that we aren't discussing the things which need discussing. my immediate impulse is, of course, to blame myself for this, pleading stress, the environment or whatever. but placing blame is not the point....

instead, indulge me a few thoughts:

later / friday afternoon

i've taken a couple of days to mull over my feelings, to consider and reconsider things past and present. now, i'm stuck with trying to put it down on paper, knowing that whatever i write will not fully get across to you the full meaning....anyway....

i don't think, , that you (or or , either) really understand that i am in prison. because of the length of time i've been here and because of the effect it has had over the years, it's much more than being a matter of physical restraint. i'm imprisoned to a far greater degree than either or was. call it institutionalization or whatever....the fact that it exists has an effect on everything i say and do. and no matter how much i want to break away from it, there's very little i can do as long as the imprisonment continues. even here at the garden where there is not a trace of physical restraint (not even a policeman), it is an automatic thing not to cross certain boundaries or to behave in 'non-convict' fashion.

our relationship has suffered because of this. for the few hours we are permitted to enjoy one another's company, you try to pull me into your life and i try to pull you into mine. neither of us succeeds, and when we part, you are left with the bitterness of my existence and i am haunted by the sweet - yet, unobtainable - promise of yours. you question my reluctance to talk of sexual things and of my hesitance to share my past. please try to understand, shirl, that there isn't a whole lot to discuss on either subject. sexuality is something i'm only just beginning to discover and my past seems just a continuing series of dreary episodes connected by even drearier interludes. so much of what i am is impossibly interwoven with this prison that it seems that sometimes i couldn't exist apart from it. do you understand? can you see why you feel like i'm putting you into focus as part of this place? and can you understand that when i treat you badly it's because i have you in focus as /girl/csp model #004-675-28? and can you believe that i am fighting that with all the strength i can get together?

i love you, shirl, but there are things i do not know about loving just as there are things i do not know about living. i was hurt that you questioned my desire to learn these things because above all else, i want to love and be loved and i want to live. just getting out of prison won't make these things happen. neither will hanging around with you and the gang. but i can make them happen and i will....despite all the setbacks and the frustration. about all i can say to you is how. i'm asking directions, not demanding a free ride. anytime you feel otherwise, holler because i may not recognize what's happening. it's conceiveable that i could run you right into the ground without even knowing what i was doing....but i would never do it deliberately. i ask that you accept this, that i love you and that i am scared of hurting you. will you teach me the limits? .

i'm about out of room so i'll quit for now. i know you'll find much of this letter frightening, but i wanted you to be at least partially aware of some of the concerns i have been having and to know that i am struggling to keep on top of what's happening to me and to us. your love and concern only increases my determination to make it. i'll write again over the weekend, perhaps of more cheerful (or less esoteric) things. all my love to all of you

11 july / evening

hi, luv....

i'm in a little better mood tonight than i have been for the past couple of weeks. our little chat on the phone last night helped....so did your letter. then, too, i found out today that i'm being moved to the garden full-time. no more slaughterhouse, and no more m.s.

i'm not exactly sure how this latest wrinkle developed. all i know is that they told me pack my shit, that i was moving to the garden. it's okay with me. there are some disadvantages, but all things considered it's much better there than here.

assumptions being what they are, i still have the notion that i'll be coming back up to cgw around the first of the month. fred wyse is usually reliable in matters like this...and it looks (oh, joy) as if i'll be able to skip-out on the pre-parole thing. that makes me very happy because pre-parole is really a drag. of course, i won't know anything for sure on this until the first of next week.

ideally, everything will work out okay. i don't know what sort of luck you will have had with gianuzzi....that guy causes weird vibes from this distance. when i was up there (right on top of the situation, in a manner of speaking) his wishy-washy-ness didn't bother me because i knew i could trod on him at will. from down here, i don't feel any where near as confident. anyway, what i'm getting to is that if the deal with him doesn't fall together, i've got a couple of alternate things in mind....one being the capital ledger. i know they're not financially on top of the world, but marc rosenbaum should be easier to live with than gianuzzi. the other thing is just getting together a construction/carpentering gig. dave might be able to work on something in this area.

the reason i bring this up is that if w.r. doesn't come through or if gianuzzi greases away, i'm going to have to come up with another gig in a hurry to satisfy the parole board which meets on august 15th. it's something to think about.

both the letters i've gotten from you since my return did nice things for my head. and i wasn't offended by the sentimentality; rather, i found it touching. it matched my feelings and my mood. i've been too long a cynic not to recognize the value of soft things. we have to use our language to express our feelings, and it's not our fault that others have tried to cheapen the words with their guilt and their embarrassment.

the love you sent arrived intact. and there's no way they can take that away, not just these people but the rest of the madison avenue crowd. i discovered much about me and the feelings i have during those afternoons of sun....one of which was that the resident cynic (remember him?) who lives inside my head is dying of starvation. he can't digest love.

there are other things, too, but i'll save them for another day. this sort of has to do with the thing you mentioned about my occasional (?) reluctance to talk about me. the way i was at cgw is a little bit like the way i've always felt i should be; the only thing was that i never had much of a chance to be me.

on to other things....the bass is super. a friend and i replaced the tone 'pots' and jiggered with some of the wiring and it's just like new. your $125 was well-spent because a new model like this one runs about $400 in your local guitar shop. i've had some (not much, but some) opportunity to get down and it plays really well.

also, for what it's worth, i've been playing acoustic guitar for an hour or so every day, just to keep my hand in. it looks as though i'm soon to become the resident musical instructor. better get my shit together. mike was down for a couple of days. he was pretty tripped out by dave; sounded as though they hit it off right on. glad to hear it. he also said that dave has good potential as a guitarist.

there's more i should rap about, but i want to get this in the mail tonight so i'll cut it loose for now. i'll be intouch again.

in the meantime, if you plan on coming down this weekend, see if you can hustle me a guitar cord (the one which goes from amp to bass). out at the garden, i may be able to lay my hands on a amp of some sort, but i'll need something to send the juice through. here, i've had the use of other people's stuff.

beyond all this, i love you much and i miss you more than i really want to think about.

Love
Jerry

luv....

i considered sending you a birthday card; then, after checking out the selection available, decided not to on the grounds that none seemed appropriate. you'll just have to make do with whatever this adds up to....mostly that i hope you have a beautiful life full of love, joy and freedom....and that i love you.

if it's any consolation, a friend of mine saw you in the visiting room last week and mentioned that you are one very well preserved twenty-eight-year-old. i tend to agree with his observation. one of my greatest pleasures is just watching you move, and though it may sound silly, i look forward to being able to see you in the mountains and on city streets and in all the places you might be.

i just returned from the women's division. we played a gig over there earlier this evening. it was fun. the women don't get all that much relief from their daily routine. plus, there's the almost automatic identification factor in that we are all convicts. i noticed some of the same old faces and said hello to a couple of old-timers. things haven't changed much (at least, that was my impression during the brief time we were there). there's still that constricted aura, and when we hit into a funky blues thing, the matrons were quick to make sure that none of the girls got up and danced (although several wanted to). why they weren't allowed to do their thing, i don't know. i got pissed about it and sort of let it show which didn't do much for my popularity with the staff, but....

i really felt good after seeing you saturday. i was a little bent about the work release thing, but rapping with you seemed to smooth things out. you're good for me, luv....i get to tripping on you and the things you do, and that gives my head a chance to re-group. plus, i usually feel like i've done the same for you....indirectly, at least.

one of the reasons i didn't say too much the other day about your craig/kris problem is because i wanted to think about it before running off at the mouth. all i'd heard was a brief (make that 'very brief') comment that george made to go with what you mentioned. after thinking about your specific question, i still don't have a whole lot to say....but i do have a suggestion.

one of the things i've sort of learned to do is re-focus emotional things. the key to this is in timing the release. essentially, a psychologist or psychiatrist does this. he provides the subject with an opportunity to organize an acceptable time/logic sequence whereby the subject can look at what is causing problems in an acceptable manner.

basically, all i'm saying is that until your head is ready to deal rationally with the emotional responses caused by a given problem, there's not much you can do except sublimate things and watch your behavior. controlling your actions is possible; controlling your emotions is not....however, there is a spin-off benefit. by re-directing hostile emotional evergy, you can set up a situation where you can deal rationally with whatever emotional hang-up caused the given problem....for instance, coming to talk with me or with george. if you get into the habit of re-channeling emotional energy, you can eventually re-shape the source of that energy....just like re-programming a computer. behavioral responses tend to determine what will or will not stimulate given responses.

and don't ask me whether any of the above will help. all i know is that by consciously shaping my behavior, i've been able to deal with a lot of emotional problems to the point where they are no longer problems, i.e., i can now deal with them rationally. whether it will work for you remains to be seen; however, i would make one comment: don't try to erase your program overtly; subliminal and indirect action apparently works best. think of skinner and charles weingartner ('teaching as a subversive activity'): people learn what they do, not what they are told (or tell themselves)!

enough on that. the lights just went out, so i'll have to give this up for tonight. i just wanted to wish you a happy birthday and let you know that i'd like to help you celebrate it, even though that's not possible right now.

give my love and best wishes to the family....and peace.

Jerry

ami....

i think i'm a little behind on answering your letters...but i've been busy. i got a letter off to gianuzzi monday morning; nothing fancy, just something to get contact established. i am going to see warden capelli re making a brief trip to denver for an interview with gianuzzi and to get my 3rd class ticket. i don't know whether or not he (capelli) will go for it, but i can see no reason for him to turn me down. of course, i couldn't see any reason for them to deny me work release or a transfer to camp george west, either. so much for my viewpoint....

don't fret about not getting me together with gianuzzi before now. it would have made no difference as far as getting work release is concerned. i'm glad to hear bob made it. to be truthful, he probably needs w.r. more than i do...i may not be assessing the situation correctly, but it seems to me that bob's biggest problem is one of attitude. w.r. may give him a shot at gaining some badly needed self-confidence, and i know it will ease the hassle of getting out. he's always had to struggle, scratching a bare existence out of almost nothing, and that sort of thing can wear a person down just when he needs his strength most. anyway, i hope it works out for him.

for my part, i haven't (as yet) abandoned the idea of w.r. i did find out that one of the main reasons i was rejected was that most of the people here feel that i'm going to make it okay, that i don't need the assistance of w.r. i guess they're entitled to their opinion. i feel that way, also, but i'd just as soon have w.r. to copper the bet. after i hear from gianuzzi and perhaps talk with him, i hope he'll mount a campaign in my behalf to add to what i've been saying. if he plans to put out the first issue of his thing in october or thereabouts, he could probably use me a month or two before i'm scheduled to be released. we shall see.

i spent this morning (with some of my fellows) taping a program which will be shown to all people coming into the reception center of the institution during future months(?). it amounted to very little, really. we were mostly just rapping about survival. the program is aimed primarily at first offenders who don't know what prison life is about. needless to say, some of my comments weren't greatly appreciated by staff members. basically, i maintained the position that the institution and staff are superfluous. it's up to the individual to determine what he wants for himself and then take steps to get it. i'll rap with you about this when i see you....it's too complicated to get into here.

here's something for you (and any other interested folks you might be able to round up)....on may 30 at 9:00 a.m., the parole board and the brass from the parole department will be holding an open and public hearing re parole rules, regulations, etc. the meeting will be held in the auditorium of the state social services building at 1575 sherman and all interested parties are invited to attend and make whatever comments they feel like making. the purpose is to determine the public attitude to parole matters and eradicate any errors the gods may have made in composing the new, revised parole policies. i trust you should have some choice comments to brighten up their day. i would really like to be there, but since i'm not (strictly speaking) a member of the general public, i don't see that there's any way i could swing it. they wouldn't be very happy to have me there, anyway.

but what i'd like for you to do is get hold of ken kripke at the colorado trial lawyer's association (they have offices in the hilton, i think), the people from the lawyer's guild, morgan smith and ken russel, the tesslers, craig and rod (if they can stand the heat), and tony larsen, jim scott, ... you know, everyone you can lay hands on and get in there and do some heavy lobbying. i'll be alerting carol, carol and marsha t. and some other people i know. i assume there will be press coverage of the meeting, but maybe you could drop a hint that something a bit more spectacular than usual might develop and get more press coverage....it sure wouldn't hurt anything. but, in any case, this is the time to get said what needs to be said. we'll talk more about this.

i share your opinion of hieronymous merkin....i saw it in here....or part of it, anyway. i left after the third reel started....ho hum. and, from what i've heard, i'd probably get the same feeling from the fred hampton thing. the only thing i've seen along those lines which i cared anything about was 'medium cool'....all the others just didn't make it. and as for cabaret, i pass....it's just not my cup of tea.

if you come down saturday (assuming you get this before then), stop at pre-parole on your way in. the music group i play with is supposed to play up there saturday afternoon and....the gods permitting....we might be able to visit up there instead of here. at least, we'd be able to go outside. the arrangements haven't been completely made on this, so i don't know. in any case, whether or not we can visit up there, come down. i'd much rather talk with you than play funky music for people who probably won't be listening anyway.

i sympathize with your househunting woes. nothing much else i can sya, i guess, except hang in there. should i suggest that by now you should know better than to argue with the geniuses when they're in the middle of something they're working on? they tend to get irrational....but then, who doesn't. since i'm sort of in the middle, i.e. i like what they're doing and want to help but i have pragmatic concerns, also, i think i'd better sidestep and make a diplomatic exit.

got a neat card from marsha; carol t. stopped in last saturday to say hi; got a letter and clipping from my grandparents (the clipping was of my sister in her capacity as chairman of the ice cream social and slave market....are you ready for that? i wasn't) which i will hang onto and show you one of these days.

i'm out of room. see you....all my love, and peace. Jerry

hi, luv.....

this is going to be kind of short cause i'm pressed for time, but i thought i'd get these copies of my parole thing off to you. you're going to have to get them reproduced some way. i nosed around a bit, looking for ways to get to a ditto machine, but it's just not possible.

i talked to and yesterday. they'll do what they can. i want you to get copies of the stuff i'm sending to them. is supposed to leave for boston wednesday to pick up brian. he just got back from cuba. she plans to be gone for about a week, but she said she'd be back in time to do a few things. will get the lawyer's guild together, and mother is going to attend. (or, at least, i assume she will). also, i'll be getting a letter off to the tesslers, probably tomorrow.

i really enjoyed saturday afternoon with you. it was not as neat as it could have been if we had been able to get together at pre-parole, but that's life. one of these days.... i was going to mention that seeing you in a skirt was sort of far out, but it slipped my mind, a thought literally inundated by other things.

the house thing intrigues me. i'm trying to figure somthinge out, a way to be able to get through to the parole people as to why the family needs to live together. but mostly i'm holding off until after the 30th, waiting to see what develops then. don't forget to get copies of their thing and send them to me. i'm still having difficulty getting any action from the people here. they just don't want to act right.

i'll be seeing capelli tomorrow (i hope) about the gianuzzi interview and some ohter things. i kind of hoped i get a letter from him todya, but nothigg came. if and when it works out so i can see him and get something firm, i think i can swing wyse on the w.r....it's just a matter of hanging on until things come into phase. and i know i can handle that.

sue ransome, the girl rod knows, sent a letter to jim martin today. i was really happy to hear that she came through. it probably doesn't seem like much, but i think it'll do a lot for jim. he needs someone who gives a shit. anyway, tell rod to thank sue for me.

that's it for now. i've got to run but i'll write more later in the week. all my love, say hi to everyone. pax.

hi, luv...

i kind of expected a letter which would bring me more-or-less up-to-date with the happenings in your world, but since none came, i'll just ramble on a bit. a couple of things worthy of mention occurred since last i wrote.

the most important (though i really hate to think of it in such terms) is that i received my parole application papers. it's lying here beside the typewriter, awaiting my attention. the blanks beckon: where are you planning to reside? what employment have you procured? what jobs have you held in the past? what job skills do you possess? are you a member of a union and, if so, can you be reinstated?

blah! an obnoxious document...inanimate, yet, threatening. it's weird to watch the different reactions when people stop by my cell and see it lying there. to some, it's like the holy grail; to others, it prompts the telling of sad, sad tales, of bad experiences, of freedom lost or gained. some disclaim its importance in badass tones (fuck these people! they can stick parole up their ass!). etc...

with me, the hassling has already begun. when they (the parole people) hand out the papers, there ensues a little lecture-cum-pep-talk-cum-"are there any questions?". what a farce...not the question/answer thing because i believe the parole people are sincere albeit naive....but that people's lives should hang on the decision made my three demi-gods who place great value on their 'professional'status but wouldn't recognize true professionalism if it hit them dead in the ass.

i got into an argument with the guy passing out the papers. basically, i took the position that parole should be mandatory upon completion of the individual's 'short' end. the guy brought me the shit that the parole board has a moral commitment to the people of the state of colorado to protect their lives and property. bullshit!, said i. the only commitment the parole board has is to its own status. on virtually any scale of measurement, the board cannot justify its existence. economically, the amount of money saved by denying parole to a given number of thieves would not pay the traveling expenses of the board. in terms of lives saved or in the avoidance of personal injury, the board can show no evidence that their decisions affect the incidence of such crimes. and on, and on, and on....

anyway, i suppose i'll get the damned thing filled out and turned in....if i can. i still haven't heard anything from gianuzzi. if he doesn't get in touch pretty soon, i'm going to put together some alternatives. i've been holding off, waiting to see what's going to happen, but time is getting short. as for the residence thing, i'm not going to press it. for the time being, i'm just going to say that i plan to rent a place of my own. i can't see any point in fighting that battle from in here. and that's enough on that subject!

the thing you mentioned about me having something for you to do was for you to send me some copies of the parole board's proposed revisions of the parole agreement. i was hoping to have a chance to go over it and write in some notes for you to bring up at the meeting on the 30th. but the opportunity for that has passed. one thing you might do is that if you should happen to come down this weekend, you might bring a copy with you and we'll go over it in the visiting room. otherwise, don't worry about it.

which reminds me of the other thing that happened. i volunteered for extra work on the weekends (to give me something to do when i don't get a pretty lady to come and see me), so i spent last weekend hoeing weeds at the garden. it's located over by the main institution, on around the corner going up toward the gorge, and it's right by the highway. it made for a nice weekend, being out in the sun and watching all the cars go by. saw a neat looking chick with long blond hair riding a big triumph cycle and damned near fell in love, and i managed to get sunburned. if this keeps up, i'll have a better tan than craig by summer's end. i doubt if he and rod would believe it after the way i used to shun the sun when we were in the walls together. but there's a logical explanation: i can't see the point of lying around soaking up a tan just for the sake of lying around soaking up a tan, but if the tan results from other activities, then it's a gassy thing to have. right?

i heard about craig getting robbed. you can tell him i said it was poetic justice....and i don't care whether he thinks i'm gauche or not. tom wolff is on my side!

if you think about it, bring the female eunuch with you the next time you come down (maybe i should have put quotes around that title...it don't look too good without them).

gotta go. pax. tell rod that sam w. sends his best, and that the 'gwerf' sends regards to all. later.

Miss You All & Love You,
Jerry

hi....

a couple of interesting things happened today so i thought i'd bring you up to date. i talked briefly with capelli re my getting together with gianuzzi and taking the exam for a 3rd class r/t license. he told me to set it up, that he would approve it. this means that you're going to have to do a bit of coordinating.

i haven't (as yet) heard from gianuzzi. you might give him a call and let him know that i'll be able to come to denver, but that i will definitely need a letter from him to that effect, setting the date/time/place. also, this will have to fit in with the date/time/place for taking the fcc exam. at best, i'll only be at cgw for a day or possibly two.

will you trip down to the local fcc shop and find out when i can take the exam, how much it will cost, and any other particulars? i'd like to make it during the week of june 5--9 if it can be arranged. would greatly appreciate anything you can do, luv. i know it's kind of a hassel, getting shit like this worked out, but it's a hell of a lot easier for you to do than it would be for me.

i talked with ford young (of the work release committee). he said that it was definitely wyse who put the skids to w.r. for me. i've got a slip in to see wyse because i still suspect the parole board of interference. nonetheless, i'm going to check it out. i may have you and gianuzzi writing to him (assumming gianuzzi's willing) to see what can be done in the way of salvaging something.

in the meantime, i'm renewing the old 'get to cgw campaign'. i talked with the psyche team today (at the urging of various and sundry members of the administration who still believe in the mumbo-jumbo magik). it was a mutually pleasant discussion....both sides agreed that there was nothing to be gained by further encounters. they told me, "if you've gotten your shit together, why are you bothering us? we've got people who need our time and talents." the indication was that they will prepare a favorable report for anyone who asks.

after learning of this, my 'counselor' suggested that i turn in a slip requesting a transfer to cgw and said that he would try to push it through. i have my doubts about anything resulting from this, but....

i still haven't gotten a letter off to yvonne and gary, but i guess that's par for the course. the time factor is so fucked up. i spent all day doing what i described on the front page of this letter. all totaled there was perhaps an hour of actual activity. the rest of the time was spent sitting around waiting for someone to see me. it makes me tireder than if i had worked all day.

and i had sort of a heavy discussion sunday (damn!' i keep hitting the "1" symbol instead of the backspacer!)....anyway, and i talked some about the roles we play and may play when i get out. essentially, we were sort of testing one another to see how we fit. to our mutual relief, i think we both have a fairly accurate idea of just how important we are to one another and of how much we can demand of our relationship. as it stands, she's not the most important woman in my life, and i'm not the mostimportant man in hers. she was really concerned that i was going to demand more than she wanted to give. i was touched in the sense that i think she would probably try her best to meet my needs whether she wanted to or not, at least, up to a point. i tried to explain that i don't need or want exclusive rights....all i want is for she and i to share what we can and leave it. whatever that may or may not include remains to be seen. it was good to see the tension fly away. now that i'm getting close to getting out, i have noticed her getting a bit uptight, and i'm glad we were able to get things out into the open. there are still questions, of course, but...

the reason i mention this is because i don't think will fit in with our plans for the house. i could be wrong, but i think she's moving in a different direction than us. i know that you've mentioned thepossibility of hermoving in and she mentioned craig had asked her how we were getting along (trust craig to be looking out for me). just thought i'd bring you up to what's happening with us.

also, i think what i told is relevent to you, too....at least, partially. i want what we can have, no more no less. at this writing, i can think of no one i would rather live with than you....but that could change the first week i'm out. i'm trying as best i can to avoid projecting myself into situations which don't exist....either with carol or with you or with craig and rod, for that matter. what is it joan didion says? play it as it lays....

it's about beddy-bye time for the old kid. keep the faith and all that.

Much Love,
Jerry

the only adverse side-effect of your coming to see me is that for the week or so which follows i find it impossible to write. we seem to cram so much into three hours of conversation, there's nothing left to say...particularly because all we can do is talk. nonetheless, i was really glad to see you. it's the first visit we've had where i wasn't on edge about something.

work proceeds: i've become sort of a handyman-at-large. during the past week, in addition to my usual labors in the slaughterhouse, i've fed cattle, hauled cattle & pigs, hauled hay, mixed feed and irrigated pastureland. i enjoy it because it staves off boredom....one very important consideration....and because i'm more-or-less my own boss. there's no one standing there handing out rations of shit, a thing i value highly.

behavior bothers me....but i think i understand what she felt. your reaction to your days in jail was pretty intense. i got the feeling listening to you that some of the things you heard/saw/experienced exposed some of your leftover hang-ups. i think you over-reacted (an understandable response) and then over-reacted to your over-reaction, setting in motion a cycle of compensation and counter-compensation which never balanced satisfactorily. have you ever heard of the cat-walking-the-bridge phenomenon? in theory, the rythmic cadence set up by a pussycat's footsteps can ultimately destroy the bridge because the structure geometrically amplifies the motion. this is why soldiers on the march always break cadence when crossing suspension bridges. the motion of your emotional response to being in jail was similar. the conflict between your present value system and your past value system got out of hand, over-loading your capacity to cope with a hostile environment.

but to get back to ...i cannot see why the argument she had with you got her so bent out of shape that she couldn't enjoy her visit with bob. if anything, i would think that it would have improved the quality....but i'm offering that on the basis of my own standards. i wonder if annette felt that she had to avoid discussing an 'annette problem' with bob? this is tenuous, but perhaps annette feels that when she visits bob she's obligated to restrict her conversation to non-personal 'bob problems'. i've seen it happen. a woman visiting her man-in-prison sometimes feels obligated to suppress her existence because of the distress conditions her man is living in (i'm not advocating this; i merely say that it happens), and i wonder if annette broached her self-imposed obligation to focus her attention on bob, felt guilty and tried to pass it on to you? like i said, that's a bit tenuous, but....

por favor....next time you write, send me gary gianuzzi's address. i want to get in touch with him. there's a method to my madness....while on work release (and i haven't heard anything substantial), pay won't be a major consideration for me. the way i figure it, the state's going to take 25% of whatever i make anyway for room and board; ergo, the less i'm making, the less the state gets for its cut. plus, since my outdate falls in late october, i should know by then whether or not gianuzzi's thing is going to fly. if it does, okay. i'm in on the ground floor. if not, that gives me time to get into something more substantial before release time. this assumes, of course, that he and i can come to some sort of mutual understanding. he's going to have to pay me something....these people won't let me work for nothing....but i think i can contribute a lot to what he's trying to do, at least from what i've been able to deduce from your scanty explanations.

i ran across a book that all of you may find interesting. it's by a dude named thomas hanna who teaches philosophy at Florida University (he's chairman of the department). the book is called, "Bodies In Revolt", and it fits in nicely with our general outlook on things. i've got a hardback copy (it costs 7 bucks), but you should be able to get it in paperback or at the library. if not, let me know and i'll ship you mine.

and, while i'm on the subject of books, tell craig that i'm still trying to lay my hands on the open form. it was one of the books i left in the walls. i'm negotiating to re-obtain it....hope i won't be too late. i've read some excerpts from 'crisis in the classroom', but wasn't especially turned on. the best thing i've read on education was 'teaching as a subversive activity'. but that's me. i've scraped together some pretty radical educational ideas, most of which coincide with the 'free school' concept, but the ideas are mostly arbitrary and unsubstantiated by scholarly research....just jerry off the top of his head.

what does your roommate think of all your associates of ill-repute? it must be some kind of wierd (weird???) feeling she gets. somehow, i have difficulty picturing you living with another female. five'll get you ten that it doesn't last very long. ; but, then, i don't imagine you intended for it to last.

oh, before i forget, the mailroom here is getting a bit hankdy about you not signing your letters, putting your name on the envelopes, etc. seems if it isn't your post office, it's mine. i've got to make out a change-of-address form, now, and it hardly seems worth the effort....you'll probably be moving again within a month. c'est la vie.

a neat thing happened over the weekend. couldn't come down so she called and left a message. these people were nice about passing the message along, and it really tickled me to see the expression on the face of the officer who gave me the word. he's known me for a long time, and he knows about my record (tree-jumping, etc.). it kind of blew his mind to have a woman sending me endearments and love. he just wasn't ready for it, you know. but it was nice of him to take the time and make the effort.

enough. i'm going to go play a game of scrabble or three. keep me posted re developments on a hause (since that's the second time i've spelled haus that way tonight, it must mean something so i'm going to leave it). and do something about getting the pictures sent, willya?

much love. peace.

Jerry

hi....

i expected to get this in the mail last week, but....i find that being outside all day working has tightened my schedule considerably. there's just not enough time to get everything done. having to quit at 10:00 in the evening is a drag, and even though i usually stay up until after midnight reading, i can't do what i want when i want....

since i haven't heard from you, i assume you have been scuffling for employment or have located a job. of course, there's an outside chance that you may be in san francisco....but i suspect that denver will be your home for awhile, particularly if you can come up with a satisfactory gig. which reminds me....i've been thinking about getting a 3rd class r/t ticket. you'll recall that sometime ago i mentioned putting together a free-lance news team to do daily spots on local/regional stories not usually covered by the wire services. you declined on the grounds that you lack entrepreneurial talent, but since i've got enough gall/stubborness for two or three people, i've been toying with the idea. anyway, i thought i'd go ahead and get the ticket just in case something works out....

i went inside the walls last week for a day to have my teeth worked on and managed to do a little bit of lightweight lobbying in my behalf. i spent about an hour talking with the work release board, sort of explaining my position, etc. usually, applicants don't meet this board; what happens is that the board reviews the individual jackets without consulting the individual personally. i've been accepted already by the board (i think i mentioned that), but i wanted to get a few words in before the thing goes before the parole board for approval. al urich (one of the w/r board members) asked me if i thought my showing up would help or hinder my efforts to get work release. i told him that that was an irrelevant point: all that i wanted was to let everyone concerned know that i want out. they can think whatever they like....but i accomplished something, i think, and i found out that my jacket contains some pretty far out items like back issues of the magazine and copies of the chronicle (the inside weekly news sheet) where i'd made some relatively sarcaustic remarks about the parole board, parole department and prison in general. but there were also some good recommendations from various and sundry people, including george, wkp, wyse and others. i feel fairly confidant, and....if worse comes to worse....i'm prepared to scream like a wounded water buffalo.

i haven't done much on the dome models. i've got the strut material, but i'm having a hassle laying my hands on connectors. carol was going to get me some plastic tubing, but she's been pretty busy getting her shit together, moving and what not. plus, she's broke most of the time. then there's the time element. i've been playing with a jazz group, rehearsing for a couple of hours every evening, and we put on a show for the population the other night. it went over really good, although the music wasn't all that great. and we're supposed to do a gig friday night, and another at the women's division in the near future. that's the problem. i like doing it and want to continue, but time is a problem. i keep feeling like i'm wasting time on something not as important as some other things i could be doing....yet, i don't want to give it up.

the discovery: ms is a rather comfortable, detatched sort of environment. i don't feel the pressure to get out from under the way i did inside, and this disturbs me a bit. i've been locked up so damn long, i can't afford to get comfortable again, if you know what i mean; yet, the temptation to do so is rather constant. i find i miss the conflict to a degree....but not so much that i want to go back inside or stay here one single second longer than absolutely necessary. it's just a thing i have to be aware of and keep in perspective. as skinner might say, habit is a dirty motherfucker, and the worst habit is one you aren't aware of. insidious is the term i want....

another thing which has been giving me a bit of sleeplessness is my tendency to bite off more than i can conveniently handle. there are so many things i want to do when i get out, i'm going to have to be extremely careful about involving myself; plus, iv'e got the parole department to hassle. they are going to be thrilled with some of the things i want to do. i've already been instructed to find employment in a 'non-controversial' and 'established' field. thus, for work release, i think i'm going to do construction or something similar. the money is good, and it won't upset anyone. then, after i get out, i'll look around for something more in keeping with my talents. but i still want to get in touch with gianuzzi.

and then there's you...for openers, you're not the most uncontroversial person i know. then, there's george's warning to the effect that you are pure poison. then, there's assorted interrelated personal things which will have to work out as they can. finally, there's my opinion (which is the one i'll abide by, i suppose) which suggests that i'll be associating with you (and our mutual friends) whether or not anyone likes it. i think it's true that of the family, you and i are the most alike. neither of us is prepared to turn our backs on the system, no matter how fucked up it might seem. more so than any of the others, we can stomache the principle of making money for the sake of making money, rationalizing it on the grounds that it takes money (and the accompanying power) to accomplish anything significant. rod is heavily into alternate physics; craig is the scholar and behavior technician; carol and her friends are into poverty because it's opposed to affluence; and that leaves us to more-or-less appreciate the fruits of their labors. (which sounds foul, but it is the way it is, i think.) we have our thing which is directed toward the masses; they don't deal with the masses. thus, i predict, that you and i will commonly find ourselves defending approximately the same positions, a dynamic that lends itself to closeness. what do you think? i'm just running off at the mouth.

i got to split. say hello to everyone for me, and i'll be seeing you. peace.

Much Love, Jerry

hi, luv...

it has been a long day. we butchered chickens today... a very messy, boring and tedious activity which i quickly learned to detest... and i am weary. plus, i'm slightly peeved at these people. they denied my request for a phone call to my grandparent's, an action i consider excessively petty. but i'm glad to know that MS has its share of pricks... i was beginning to think the people of the state of colorado weren't getting their money's worth....

to continue what i started monday: on the book question... no, i don't see the need, at least not at this juncture. as you noted, i am not overly fond of wading through heavyweight volumes. such books usually give me nothing more than a headache. it's odd, isn't it? both craig and rod are programmed into verbal learning while i struggle along the non-verbal periphery; yet, somehow, we manage to communicate quite well. sometimes i feel pangs of guilt over my gross laziness, but on the whole, i'm satisfied that my flitting about, dipping lightly into this-n-that, has a functional value.

anyway, i'll pass on the books. if worse comes to worse, i'll pick your collective gleanings. the thing i'm into.... building the models... is (i think) more pragmatically oriented than the things you're doing. i'm more interested in building domes and putting them to work than i am in finding out why they work... of course, there are some very interesting philosophically oriented/psychologically oriented questions. one which i find intriguing is: in the highly structured prison environment, what behavioral changes will result from the use of a 'fluid/flexible container' as opposed to the traditional 'static/rigid maze'?

while i may be projecting, i think it could be theorized that both inmates and officers would be threatened by the proximity of a free-form building, even though it would be a recreational facility. the 'flow-patterns' inherent to such a structure are (or, perhaps i should say, could be) alien to the traditional controlled patterns induced by square (no pun intended) buildings. although there has already been a recognizable breakdown in the inmate/officer response-binding phenomena, a flex-form structure would almost certainly further the process of obliterating the chasm....or of bridging the chasm (i think the first is more accurate, but the latter is probably more acceptable on the rhetorical scale), and i'm not completely convinced that such a result would be acceptable. there are a lot of other factors which would also have to be manipulated in order to make the transition 'safe'. still, i think the issue should be pushed. the process has to begin somewhere.

this sort of ties into another brainstorm of mine: employment for ex-cons. i've been working off-and-on on a paper which outlines the employment and related problems facing ex-felons. the current situation isn't good. most people being released are able to find a job, but few (in a relative sense) find employment which suits either their capabilities or inclinations. as in the case of women in broadcasting, the opportunities exist but access is denied. therefore, let us fall back on the mohammed-and-the-mountain fable: the modular city thing (lake havasu, colorado city, etc.) has become an economically feasible investment for long-term investors; likewise, Disneyland and Las Vegas have become examples of salable packages of specialized life-styles. why not build 'our' free-form, dome-zome-oriented city, complete with built-in mass transit, computerized public services, etc.? the workforce (ex-cons, under-30 grads with a yen for manual labor, etc.) is available and waiting to be tapped; financing should be available (consider the $ racked up by the McCullough Corporation!) and a coalition of contract investors could probably be put together (Weyerhauser, Hartford Life, PPG, Gates, CF&I, Kohler, Westinghouse, Shell Oil, etc.). The cost: i would estimate $1,000,000,000.00.

as you'll note, i tend to think on a grand scale. nonetheless, it's the sort of thing which will be happening shortly. i'm not suggesting that we go quite as big as outlined above, but i am suggesting the UCI could conceivably work up something on a small scale, sort of a working laboratory-type thing. we could do some investigative work, and, in the process, provide some jobs for people who ordinarily wouldn't have a chance.

kick it around and see what you think. now, about UCI (speaking practically): i am mostly convinced that not a lot can be done at the moment. my mobility and communicative ability are cramped beyond redemption. i point this out, not because i think i have exclusive rights but because i know that none of you can spare the time required to get something substantial underway. for that reason, i'm content to let things lie fallow until more propituous times arrive.

speaking of which: whatever happened to the italian fellow and his magazine idea? as i told you that day in the visiting room (wow! does that seem like a long time ago!), the magazine thing has real potential. i keep expecting something to pop up along the lines i was thinking about, but.....

odds & ends department: did you get the pictures taken, sent to the processors, etc. so i can have a peek at your secret lives (visually speaking, of course)? and i'm sorry, luv, but i don't think they'll permit me to give any music lessons in the visiting room here (they still haven't arranged it so you can go outside and lounge on the lawn, eat lunches, neck, etc.). that will just have to wait until better times. besides, i'm not a very good music teacher. so much of what i know seems so simple to me, that i get terribly impatient when others find it incomprehensible. if you don't believe me, ask rod. and don't worry about labeling your insanity (i refer, of course, to your amazement/delight of an afternoon in the park followed by making love). insanity of that sort seems completely rational. when is your birthday? does your collection of books include a copy of "i ching" and, if so, could you bear to part with it? are you going to invite your brother to get involved in any of our projects? the snow was really nice, but it sure didn't last. how's that for switching topics?

well, you're good for me. i'm not as tired now as i was when i started. and i liked your poem, 'my immediate green-eyed question'. but having seen both the original and the revised version of 'half an artistic truth', i still don't think you are coming across as well as the subject deserves.

gotta go. but, come see me. or, instead of one bug, you'll have a whole anthill under your butt. i'm already consulting my manual of enchantments and spell-casting. much love to both (or, rather, to all) of you. later. pax!

Luv, Jerry

your letter came today and reminded me of some things i forgot to include in the note i wrote last night, primarily about mark warner. he got busted in kansas on a possession and paraphernalia beef. as i understand it, mark and a friend went to kansas city (or someplace in that vicinity) on a pleasure jaunt. on their way home, mark's friend got into a traffic hassle. in the course of the investigation, the police found some amphetamines and a 'fit' in mark's lugguge. this resulted in mark's getting a six month jail sentence, and his friend got a three month sentence for the traffic thing. adding insult to injury, mark was not yet off parole and when kansas releases him, he will have to come back to csp for 90 days. all of which adds up to some kind of bum trip any way you slice it. i don't know where all of this occurred (i don't have an address or anything), but you might be able to find out if you can get hold of the woman he was living with....he'd probably dig getting a card or letter from the family, a 'keep the faith' thing to help keep his head together, 'cause i know he's got to be feeling bad. see what you can do.

i found your comments about your conversation with george ran basically in parallel with some of my thoughts (see yesterday's letter). i've had some misgivings about how craig would react if i dropped into the middle of things. naturally, i assumed he will be able to handle such a situation. i was more concerned with how i would hack it (with reference to jerry/craig interactions). oddly enough, however, the sexual implications have never been cause for concern. i have been more interested in professional/semi-professional/social activities as the focal point of conflict should it occur. anyway, for the present, i've adopted the position that there's no point in aggravating things by trying to work out theoretical solutions to problems which--as yet--don't exist. when the time comes, we'll work it out. i will say that i appreciate your vote of confidence. i also feel that i've gone beyond the point of having to react like an idiot....if only in the sense that i'm constantly trying to be aware of the 'whys and hows' of my behavior in any given situation. knowing what's going on inside this crazy skull of mine at least gives me a shot at controlling/modifying my actions.

the parole department's reaction promtps me to respond in typical fashion: why not get the women's movement in denver to back up a civil suit against the parole department? it's certainly in violation of your constitutional rights (if not craig's and rod's) for a minor civil service employee to invade your privacy. for craig and rod, it could be argued that such interference in their private lives constitutes cruel and unusual punishment as prohibited by the eighth amendment, and i'm sure an attorney would have no problem putting together a rational and valid argument. plus, there's the added factor that as of july 1, the law prohibiting cohabitation will no longer be a punishable offense. the new criminal code still says that living in sin is a no-no; however, there is no provision for punishing the dastardly deed. in fact, the only reason the section was retained was to placate senator hugh chanee (need i elaborate?).

of course, such a suit would undoubtedly cause a lot of heat, something which neither nor needs. they've got enough hassles what with trying to stay in school and keep the rent paid, etc. nonetheless, it's one of those stupid things which is going to have to be challenged sooner-or-later. maybe it might be best just to let it simmer until i get out....because if some rinky-dink-assed parole officer brings some shit like that to me, said shit is going to hit the fan. come to think of it, i might be able to have an even better case since i could claim that: (a) being a sex offender, such cohabitation is not only necessary but is--in fact--vital to my rehabilitative program; and (b), that to deny me access to sexual satisfaction and release constitutes criminal negligence on the part of the denying agency!

but i am pleased that you've decided to look for a house. even if we have to wait until all of us are off parole, it'll eventually be used. i just hope we don't have to wait. which brings up another point: these people have steadfastedly refused to permit direct correspondence between and i...for reasons i know not. i have a hunch that they think i'll corrupt him (specifically) more so than he already is (as you would say, "fat chance!") if anything, the opposite might be true.

i'm not too crazy about your cab driving ideas. that's not an exactly healthy occupation. being robbed periodically isn't so bad....it's just that most of the people who rob cab drivers are amateurs, so scared they're shitting little green apples, and super-unstabile. this results in a lot of physical injuries to the persons being robbed. consult your statistics. anyway, it would seem to me that better opportunities exist. and, speaking of jobs, you might be interested to know that located a gig as a motorcycle parts girl at the 4 seasons recreational center....but don't tell her i told you. she's already paranoid about having to smuggle gratis parts to all her friends who have bikes.

i gotta get this in the mail or it won't go until friday. don't forget to send gianuzzi's address. luck on your psych test. later.

Much Love
&
Plenty Peace,
Jerry

hi, nut...

you realize, of course, that you've left yourself open for an atrocious pun having to do with a scarlet letter....and i wonder what george would say? he nearly had apoplexy over your use of lower case, calling it an outrageous affectation. this newest wrinkle would probably be just the thing to push him around the bend.

i nearly wrote you last night, but laziness won out over greed. or, perhaps, avarice is a better term. (explanation: letters mailed sunday night are paid for by the state, but i'll have to foot the postage for this. nonetheless, i consider it a bargain on the grounds that for the price of an eight cent stamp, i can add another chapter to the ongoing saga of...to hell with it. this could get complicated, and i'm not in the mood.) anyway, what i started to say was that mainly i didn't write last night because i figured i'd get a letter from you today....and i did, thereby justifying my latent pragmatism. and laziness.

i think i'll make it a point to see george. the parole board is beginning to get inquisitive about things like where am i going to live and where am i going to work, etc. so far, i've hedged around without getting specific. i have a hunch they're not going to be overjoyed when (or if) i tell them about you,   et al. already, they're not in the best frame of mind (the magazine and the corporation haven't improved their image of me, and i have it on fairly good authority that they consider me a trouble-maker). this means i'm going to have to find some way of making you (a collective you) palatable, ergo, george. he can provide some interesting (and helpful) data concerning the interrelationship between all of us....but he won't unless he can be convinced that i'm worth his intervention. so, a bit of palavering seems in order. i'll keep you posted on developments.

a reminder: either send or bring gianuzzi's address so i can get in touch. also, get the film processed so i can check out the flics of the family. if this sounds redundant, it's only because it is. and one more thing: if you can part with it, i'd like to read 'the female eunuch'....which reminds me: tell   i'm sorry, but i haven't been able to get the 'open form' for him. i know it's probably too late to worry about it, now, but i feel kind of shitty about not hanging onto it. i'm going to have to be more careful about things like that because i have a habit of reading things and then just tossing them carelessly aside....saving things for future reference just isn't something i can get into doing....or may it's just that quoting other people isn't something i feel good about. call it my overdeveloped ego or whatever, but i figure i'm authority enough. if someone doesn't believe me, then what good will it do for me to quote someone else? but this is deja vu....we've been through it before.

i don't much care for the house you and discovered....at least, not from your description of things. old houses are neat and so is refurbishing them, but there's a limit to what can be done within reasonable means. it would seem to me that for $14-17,000 there should be a more substantial structure available. one very important consideration that you should keep in mind (and, since i'm sure you are, i don't know why i mention it....). anyway, i would imagine that the place wherever and whatever it may be will eventually be sold/leased/rented or something. location, therefore, becomes an imperative factor: you should try to locate something which will not be too much in the way of 'progress' else 'progress' will condemn it to destruction. at the same time, the neighborhood should be on the rebound instead of on the way down. that way, by the time we find it necessary to move on, the investment will have improved on itself. keep ruth ann handy. she's a shrewd old thing. bon chance.

i find your theory about professional people interesting. i think it is definitely worthy of further development. if you could work it up into a solidly grounded analysis, you could probably sell an article to one of the major 'slicks', and the same background material could serve as the basis for two or three documentary films/TV specials. gary tessler might be interested, but don't mention me. he and i are a bit on the outs about the film thing i did which never worked out because i couldn't swing my end of the deal (and that's a bridge which will have to be patched one of these days).

by all means, bring janet and come see me this weekend...on saturday, if possible. will probably be down sunday (next monday is her 20th birthday), and while i dearly love both of you, it just doesn't work out when you both arrive together. in fact, why don't you have craig call her (or you can if you like) and work out a schedule (and this suddenly sounds totally ridiculous....wow!). anyway, i think you know what i mean. it'll be super to see janet again. partly because of what you've told me and partly because of my observations (such as they were) on our first meeting, she sounds like, acts like and looks like 'good people'. i'll fix it so she can get in, and, unless you have problems and can't make it, i'll see you this weekend.

that's enough for now. if i say anything else, there'll be nothing left to say when i see you...but i'll think of something. if nothing else, i can always ogle your body (which i find enormously pleasing). and i think i'll save further comment for more propitious times.

say hello to rod and craig for me and tell them i've got less than six months, now.....nothing to it. later. pax.

Love,
Jerry

P.S. on re-reading this, i find i'm a bit pompous this evening....also, quite presumptuous. forgive, please?

ami....

this will be short. i've been meaning to send you this poem i've been toying with for the past three or four months. it's more-or-less complete....by that i mean that i'm temporarily satisfied....but i suspect i will want to make changes in it at some point in the future. as yet, i don't have all the data i need, and the poem suffers from my lack of information. no doubt, you'll see what i mean....

i'm relieved to learn that i was confused about which marc got busted. but i still am in the dark about 'heavy'....which, i suppose, is not a disaster, merely curiousity. knowing the information i got was distorted as the result of passing through annette somehow or other (and this is going to sound very uncharitable) confirmed a suspicion or two i have had about her. nothing concrete, you understand, just one of those 'feelings' i get about people which radically determines my behavior when i am around them. with annette, although i like her, i just don't place a very high value on her opinion(s). if pressed for a one-word description (which is sort of unfair to start with), i would label annette a 'reactionary'....and i hope you don't store that away for use in your next fight with her....because i think she allows subjective bias to dominate her actions. enough on that.

okay, i won't dun you for gianuzzi's address anymore. the point is that time has become an increasingly important factor. until now, i could more-or-less afford to let things drift along at their own pace. the need to regulate the pace has now, however, become necessary. i sure as hell don't want to get set back a month or three months (as sometimes happens) because of unpreparedness. when i go before the parole board, i want to be as ready as i can possibly be....and, in addition, i want to have retaliatory measures lined up and ready to go should a set-back occur....including having you parked in the middle of governor love's office when he shows up for work asking "why?" comprende? i'm not predicting disaster or anything like that; i just want out and should some interference occur, i want to be able to squawk and have the squawking heard someplace where it will do some good. coppering my bets, i think it's called.

from the looks of things, if you're planning on coming down this week you may have to rent a dogsled from hertz. we haven't had any of the weather yet, but i understand things are pretty packed in around castle rock north of the springs. of course, if things are bad, the mail truck will probably be stuck and you won't get this until next week....which makes this graph somewhat extraneous.

so, all right: be a cabbie. all i can say is that you've got more heart than i have because i wouldn't want the job. bon chance and all that. if it feels good, do it....but understand this: if and when i get out of this place, you'd better leave your cab at home because i'll be damned if i'll pay taxi fare all the way from here to denver!

why doesn't put up a sign on his crib? something like, "warning! if you're going to burglarize this residence be forewarned that the occupant is a veteran criminal, now on parole from the prison at canon city. having an aversion to the police, he will probably not report your activities; however, he probably will take retaliatory action should he discover the identity of the culprits. sincerely, ...p.s.: if you do rip me off, please make it worth your while because ineptitude and incompetence are traits i find extremely irritating!" at the very least, it would give the neighbors something to gossip about.

as i warned earlier, this is (or was intended to be) short. i'm going to bed and rest my weary bod.

peace, love and....as i recall, you do have a nice ass. not to mention sexy hipbones. later.

Jerry

Friday P.M.

i got hung up working on the poem i was enclosing so you'll just have to wait until i write again.

Much Love

To you Dear lady, I certainly must have displayed a brazen demeanor.. as a matter of fact you looked rather dismayed when I invited you into the building for a 'pop' & a brief chat... I sincerely hope that I didn't offend you? With complete candor I must tell you that you certainly were an illuminating light in this atmosphere.. and please consider my attitude nothing more than complimentary borne on platonic wings (my 7 years of incarceration at times dispels my over-all "Cool" (smiles)...

I rapped with the 'Man' here today and the program is being setup for next Saturday at 1.00 P.M.... It's really not definite yet, but its safe to say that Jerry & gang will be here then! I really do hope that you get a chance to here him blow 'cause he takes care of biz! Again, please forgive my temerity 'cause I really am a bit more reserved... but I did want to rap to you, or, y'know.. like, get to know you.. after all one can't have too many friends! I'll drop you a short note upon final word... I would like to hear from you.. to assuage the boredom of this place.. Hope you'll consider a [illegible] writin' venture?

Aha! I sensed the joi de vivre of the liberated woman when first I saw you striding the walk pictured above... like; proud, hip & confident... and upon reading your letter (which I enjoyed very much) you affirmed my observation......

Hello again, Shirley McDermott.. and thank you for the amply written letter.. it did, truly, assuage the boredom & anxiety directed towards the days left.. which now number, "8"! I can't help but regret that we never met earlier in my sentence, for I'm sure that the exchanges of ideas.. thoughts or whatever delightful indulgences friends engage in during correspondence..would have proved stimulating to say the least!!!

Hey! y'know, the performance here never did get off, even though I diligently labored to gain such.... It was a matter of security for Jerry & gang (a guard wasn't able to 'secure' them!) It has been said that they won't be able to appear here until sometime in June, and I'll be long gone!!

Anyway, you can arrange to come & see/hear Jerry perform when they do set it up! Simply, have Jerry contact someone here at Pre Parole that you can "visit" that day, dig?

Will you be visiting Jerry this coming weekend? If so, it would sure be a groove if you would stop here for a few minutes to chat & drink coffee, or a pop (smiles).... As I wrote earlier, I will be leaving on the 30th & I would like to rap to you about my plans in Colorado Springs which are related to prison reform, etc.. I'm sure you'll dig them! Wonder what the group would have thought of our plans for Tricia and Julie Nixon on the White House lawn? All things considered, you would have probably fit in quite well. I guess you're aware of how ripped my head was, and I guess you know also how glad I was to get it ripped!

I got on case a bit about her 'devil's advocate' role-playing concerning UCI. I understand where she's coming from, and, in a sense, she's being useful. But I think she's coming on a little too strong with you and the others when she should be getting on me.

Anyway, I was glad to hear you and are getting the computer thing together. I'm working on x-tension, trying to get the grant application shaped up so it'll get results. Dave Snyder (from the bank in Pueblo) is going to give me hand on the legal ramifications. Any word on the exempt status?

I've run into some flack about getting you on my mailing and visiting list, can't pinpoint the source, but I suspect a conspiracy between ignorance and ineptitude? I'll keep chucking. Should have it together, soon.

Told might as well get you on the ball, too. I'm working on Wayne K. to recommend me for a re-appearance before the commute people. I've got him to the point where he's willing to discuss the possibility. It wouldn't hurt to have some letters of support from people like Bill Lovell, etc.; if you can do anything on this, I would be most appreciative, you know? Make sure the letters go to Patterson. Schaur hates my guts. If I can get on the board, then we'll work on the strings leading to Gov Love.

I agree with your analysis of 'being out'. Having been through it a couple of times, I know what it's like....but I'll tell you what. I sure wouldn't mind going through tHose changes just one more time!!!! Hang in there. By the way, is Rod doing any painting? Tell him....what the hell, just let him read this. Hi, Rod. How's it going? Keep the faith, I'll be along by and by.

Your idea for doing a book sounds fantastic. I've talked to Earl and John, also George. Everyone's for the idea. John doesn't want his name used, but as for Earl and I, we don't much give a damn. One thing, I think George should annotate the thing, time factor or no. Will do what I can to help. Let me know what.

Another thing. Got a letter from Steve Gascoyne (a friend in arms at UPI). I had mentioned the encounter thing to him a month or so ago; he really dug the idea. So, when he asked about it in his letter, I told him what had gone down (about it being taped, etc.) and suggested he get ahold of and listen to the tapes. Then, if he feels like something could be worked out, to take a crack at it. My trip is that it would do George a lot of good to have a national wire service story. Plus, you know how Patterson feels about seeing his name in print. Giving them a little play isn't going to cost us anything, and it might do a lot of good. Will depend on you to advise Steve (if he follows up) concerning the political angles. Let's get as much mileage as possible out of this thing. Again, I've cleared the idea with Earl, John and George.

We're running the color on the magazine, now. Should be done Monday. It's a pretty far-out issue, check out Bob Warren's poem. The next issue (sex) should be even better. By the way, I asked about hustling up a flic of a nude couple (in color) to use on the cover. I think I can get the separation made (plus the airbrush work) done through Charlie Niehuis. But I need the transparency '8 x 10', front and rear. Look at the John & Yoko album to get the idea of what I want. Then see what you can do. For Christ's sake, if you do get it, send it to George and not to me. The mailroom would have a fit.

From what I hear, it would probably work to have you and pose. Roger would probably get a little upset; then, on the other hand, he might not. I have a little trouble delineating him in my mind. Did mention that I ask her how she was in bed? Oh, my god!!!! She does have a way of making ol' Jer a little horny around the edges. But, since I can't do anything about it at the moment, I can't think of anyone I'd rather see taking care of business than you. Do your thing, pal, and right on!

Want to get this to George before he leaves this afternoon, so I'll cut this loose. I'll be in touch, you do likewise. Pax.

Love,
Jerry

hi.... tuesday / p.m.

just time for a short note. your letter came today. so did the leaves. and the poem, too. caused a big warm lump in my throat. thank you very very much, earl....what can i say for earl? he reminds me a bit of snoopy. at any minute, i expect him to do a little hop, skip and jump out of pure exuberance. i keep waiting for signs of depression. so far, however, he's maintaining well. but it hurts me to see him so primed for taking that big step out of his shell. he wants so bad just to get himself together. but....and this is what's so bad....there's nothing here to give him courage or help. i do what i can, but....damn it, this place just denies all the things he needs most, love and understanding. Anyway, he told me to say thanks for him and for me to give you a great big super kiss for him the first chance i get. told him i would but that i really wished he could do it himself. he desperately needs someone like you. yet, at the same time, it wouldn't do to have him focus his complete attention on one person. he's had enough trouble because of his mother and wife. he certainly doesn't need another woman to put on a pedestal. and i don't know if you could stand to be as cruel and detatched as a female therapist would have to be to really help him. very touchy thing. will have to keep doing what i can and wait for him, i guess, and wait....

today was special. word arrived that had her baby. , and the others help her deliver. a baby girl. and a name has been chosen, Kiva Sipapu Lawftym. a little strange, but far out. will have to wait until i see you explain what it means. don't think i could put it on paper coherently. also, it's hard to explain the effect this birth had on me. feel sort of god-father-ish, an odd sensation of paternalism. i swear, shirley, it's almost as if i were human or some weird thing like that!!!! (smug chuckle) the reality perception thing you referred to has cost me a lot of sleep in the past year. as a result, i make a conscious effort to prepare my escape routes ahead of time in case something goes awry in the program. sometimes, i flub it, but i'm getting better all the time. self-protection is something i give full consideration when i crawl out on a limb. what i worry about most is spreading myself too thin. i have a bad tendency to take on more than i can handle, but i'm learning to say no and to discipline my energies. time will tell, i guess.

later. love. thanks for your thoughts. welcome aboard the good ship lollipop.

Well, "things have changed abit around here. I was told ttl that if I got a haircut I could work outside in the "yard." The yard surrounds the jailhouse and court house next to it, and is right downtown. There are no fences or any body riding shotgun over us. (us, me and Dave. Good dude.) Today will be my third day and I'm already pretty sunburned. And yes, I did get a haircut. It will always grow back and now my chances for parole are coming up alittle quicker now. So, anyway, at least I'm outside working and soaking up that sun. far out, huh?

Well it sounds as though you had quite an experience in the local clinic. I guess you have seen alittle of what happens in a large county or city Jail along with just about any big lockup. Its a Trip isnt it?

This is the first jail Ive ever been in that leaves you alone, lets you make your own desicions (my getting a haircut for instance) and that doesnt harass you for no reason. Well, can you see now what its like to have to live with that shit for a couple of years?

No you wouldn't make a very good dope addict. I wish I had that paranoia of needles along time ago.

Although I am happy that you don't have V. D. I honestly feel that Craig is the one person ~~which~~ who you should direct that statement towards. And Im sure he's quite overjoyed with your final results of the test. although its no laughing matter I cant help but crack up every time I think of Craig finally finding out that everythings Cool. (HaHa HoHo)

And speaking of chess, I've learned how to play since I've been in here and I must say I've learned rather quickly. I'm getting pretty good at it. It's a fantastic game and I really dig it. We will all have ~~too~~ to get together for a night of it-Right?

Sounds as though KFML is changing. I've always wondered about that station. It is sad for me because it was my favorite station. [redacted] They played in abundance my favorite "type": Blues. How I love the blues man. If you think about it, blues will never die. They will always be here and they have always been here ever since "music" was around. And I'm going to try real hard to be remembered in their midst. It's something I think I must become a part of. And I will.

Yes, yes, there will be some interesting goings on upon Carol's arrival if she pops up. Very interesting indeed. I think though that I shall keep what I have to say on the subject to myself at the moment and later I'll relate them to you and Lucy both. Isn't it ridiculous though? That people must believe that they have to have these certain things in order for them to feel Statisfied Sometimes I feel that alot of people get off on the "feeling" of being greedy. at any rate the trip behind what you said isnt working, of course, simply because nobody is trying hard enough to find another outlet for this aggression. Because, just like you said, without war some people could not survive. I dont feel though that, even if it is a basic fact of life, that 100% of ~~th~~ human beings (?) could not live if it were not so, I think it boils down to this. Certain people are rightously hoping that very soon people will see that war, since there has been so many with a short span between each, is somthing that is supposed to be here. Just like every thing else that is taken for granted. Its there because it is the way "He" wanted it to be. Well, the reason that these certain people are wanting this is because of greed. Their pay checks and luxuries are because of war. Their becoming very rich at our expense. Our friends, family or what have you are dieing for nothing but, really, money. Its stupid and should be stoped. Somthing I read in Playboy I think would be right for this.

This is a war of the unwilling led by the unqualified dying for the ungrateful.

or,

"Fighting for freedom in Vietnam is like fucking for virginity.

Although one is alittle obcence they both say alot in just a few words.

Well, Shirley, I guess I'll cut this short for now. although I still have much to say, ~~bu~~ I'm on my last piece of paper.

Always glad to hear from you guys. Keep writing when you have time. Craig too. I'd like to hear from you Craig!! Say "Hi" to everybody for me.

Love always

RAPE PROJECT

Subject—

Scientists can be quite stuffy so maybe I come through as a Sealy mattress. Caution, however, is a sine qua non especiall when dealing with a spectacular topic. My interest is to inform; not to titillate. To build up a case, let alone a book or even a program predicated soldy on the seminar could leave us looking ridiculous or sophomorically scandalous.

I should like to repeat the seminar with new personnel both rapists and rape objects. This time a Women's Libber will be as welcome as a birth controller at an Obstetrician's convention.

The tests your group took were gruesome. Some of the people involved appear seriously disturbed emotionally. That petite Ellen, for example, who originally intrigued me and then for some reason, vague at the time, turned me off came through among the worst.

What I am talking about, in essence, is a cross-validation. If it were possible to get a group of average women with a cross section of ethnic origin and socio-economic status, what we would have might be scientifically more meaningful.

Jerry saved your neck and my ass. Had you put the 16PF on the air, I might be trying to get into the astrology racket or learning to sell shoes or insurance. As for you, you would have generated enough business to keep the station's legal staff busy for the rest of the year.

I would like to get together with you at a time convenient to both. At that time we could discuss going on your program.

"Hi"

Very, nice, yes very nice indeed. You posses a quality? skill? no, there are no words for your literture. I've been ignorant of your hidden self. Was it Laura's ~~th~~ presence that inspired your 'mystrey' poem?

Excuse me, my spelling (see?) ~~of~~ is off tonite. my handwriting also.

No comment on my sudden half-freedom or haircut? In fact, no acknowledgement on my last letter, even.

Oh yes, the jealous, stupid, plastic, streotype people have once agian lashed out against the walls of their, "the-way-they-want-it-world" with the frighting realization that its closing in around them. Prove, you have given me, prove you have seen and experianced as I have. But above all your sister has "felt" it. It is sickening, man.

I'll kick your face into the dirt,
I'll teach you what it truly means.
No statues here with guiding torches, no rescuers on white horses,
cherishing the ladys boon,
get down and rape the bitch, and get on with the job "fine"

~~S~~ I imagine Laurie "disgusted" with me being in jail. Patture on her!

Tricky bussiness, that cab driving. If you will remember, my scapegoat was ~~so~~ exactly that; in my last episode in the nuthouse. Bureau, The Taxi Cab Bandits.

See, thanks. I always did feel I took a ~~bette~~ better picture in a high chair.

A dude I met in here, Dave, we have decided to go to Canada, soon (as I get out) (he got out today) with two other chicks, ~~a~~ two pack mules, four horses, camping equipment, (~~sleeping bags~~, two ~~doubles~~ double sleeping bags, two small tents, warm clothes, dried meat and fruit, two lever action 30-30's ~~B~~ bowie knives and a machete, plus much more nessicites) and travel through the Canda mountains from the east coast to the west Coast. The [illegible] animals and all (we have talked about this, looked at it from every angle) should only cost $1,000 bucks. We figured, that if we both worked one year and saved $50,00 smackers a week we will have $2,400 apiece. That leaves us both with $1,000 apiece. Depending of cource on different prices. The only thing that is holding us back, maybe, will be the Border authorities. But if we write and explain our plan, they should be cool enough to give th okay. But think, man, traveling ~~a~~ through the mountains on horse ~~back~~ back living and breathing with nature. Nothing is going to hold us back. There are many details to be worked out, (route, kind of food, horse breed, most important of bare necessitys, many many more things) but we have pledged, promised, ourselfs to ~~go~~ do it and cursed ourselfs if ~~we~~ we dont. We will do it, beginning April of next year. I plan on, upon my parole getting a job (plentiful) in this ~~to~~ town. Already have a place to stay when I get out, (chick, she's been coming to see me). Nothing is going to stop me from doing it even if I have to do it by my self. Ive thought about it and kept it inside of me for a long time and Dave (we got really tight in here) is excited as I am about it after I ran it down to him. Like I said, he just got out today, he found some decent prices on equipment. (will look for better, of course) Oh yes, it will be rough but that is what ~~it~~ will make it beautiful. Much to be done though. No fucking around with this, were going to do it.

Craig still busy with that reading? I read (among other things) the Communist Manifesto: Karl Marx. fairy Moral of information. But the idea of the Proletrainia and Burgeouisie conflict is a bit late for this day and ~~of~~ age. Of course the pamphlet was written in 1884. But it can and many ways it does pretain to the ruling & working classes of today. Not as completly as before and not quite as bluntly but it does. Its a trip.

Listen keep writing. I should be out in or within a month (middle of May) I will establish a job for awhile here then Kay and I have already planned on when ~~and~~ we will drive up to Denver. I want you ~~to~~ and Craig and everybody else to meet Kay. I met her when I was outside working. She's fantastic. Really fantastic. She's bought me cig's books, munchies and has given me a place to rest my maggot ridden brain when I get out of here. She also wants to go with me and Dave to Canada. Ah, yes shes really something.

~~Hw~~ Whats my Mom doing nowadays? Tell her to write or something, huh? She owe's me a letter.

My feet hurt, my back, chest and arms are burning up from the sun's residue, I smell of freshly butered grass and mud and I must clean my boots since their all I have left, ~~so~~ but for some odd reason I cannot end this letter. My need for female companionship and my freedom keeps my hand and mind busy.

Do you know of the Brahma religuon? It is based on the fact that the Lotus Flower is the creator of all thing. It is said that Visnhu, the sleeping god grew a giant Lotus from ~~this~~ his belly button and upon it sat Brahma the Lotus born Creator of all things. Living things. The fact that all things are living, the rocks trees, flowers, grass, everything, is living breathing thinking as we do, are a part of this. The fact the man has distroyed alot is an ~~e~~ inaqute way to say it. But any way, it is said that the Lotus flower is our universe and as our universe evolves thus does the flower its many huge petals are our flowing rivers, oceans, mountains, forests and such. I believe this religion. Have you ever seen a Lotus flower? It is beautiful! As our world is, and can be, if people will quit destroying it.

There is much more more ~~th~~ to the Brahma, I've read it and know it well. But someday I'll explain it more clearly.

Well this time I must clean my boots because as I said there all I have left [illegible] so again I say, "Listen, keep writing."

Love always:
Mike

Be cool Craig! write, when you can. What you think of my plans, huh?. Tell mom "Hi"!! and to drop a word here & there.

Something About

Some four years ago, graduated from Clarke College with a B.A. in various things (she was a theatre major). The most significant pertinencies of this event were: a) widespread and general rejoicing among the Clarke College faculty; and, b) the fact that her best friend's father gave her $25.00 to keep her in beer money until she got to wherever she was going.

Given this sendoff, she proceeded to L.A. where she taught school (1st and 2nd grades) until 1970. She then came to Denver where she now lives. Employed as a moderator by KOMC radio, is into Women's Lib, journalism, skiing, etc., and immensely enjoys her role as an at-large activist/agitator.

The story of how she came to write The Perpetual Pedestal is much too involved to re-tell in this limited space, but one thing can be said: If one-tenth the population of the world was as alive and dedicated as , we might not get much more done, but we'd have a lot of fun working at it.

75-03545

I know it's not kosher to start an article with a disclaimer but in this instance intellectual honesty demands it. The difficulties one encounters in 'getting into' The Colorado Women's Correctional Institution are formidable and in some cases insurmountable. The research for this article consisted of reading most of the material on women in prison in the Denver Public Library, a tour of CWCI, an interview with Mrs. Gillespie, the women's warden, and studying the series of questionnaires filled out by the CWCI women for the Interpreter. I have to admit since I have not had a first hand conversation with any of the women at CWCI, I feel one of them shuld be writing this. The only advantage in having me do it is that I will not suffer any recriminations for the conclusions I draw or the conjectures I make. The disadvantage is obvious.

Really, the amount of official footsie you have to play in encountering the Colorado prison system at Canon City is incredible. Prison bureaucrats are like you and me only the nature of their jobs makes them fearful, withdrawn and reticient. The press should concentrate on representing these individuals in the light of the difficult job they are required to do.

Hopefully, then they will be less inclined to deny us vital access to the inmates. This inaccessiblity is intensified by the fact that CWCI and Colorado State Penitentiary are stuck out in the toolies and the distance, I'm afraid, allows the administrators to predicate much of the dealings with the outside on geographic isolation, i.e. out of sight, out of mind. Truthfully, even Denver's three major juvenile institutions are more readily accessible.

It's not all that simple though, the reasons are copious and complicated, and ultimately go back to society's concept of the prison not the administrators malice. Mrs. May Gillespie, CWCI warden explained it to me in an interview: "The prisons are the most visible part of an extensive correctional system." Prisons are expected to succeed where others fail. She's right. There are a myriad of social and penal services that precede and follow incarceration.

In all fairness to Mrs. Gillespieand her staff, it's a difficult job by any standards. Damn difficult, and she operates with certain budget and staff limitations, like no way to impliment rehabilitative programs and self help groups like LADS The Progressors, and the Theatre group at CSP. She also operates with limitations which she can't assess, the age and attitudes of her staff, her overattention to society's dictates for her job, and the time it takes to make changes. (All incalculable factors)

Before we get too far into this discussion we have to realize we are talking about women who have been found guilty of inflicting some pain or damage on another individual or group of individuals. However, Dr. Ethel Bonn, the director of Ft. Logan Mental Hospital feels that sometimes it's only a matter of coincidence whether an individual ends up in Ft. Logan under her (Dr. Bonn's) auspices or in CWCI under Mrs. Gillespie's. Any number of arbitrary considerations can effect it. Mrs. Gillespie rightfully feels she is trying to deal with wome women whose problems are not properly within the realm of penology. All the more reason for abandoning traditional prisonism.

more

When the opportunity to do an article on women in Prison was presented to me, I was intrigued because I felt there must be some correlation between society's regard for women and the way errant women are punished. There are some co~~o~~rrelations but not exactly in the places I expected to find them. There are some things peculiar to the imprisonment of women.

To begin with, a look at the superficial differences. CWCI is an engaging physical plant, a near new building, not appreciably different from the one I lived in as a college senior. (Except, of course, for the fence, and the barbed wire.) The classrooms and work areas are slick, shiny and modern. The library is charming, the auditorium-chapel would make many a congregation go green with envy, and the small comfortable rooms make the CSP cells look like something out of Poe or the Spanish Inquisition. Make no mistake about it though, aside from the superficial amenities, CSP and CWCI are about the same business-the incarceration and punishment of "errants", "offenders", "criminals" or more.

whatever. CWCI is a smaller, euphemistic version of CSP. At CWCI the hole is dubbed meditation, but solitary confinement is solitary confinement, no matter what you call it.

This shiny, new building, is part of the pay off women as a whole get from this society. That building is equivalent to the automatic dish washers, ice crushers, blenders and colored kitchen appliances middle and upper class women get. This placates both oppressed and oppressor. This pedestal women are kept on is a composite of every pay off every woman has ever recieved.

Society does not conceive of the female felon like it does the male felon. The name of the Women's prison is your first clue- The Colorado Women's Correctional Institution- not the Women's Penitentiary. Incidently, you will find most of the literature on women's criminality in the library listed under deliquents- girls and women. In return for this pedestal-building the CWCI women are expected to plug into this societies concept of women. They do; they have little other alternative.

I noted with resigned horror that the 65 CWCI women do all the laundry-seamstress-maid work for the almost 1,500 men of CSP. Mrs. Gillespie, during the conversation I had with her emphasised the fact "her girls had more work than they could handle". I scoffed mentally the first time I heard the maxim: "Prisons are a microcosm of society" but when I saw the extensive commercial laundry and sewing equipment at CWCI I reevaluated the phrase. Women in society are generally religated to this kind of work. Bascially, the women of CWCI and I are no different.

more.

Worst of all, the elaborate array of industrial-maid work equipment is rationalized as rehabilitative. There are serious doubts in many criminologists minds as to whether you can "rehabilitate" or restructure or revaluate an individuals life style by removing her (or him) from the society where she (or he) is having the problem. Mrs. Gillespie, the CWCI women's warden thinks you can, "I think you might be able to, but removing anyone from any situation and having her mass produce men's shorts, launder 1,500 sheets a week or"create those tremendously flattering green goodies" the CSP guy wear is NOT rehabilitation and I think it is long past time the prison officials face up to that fact.

Now it may be possible that the CWCI programs to give a woman beauty training (the facility for doing this is nice but the state won't give the women credit for the hours they put in there) and dietectics training may give a woman a better economic lease on life and indeed a profession. (~~This is a valuable and necessary program to give a woman a better economic lease on life.~~) However, it seems meaningless without some important way for the women to analyze their problems with society, or society's problems with them. It seems that what's needed is some agency or individual to help a woman see how she can interface with her society meaningfully.

From my limited contacts with CWCI I feel there is not enough emphasis on education. Women can get their GED's but the society they are going into expects more than that. Naturally, I detected no emphasis put on learning for it's own sake, but to produce an individual like this would be to produce a true fluke.

With all of this, the recidivism rate is very low at CWCI, around 30%, as it is with more many institutions in the state of Colorado. Colorado is head and shoulders above most of the states with it's fantastically low (by national standards) prison return rate. This statistic is slightly deceptive though, because it does not reflect women to return to prison in other states.

The single thing I found most surprising about the women's difficulties and desires in prison was that they missed people while living with people. I think the answer to the question; "To you, as a woman what's the worse thing about being locked up?" provided me with the most unanticipated reactions. The answer, was pretty unanimous:BEING AWAY FROM MY CHILDREN. Each woman phrased it differently: "being away from my kids and not doing things for them", "loss of my family and not being with my children", "my son is whithout me, I think that gets to me the most". For those who don't have children, general freedom was mentioned most: "I can't get up and split when I want to" and things like "children, animals and freedom in general."

From the primary emphasis the women at CWCI put on their worries as mothers: Where is my child?, How is he or she being taken care of? and what effect will my being in prison have on him or her? I feel humanity dictates that the prison system make some provision for these mothers to have more contact with their children. Canon City's distance-from almost anywhere-makes it difficult for the children and the families to visit their mothers. Most of the women are from Denver and certainly it is

is not out of the realm of possiblity to run a regular bus on weekends for the families and children of these women.

There are many mitigations to this suggestion. Some provison should also be made for out of state women, in the interest of fairness. This is all starting to sound pretty expensive and I can see the budget committee tearing it hair out. Even allowing the women to phone their children on a regular basis wouldn't cost that much. Mothers should receive reports on their children: grades in school, statements by the people caring for him and letters from the children.

This is probably being done to some extent already but certainly not enough to alleviate the fears and anxieties of these mothers. Observation of the way a mother is regarded by by the prison system makes me wonder just how sacred motherhood is. Santification of motherhood may be just a convenience measure, and in the instance of the women in Canon City it is used a another convenient vehicle of punishment.

Sex was a high priorty item on the 'most missed list'. The women said, "no man around," "my husband, sex and no freedom" and just plain "Sex". Any further elaboration on this point from me will reek of redundancy for the imprisoned reader, for those on the outside empathy should provide the answer, and for those of you who have never been inside CWCI or CSP, the intense vibrations of frustrated sexuality are unmistakable.

Naturally, prison officials base their discussions of the furlough or conjugal visit for women on the fact that women can possibly get pregnant as a result of this. So what's new, women are denied schooling, jobs, promotions and a whole range of civil rights on this bias. Don't be surprised if men get conjugal visit rights and women don't.

Warden Gillespie admits to a very high incidence of homosexuality at CWCI, between 75 to 85 percent. Since this is a taboo subject in most segments of society there wasn't too much discussion of it on the questionnaires. The comments that did appear were masked and evidenced the basic heterosexual orientation of most of the women. The most interesting and perceptive comment on the deprivation of sex was made by a woman who listed her "freedom, her daughter, her lover and sex" as the four most missed needs. She then said, "I did have a friend who might have become other than a friend, but I'm glad it didn't turn out." Nicely, stating the sexual need in conflict with societies strictures against homsosexuality.

Mrs. Gillespie also remarked in interview that homsexual allainces were transient and difficult to police. She said money is a factor, but didn't say, so I infer, that the artificial prison setting encourages homosexuality. I'm sure that she, the matrons charged with the responsiblity of controlling it and their counterparts at CSP recognize that it is almost impossible to regulate. I'm sure they also appreciate it as a safety valve which could lessen the chance of an incident.

It's unfair to say that homosexuality is rampant. One very succinct woman summed it up: "Women who like other women" bug me!

The unnatural situation of coerced communal living exaggerates difficult interpersonal relationships. Here lies, I think, a major difference between the women at CWCI and the men at CSP. The women may not be actively aware of it but they carry with them into prison, and everywhere else they go an unsavory view of women. They see themselves and one another very negatively. Only three or four women in the entire sampling said nothing about the other women bugged them, not one said she really liked any of the women she was living with. (Though I don't discount this as an unstated possiblity.)

more

Society would have us believe that womenare, by nature, inclined to be petty, phoney, irrational, gossipy, inconsistant, hysterical, indescive, and borderline neurotic.

The implications of this for the all-female society of CWCI are disasterous. One woman expressed it this way: "The pettiness for which females are famous is manifest and maginfied in these close confines." Many were not just content to call their fellow inmates petty; "They are phoney, two-faced, and vicious. Women just can't get along with each other without some of them being jealous." The attitude which this woman expresses against a human beings who are supposed to be her sisters is a learned attitude-learned from a male dominated society which has a vested interest in having women believe that they are not completely human. In that way they can be denied important things such as the power points in society. Of course, this assumes men get along better in groups than women do. They probably do because they are taught they can.

This works against the rehabilitation of the individual too. Any help that the CWCI women could give one another is cut off at the quick. Several of the younger women expressed a need for togetherness saying, ". . .they can't stick together, they all worry about themselves and they have not consideration for one another." This works to the advantage of the prison administration because it almost rules out riots. Men's prisons frequently have riots-they have sodolitarity. This is not a sex difference it is a socialization difference, intricately tied to the way women see themselves.

more

This brings us to the matrons. Their position is complex. The CWCI inmates regard the matrons with the same element of basic distrust they regard one another; plus that the matrons are the immediate representatives of the prison system.

Many of the women have been deeply touched by their inforced relationships with guards controlling them and they have felt it necessary to analyze personalities as thoroughly as they can , because reward and punishment (writing you up) depends on it. (This same phenomenon is evident at CSP too, the men seem to know a great deal about the"screws" personalities.)

Certainly the most creatively and specificially answered question on the entire questionnaire was "What bugs you most about the matrons?"

The comments on the matronsrange from: "Their complete indifference to comman every day problems, and that they bring their problems to work. . ." to "they aren't consistent in applying the rules." to "Not giving a straight forward answer to a question."

Each woman seemed to have a slightly different appraisal of the matrons from her own negative experiences. "They're not understanding about one's feelings", "They try to act superior when they don't know as much as the inmates. "They take things the wrong way and that when you are with someone too much you are a homosexual." Comments like, "They're plastic people" and "They're so self righteous" seemed to catch the underlying feeling. No dening it, as long as CWCI is a maximum security lock-up the guards aren't going to win any popularity contests.

However, after one afternoon at CWCI I agree with the women and I began to wonder if they weren't being a little too kind. I think the matrons, that I have had contact with, use their positions to be oppressive.

One afternoon early in the summer, as I waited for Mrs. Gillespie for an interview, I sat beside the Intrepreter editor, Jerry Nemnich, engaged in a delightful and for me, informative conversation. The visiting room of CWCIis a study in despicable but colorful impersonalism. There are 2 seperatelong tables with pretty plastic chairs on each side. As I understand it (I hope I never see it) the women sit on one side and the visitors sit on the other. (So they don't touch!)

Anyway, at one point in our engrossing conversation a matron appeared an tapped me on the should and asked me to move to the other side of the table. I was totally caught off guard, and at a loss for words. When I regained my composure I felt an unparalleled sense of indignation. I was so angry I wanted stand up and yell; "No, you miserable fucking, white-uniformed bitch I won't sit on the other side of the table. I'll sit, where I please, in his god damn lap if I want to!" Needless to say I didn't and intimidation moved me quickly and quietly to the other side of the tabel.

The incident leaves me with many unanswered questions, What possessed her to make us conform to the sick visiting set up at CWCI when she was obviously aware that neither of us were inmates there? What is the cummulative effect of that kind of self importance on the inmates' personality and spontaneity? Are all the matrons like that? What did she think I was doing? Jerry evidenced no visible reaction-gross dishonesty or thorough desensitation?

My afternoon at CWCI was certainly an eventful one. At another point in the interview, I was, from where we were siting fortunate?/unfortunate? enough to see a young woman being admitted to CWCI. As I review this incident in my mind, my observations are backrounded by the sounds of There but for Fortune go I.

She was 5'4", very pretty, reddish-blond hair, a chique white dress with navy and red trim on. She had her whole world with her in a supermarket bag. It took two matrons and a couple of men to bring her to CWCI. During the signing in process she was assailed by by one of the CWCI matrons who seemed intent on intensifying her dismay, disgrace and hurt at what she was going through.

The matron told the young woman how lovely she looked that that she had a daughter juast about the same age. The young woman responded with controlled, despondent sobs. The matron continued her monologueto the point here I wanted to say, "Would you please stop it you stupid, insensitive bitch, can't you see you're just making it all the more painful"

more

I understand that this dehumanizing initiation sequence if followed by another that's worse. Women go directly to solitary confinement for a couple of weeks of testing and evaluation. Some welcome. I can imagine the loneliness and alienation of being yanked out of one life, leaving friends and family and being dumped into another new non-environment. The first few steps on the road to rehabilitation sound pretty strenous to me. In the interest of humanity I would think something could be done about this initiation sequence.

However, there is no basis of comparison between the antedivilian "screws" of CSP and the fuedal period matrons of CWCI. Mrs. Gillespie has really come along way. The CWCI matrons have left their traditional matron garb behind and they all look crisp and antiseptic in their white nurse-like uniforms. But if I ever go to CWCI or CSP and see the matrons and guards in their street clothes I will think of it as a most significant change.

When the uniforms go the guards and matrons will probably have to drop their guard-gatekeeper role in favor a an honest rehabilitative role under which they charge themselves with the personalresponsiblity of of helping the individual with her (or his) problem.

This, of course, will have to be in conjunction with a major revisal of prison goals on the part of society.

The group picture of the CWCI matrons in the back of the brochure on the women's prison states: "all the members of the staff wear two hats in a manner of speaking, helping with the vocational and rehabilitation training as well as their security functions." I think it's fair to say that the top hat is security, and until a reversal of priorities is accomplished the really vital function-rehabilitation will not be given its due consideration.

Not that Mrs. Gillespie isn't trying, it doesn't take long to find out that she is basically a well-intentioned woman with a lot of understanding for "her girls". She admitsthat she probably wouldn't act to much different than the girls if she were a prisoner instead of head captor. A perceptive, sensitive, and sympathetic statement. Indicative of this is the small puppy, Babe, the women were enjoying so much at the beginning of the summer. Lest anyone get the idea that the relationships between the matronsand the women in complete hostility, they were really together on the CWCI softball team this summer, which the last time I heard was doing beautifully.

One point bothers me more than almost any othe . As I questioned Mrs. Gillespie She reiterated what I consider a most dnagerous rationale. "These people are losers. They know it and we know it. This i where our work begins." There is an abundance of scientific data indicating that the surest way to illict failure-behavior is to expect it. As a primary school teacher I had to quit reading the childrens's cummulative records-which contain comments by other teachers. I found they predjudiced me against the child. You must trust yourself and your inteeaction with the individual to tell you what you need to know.

One of the luckiest things about CWCI isthe fact that it is closed to the public. While I agree with this action I deplore the reason for which I imagine it was taken-that women should not be subjected to the indignity of public-zoo-view. No prisoners should. (WE've come along way from the pillory but not all the way!)

There are a couple of reasons there are no tours of CWCI. It is in a rather out of the way place, it's not large enough to provide any real entertainment for the spectator. But most of all I think society would rather not think about the woman criminal. She is more embarassing and hard to come to terms with. That rationale is summed up eloquently in the line, "Well, a drunken man is bad enough, but a drunken women is something else." What else? This is an extension of the pedestal thing, and women are expected to carry on righteously for society, lest it fall apart from the neglect of men.

The saddest, scariest thing about CWCI is the security. It is maximum and nobody has ever gotten away even thoughthere is only a chain link fence topped with barbed wire outside; the real security is that bit of big brotherism right inside the front door. It's a huge closed circuit TV console where the officer on duty can watch every inch of the institution. I wonder if the people who ordered that thing installed thought about the psychological effects of being electronically monitored all the waking hours of the prisoners. It's very 1984, like talking to the loudspeaker at the front enterance. That thorough denial of privacy might have some unanticipated disasterous effects.

Another thing: I was unable to see at either CSP or CWCI any real real effort at rehabilitation, like all 1565 Prisoners of them have access one psychologist. He certainly can't be very effective with this many people to deal with. I don't find any effort to meet the individual needs of the prisoners. The field of education after long periods of lack of success in manipulating large groups, and intense criticism of their failures found it necessary to go to individualized instruction and the open space concept, forcing even the youngest child to make descions for herself. I hope the field of penology is heading for some sort of analygous development. There is no doubt of some measureable failure-the recidivism rate-but what about the immeasureable failure, imprissoning somebody amounts to taking valuable time out the their usually young life. What about the effect on the children of the mothers at Canon City? Realistically it has to be considered in the long run, those children are going to be effected by the fact that mom's a con.

In conclusion I'd like to say that whatever about the specifics I have pointed to or overlooked it has to be admitted that women's criminality is on the rise, up 300 percent in on catagory. There are more women than ever bfore on the 10 most wanted list of the FBI. Angela Davis is, without a doubt one of the most controversial prisoners of the day.

Statisticstell us that most of the men and women who end up in the penal systemare poor, minority groupmembers and the disenfranchised of society. Primary emphasis on incarceration does not meet the needs of the women. Their special needs as women must be handled effectively. If the state of Colorado can provide a building like the Colorado Women's Correctional Institute it certainly can go all the way and match it with the kind of programs it was designed for.

A Feminine Touch to Prison Corrections

by Bob Warren

"It isn't even like a prison, or what someone would expect a prison to be like. It's more like a school, a place to get yourself together and learn something to help keep you from coming back."

Those were the words of one of 57 female prisoners at the Colorado Women's Correctional Institution, one of the newest, most progressive prisons in the country. Her comments were made voluntarily in a "day room" of CWCI. She was dressed comfortably in levis, blouse and sweater, what any average girl might wear during her leisure at home.

The young girl typified the atmosphere of the institution and the feelings apparent in many of the women prisoners there. Prior to 1967 the same girl would have offered quite a different judgment in relation to life at CWCI. The old prison was quite a different place.

Adjacent to the men's penitentiary and a much smaller institution than the new facility, the old unit had no training or vocational programs to speak of and women spent a lot of time in loathsome, outdated cells with no more than one officer on duty during each shift. With the officer busy with kitchen, laundry and maintenance operations, inmates were left to fend for themselves, using the "boss rule" method of control -- the toughest, most criminal, most sadistic dealt out discipline to the meek, young and more timid of inmates. To survive women had to become mean or life became hell inside the walls. There were no rehabilitative programs and reform was impossible in the too small, understaffed, aged prison for women.

The new institution is located some five miles east of Canon City's business district. Completed in January, 1967 it can house 90 female felons. It is a maximum security facility, no one has escaped from it. The institution is immaculately maintained and shines like a new penny. It cost the State of Colorado a pretty penny to build, slightly over one million dollars. For the money CWCI has reduced its recidivism rate to a low 25 percent, an unheard of figure in corrections. A lot of tender, loving care goes into keeping the figure down.

The ride out there was a holiday for me. It was the first time I'd been outside penitentiary walls since 1968 and while I was only traveling from one institution to another the trip was like a breath of fresh air.

I was to spend the morning hours questioning, looking, studying, analyzing a prison for women and learning something of the person who supervises the institution. A personal challenge was offered to me in one way, it meant I would have to take an objective view of a system under which I have spent nearly half my life; a system which I have come to abhor, to resist as though it were second nature to me. I went looking for faults, for hard-line policies, for degradation. I expected to find the institution's keeper to be no more than an establishment whip to punish some 57 lonely and forgotten women. I would, instead, leave there having felt a touch of warmth and concern for them from their lady penologist.

I find it difficult to say lady and penologist in the same breath. It comes out like, "soft club." However, Mrs. May Gillespie is a lady (an apparent fact which many times during the interview had me trying to recall some Emily Post training from somewhere back in my youth) and adds a feminine touch to penology. She knows something about corrections, a qualification lacking in many who take to theorizing on what a prison should and shouldn't be. As first vice president of the American Women's Correctional Association she has set many new concepts for remotivation of criminals to work, and one of the brave few who constantly puts her head on the political chopping block in attempts to bring reform and dignity into the corrections field.

"As I saw our field grow and develop," she said in her quiet, polite manner, "and new possibilities come out of it, my work became a challenge to help bring new concepts to our field. I don't think our job stops when our girls are locked up. We don't serve any good purpose as a correctional institution if we don't correct or reform, if they leave here the same or worse than when they come in. We fail, society fails if this happens. These women need help and, we are all that stands between them and a good life."

Mrs. Gillespie has spent her entire life in the Florence-Canon City area, in her youth on her parents' ranch and later, after marraige, on her own ranch. She began in the corrections field 15 years ago, working parttime as a sewing instructor. At the time, her daughter was completing high school and Mrs. Gillespie was searching for an area in which to expand her own interest. Warden Harry C. Tinsley was attempting to explore new approaches to correction and when he offered the new position to Mrs. Gillespie she jumped at the opportunity. From there she began working on a steady basis until 1966 when she was appointed to the post of Associate Warden in Colorado's Department of Correction.

Her quick rise in the correctional field would have to be considered a natural accomplishment for her, appearing very much at ease in her capacity. She doesn't like to think of her position as a job because taking an interest in people is her life-style, particularly with people who need interest, who need attention. She has a disarming rapport with the criminal element which is as unexpected as a pardon from a Governor.

There remains, between prisoner and keeper, a communication gap, a throwback to the old "rock 'em, sock 'em" concept of past prison administrations. A prisoner/keeper mistrust exists today, though to a lesser degree, even with both factions aware of interrelating purposes toward change, a conflict in effect where conflict seems no longer practical. Such a conflict is a great deal less apparent at CWCI. What is apparent there are signs of Mrs. Gillespies' caring for the women she supervises, communicating not in words but with acts of human understanding, communicating to help losers become winners.

"You must understand that most of the girls we receive here are losers. By that I mean they have had many chances by the courts -- probations and so forth -- have prior criminal records, some have been to CWCI before, many have been in other institutions in other states. So they are losers. They know it and we know it. This is where our work begins, we have to make winners of them. To do this we first must help them change their self-images, the loser image.

"The need something more going for them when they leave here than they had when they came in, and this is what we try to give them. In here they can learn employment skills, gain an education, express individual abilities and talents, things they were never able to or had a chance to do on the outside. We also try to help them build confidence, learn about themselves -- what they can or can't do. What they need most is self-esteem and if they don't believe in themselves....well, I don't see how they can ever make it.

"We feel that with the institution set up more like a school than a prison they will not feel they have been degraded for having been sent here; rather, that they shall remember the experience as having been of help to them as a school would be."

The institution even looks like a school from outside and instead of being surrounded by high prison walls a chain link fence encloses it. The only semblance of bars is a wrought-iron fence at the entrance. Inside, the only obvious security facility is the Control Center, and this could be compared to a sound-proof booth at a television studio, which is, basically, its function. Aside from controlling all locks and doors electronically, the Control Center is equipped with a closed circuit TV control board from where officers can watch, and supervise with the help of a public address system, every hallway, corridor and corner of the institution where TV cameras are located. To use an expression from inside the walls, "it's tight."

My preconceived notions of the prison met with many disillusions, beginning with the institution's appearance, and next by the informality of the reception offered by Mrs. Gillespie and her staff. Delivered at the prison by Associate Warden of Treatment at CSP, John W. Griffin, inmate photographer, Felix Roybal and myself were then turned over to Mrs. Gillespie with a reminder to behave ourselves.

I had expected to be shoved off into a special guided tour and shown only the glamorous side of the institution; however, Mrs. G. (as she is called by her girls) offered to lead the tour herself (setting aside an abundance of paper work -- a necessary duty which she admittedly dislikes since, "It keeps me away from my girls") on an informal basis which included, "...anything I wanted to see or question." One could almost hear my cynical world crumbling.

The tour began at 6:15 a.m. in the conference room of the administration offices section of the building where officers get together to discuss the day's activities. "It isn't a compulsory thing," Mrs. G explained, "but it, more or less, helps to keep us working together and informed on the developments of our various programs."

The institution comes to life at 6:30 a.m. with the morning count, which was being announced over the PA-system as we passed the Control Center again and onto a long corridor, running north and south with the work areas -- laundry, sewing room and kitchen -- at the north end and living quarters and infirmary at the south end. We headed south.

Midway along the corridor Mrs. G pointed to a hallway where the library, inmate canteen, academic classrooms and auditorium were located. Everything was immaculate, orderly, new and in comparing it to the penitentiary, I had to be impressed. I remember thinking that it was a far cry from the usual -- as prisons have more recently become known as -- warehouse. My hostess was smiling at me in a way that said she was proud of her institution. She had a right to be.

I asked about her impression when she first saw the new prison.

"I came out to look at it before it was complete and thought it was....well, I was sick at heart because it was so big and all grey cement, and it looked very cold to me at that time. When we moved in it still seemed cold to me as it wasn't quite completed even then as far as the finishings were concerned.

"This was when we started our officers' club in which we used money collected from dues to buy flowers and other decoration you see around to sort of warm up the place a bit. Then when the tiling and painting was done and some color was brought in the institution ....well, it changed things so much it was unrecognizable as the same building and I began to feel much better about it and its possibilities."

Because everything was new the correction process had to start

more

almost from scratch and the first thing was recruiting a new staff, finding out where each officer was best suited, what their individual abilitites were and where, then, to assign them.

"We had to feel our way quite a bit and it took about six months to begin any kind of meaningful operation. All we had were more officers, more room, and not really too much of an idea where we were going."

As the individual interest of the officers began to come through they were reassigned to different details which were more in line with their interests, and from these assignments officers have developed their own programs, and have, in most cases, taken up further schooling and training on their own volition and on their own time to make the programs more effective for the inmates. "So it has been, more or less, a development process over the past five years from what was a rather frightful and uncertain beginning. You might say we have grown to fit the institution."

The corridor ended at an anteroom. To the right was the institution's infirmary, which also contained the isolation area where new inmates stayed during an orientation program, and a "meditation" area for inmates receiving disciplinary action for rule infractions (formerly known as the "hole" though not an accurate description at CWCI).

"We don't use meditation very much, though it is used. We try not to use it as a form of punishment. Often a girl in here tends to feel sorry for herself and attempt to gain attention and recognition by violating rules and when this gets to the point where she may harm herself or another inmate or, perhaps, spoil things for the entire population, we will place her in 'meditation' to give her time to think things over. Often a little time in an isolated situation gives a girl the prestige she is seeking from other inmates and in such cases we play the villain's role which tends to work in our favor more often than not and it doesn't take the girls long to realise this -- that what works for us works for them too."

more

The infirmary is used primarily for minor illness. Doctors from the penitentiary make regular and frequent calls at the women's institution. In cases of emergency and major medical problems women are moved to the Colorado State Hospital in Pueblo.

Living quarters at CWCI are dovided into three wings with 30 rooms in each wing on two levels -- 15 on upper level and 15 on lower.--The rooms, in comparison to the prison cells at CSP, appeared to be very comfortable. Similar rooms might be found on a college campus. (I was thinking now about how to word my application for transfer.)

Each wing has its own day-room, equipped with tables, chairs, TV, magazines, etc. I had a mental picture of girls lounging around reading, knitting, relaxing and thought that for a prison such a thing would be absurd. I learned later that it wasn't so absurd.

When we arrived the count had cleared and women were busy getting the place together. "We try to get most of the work and other chores done during the morning hours so the girls can have the rest of the day for schooling, special training programs and so forth. Evenings are, more or less, their own to seek individual talents, craftsmanships and other creative abilities.

"I think everyone who is physically able should carry their own load in keeping the institution clean. Beyond that each knows what is expected of her as far as cleanliness and self-grooming are concerned in here and outside. If they develop good habits in here they will carry them over to the outside and, of course, never have to be ashamed of themselves no matter what anyone may say about them. I think most of the women understand this and go about their chores without being urged. I don't like to force anyone to do anything because I don't think it gains anything for us but resentment, and, naturally, if they resent us then we can't help them."

Much of Mrs. G's success can be credited to her understanding of human nature. She has been able to replace resentment with respect, gaining cooperation through the mutual respect of inmates and officers. For the most part, women are allowed to choose their own programs, while some decisions are taken out of their hands.

"We have to assign the girls to the various vocations when they first arrive here. We have learned that it is best to take this decision out of their hands and you can understand that if we didn't do it this way there would be few, if any, volunteering for the unattractive jobs. However, after a girl has been here a while we do grant requests for job changes. Now, as far as special programs -- beautician school, business and office preceedure training and other academic courses, the fashion making and creative arts programs -- we leave such decisions up to them."

more

I asked if she encouraged inmates to take advantage of special programs.

"Yes, we certainly do. To take an expression from the girls, 'everybody has their own thing.' It is the individual we are trying to understand, to save, not a group of people....and, of course, this concept must go beyond us into the community also. I think our community must assume part of the responsibility for what happens to the people who come here. I do not feel that long sentences, for example, are beneficial to anybody and they hinder us at times because there are certain periods with every inmate when she (or he) is more susceptable to reform and I feel this is the time when she should be released. This decision is completely out of our hands with long sentences. Treatment is an individual thing and we are coming to a place in time where we must consider a treatment to fit the individual rather than a punishment to fit the crime. All our programs here are aimed at individual treatment and if we can help a girl develop in the area where she is most capable and release her at the right psychological moment she will have a better chance on the outside, which, of course, is what we are here for, fon't you think?"

more

As a matter of fact, I did.

Breakfast is at 7:00 a.m. and Mrs. O led us back the way we had come to the dining room. Set up in cafeteria style the CWCI dining room reminded me of a downtown restraurant with table for four and walls decorated with paintings. The atmosphere was comfortable. Only one thing depressed me. The windows. They weren't actually windows but rather narrow slits rising from floor to ceiling and not more than three inches in width. Looking out was like peeking through a picket fence.

Mrs. O didn't like the windows either. "Oh, I suppose they look nice from outside, modernistic and all that, but they interfer with a very lovely view. I hope to have pictures windows installed throughout the institution someday and I'm sure if installed properly with necessary re-enforcements they won't cause any security problems and would be so much nicer for the girls."

Breakfast was a unique experience. Oh, we get bacon and eggs, buttered toast and coffee inside, but when it is prepared for 1,000 men something happens to it between the kitchen and dining room. The eggs are cold, bacon dry, toast hard and coffee bitter. A fellow prisoner told me once that he planned to open a restaurant when released modeled after a prison chow-hall and serve only one meal that would be an unrecognizable clump on a metal tray. "I won't charge anyone for the meal," he said, "I just want them to know how good they have it, sort of give them an idea of what freedom is."

At CWCI the eggs were over-easy and hot, bacon was crisp, toast was fresh and the coffee was just beautiful, and everything served on individual plates by a pretty hostess. I'd been in the institution less than an hour and was thoroughly convinced that the feminine touch was badly needed at CSP. While still aware that the women's instiution was none-the-less a prison I had to admit CWCI had its own personality encouraged by a number of incidental niceties which made the place seem less hostile and more humane.

"The kitchen and dining room are more than just institutional jobs," said Mrs. G later. "Actually, the assignment is a course in culinary arts which includes a state approved food services training program and women completing the course receive certificates in cooking, baking, and food services management. It isn't enough, I don't thing, for them to leave here with just some experience at one trade or another, especially for ex-convicts who are going to have difficult times in any case. So we try to give them every advantage we can by supplying them with more than one occupation and the necessary documents to show that they have professional training."

She further explained that every department offered similar

more

"This, of course," she continued, "depends of whether or not the family has remained intact during the inmate's incarceration. There are many cases, too many, where families have broken up as a result of women coming to prison, a problem which we hope to overcome in the future through some sort of marraige counselling program."

The conversation was leading onto controversial ground. A solution to family problems has been introduced in the form of conjugal visits or furloughs with the Colorado Legislature's 1967 passing of a Bill granting Warden Wayne K. Patterson authority to allow leave-of-absence to inmates. The controversy enters in the deciding of which program (conjugal visits or furloughs -- with variations of both concepts in operation in a few states) should be implemented. I was sure our lady associate warden had considered the eventual possibility of one or the other programs and ventured onto the subject.

"I was afraid you'd get to that and I suppose I must comment on it since the corrections field is heading in that direction. Personally, I lean towards the furlough idea. I think most people do because the furlough (up to ten days leave-of-absence to the inmate's home) would tend to encompass more of the family situation them would be realised through conjugal visits (a motel-type situation on prison grounds where husband and wife could spend a few hours in privacy). The purpose of such a program would be to cement family relations on the whole rather than just provide a sexual outlet for inmates. We also have to think of the children and their needs and this would be best served in a home-type situation.

"As far as women inmates are concerned we have an additional problem which must be considered, and that would be the possibility of their becoming pregnant while on a leave-of-absence. We don't know yet what problems this may cause. It is something which will have to be worked out when such programs are eventually implemented. These decisions will have to be made on a higher level, but I do hope such programs begin soon because I think they are essential for reform. We can't help people if we destroy them at the same time we are trying to help, which in essence is what happens when families are separated for too long a time.

"In the meantime, I think that what we could use right now would be marraige counsellors to talk with the girls and maybe take them back into the home to talk with their husbands, together with the children -- children should feel they are a meaningful part of keeping the family intact. Perhaps this could later lead into furloughs but right now I think it would be a most effective step. I have submitted this idea to the Department of Corrections but the problems of expense and personnel have to be ironed out before such a program can get underway."

The tour had taken us through the institution and we passed the control center again on the way to the institution's school.

CWCI's educational department is, perhaps, the main spoke in the operational wheel. Without the school women at the prison could only look forward to a life on an assembly line. The schools offers them a more attractive future as a secretary, stenographer, or receptionist.

In a recent survey taken at the women's institution, statistics showed that 60 percent of the inmates were junior or high school drop-outs with the average grade level, 10.0. Of those who finished high school (40 %) 22 percent went on to college with 11 percent of these graduating. Most of the girls stated that they liked school but had to drop-out for one reason or another. Many liked the opportunity to add to their education at CWCI.

Women can earn a high school equivalence certificate (GED), take typing, shorthand, courses in bookkeeping, accounting, office and business management, and advanced courses of English and Math. Also, this year the institution will offer a college course in psychology, with good indications of extending the program in the future, making it possible for women to earn college credits to be applied towards a college education when released.

"I think it will be a wonderful incentive for the girls and we try to encourage this sort of program. There was a time in our society when a high school education was considered sufficient for getting by, but in modern times, with technology advancing so rapidly, a college education is now a necessity.

"I wish we were able to offer computer training programs -- data processing and key punch -- but these things are a bit out of reach right now and will remain so, I imagine, until the State of Colorado can meet the expense of computerizing institutions."

We spent the remaining time of our session in Mrs. Gillespie's office discussing crime and corrections and the trends in the system's war-against-crime. Today's concepts of correction are not new in the sense that they were just recently conceived but, rather, new in that they are now coming into effect. The concept of rehabilitation -- reforming and redirecting -- goes back 150 years to the Quakers of Pennsylvania. They were against the punishment concept and thought that Americans could best serve the crime problem through correction of criminals, using such programs as self-help, furloughs, wo rk release and parole. But, Americans chose the path of retribution and punishment and the theory that the threat of imprisonment would deter crime.

"I think when we refer to prison as being a deterrent we have to look at it from the individual basis -- of how much the thought of possible imprisonment effects each individual. I, for example, wouldn't think of imprisonment simply because I wouldn't think of committing a crime, such not being pertenant to my way of life or my social standards. I'd be as much out of place in a criminal society as a criminal would be in mine." (I tried to imagine Mrs. G holding up a bank, or stealing a car, or forging a check, or smoking a marijuana cigarette, nor, for that matter, myself sitting through a PTA meeting.) "In my world crime is not an answer to anything whereas for a very small minority in this country crime is the only answer. So I think prison is not the deterrent most people seem to think it is, and certainly not for the criminal who feels he or she has only one choice to survive. A person will risk imprisonment when faced with life and death. What is a shame is that some people are forced into such a position in this country and then are punished for it. And punished in such a horrible manner in prisons that defy description. No, I don't think prisons deter crime, in fact, our prisons reflect badly on our society. I'm happy to see and be a part of the new trend towards reform and improvement of our penal systems."

Mrs. Gillespie pointed out a strange paradox which in itself defeats the idea of prison as a deterrent.

"We have had women come here who thought of the institution as a retreat where they could stop and take ~~ms~~tock. And there are actually women who have found the institution to be cleaner, more sanitary, and healthier than their own home environment."

I'd never thought much of the possibility of people wanting to escape into prison, though I can compare the reasoning with that of an alcoholic or drug addict who feels that one problem is easier to cope with than many. Prisoners, as a rule, have only one problem, one reality. Prison. Thinking along these lines I wondered how many arrests are, actually, rescues? How many convicted prisoners are really "down-to-earth" criminals and not just people who were unableto cope with today's problems?

"We would almost have to serve as a dianostic center where we could separate those who have physical problems from those who have mental problems from those who have environmental problems, and then direct them to other institutions set up to handle these specifics. For the most part people who come here do not need punishment as much as they need help from the different facilities in the state.

"In the case of the drug addict, for example, the state could best serve society through psychological treatment or, perhaps, methadone maintainence treatment programs. A penal institution is no place to send these people because it is not the answer to this problem. We are not an answer to all problems."

The past five years has shown a steady decrease in the prison population at the State Penitentiary (the count includes CWCI) from well over 2,000 inmates in 1965 to slightly over 1,500 to date. I asked Mrs. G what her thoughts were on this.

"According to the FBI figures women's crimes have risen 313 percent in the last three years. But, our population, in contrast to the male population, has remained stable. I believe the reason for the overall decrease is that corrections in the state is considering itself as a unit rather than as independant operations.

more

"Probation is being used more extensively for those persons who are not dangerous to society who may be able to adjust to the demands of society under supervision outside prison and in the comunity. I think this is good and whenever it can happen it should happen. But, when a period of incarceration becomes necessary or when they cannot adjust to society with supervision in the community then we become the caretakers. And, of course, beyond us is parole and more people are on parole now than were five or six years ago. I think on the whole that society is becoming less inclined to send people to prison.

"As far as the future of Colorado Corrections I think the trend is toward smaller institutions, more supervision within the community -- to help offenders build strengths where they are and to face pressures there. I believe large institutions are something of the past or will become so as soon as we can implement the smaller institutions.

"We will be focusing more attention in the areas of making inmates feel that they are not being rejected by society but accepted. Sometimes there is a backround of rejection in the lives of people sent here and we should realise this and accept such persons back into society on the basis of their worth rather than reject them for what they did.

"We get many people in here from poverty situations, but I believe some are made stronger by a backround which seemed to, or would have, deprived them of things. Some people are lost in a backround which doesn't give them opportunities. Somewhere along the way some people must gain some internal strength and self-image. Everybody should know the feeling of being worth something to someone somewhere. If they do not feel this and don't gain it along the way or realise a sense of true values then I think that often they are more easily influenced into criminal situations or maybe they don't have their own inner fortitude to dace the pressures of society. In every way we can -- in every possible way we can -- we should try to make these people feel important, not so much in a big way, but that each has some sort of gift to give. We can't go on punishing people forever.

more

"I think most people in the field of penology are finally moving in the right direction. It is, unfortunately, a slow process and the field is an automoneous thing where there are still not enough people learning from other people."

It seemed an appropriate end to the interview because learning was what I'd spent the morning doing. Not so much learning of penological concepts, since I had known from years of experience that changes are needed and what the changes should be, but that good things were happening and just a few miles from where I live.

CWCI is a prison, though not in the usual sense of the term, [illegible] in their spare time -- to change a long line of failures into a new line of successes. CWCI is a place longer on the human element than perhaps any other penal institution in America.

Nobody likes a prison. Prisons are cruel, humiliating, degrading and fail to achieve that which everyone hopes they might achieve. People are criminals when they arrive and are criminals of a worse nature when they leave. This, in its very least, is a waste of money.

In large institutions prisoners are handled en mass. They move in groups at the sound of bells, are fed by the thousands three times a day. At approximately 10 p.m. every night throughout the country a million steel doors slam shut, a millions lights are turned off on a millions people behind bars. It is a time when a million people reflect the apathy of society and escape the reality of their lives into a million fantasies of freedom.

A steel door slamming is the sound of society turning its back. Perhaps the fact that fewer doors are slamming now is a sign that more Americans are facing up to the failures in the prison systems. Maybe the 200 years of studying, researching, analysing and warehousing of convicts is over and the action towards reform begun. I thought about this as the walls of CSP closed around me. The feeling wasn't quite as hopeless. CWCI had given me a glimpse of what future convicts will see, a day when prison would not be an end but, possibly, a new beginning.

The new family stayed in North platte, Nebr. At the time of the marriage had one 7 year & one 8 year old (Linda). stated that one time she and her daughters were at home sleeping in a house located in N. Platte, Neb.

" One night was out of the Bars downtown drinking and I and the children had gone to bed. The girls slept in a room adjoined to our bedroom by the bathroom. It was late at night and I woke up and heard one of the girls crying. I got up and went through the restroom and found the door to the girls room had been locked. I pounded on it and had heard someone leaving the room. I finally got the door open and found that Linda had been tied up. In the early years of thier marriage had the usual sexual relations. That being normal male-female relations and nothing far out or sadistic. There were times however that had felt he had gotten rough. Ex(he would grab her shoulders and arms tightly and cause a small amount of pain. Sis Linda was just starting to go with when they broke up. I don't know what reasons for them breaking up involved. (used to work for RR)

- didn't know anything about

Sometime after and Linda were on 7 Roads. was ~~gone~~ and showed up and asked if he could stay.

From then on no one heard ~~from~~ anything about him. Then in the spring of 74 came where I was working and took me to lunch. He just didn't all there wasn't the person I remembered and nothing he said made any sense. He said he was living in the mountains (pass. near steamboat) (at this time and Linda were living near hayden.)

was living with some people at a little resort type place and was doing odd jobs.

He had talked about how sure he was about getting a job here in G.J. and would probably get on with the RR.

I haven't seen since this time nor have I heard from.

He didn't seem to have bad feelings about the breakup.

about 4 or 5 months ago Linda and I were sitting out on the front lawn and some guy that lived in ~~the~~ one off the basement apts, 3rd apt from north end front entrance. He was 5'-6"-7" 160#s Blk hair short-lived with him or went with him."

He sat out there on the steps just seeming to watch us. said hi to him and he just said hi.

Maybe a week later I was in the basement laundry ~~ra~~ I noticed someone walking and this same guy stuck his head in and said hi. I didn't say anything and he grinned and I just kept on walking.

He would sometimes stand out on his balcony and watch us. When I Linda first saw him it was the same type incident as my expierence in the laundry room.

Explanation of why she thought the comet had been to the apts on the morning of the 25th was that on a previous occasion of Carbondale had told that one morning approximately one or two weeks prior ~~to~~ to this day 9-5-75, that she had been having coffee with several lady friends ~~at home~~ in a Carbondale residence & someone mentioned that a young man who worked with had been filling his gas tank on the evening 24th July 75. ~~[illegible]~~ ~~[illegible] information~~. The young man also mentioned that a few of the guys that worked in Hayden with had a room, but that had a room of his own in the Hayden area. does not know who or how this person got their information as it is second or third hand information.

also added ~~that~~ a speculation on the comets being left in Craig Colo, at the Eagle Chevrolet dealer. That being ~~[illegible]~~ how did the car get to Grand Jct. as it was supposed to have been left in Craig. drove the comet back to Craig the 31st of July where he picked up the El camino.

had recieved this information from: Father according to had taken the comet back to the ~~day~~ Day after the funeral 7 3 75. the reason for the Trip was to take sister back to Delta with her she relatives. was asked at ~~the~~
this time if she knew whether or not had gone to the week after the Homocide. stated that she did not see how he could have, because almost every day was at the after the Homocide. She also added that was also at the police station ~~the~~ during ~~the~~ the entire week after the Homocide.
Question now is, "How did the comet get to grand Junction, because supposedly had got a ride from fellow workers the evening the murder was discovered"?

The following was related to this investigator concerning her ~~older~~ younger Daughter Judith Ketchum who had died of an apparent drug overdose in Pitkin county a year ago, July 8, 1974.

On July 4 '74 I was concerned about Judy because a girl had been found murdered in Debeque Canyon. The description matched Judy, I went to Linda's apartment and told her my feelings concerning Judy. Linda had assured me that Judy was ok and not to worry about her. She gave me a phone # of called that # and could not reach anyone. Finally she called mother and she had told that was up country for the July 4 '74 weekend. The following monday was contacted by and his mother and advised by them of Judy's death. At that time felt that had somehow been involved in Judy's death and gave the following reason.

Judy was supposed to testify against when a hearing was scheduled sometime after Judy's death. The reason for ~~[illegible]~~ Judy testifying against was that on one night sometime close to spring of 1974 had been followed to house by police and Sheriffs deputies. had came into the house shooting his guns and telling everyone to get out of the house. Linda, Judy and Linda's daughter Kelly had been in the house. All three left where they had gone did not know.

stated that this had been related to her by both her daughters, Judy & Linda. Judy was to testify against for this but died before she could. had supposedly been working July 4, 1974. Linda [illegible] that was working this particular weekend.

OFFICE OF THE DISTRICT ATTORNEY

21ST JUDICIAL DISTRICT OF COLORADO

FRANK J. DANIELS DISTRICT ATTORNEY

MESA COUNTY COURTHOUSE
P.O. BOX 20,000
GRAND JUNCTION, COLORADO 81502-5031

MEMORANDUM

TO: All Deputies

FROM: Frank J. Daniels, District Attorney

790

DATE: February 10, 1994

Often times a witness will inquire of a prosecuting attorney whether or not they should speak to the defense attorney or a defense investigator. CBA Ethics Opinion #65 deals with this question. In summary, the witness should be advised as follows:

> "It is proper and may be the duty of both parties to attempt to interview all persons who may be witnesses and it is in the interest of justice that such persons, subject to their voluntary and informed consent, be available for pre-trial interviews. There is no obligation for the witness to submit to a pre-trial interview by the prosecution or defense and the decision to submit to such an interview belongs to the witness."

I keep a copy of this advisement and a list wherein I record the name of the person to whom I have given this advisement and the date. This has proved valuable in a number of circumstances. It is also appropriate to give additional information to the witness, such as that it is important that the witness be accurate because the attorney or investigator will be taking notes of what is said and, should the witness testify differently at trial, the attorney will be sure to note any difference upon cross examination.

ORDER RE: PEOPLE'S MOTION FILED UNDER SEAL REGARDING A POTENTIALLY DISCOVERABLE ITEM

On July 7, 2010 the People's Motion Filed Under Seal Regarding a Potentially Discoverable Item was filed with the court. The court has examined the motion and has reviewed the file. The Court concludes that a hearing is not necessary and the further presentation of evidence is not necessary. There are no facts alleged which would require evidence or further explanation. The court hereby finds and orders the following:

1. The motion that was filed under seal by the prosecution is clearly permitted by the Colorado Rules of Criminal Procedure and appellate case law and is therefore not extraordinary in anyway. This conclusion is further substantiated by the fact that the defense did not, despite having been given the opportunity to, file any response or objection to the motion.

2. As the prosecution stated in its motion, "[n]ormally the People err on the side of giving defense counsel too much discovery, virtually anything with a defendant's name on it." In the court's view this is a prudent practice as it helps to avoid accusations that the prosecution has wrongfully withheld information and also assures that defendants are afforded due process.

3. The motion filed by the prosecution in this case was not filed in an attempt to thwart due process. Instead, it is an example of the prosecution acting out of what the court would describe as an abundance of caution to assure that the defendant is provided all of the information that the prosecution possesses, no matter how remote the chance the information may in some conceivable way be relevant to the charges filed in this case. The motion is also well-founded in that it seeks to protect the integrity of an ongoing and open criminal investigation that is unrelated to the charges pending in this case.

4. Based on the law and the principles discussed above, the court finds it appropriate to and does hereby order the prosecution to make the information and reports discussed in their motion available to the defense.

5. Although the court finds this information to be discoverable, the representations made by the prosecution with regard to the sensitive nature of the information make the issuance of a protective order appropriate. For these reasons, the court hereby enters a protective order which prohibits the parties and their agents from disclosing said discoverable information to any outside parties without further order of the court.

6. Nothing in this order relieves the People of their mandatory disclosure obligations under Rule 16(I)(a), (b) or (c), C.R.Crim.P.

SO ORDERED this 8th day of July, 2010.
